County has double fatality

Winter of '80 arrives

Over 13 inches of snow fell in the Charlevoix area and, combined with gusty winds, made driving hazardous.

The county's first two traffic deaths were recorded Monday. According to the Michigan State Police, Camille and Michael Ferguson of Bloomfield Hills were killed on U.S. 31 - three miles south of the Walloon Lake Junction - at about 11:50 a.m.

According to police, the Ferguson vehicle was northbound on US-31 when it was struck by a southbound vehicle driven by a 16 year-old Muskegon youth. Police believe the southbound vehicle was attempting to pass another vehicle at the time of the accident.

Police are still investigating.

On Sunday, when the snow started falling, a Boyne City woman was killed when she was struck by a bus at the intersection of Pleasantview Road and M-119 near Harbor Springs.

According to police, Helen Crichton, 58, was exchanging information with a driver of another vehicle - after they had had a minor mishap - when a Mid-America bus approached the intersection, was unable to stop, struck one of the vehicles and hit three people, killing Mrs. Crichton.

The other two people hit by the bus are in satisfactory condition at Northern Michigan Hospitals.

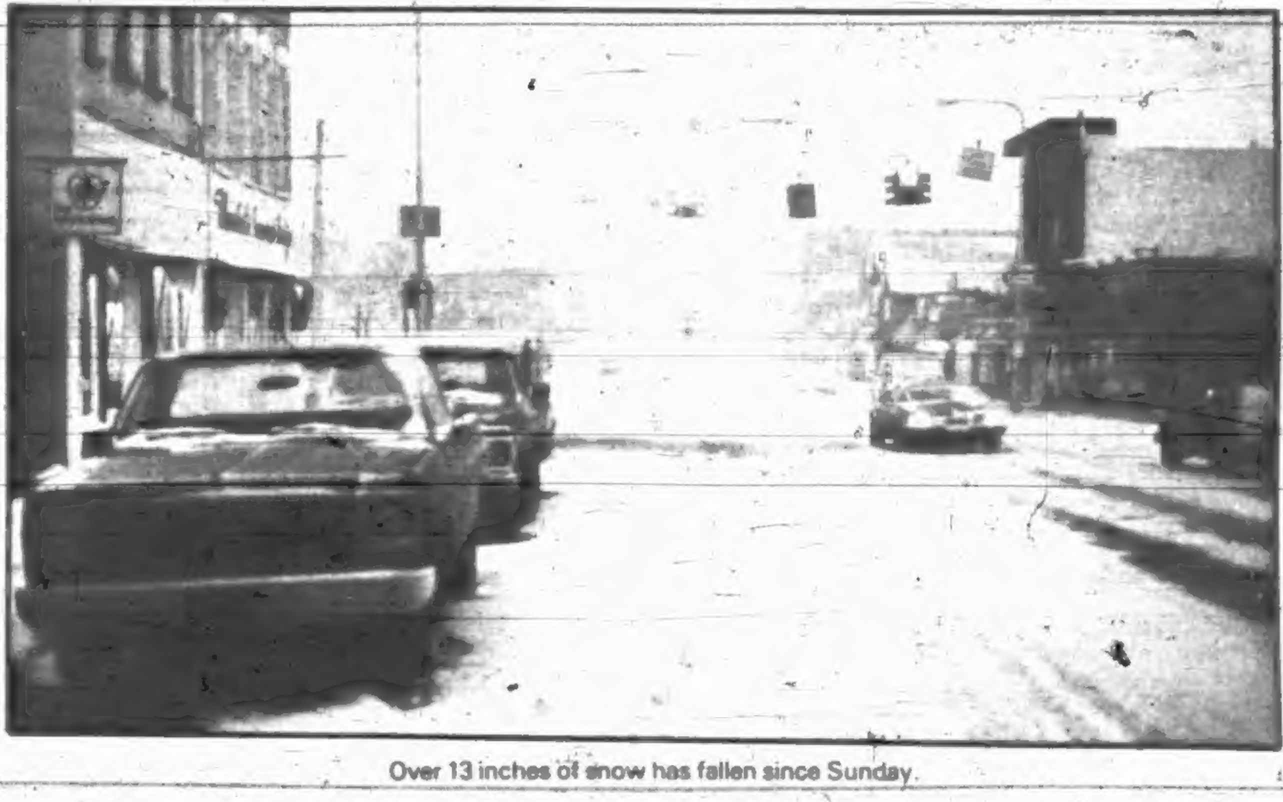
Mrs. Crichton was employed with the Charlevoix County Road Commission.

Police are still investigating the accident.

Because of the poor visibility and accumulation of snow, Charlevoix schools were closed Monday. In addition, several meetings were postponed.

The 13.5 inches of snow that has fallen so far this week in Charlevoix brings the city's winter total to 52.7 inches.

The snow has also brought cold temperatures. At 8 a.m. today it was 12 degrees.



Over 13 inches of snow has fallen since Sunday.

Boat Club offers $250 reward

The Charlevoix Boat Club is offering a $250 reward for information "leading to the arrest and conviction of one or more persons" who stole the boat club sign.

The carved wooden sign had been erected at the boat club just "two to three weeks ago," according to Tom Duke.

The sign was bolted down so "it couldn't be stolen," said Duke. He said it appeared that a crowbar was used to disengage the sign from the stand. The sign was recovered near Boulder Park by the Charlevoix City Police. It was broken in half.

"This is not kids stuff," said Duke. "This is a very expensive sign.

"The offer (reward) stands now and it will stand in the future."

Anyone who has information on the theft is asked to contact Police Chief Jack Mol.

Flood study announced

The Federal Flood Insurance and Mitigation Agency of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in Charlevoix and East Jordan.

The study will be performed by the U.S. Army Engineer District, Detroit.

The purpose of the study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the two communities which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the communities to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. The study will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

Anyone who has relevant facts and technical data on local flood hazards is encouraged to send the information to the U.S. Army Engineer District, Detroit, P.O. Box 1027, or to contact Brinker or Ms. Morris.

Township to consider sewer extension

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night approved a special assessment roll for a proposed sewer extension along Stover Road.

The extension would be from the United Tool Craft property to May Street.

The estimated cost of the project is $29,650. City Council is asking Charlevoix Township to participate in the project. Stover Road separates the city and township.

If the township board agrees to participate, the township would pay approximately $15,850 of the cost. The city would pay $13,800.

City residents along Stover Road – who would be serviced by the extension – would be assessed $10.78 a front foot. Altogether there would be seven property owners in the city special assessed. Their combined assessment would pay $12,513 of the city's $13,800 share. The city would pay the $1,293 difference.

The city cannot assess property owners in the township. The township board would be responsible for devising a plan to pay its $15,850 cost.

When asked if the township board had considered participating in the project, supervisor Oscar Stroud said, "We haven't had anything to discuss yet. We're waiting for you (council) to take action."

Earlier, council had considered extending the sewer without the township participating. However, city residents voiced displeasure over the proposed $19.44 a front foot assessment.

What would happen if the township does not participate?

"Based on our last meeting, city residents don't want to pay that high ($19.44) a price," Mayor Sam Supernaw said, "so it would probably go down."

Residents appeared satisfied with the new proposed assessments ($10.78), although one property owner said she would prefer not to tap-in at all.

Council is also considering extending the sewer along Stover Road from M-66 to U.S.-31 South. The extension again is proposed to service both the city and township. The city's estimated cost would be $65,000 and the township $100,000. City Manager Jim Brinker will draft a proposed special assessment roll for council. A public hearing has been scheduled for Feb. 4.

In other action, council:

- Dropped litigation against Clark Matthews, developer of a multiple housing project off Belvedere Avenue. Council filed suit in Circuit Court claiming Matthews "departed" from the site plan by constructing a solar collector above the sun deck. The suit added that City Manager James Brinker contacted Matthews and told him not to proceed with construction since the solar collector was not shown on the site plan, but that Matthews "refused to honor the city's request." Matthews – through attorney Robert Hoffman – denied departing from the site plan and denied receiving notice to cease construction. Judge Martin Breighner scheduled the case for trial Jan. 10. Council voted 4-2 to drop the suit. Shirley Roloff and Bob Timms voted to proceed with litigation.

- Approved ballot wording for the bond issue – not to exceed $500,000 – to construct a new water tower. The bond issue will be on the March 4 ballot.

Group asks NRC to keep Big Rock shutdown

By Sara Gay Dammann

Another attempt to keep Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant closed was made by the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix in a telegraphed intervention to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Saturday.

Also on Saturday, the Concerned Citizens met with a coalition of northern Michigan anti-nuclear groups, NOVA, to hear plans for peaceful civil disobedience at Big Rock, May 4.

The Concerned Citizens announced that while they "do not endorse civil disobedience, because they are committed to following every legal means to close the plant, individuals may participate in the May 4th action if the NRC does not respond to the intervention," according to JoAnne Bier, a spokesperson for the Concerned Citizens.

The group used the present shutdown of the plant, to complete NRC required adjustments to containment relief valves and electrical equipment stemming from lessons learned at Three Mile Island, to ask the NRC to keep the plant closed until other containment problems are solved.

"It is irresponsible for the NRC to allow Big Rock to go back on line knowing that the containment shield is insufficient to contain gamma rays and to protect the workers," Ms. Bier told the Courier.

Consumers Power Company in a recent press release stated the Big Rock plant, because it is one of the oldest in the country (opened in 1962), "did not require a concrete shield outside of its containment building."

The company maintains that its present containment structure, made of three-quarter inch steel plate, is "adequate to prevent off-site release of radioactivity in the event of a serious accident," according to the release. But they added, "some radiation might be emitted directly through the steel sphere and hinder activities of workers at the plant site."

Consumers Power spokesmen told the press they are studying options "to minimize radiation exposure to plant employees in the event of an accident.

"Conceptual studies, already completed, show that design, engineering, procurement and construction could take up to 24 months."

The Concerned Citizens argued that "if the workers are not protected they cannot protect the plant in the case of an accident, and, therefore, the community is not protected," according to Ms. Bier.

She said "workers would be expected to perform the critical function of bringing the reactor under control while receiving massive doses of radiation."

The Concerned Citizens maintain that if the issue of the containment shield is serious enough for the NRC to have ordered changes be made and workers are in jeopardy of receiving excessive radiation in the case of an accident, the plant should not be allowed to function until the problem is solved.

Ms. Bier added that Big Rock received a $15 million grant from the Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA) in 1977 for experimentation with different radioactive fuels.

ERDA (now part of the Department of Energy) was formerly part of the Atomic Energy Commission, as was the NRC.

"We feel the NRC is working with ERDA. They are knowingly allowing a dangerous situation to continue at Big Rock because of these experiments. They are doing this because Big Rock is in an area of low population.

"They are using local residents as guinea pigs for the nuclear industry," Ms. Bier charged, referring to documented failures of certain experiments in 1966 which result in the release of radioactivity into the atmosphere at Big Rock.

"This experimenting with fuels would never happen in a large population area," she stated.

According to Consumers Power Company, Big Rock spokesman Phil Loomis and Big Rock Reactor Engineer David Blanchard, the $15 million grant involves a contract between the Department of Energy, Exon Nuclear Company Inc., (a major fuel supplier) and Consumers Power.

It is a fuel research and development project aimed at studying the interaction between fuel pellets and fuel cladding in a long run effort to reduce the stress on cladding.

"The program is in its first cycle and will probably go on for eight years," Loomis stated in a telephone interview Monday.

"Exon will come on-site and remove rods from the fuel bundles and ship them to the Haden Test Reactor in Sweden where they will be tested to see how successfully stress has been reduced."

Loomis asserted that Big Rock is not experimenting.

"All we do is produce power but with different kinds of pellets in different kinds of cladding and various kinds of combinations," he said. "General Electric, which is also a fuel supplier, is doing the same thing with Commonwealth Edison Company in Chicago."

Blanchard also revealed that General Electric is conducting tests at Big Rock on certain metals, including stainless steel and zicronium used in reactor fuel assemblies.

Speaking personally, Ms. Bier said she had not decided whether she would become involved in the acts of civil disobedience planned for May 4th at Big Rock.

She reported that NOVA had not announced its plans in detail except that they would be peaceful.

"It will probably involve blocking access to Big Rock," Ms. Bier said.

"Concerned Citizens are saying to the NRC, "she said, "Please listen to us, Please allow us to use legal channels to protect ourselves."

She charged Consumers Power Company with "blatant negligence" for operating the plant without complete containment shielding.

The plant is expected to go back on line this weekend, according to Loomis.

Minimum wage increased from $2.90 to $3.10

The federal minimum wage increased from $2.90 to $3.10 an hour Jan. 1, the U.S. Department of Labor reminded workers and employers.

More than 5 million of the 57 million workers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) are eligible for pay increases because of the change.

These are workers covered by the act now making less than $3.10 an hour. The Jan. 1 change in the minimum wage was provided for in 1977 amendments to the FLSA.

"The minimum wage law has continued to protect workers at the low end of the wage scale by providing a minimum standard of living and also by preventing these workers from shouldering an unfair burden in the fight against inflation," Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall noted.

He said the FLSA protects low-wage workers from becoming victims of substandard wage and working conditions. In addition, he said the act has protected the majority of employers from unfair competition by a small minority who do not maintain fair labor standards for their workers.

The Wage and Hour Division, a part of the department's Employment Standards Administration, is responsible for administration and enforcement of the FLSA which also sets overtime pay and child labor standards in addition to the minimum wage rates.

Under the 1977 FLSA amendments, the percentage of tip credit which can be applied toward the minimum wage for tipped employees will be reduced from 45 to 40 percent, also effective Jan. 1.

Tipped employees are those who customarily and regularly receive more than $30 a month in tips. The employer may consider tips as part of the wage, so long as the wage credit does not exceed the percentage of the minimum wage specified by law.

Employers who elect to use the tip credit provision must inform the employee in advance and must be able to show that the employee receives at least the minimum wage when direct wages and tip credit allowance are combined.

Selling
Your House
by Gene Steele

IF THEY ONLY KNEW...

If househunters really knew what they wanted, and what they could afford to buy, classified ads and "For Sale" signs might be enough to find a buyer.

Truth is, the average prospects don't. They may have a dream house in mind, something seen in House Beautiful, perhaps. But most of them don't really know what's available on the market in any price range — and many are not too clear about what price range they're looking in.

Most househunters need some hand-holding. They need guidance in determining the priced home they can afford given their income and savings. They need help in finding the house that meets the needs of their family and they an expert to help them locate that perfect home at the right price. They'll probably need someone with knowledge to help get them a mortgage, too.

That's probably why so many smart househunters come straight to professional with knowhow. That's where the results are.

If you're hunting for househunters, you'd be smart to call on a professional, also. You'll get important services — and qualified buyers, too. See Charlevoix Properties for that professional knowhow! We're located at the Market Mall in Charlevoix.

Courier awarded Blue Ribbon

The Charlevoix Courier has been designated as a "National Blue Ribbon Newspaper" for 1980 and 1981. The Blue Ribbon is awarded by the National Newspaper Foundation to "alert and progressive community-minded newspapers."

Two hundred and thirty-seven newspapers were recipients of Blue Ribbons, according to Walter W. Grunfeld, president of the National Newspaper Foundation.

The Courier has received a Blue Ribbon the last five years.

The Blue Ribbon Program is not a contest, but an evaluation based on the high standards of community journalism. Entrants must submit self-rated critiques along with three issues of their newspapers.

Entries are evaluated by judges using 25 criteria to measure the newspaper's service to the community. The judging panel consists of publishers whose newspapers are recognized for overall excellence.

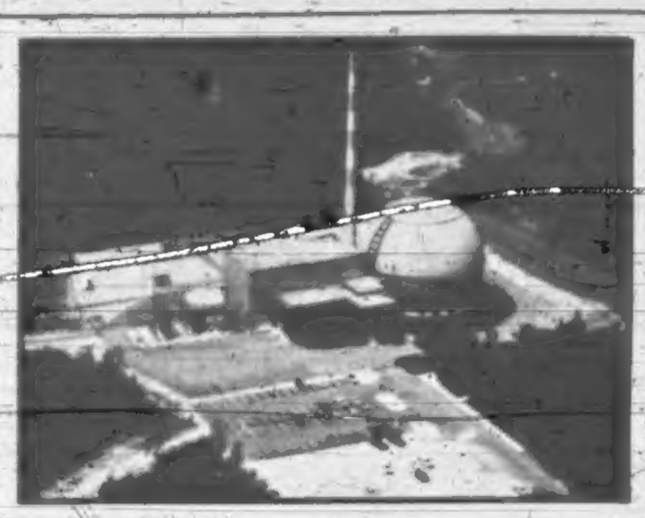
The National Newspaper Foundation, established in 1965, is dedicated to the improvement of journalism and journalism education. It has conducted the National Blue Ribbon Evaluation Program since 1969.



Big Rock

Panel to study waste disposal

Gov. William Milliken has appointed a panel to examine the state's role in any federal nuclear waste-disposal plan.

The 13 member panel consists of two state department heads and several prominent scientists.

Milliken said that "at this time there is no Michigan site under consideration, and state law prohibits the disposal of nuclear waste in Michigan."

He added, however, that "if Michigan is to continue to generate waste from power plants and medical treatments, it has an obligation to work with others to resolve the waste disposal problem."

According to a report in the Detroit Free Press, Michigan has 350 tons of "highly radioactive" nuclear waste stored at its three nuclear plants. The report added that about 18 tons is stored at Big Rock.

Big Rock has applied for permission to increase the capacity in its spent fuel storage pool.

Some officials believe the best solution is to bury the waste in salt layers 1,000 to 2,000 feet underground. The panel will also decide on the extent of federal experiments necessary to determine if Michigan's salt formations are suited to nuclear waste storage.

Previously, much of the waste was sent to reprocessing plants, where it was enriched and used in other types of nuclear reactors. But President Carter ordered the reprocessing plants shut down in 1978. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has allowed nuclear plants to store fuel bundles closer together, however.

The Big Rock plant is presently shut down. The NRC has ordered all 68 commercial nuclear power plants in the country to make various modifications, as a result of experiences learned at Three Mile Island.

Consumers Power is also reviewing construction proposals designed to minimize worker exposure to radiation in the event of a serious accident at its Big Rock plant.

When Big Rock was constructed in 1962 it was not required to have a concrete shield outside its reactor containment building. The containment building is made of ¾ inch steel plate through which gamma rays can pass.

Immunization clinics scheduled

District Health Department No. 3 will be holding a new series of immunization clinics in the East Jordan area.

The clinics will be at the East Jordan Health Center on the fourth Tuesday of every other month, starting Jan. 22, from 9:30-11:30 a.m.

The clinics will be continued in the East Jordan area as a community service of District Health Department No. 3 as long as they are "utilized efficiently" by the public.

Anyone desiring more information about the clinics should call the department office in Charlevoix (547-6523).

The Rose: A tragedy

If your sensitivities can stand wallowing through a yard of vulgarity, there is a powerful message to be heard above the raucous, gettin-down music in a current novel-screen play The Rose.

Based on a novel by Leonore Fleischer, Bette Midler is The Rose, an over-sexed, love-starved, out of her element child-woman from No Place, U.S.A. – Lawrence, Florida. All otherwise diminutive Mary Rose Foster has going for her is a big bosom and a big voice. The former only serves to bring her a bad reputation, much heartache and a poor self-image. But her big voice – that's another story, the story of The Rose.

All Mary Rose Foster ever wanted was love and acceptance. But The Rose is driven to search for something else somewhere else when she receives far too little of the above from the folks back in Lawrence. The road she takes to get Somewhere, which in her case is fame as a rock n' roll queen, is the rocky one of drugs and other X-rated body abuse. If Rose had shakey values as a nobody, she had even more questionable ones as a Somebody.

Not really a rags to riches story, The Rose is more significantly one of rags to revulsion. For The Rose self-indulgence wears down an already worn out body. Not even a ruthless agent can account for the energy she seems to muster up for every performance on the endless grind of concerts and road shows. Yet he has no scruples about driving Rose to the brink. He mercilessly capitalizes on her ability to come across under stress. The Rose, literally spends herself for her fans.

The price The Rose pays for recognition is the loneliness of being a star without a private life. Even her one opportunity to relate to another human being on a reality level falls flat of her own accord. It would appear that rose is a pathetic product of heredity and environment – and a lot of poor judgement.

Drugs, sex and rock n' roll is probably a more realistic theme in the music world than we would care to admit. Frightening to think that Rose's story is typical. Can there be a happy medium between Debbie Boone and Blondie, the Osmonds and the Doobies? Does rock have to be equated with immorality, violence and self-destruction? While we ponder these weighty issues, The Rose will tell you everything you wanted to know about rock decadence but were afraid to ask.

Tax credits for wood stoves

Bob Davis

Certain provisions of the Revenue Act of 1978 give tax credits to homeowners who install energy conservation devices. Individuals can claim these energy tax credits for almost all energy saving equipment... except wood stoves. Why?

During consideration of the act, the House Ways and Means Committee included tax credits for the purchase and installattion of wood stoves. The Senate did not. The reason for the omission was actually rather philosophical. They said, if the purpose for a tax credit is to encourage a certain action which ordinarily would not occur without the incentive, then a tax credit for wood stoves would be unnecessary because people are buying wood stoves without the added attraction. However, this argument could be applied to all of the so-called energy saving devices covered in the Act. The omission of wood stoves appears to be no more than a political act to 'draw the line.' It is particularly unfair in an area such as ours where wood in plentiful.

Shortly after I came to Washington I sent letters to the President and the Secretary of the Treasury, and co-sponsored legislation all desinged to grant a tax credit for wood stoves. I have followed the issue very closely and it looks like there is still some hope for approval of a credit for this year.

The Senate added a wood stove tax credit provision to the Windfall Profits Tax Act which it approved recently. That means the whole issue of wood stove tax credits is back in conference committee; but this time it's the Senate supporting it. I will continue to keep a close eye on the provision and enlist support from as many sources as possible.

Nuclear waste disposal is an issue that has been of interest to me for a long time. I sponsored Michigan's law which gives our state veto power over the dumping of high-level radioactive waste by the federal government.

I co-sponsored federal legislation which would ensure the active participation of states and communities involved with any nuclear waste disposal site decision and would also give these local governments veto authority. Although no action has been taken on this House bill, there is some activity along these lines going on in the Senate Environment Committee.

A Senate bill, S 1521, establishes a timetable which requires that a permanent disposal program is in operation by 1985, or the Nuclear Regulatory Commission would be required to reduce the nation's use of nuclear power by 10 percent a year. The bill also gives states an active voice in the construction and operation of nuclear waste depositories within their boundaries.

America needs the nuclear power it is now generating, but the waste disposal question is one that should have been dealt with long ago. There are still many serious problems associated with nuclear waste disposal and we must put more of our time and energies into solving these problems. I'm pleased to see Congress has finally taken some action in this area.

Another synthetic - Step people

Erma Bombeck

In addition to imitation mayonnaise, fake fur, sugar substitutes and plastic that wears like iron, the nuclear family has added another synthetic to its life: step-people.

There are stepmothers, stepfathers, stepsons, and stepdaughters. The reception they get is varied.

Some are looked upon as relief pitchers who are brought in late, but are optimistic enough to try to win the game.

Some are regarded as "double agents" who in the end will pay for their crimes.

Others are just "standing in" for the Star Parent who appears out of the East on visiting day.

There are few generalizations you can make about step-people except they're all locked into an awkward family unit none of them are too crazy about.

I know. I've been there. Perhaps you've heard of me. I became a hyphenated child a few years after my "REAL" father died. I was the only stepchild in North America to have a stepfather who had the gall to make me go to bed when I was sleepy, do homework BEFORE I went to school, and yelled at me for wearing bedroom slippers in the snow.

My REAL father wouldn't have said that.

My stepfather punished me for "sassing my mother," wouldn't allow me to waste food, and wouldn't let me spend money I didn't have.

My REAL father wouldn't have done that.

My stepfather remained silent when I slammed doors in his face, patient when I insisted my mother take "my side" and emotionless when I informed him he had no rights.

My REAL father wouldn't have taken that.

My stepfather paid for my needs and my whims... was there through all my pain of growing up... and checked himself out of the VA hospital to give me away at my wedding.

My REAL father... was there all the time and I didn't know it.

What is a REAL mother, father, son or daughter? "Real" translates to something authentic, genuine, permanent. Something that exists.

It has nothing to do with labor pains, history, memories, or beginnings. All love begins with one day and builds.

"Step" in the dictionary translated to "a short distance." It's shorter than you think.

On preserving prime farm land, our economic blue-chip

Nick Thimmesch

WASHINGTON — It is difficult for an adolescent like the United States to grow up. That's why we're having trouble figuring out ways to keep our best farm land from being converted to housing tracts, shopping centers, highways and industrial sites.

Nearly every citizen loves the photos of the charming countryside and can be swept away by nostalgic commercials about old-fashioned life (and products) of small-town and rural America. But we also like the big bucks in selling off this land, chunk by chunk, to developers, and that's what's really going on, not buckwheat pancakes.

Whatever the poet has to say about kissing the earth, and letting life run to the roots, the fact is that our agricultural land provides us the nation's No. 1 export. In 1979, U.S. agricultural exports totaled $33 billion, and kept us in the balance of payments ball game. American farmers are the most productive in the world. What Saudi Arabia has in oil treasure, the United States has in food and fiber riches.

But there is danger that urban development can steal the prime land producing our agricultural wealth. According to the National Agricultural Lands Study, between 1967 and 1977, three million acres of agricultural land per year were converted to urban use; one million of this three was prime farm land.

The outlook is that the new conversion rate will accelerate. Since potential for new crop land is limited, farmers, particularly in large-population states, will have a smaller "factory" to produce from. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland says: "In my lifetime, we've paved over the equivalent of all the crop land in Ohio. Before this century is out, we will pave over an area the size of Indiana."

Every American has seen this urban encroachment. Housing tracts shrink Long Island potato fields. Miserable mobile home parks conquer Midwestern cornfields. Giant shopping centers replace fruit farms in California. Glass and concrete office buildings sprout instead of vegetables on Eastern truck farms. Cherry orchards fall to the bulldozers preparing for luxury home sites in northern Michigan.

"Land is the farmer's last crop" is a much-repeated truism these days. Farm land worth from $1,000 to $2,000 an acre sounds high priced, but what a temptation to sell it for $5,000 to $15,000 an acre to urban developers.

Most working farmers struggle to make a good living. They farm for income, but also because they like being independent, owning their own place and enjoying the experience of getting up in the middle of the night to help a cow bring a calf into the world. For all this work, American farmers earned a net income of $137 billion between 1971 and 1977. In the same period, the value of their farm land increased $238 billion. The lesson that many of them learned is that it might be better to sell out than continue. That helps explain sharp increases in conversion of farm land to other purposes.

The worst losses of prime farm land have been in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, Florida, Washington, California and Hawaii – but the problem grows in other states.

I always argue for the free-market economy and am skeptical of government planning. The millions of people who still want to come to America, even from such social-welfare paradises as Sweden, and who came here throughout our history, are drawn because of the opportunity to work and prosper without some centralized government dictating to them.

Accordingly, Americans move from worn Eastern farms to richer land in the Middle West, some going on into the Great Plains, the forests and golden lands of the Southwest and West. Restless Americans have been generally free to find work, settle, establish businesses and own property.

These principles of independence and private property come into conflict wth government proposals to preserve and manage our precious prime farm land. Congress is leery of getting further into the business of telling people what use they can put land to. A fairly tame bill proposed by Rep. James Jeffords (R-Vt.), authorizing technical assistance to states and local areas wanting to establish farm-retention programs, got through a House committee, but its Senate counterpart is stuck.

Several states and counties are spending money to retain farm land, however. Connecticut just acquired its first farm under the Farm Lands Preservation Program. King County (Seattle) voters passed a measure to save farm land. And Suffolk County, N.Y., with its shrinking potato fields, was the first county in the nation to vote funds for preservation of agriculture.

Recently, Transportation Secretary Neil E. Goldschmidt disapproved plans for a proposed 12.5 mile stretch of interstate highway around Dayton, Ohio, explaining that it would waste land and energy. The federal government could save more land this way by requiring applicants for federal funds to find alternate non-agricultural tracts before acquiring farm land for developmental projects.

So far, however, the nation has not faced this issue of our vanishing farm lands. It involves property rights and the urge to make a buck – both virtually sacred in this republic. But if we don't get busy and act intelligently, we might find ourselves taking second place in agricultural export to some other country, just as we lost in the export of energy, textiles, machinery and automobiles. If we relinquish dominance in agriculture export, we lose a real economic blue-chip indeed.

Political irony

Of all the strange political ironies throughout the written history of mankind, one of the strangest is currently unfolding in the troubled Middle East.

If the Russian invasion of Afghanistan had taken place two months earlier, you can be sure the Ayatollah Khomeini and his student thugs would never have put 50 American Embassy employees under lock and key. Instead, Iran would be currying favor with the United States to help protect her borders from marauding Cossacks.

As it is, Iran is caught in the middle – alienated from the United States and vulnerable on the north and east to Russian forces, if the Kremlin decides to seize control of the vast Persian Gulf oil fields.

The invasion of Afghanistan still could prove to be the best thing that has happened to date to the 50 hostages, still held in Tehran. If the threat of a Russian invasion appears imminent, Khomeini could well decide to strike a truce with the United States and release the prisoners in exchange for U.S. assistance against the Soviet Union.

Working in favor of the United States is the fact that the fanatical Moslems fear the communistic atheism of Russia more than they do amoral democracies of the West.

One of the most surprising aspects of the present turmoil is the astonishment expressed by official Washington over Moscow's latest foreign incursion. To be sure, Mother Russia has lain low for several years, letting her satellites do her fighting for her – with a healthy material assist from the homeland (witness Korea and Vietnam).

But has Washington forgotten who constructed the Berlin Wall in the 1940s? Or the heavy hand she has used for years in dealing with Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and other satellite nations?

If Russia decides she is running out of oil (which she is), it is not out of character for her to seize the oil fields of other nations by force, regardless of the weight of international opinion.

AT THIS POINT I am wondering what course Russia would have taken if her embassy in Tehran had been seized and her citizens taken hostage by the Ayatollah Khomeini. Would the Kremlin have attempted to secure their release through negotiations with the Iranian government and supplication to the United Nations – or would she have moved in, flattened Iran, shipped the hostages home in boxes, declared the Ayatollah Khomeini null and void and helped herself to a virtually unlimited supply of Middle Eastern oil?

I wouldn't put my money on negotiations, if I were you.

Furthermore, can you imagine anyone – anywhere – even considering the seizure of a Russian embassy? There'd be all kinds of hell to pay, wouldn't there?

AT THIS WRITING, the first snow in literally weeks is beginning to whiten the streets and sidewalks of Charlevoix – and the city is rapidly losing the "springtime" look it has enjoyed since before Christmas.

Although the ski resorts have been dealt a body blow by the unseasonably warm and dry weather, it may not be too late to salvage the rest of the season. Some ski resorts have been able to build a respectable base on certain popular runs, thanks to snow-making equipment. The new snow can only improve conditions.

If we get a full foot or two of snow this week – which is entirely possible in early January – conditions may be ripe for a full range of winter sports next weekend, including cross country skiing and snowmobiling.

Although most of us have enjoyed the unseasonal weather, it hasn't helped the business community one bit – as evidenced by the paucity of traffic downtown, even on weekends.

On a clear day high atop the bluff at the Woodbury Ransom Preserve, you can look off into the distance and see the islands in northern Lake Michigan.

To the southwest is North Manitou Island. To the west are South and North Fox Islands. To northwest is Beaver Island.

"It's a magnificent view," says Susanne Dye, executive director of the Little Traverse Conservancy and caretaker of the preserve. "No doubt, it's our prettiest preserve."

The 80 acre parcel, complete with an oriental-style house, was donated by the Ransoms to the conservancy in 1976.

"The Ransoms built this as a guest house but found that they weren't using it very much," Ms. Dye explained. "Yet, they really appreciated the scenic view and the natural beauty of the land. They knew people liked coming here to watch the sunset or to just admire the view. That's why they wanted to preserve it for the public."

The conservancy, which acquires land through gift or purchase, was incorporated in 1972 by a group of people from northern Michigan - most from the Harbor Springs and Petoskey area. Their purpose was to preserve and protect the land and make it available for appropriate use by the public.

"So in essence what we do is acquire and manage parcels of land, which are environmentally unique or significant to the area, for the public trust," Ms. Dye stated. "How it is preserved is worked out with the donor.

"For instance, the Ransoms definitely wanted public use encouraged on the parcel they donated. That's why we'll be putting in nature trails.

"All of our preserves are open for public use as long as that use does not damage the property. We encourage cross country skiing, hiking, bird watching, that sort of thing, where people can get outdoors and explore. We prohibit hunting and motor vehicle use on the preserves."

The Ransom Preserve is one of the conservancy's largest parcels.

"We give preference to large tracts of land because they can support larger wildlife populations," Ms. Dye said. "We try and stay away from taking a relatively small piece of land in a heavily populated area."

But there are exceptions.

The conservancy has a lot in Cross Village that is .4 of an acre. The lot is on a bluff overlooking Sturgeon Bay, making it very marketable property.

"The donor (Mary Shurtlett) was concerned because most of the lots on the bluff were being developed, taking away the view of the bay for those driving through town."

The conservancy is presently attempting to purchase the Sturgeon Bay Dunes, north of Cross Village. The conservancy is trying to obtain funds from the Kammer Land Trust Fund to purchase the 616 acres of sand dunes adjacent to the Wilderness State Park.

A sand mining company owns most of the acreage "threatening it with commercial exploitation," the conservancy contends. The conservancy also believes that the lakeshore frontage is "vulnerable to residential development."

In its summer newsletter the conservancy said that "for those who realize the need to conserve stretches of open public land along our Great Lakes' shoreline, planning for the future of Sturgeon Bay offers a real challenge."

The Sturgeon Bay region supports diverse wildlife and several endangerd plant species, like the attractive Lake Huron Tansy.

Although the purpose of the conservancy is to preserve land, it does endorse development as long as that development is "done wisely."

"We're not an anti-development group," Ms. Dye said. "We encourage development to occur rationally, so it will be a benefit to the community."

"In general, our group is aimed at keeping the area nice for the people who live here."

One of the first projects the conservancy tackled was the "Gateway to Harbor." The intent of the project was to conserve the non-commercial scenic character of the M-119 corridor between West Wequetonsing and the entrance to Petoskey State Park. The conservancy has five preserves along this stretch and is in hopes of increasing its gateway domain.

Since most of the conservancy's founders were from the Harbor Springs-Petoskey area, that's where most of the initial work was focused. But the conservancy is now branching out into Charlevoix and Cheboygan counties. Since the inception of the newsletter in the summer of '78, membership has tripled. Nearly 300 people now belong to the conservancy - 90 are life members.

"Our membership will continue to increase as more people hear about our group and understand what we're doing," said Ms. Dye. "A lot of people are concerned about keeping the area nice."

Saints stop Rayders

Although it's still early in the season, St. Ignace came up with a key home court victory over Charlevoix Friday night, 60-44.

The loss dropped the Rayders to 2-3 in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference play. Charlevoix, St. Ignace, Petoskey and Cheboygan are all jockeying for third place behind front-runners Grayling and Gaylord.

The Rayders had a golden opportunity to win on the road Friday. Coach Dave Moyer's team battled the Saints on even terms in the first half, trailing by just two points, 18-16, at halftime. However, Larry Peters led St. Ignace on scoring spree in the third quarter and the Rayders could not re-group. Peters tallied nine of his game-high 18 points in the third stanza.

Ken Otmanowski and Scott Morgan were the only Rayders to score in double figures in the low scoring contest. Both tallied 13 points. Jeff St. Louis had 13 for St. Ignace.

Even though St. Ignace made just nine of 20 free throws, the game was won at the foul line. Charlevoix shot four of seven at the line. Both teams had 20 field goals.

The Rayders will host Kalkaska Tuesday night and Boyne City Friday night.

Dave Budzy had 10 points and Mark Beaudoin 12 for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix (44) - Doan 2 0-0 4, Grooters 3 0-0 6, Otmanowski 6 1-2 13, Morgan 5 3-6 13, Buchanan 3 0-0 6, Loper 1 0-0 2. Totals: 20 4-7 44.

Wrestlers upended by Grayling

Scott Golovich and Ken Wojan recorded pins, but that was all Charlevoix's wrestling team could muster Thursday night against Grayling. The result - a 54-12 defeat.

98 - Steve Sauve (G) won by forfeit.

Bud Heeres: Charlevoix's transportation supervisor

By Peg Ohle

Theodore "Bud" Heeres is transporation supervisor for the Charlevoix Public Schools. This week the Courier talks with him about the many things he does on his job.

COURIER: How long have you been transporation supervisor?
HEERES: Ten years.
COURIER: What are your duties?
HEERES: To maintain and repair all buses, to supervise bus drivers, to lay out routes, to handle discipline problems on the buses between drivers and students, and to keep records.
COURIER: How many buses are you responsible for?
HEERES: We have 18 buses and I'm also responsible for the other rolling stock of the school – vans, station wagons, and trucks. There are 28 units altogether.
COURIER: How many bus drivers are there?
HEERES: Eighteen plus myself.
COURIER: How many are women?
HEERES: Three regulars and three substitutes.
COURIER: Do you drive a regular route?
HEERES: Yes, I have a regular route in town. I also often drive the teams to sports events.
COURIER: You keep all the buses here in the garage or right outside. In some places, don't they keep them at the homes of the drivers?
HEERES: In some places, yes, but we don't because we've found that drivers don't like a big piece of equipment in their yard, and also because we can't keep a handle on them if they're parked out in the country. Anyway, most of our drivers live close in, so they don't have far to drive to work.
COURIER: How do you know whether or not the schools are going to be open on a snowy day?
HEERES: The school business manager and superintendent decide. They check the roads to see what the situation is and let us know by about six o'clock. Our first buses leave the garage about 20 minutes to seven.
COURIER: How long are your bus routes?
HEERES: The longest one is about 76 miles. Altogether, the buses run 800 to 900 miles a day.
COURIER: Do you have spare buses?
HEERES: Yes, right now we have three spares. Usually we have only two.
COURIER: Who hires the bus drivers?
HEERES: I do, and I also train them. They have to have a physical exam, get a chauffeur's license, and pass a test for driving skills. They have to take 12 hours of state instruction the first year then eight hours each following year to keep their certification updated.
COURIER: How much do school buses cost?
HEERES: The last two we bought cost about $19,800, but they've now jumped to $21,800.
COURIER: Who pays for the buses?
HEERES: The school buys them to begin with, then the state re-imburses the school at the rate of about 90 percent of 75 percent of the original cost over a seven-year period.
COURIER: How many miles can you put on a school bus?
HEERES: We run them over 100,000 miles.
COURIER: Do you buy the buses by sealed bids?
HEERES: Yes, I make up the specs and send them to the manufacturers of chassis and bodies. There are several chassis manufacturers, like Ford and Chevy and International and six or seven different body companies.
COURIER: How do the chassis and bodies get together?
HEERES: The chassis are shipped by the manufacturer to the body manufacturer to to be put together.
COURIER: How much does it cost to operate a school bus?
HEERES: We figure it costs about $1.12 a mile, including maintenance, repairs, fuel, insurance, drivers' salaries, and the original price of the bus. This year we started a couple fuel-saving policies. We're having the high school students walk a little farther to their bus stops, and we're converting the buses from liquid fuel to LP gas. There's a difference in cost of about 32 and a half cents a gallon but of course there's a cost involved in making the change-over. We hope to recoup these costs in little more than a year.
HEERES: They're designed for 60 or 65 students. The seats can hold three grade schoolers or two high school students. We could have larger buses and longer routes but the drivers would have to get started at six o'clock in the morning. That would make a long ride for those who get on the bus at the start of the route. We don't think any student should have to ride for more than an hour and a half at the most.
COURIER: How many hours a day do the bus drivers work?
HEERES: About two and a half to three hours. They have other jobs. Most of them are in business for themselves. We have a painter, a carpenter, a caretaker, a bump man, among others. And some of them are retired.
COURIER: Have you always lived in the Charlevoix area?
HEERES: Yes, I was born and raised just outside of town. I've lived in town in the same house since 1947.
COURIER: What did you do before you took this job?
HEERES: I worked for the Charlevoix Oil Company for four or five years and for Brown Motors for 17 years. I've been a mechanic all my life, including two and a half years in the Navy during World War II.
COURIER: What was your wife's maiden name?
HEERES: Marian Potter.
COURIER: Tell us about your family.
HEERES: We have two sons and two daughters. Richard has a master's degree in special education and teaches in Battle Creek. Karen (Brun) used to work at Big Rock but now she and her husband are working for a nuclear power company in Richland, Washington. Kenneth is at Johns Hopkins University working in the research lab in applied physics. Laureen lives in East Lansing and works for the University.
COURIER: What do you do in your spare time?
HEERES: I'm active in the Community Reformed Church and used to be an avid fisherman before the fishing was spoiled by the Indians. I also raise a big garden every year.
COURIER: Do you work at your job in the summer, too?
HEERES: Yes. That's when we do our major repairs. We overhaul the engines and transmissions and thoroughly clean the buses inside and out.

'Bud' Heeres enjoys a minute of relaxation at the school bus garage.

ANNUAL TAX SALE

STATE OF MICHIGAN
ANNUAL TAX SALE
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
ORDER FOR HEARING
NO. 79-42706 PZ

In the Matter of the Complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

On reading and filing the complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan praying for a judgement in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said complaint will be brought on for hearing and judgement at the February term of this Court, to be held at Charlevoix in the County of Charlevoix State of Michigan, on the 4th day of February A.D. 1980, at the opening of the Court on that day and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof, shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a judgement will be taken and entered as prayed for in said complaint. And it is further ordered, that in pursuance of said judgement the lands described in said complaint for which a judgement of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such judgement, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the judgement shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein, or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

Witness the Hon. MARTIN B. BREIGHNER, Circuit Judge, and the seal of said Circuit Court of CHARLEVOIX County this 18th day of DECEMBER A.D. 1979.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

In the Matter of the Complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

TO THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

LOREN E. MONROE, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the court:

1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent; the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent.

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent which shall be a minimum of $1.00 as provided by Section 211.59, C.L. 1970, as amended, and (d) $5.50 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned.

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien the court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

a. That within the time provided by law the court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended.

b. That within the time provided by law the court make a final judgement in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained, and the amounts listed in the column headed "aggregate" shall constitute the amounts adjudged against the said several parcels, unless so amended by this court.

c. That said judgement provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides.

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to the court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.
Dated: December 12, 1979

Loren E. Monroe
State Treasurer of the State of Michigan

Birthdays

Matilda Ikens

Mrs. Matilda Ikens, lifelong resident of Charlevoix County, celebrated her 97th birthday Saturday. An open house, hosted by her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Rabach and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carlton Ikens, was held.

More than 30 family members and friends gathered at the Rabach home for the event.

Besides Mrs. (Marie) Rabach, her other children attending were her sons, Carlton of Charlevoix and Harold of Vanderbilt. Her daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Dorothy) McRae is spending the winter at West Palm Beach, Fla., and her son, Glenroy, lives at Brighton.

Among Mrs. Ikens' friends who attended was Mrs. Lillian Moore who will observe her 96th birthday in March.

Mrs. Ikens is the former Matilda Curtis. As a young woman she taught school in the Boyne City and Boyne Falls area. From 1932 until her husband, the late Floyd Ikens retired as Charlevoix County Sheriff, she served as matron of the county jail in addition to raising her family assisting with the book work in the sheriff's office and preparing meals for the prisoners.

Dairy, beef producers to meet

A meeting for northern Michigan dairy and beef producers on "Re-productive Physiology in Livestock" will be held Tuesday, Jan. 15 at the Iron Works Restaurant in Elk Rapids. The program will start at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m.

Michigan State University veterinarians Dr. Charles Gibson and Dr. David Morrow will present a morning program covering the normal open heifer, estrus cycle, early pregnancy, and abnormal and problem cows.

The afternoon program will cover reproductive diseases, calving problems, and the use of a new estrus syncronizing compound - prostaglandin.

For more information call the local MSU extension office.

Engagements

Holmes - Greeley

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jon Holmes of Lansing announce the engagement of their daughter, Paula J., to Michael A. Greeley of Charlevoix. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Greeley of Cincinnati.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Michigan State University and a former editor of the Charlevoix Courier. She is currently employed as assistant press secretary to Gov. William G. Milliken in Lansing.

Her fiance holds a bachelor's degree from Northern Michigan University and a master's degree in business administration from Bowling Green University in Ohio. He is co-owner of the Wharf Side Market in Charlevoix.

The couple plan a Sept. 20 wedding in Lansing.

Moore - Morrison

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Moore of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Lyddy E., to Thomas E. Morrison III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Morrison Jr., of Charlevoix.

The bride-elect is a senior at Charlevoix High School. Her fiance is a 1977 graduate of Charlevoix High School and is employed at Wojan Aluminum.

A September wedding is planned.

GETTING THEM TO WORK FOR NOTHING IS.
The big reason why United Way can do so much for so many is that a lot of big-hearted Americans contribute countless millions of hours every year. Free of charge. Volunteers do everything from collecting money to deciding how it will be used in their local communities. So administrative costs are low, and more can be spent on needed services.
And that's how United Way works. And why.
Thanks to you, it works. For all of us. United Way

The conservancy works with local people in identifying "key parcels which are beautiful or environmentally significant to the area."

"We always enjoy hearing from people who know of a nice spot that they would like to see preserved," Ms. Dye said. "One of our main jobs is to at least know of these parcels and since we do operate out of four counties it's hard for us, of course, to know the area as well as someone who has lived here forever."

The conservancy is getting more and more inquiries each day. In fact, the conservancy is presently investigating "four to five" possible preserve donations in Charlevoix County.

Besides helping "land owners donate land," the conservancy also helps land owners in other ways.

"People who own large tracts of land and who would like to see that land kept undeveloped but are having a hard time paying taxes on it can work through us to achieve their goal of keeping the land natural," Ms. Dye said. "Sometimes that involves a donation to us or help with applying and getting land approved for state programs like the Farm Land and Open Space Act, where an owner continues to own the land but gets tax relief by giving up developmental rights on it.

"Donations to the conservancy are tax deductible.

"We might take land off the tax rolls, but in the long run these preserves help keep the quality of the area high and land values where they should. It's also important that we have pockets of undeveloped land for the good of our wildlife population."

To help get the word out about the conservancy, Ms. Dye, a Harvard graduate, is hoping to speak to area service clubs.

The conservancy has an office at North Central Michigan College.

Auxiliary hears report on V.F.W. home

Members of the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 1153, recently heard an up-dated status of the V.F.W. National Home at Eaton Rapids from one its members, Mrs. John Gelding, who visited the home during the holidays.

Mrs. Gelding reiterated that the home has been completely cleared of all unfounded charges made by the State Department of social Services and urged support for the home which is doing an "outstanding job" with youngsters living there. There has been a controversy over a financial situation regarding the home manager. He has voluntarily retired and has been temporarily replaced until the matter is cleared up, Mrs. Gelding reported. However, there is in no way a reflection against the home itself.

She added that the home is greatly in need of a tractor and a truck for use in the orchard and gardens. Members and friends are asked to contribute any type of stamps and coupons including TV, Gold Bond, S&H, Plaid, cigarette coupons, etc., toward this cause. Betty Crocker coupons are no longer being accepted. Stamps and coupons may be given to members or left at the post home.

Mrs. Gelding also urged members to send in their National Home Seals donations as 50 percent of the Michigan collections are used for the Michigan cottages.

In response to an appeal for support of the U.S. Olympics Team, the Post and Auxiliary have made tentative plans for a benefit dinner later this winter, which will be open to the public, with all proceeds going to the Winter Olympics at Lake Placid. Plans for the event will be finalized shortly.

Mrs. Donald White, membership chairman, reported that 11 members had not paid their dues, and urged that all pay as soon as possible to keep their membership current.

Mrs. Kenneth Staley, Cancer chairman, reported that 71 grants to Auxiliary cancer patients had been made in District 13 this year. This is in addition to the cancer insurance coverage paid by the auxiliaires.

The local Auxiliary will continue to collect green slips from Glen's Market which are redeemed and proceeds donated to the cancer fund January will be the last collection for Coca-Cola pop tops that the auxiliary has been collecting.

A total of 65 V.F.W. and Auxiliary members and their families attended the annual post-Christmas party.

Mrs. Joseph Seidel and Mrs. Ruhl Metzger were hostesses at the recent meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the post home Jan. 17.

1st baby of the year

Jeremy Lawrence Bester was the first baby to be born at the Charlevoix Area Hospital in 1980. Jeremy arrived at 12:40 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2. He is the son of Jacquelin and Todd Bester of Petoskey.

Births decline

Deaths, births, marriages, and divorces in Charlevoix County were down in 1979 compared with the previous year – but only slightly.

County Clerk records indicate that there were 180 deaths compared with 181 in 1978; 263 births compared with 288; 202 marriages compared with 211; and 144 divorces filed compared with 147.

Additional figures supplied by Assistant Friend of the Court George Ebenhoeh show that children were involved in 96 of the divorce cases, with an average of two and a half children per case, for a total of 240 children being part of divorce actions.

Other marital cases handled by the Friend of the Court included 28 non-support cases; six paternity cases; and 27 cases under the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act.

Traffic deaths drop

Traffic fatalities in Charlevoix County dropped considerably in 1979.

According to statistics from the Michigan State Police, there were four traffic deaths in the county in 1979 as compared to 13 in 1978. Two of the four persons killed were from Charlevoix - Verna Helms and Larry Wallace.

Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego counties also had a lower number of traffic deaths in 1979. Emmet County had three fatalities (seven in 1978), Cheboygan County had four (nine in 1978) and Otsego County had two (three in 1978).

Antrim County had 10 traffic deaths in 1979 - four more than in 1978.

Statewide, 1,810 were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1979, down slightly from 2,076 in 1978.

Over $10 million in building permits

Building permits for construction costing $10,867,335 were issued in Charlevoix County during 1979, the annual report of the Department of Building Inspection indicates.

While the number of permits issued is 18 more than were issued the previous year, the total cost of building starts is down almost $5 million dollars, due mostly to the huge expansion at the Medusa Cement Co. for which a permit was issued in 1978.

New residential building was down by 29 houses from 1978, with a total of 143 houses being started last year, compared with 172 in 1978.

Some of the larger construction projects in Charlevoix County in 1979 included: May Street Apartments in Charlevoix, $1,020,000; Belvedere Apartments in Charlevoix, $440,000; Lake Michigan Terraces in Charlevoix, $413,000; Glen's Market in East Jordan, $350,000; Kochtman's in Charlevoix, $250,000; First National Bank in Wilson Township, $206,000; Barden Lumber in Boyne City, $108,000; addition to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility near East Jordan, $94,000; Northwestern State Bank in Boyne Falls, $85,000; and the Norm Brumm studio, $85,000.

December was the slowest month since last February for the Department of Building Inspection. The Department issued only 22 permits, distributed as follows:

Melrose Twp., three; Peaine Twp., three; South Arm Twp., three; Wilson Twp., three; Hayes Twp., two; Marion Twp., two; Boyne City, two; Boyne Valley Twp., one; Chandler Twp., one; Eveline Twp., one; and City of Charlevoix, one.

A breakdown of the total year's figures shows that permits were issued for building in the townships and cities as follows:

Boyne City, 78; City of Charlevoix, 77; East Jordan, 54; Hayes Twp., 52; Eveline Twp., 50; Wilson Twp., 47; Marion Twp., 46; Melrose Twp., 43; South Arm Twp., 42; Bay Twp., 34; Charlevoix Twp., 32; Evangeline Twp., 30; Hudson Twp., 23; St. James Twp., 21; Boyne Valley Twp., 20; Norwood Twp., 19; Peaine Twp., 18; Village of Boyne Falls, seven; and Chandler Twp., four.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

From childhood on, we have all been tempted to tell an occasional lie as the easiest way to avoid punishment for some form of wrongdoing, rather than "facing the music" by a confession of our guilt. However, we learned by bitter experience that it never stops there; that lying invariably leads to the necessity of telling a second lie to shore up the first one, and then a third one and so on. We should also have learned that we are able to sleep better for having unburdened ourselves by wiping the slate clean; and that the only good lie is the one told to avoid hurting someone's feelings, as opposed to the other kind which can only lead us into deeper trouble. To tell the truth, the best place for you to learn all this is at the Church of your choice.

Obituaries

ROBERT HATER

A Mass for Christian Burial was held recently at St. Antonius Church in Cincinnati for Robert E. Hater, 56, of Western Hills, Ohio, a long-time resident of the Belvedere Club here.

Mr. Hater died suddenly on Dec. 6 while playing tennis with friends.

The funeral Mass was held Dec. 10.

Before forming Charlevoix Manufacturing Co. and Hater Industries with his brother, Harry J. Jr., he had been vice president of sales for Aluminum Industries founded by his father and also vice president of Willard Bronze.

Mr. Hater was a World War II veteran. He was a member of the Western Hills Country Club, Lions Club, Men's Society of St. Antonius and the Belvedere Club. He was a director of the Tampa Greyhound Track in Tampa, Fla., and of Caterer's of Chicago.

Besides his wife, Jeanne Ann, he is survived by a son, Robert E. II of Cincinnati; three daughters, Mrs. Dianne Dreyer of Charlevoix, Mrs. Suzanne Meyer of St. Louis, Mo. and Miss Jeanne Hater of Denver, Colo.; eight grandchildren and two brothers, Harry J. Jr., of Cincinnati and John of Tampa, Fla.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital or the College of Mount St. Joseph in Cincinnati.

DR. CLAIRE CARTIER

Funeral services were held Saturday for a former resident, Dr. W. Claire Cartier, 78, who died Thursday at his Grand Rapids home, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Born in Chatham, Ont., Dr. Cartier came to Charlevoix with his parents in 1905. He was a graduate of the Charlevoix High School. In 1925 he was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry. He practiced in Grand Rapids until he retired in 1979.

He was an honorary life member of the American Dental Association, a member of the West Michigan Dental Society, the Jakie Jungman Dental Society, Omicron Kappa Upsilon and a member and past president of the Kent County Dental Association. He was also a fellow at the American College of Dentists.

He was active in local civic groups having served as president of the Blodgett Children's Home and the Indian Trails Camp for the handicapped. He was also a member of the Rotary Club, the Torch Club, the Indian Club and Kent Country Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Williams; two daughters, Mrs. Peter (Lynn) Buchanan and Carole B. Cartier, both of Denver, Colo.; five grandchildren; two brothers, Harold A. of Red Hook, N.Y., and Stanley J. of Atlanta, Ga. and a sister, Mrs. Betty Jean Cross of Kingsville, Ont.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Cancer Research Fund of Blodgett Memorial Medical Center or the Charles H. Frantz Fund of Indian Trails Camp.

Cribbage

The annual Mason-Odd Fellow cribbage tournament opened Thursday with the Odd Fellows winning by a 23 point margin.

The winners, led by Dave Reinhart who had a score of 935, had 365 points for the evening.

The Masons had a score of 355 points. Eldred Ostrum was high for the Masons with 940 points.

Thursday's play will again be at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

Radio

The fourth concert in the "Live From Our Front Porch" series will be broadcast live over Central Michigan University's public radio stations Saturday, Jan. 19 at 9 p.m.

The music of Joel Mabus will be featured on WCMU-FM, 89.5, and WCML-FM, 91.7. Mabus plays a variety of stringed instruments.

Names In The News

Navy Lt. DAVID G. HEINE, whose wife, Darlene, is the daughter of Clyde and Jeanette Cunningham of Charlevoix, has reported to duty with Air Anti-submarine Squadron 41, North Island Naval Air Station, San Diego.

A 1968 graduate of Alma High School, and a 1975 graduate of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, with a bachelor of science degree, he joined the Navy in February, 1969.

Marine Cpl. MICK R. MERRINER, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Trumble of East Jordan, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, California.

A 1977 graduate of East Jordan High School, he joined the Marine Corps in October 1977.

Goddeyne will be at the East Jordan City Hall from 10 a.m. until noon and from noon until 1 p.m. he'll be at the senior citizens center having lunch with senior citizens.

Any citizen wishing to discuss a matter involving federal, state or local government is invited to visit with Goddeyne at this time. No prior appointment is necessary.

Electrician's mate MICHAEL A. FOCHTMAN, U.S. Navy, has been awarded the Navy Achievement Medal by his Commanding Officer, CMDR J. W. ASHER III on behalf of the secretary of Navy.

The medal was given for service set forth in the following citation.

"For the professional achievement in the superior performance of his duties while serving as engineering watch supervisor on board the USS Gato during reactor plant initial criticality, physics acceptance training, and power range testing from Nov. 20 until Dec. 20.

Petty Officer Fochtman consistently performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner, especially in view of the fact that this watch station is normally a chief petty officer responsibility. Displaying exceptional skill and resourcefulness, he maintained his section at the peak of watchstanding effectiveness. During the complex evolutions conducted, he displayed uncommon knowledge of the integrated operation of the propulsion and reactor plants, well above that normally required.

His diligent efforts and resourcefulness contributed substantially to rapid completion of the test program with the resulting savings to the government in overall fees and reactor effective full power hours.

Petty Officer Fochtman's exceptional ability, initiative and loyal dedication to duty throughout reflects great credit upon himself and the United States Naval Service."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fochtman, he is a 1974 graduate of Charlevoix High School. He enlisted in the Nuclear Power Submarine Service of the U.S. Navy in September, 1974. He is married to the former Norma Lund of Mobile, Ala. and is presently residing at Pascagoula, Miss., where the submarine is in drydock.

GREGORY S. LEYMON, a 1979 Charlevoix High School graduate, made the Dean's List at the University of New Mexico.

A business major, Leymon's grade point average was 3.75. The freshman student has plans to go to law school.

The Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors recently installed officers for 1980. Officers include: MARTIN BIEGANOWSKI, president; HANK HOOD, vice president; MARK KOWALSKE, treasurer; and RIC LOBENHERZ, secretary.

ETHAN D. EDSON, of Indian River, has retired from the Michigan Department of Transportation after 27 years.

He joined the department in 1952 as an engineering aide at Boyne City. For 10 years he worked out of Charlevoix. He retired as a construction technician in the department's 12 county Alpena district.

Edson was born in Charlevoix and served as a staff sergeant in the U.S. Army in World War II.

W. RICHARD SMITH of Emmet County has been elected 1980-81 chairman of the Northern Michigan Mental Health Services Board.

PAULINE MENGEBIER, Emmet County commissioner, was named vice chairman and SAMUEL KOSC of Charlevoix County secretary.

Other members of the board and the counties they represent include: ROBERT GREENWOOD, EMIL FIMBINGER and RONALD RAMSEY of Cheboygan County; MARTIN PAUL and THORA KOTOWICH of Charlevoix County; HOWARD LAUGHBAUM of Emmet County; TED INTGROEN, LONNIE CAMPBELL and BARBARA JOHNSON of Otsego County.

The board will meet on the third Thursday of each month during the 1980-81 calendar year. Meetings are held at the administrative offices at 8746 Moeller Industrial Park Drive, Harbor Springs. The public is invited.

The board has also agreed to write legislators and Gov. WILLIAM MILLIKEN regarding the governor's proposed reduction of mental health funds for the 1980-81 and 1981-82 fiscal years.

Captain's Corner sold to local investors

Weatherford-Walker Developments of Farmington Hills has sold the Captain's Corner shopping center to a group of local investors.

The local investors include Richard E. Georgi, Jr., Alyce Lesser, Thomas Reis, Roma Walstrom, Philip Mason and Victor George. Only Mason, who owns an advertising agency in Birmingham and who promotes shopping centers, is not from northern Michigan. Georgi, Reis and Mrs. Lesser are from Charlevoix. Mrs. Walstrom is from Harbor Springs and George is from Elk Rapids. The group will be called Captain's Corner Company.

In an interview Friday, Georgi talked about the purchase.

"This is an investment in the community," he said. "We're banking on Charlevoix to remain a successful, [illegible] business community.

"This is a long term investment, too. We did not buy this to resell."

The purchase - which was finalized in late December - ended nearly six months of negotiations. Georgi admitted there were times when it appeared the deal would fall through.

"I think anytime you have a large transaction like this there's a good chance it might fall through. But we're very pleased. And I think the merchants are pleased to have local ownership. And let me say this, we are pleased to be involved with such a professional group of merchants. We looked real hard at the tenants in the center before we purchased and I think we're fortunate to have such an excellent group."

Georgi indicated that business at Captain's Corner is "good." Four of the seven merchants contacted by phone Friday said business was up over a year ago at this time - although most were reluctant to quote figures. Fritz Puffpaff of Puff's did say business during December improved 10 percent over a year ago and that it was "more than that" for the year.

"The stores are doing extremely well," Georgi said. "They are doing far better than most people realize."

Why?

"I think parking is a big factor," Georgi added. "You can always get in and get out.

"Also, there is a nice cross section of business. A good mix. It's truly one stop shopping. And the prices are very competitive. And, in addition, the center is open seven days a week, too."

Georgi said the top priority is to fill the two vacancies at the center.

"We want those vacancies rented out soon," he said. "We're particularly interested in an apparell store and a shoe store, but we would also consider other businesses, too."

Georgi said that five businesses have approachd the group expressing interest in locating in the center.

The shopping center - located by the intersection of M-66 and US-31 - has 46,000 square feet of retail space. Of that total, 5,600 square feet (about 12 percent) is vacant. The two vacant spots both have 2,800 square feet, although Georgi said it would be possible to divide those two units in half to allow for four businesses. He said that would depend on the tenant.

Georgi said the seven stores presently in the center have leases ranging from 5-20 years.

Georgi said Ski and Shore will manage the shopping center. And that the management would be "very active" in promoting Captain's Corner.

Rabach to resign as county clerk by April

Clarence Rabach

For the second time in the last few months, an elected county official has announced he is resigning from office.

Clarence F. Rabach, who has held the job of county clerk since Jan. 1, 1969, told the Courier last week that he hopes to step down from his job by April 1. Rabach, 63, had previously announced that he would not run for re-election in November, but his upcoming resignation has caught many people by surprise.

"I have my own personal reasons for wanting to get out," Rabach said, adding that he had not yet tendered his resignation to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners but would do so "in good time."

Rabach has spent 25 years in public service, having served as supervisor of Charlevoix Township for many years before becoming county clerk. In his capacity as supervisor, he served on the old Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors, the predecessor to the present county board of commissioners. His job as a county clerk makes Rabach clerk of the county board as well as clerk of the Circuit Court. His other duties are numerous, including supervising all elections within the county.

Rabach's resignation follows that of Register of Deeds Grover Geneit, who has been in office for 27 years. Geneit's resignation becomes effective March [illegible]

The law provides that when the county clerk resigns, his successor for the remainder of the elective term be appointed by the Circuit Court Judge. Martin B. Breighner now serves in that capacity.

The law further provides that when the register of deeds resigns, his successor for the remainder of the elective term be appointed by a committee consisting of the county clerk, county prosecutor, and Probate Judge. That committee is now in the process of selecting a successor to Geneit.

Numbering system approved

Charlevoix County is finally going to get a uniform rural house numbering system.

A motion passed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week authorized the Emergency Services Department and the County Planning Department to oversee the project.

When the numbering system is completed, it will be transferred to a county map so that addresses may be quickly located. This is especially important for fire and police departments and for ambulance services, county officials point out.

The traditional method of rural house numbering allows 1,000 numbers to the mile or one number every 10 feet, which leaves ample room to expand the system as land is developed. Aerial maps are used to set up the numbering system initially, then tax rolls are checked to determine property ownership, and finally, field checks are made to make sure the maps and actual house locations are in agreement.

The Emergency Services Department hopes to be able to hire (CETA) employees to work on the numbering service.

CETA jobs available in Charlevoix County

There is money available to pay for the labor, there are people who need work and there are jobs that need doing.

In essence, this is the message that the county Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) committee is sending to all Public and Private Non-Profit Employing Agencies in the county.

"Charlevoix County has approximately $300,876 left in CETA funds to spend in the county before Sept. 30, 1980, and we are offering, even urging you as part of the governmental responsibility to take advantage of this and get some much needed jobs done with no, or very little cost to your governing body," the committee is [illegible].

"We can fund a definable task or group of related tasks which will be completed in a definite period of time," the CETA group explains.

"You do not have to put someone to work immediately to reserve this money, but you do have to do some advance planning and submit a plan to us outlining what needs doing, the man hours necessary to do the job, time period, and the benefits that will be derived from it."

To assist small units of government, such as townships, which do not have regular employees or are not set up to do administrative functions, the Traverse City office will act as a payroll agent, thus relieving the townships and others of the paper work connected with Social Security, Workmen's Compensation, Health Insurance, etc.

Work which may be done by CETA employees includes the rehabilitation, alteration, or improvement, but not new construction, of public buildings, roads, health and educational facilities, and other facilities for the improvement of the community.

"We would like to think that all of our public employing agencies are in such ship-shape and good financial condition that they have no need for CETA funds, but we are more inclined to believe that it is because no one finds the time necessary to plan and secure the funds," the committee comments.

Expressing the desire that the available CETA money be spent in Charlevoix County, the committee concludes by asking the public employing agencies and private non-profit agencies do their best to come up with worthwhile projects by Jan. 25.

Further information about CETA funds may be obtained from Helen Phillips at the County Building in Charlevoix, phone 547-4461.

Sludge experiment at Medusa topic at seminar

John W. Campbell, president of Site Planning Development Inc., Charlevoix, has accepted an invitation from the University of Michigan College of Engineering to participate in a conference dealing with "Sludge and its Ultimate Disposal."

Organized by Dr. Jack A. Borchardt, professor of Sanitary and Water Resources Engineering, Department of Civil Engineering, the two day conference will be held in Ann Arbor Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. It will attract lecturers and attendees from U.S. and Canada.

Campbell will discuss his firm's soil conditioning experiments underway in Medusa Cement Company's extensive mining reclamation program at Charlevoix. Campbell said sludge is currently a multi-million dollar [illegible] for the nation's waste water treatment plants which must conform to increasingly stringent Environmental Protection Agency disposal procedures and standards.

Medusa-Charlevoix, in conjunction with the State of Michigan Waste Water and District No. 4 Health Department, is presently saving the City of Charlevoix thousands of dollars by using city sludge to fertilize a sizeable revegetation effort on their quarry overburden storage piles, Campbell said.

Overburden is the consolidated material overlying Medusa's limestone and shale deposits. Under the review, inspection and approval of state and local health officials, the sludge is being applied in furrows 36" to 48" deep spaced nine feet apart. It is being transported from a nearby City of Charlevoix Waste Treatment Facility in a Finn Hydroseeder.

Since this experiment started six months ago, growth of the grasses, legumes and tree seedlings in the sludge conditioned test area exceed commercially fertilized plantings by 10 percent or more, Campbell added.

Campbell explained the great potential of these successful experiments in mining reclamation. "With millions of mining (overburden) acres to be revegetated through professional reclamation management sludge now a multi-billion dollar curse - headache could become a multi-billion dollar blessing."

He further noted that heavy metal (copper, lead, cadmium, etc.) ratings in the City of Charlevoix sludge are well within allowable minimums.

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

HOW OBJECTIVE CAN YOU BE?

After a number of years, your home is almost like one of your children. You've lavished care, devotion -- and money -- on it. In return you've gotten, if not love, warmth, pleasure and comfort. And now you're ready to sell. How objective can you be [illegible] and faults? How can you set a price on it? Can you bear to listen to strangers discussing YOUR homes as if it were just four ordinary walls?

It's a good idea to set a little distance between yourself and the house. You can't objectively compare your house to another any more than you could compare one child to another. But a real estate professional can. You can't set a fair market value on your property that isn't colored by the "love factor" -- that intangible that magically smooths over worn floors and cracked ceilings to give an impression of perfection. A real estate professional can.

It's an even better idea to set a little distance between yourself and the prospects who come to see your property. It's hard to show the house without meeting your prospects, telling too much, overstating your case. It's hard to hear the [illegible] comments of visitors without feeling personally hurt. A real estate professional cushions you from the demands and the comments.

Put a little distance between your emotions and selling your house. Let the professionals at Charlevoix Properties, they'll make your transaction a smooth one.

Remember the 'Womanless Wedding'?

The men of Charlevoix must have had fun a generation ago, in the days before World War II, atomic power, galloping inflation, and [illegible] developers. At least it seems it was that way in the spring of 1941.

Preparatory to leaving office, County Register of Deeds Grover Genett has been cleaning out his personal belongings, among which he found a yellowed flyer proclaiming "See the 1941 Edition of 'Womanless Wedding' Thursday and Friday, April 24th-25th, High School Auditorium, Charlevoix, Michigan 65 - Local Men as Characters - 65. Don't miss the Funniest Home Talent Ever Produced."

The Statutory Finance Committee meets the second Thursday of each month at 9:30 a.m.

Quota for Bloodmobile set at 125 pints

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be making its first 1980 visit to Charlevoix on Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Hours for the Bloodmobile will be from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. Quota for the visit will be 125 pints.

A committee of callers is contacting previous donors urging them to make appointments. It was explained that appointments help to assure an even flow of people going through the Bloodmobile. Appointments can also be made by calling 547-6314.

Anyone 17 to 66 years of age is eligible to donate blood. However, 17 year olds must have parental consent. Parent permission slips are available at the principal's office at the high school.

As they do for Bloodmobiles, the Xi Epsilon Gamma and Kappa Sigma chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will be organizing and staffing the canteen for the day.

If there is a registered nurse in the area willing to volunteer her time she may call Mrs. Francis Loft who is recruiting the volunteer nursing staff.

Any others wishing to work at the Bloodmobile may call Mrs. Vernon Mathews, Jr., at 547-[illegible].

At the last two blood drives, Charlevoix has narrowly missed its quota. During this visit the committee is hoping to "make goal."

Carson appointed building inspector

Howard Carson of Boyne City will become Charlevoix County Building Code administrator effective next month.

Carson was named to the position by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week after being recommended by the board's Personnel and Building Codes committees.

A native of Boyne Falls, Carson has lived in the German Settlement area of Boyne City since his marriage to the former Martha Behling. The couple have two boys, aged 16 and [illegible].

The new Building Code administrator is presently employed by the construction firm of Thompson and Phalen. He is a member of the Carpenters' Union.

A big thanks

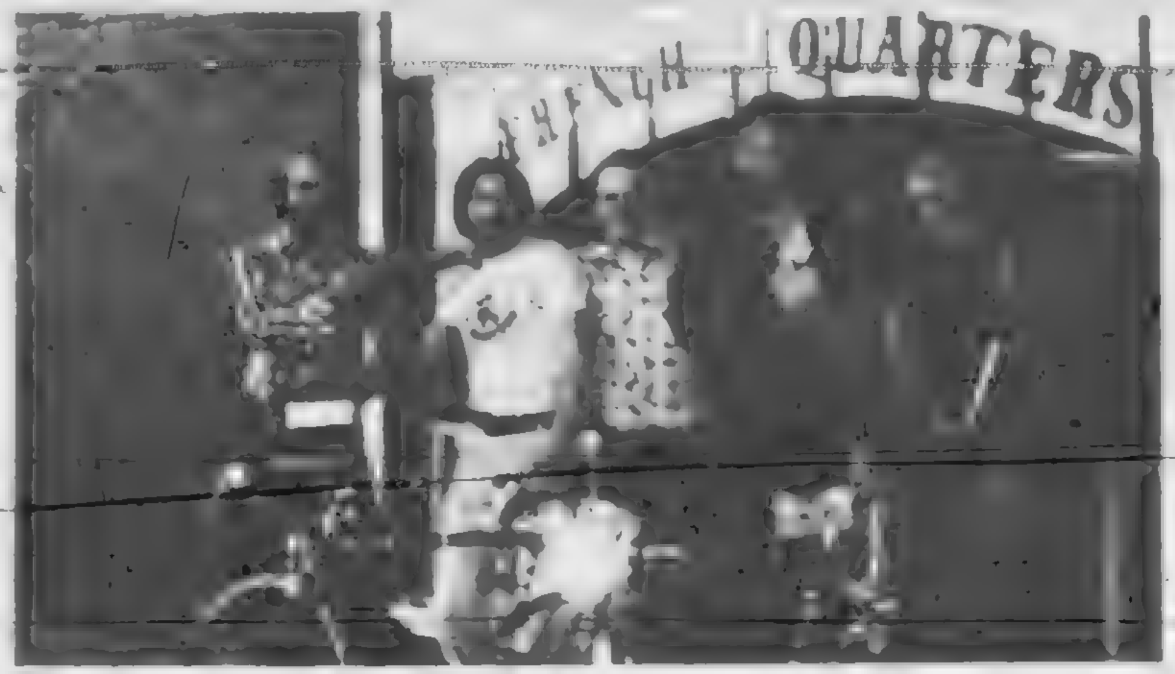
The Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Charlevoix County, Inc. wish to take this opportunity to thank all the Citizens of Charlevoix, who bought our trees for Christmas. These monies we receive will be used to offset expenses for [illegible] during the year. Also the Lions Club worked hard to help us and their share of the monies received will go to help with projects they sponsor during the year and to help with glasses for the needy. Any donations that were not received during the Christmas Tree Sales and if the people want to send in their checks - these will be greatly [illegible].

This project was a great success due to the efforts of those who donated their services, such as: Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp.; Guy and Elizabeth Swanson; Kit Carson Lumber Company, Glenn's Market and the Merchants Assoc. of the Captains Shopping Center, who permitted us to [illegible] to sell the trees.

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters wish to express their appreciation to all those [illegible] to our children, making this Christmas 1979 a very merry one.

Just all in all with the cooperation of a wonderful area meaning "Charlevoix County" it's been a wonderful year and a wonderful place to live and work in. Happy and prosperous New Year to all.

Yours truly,
Nancy Wood
Coordinator/Director



The French Quarters in Charlevoix recently conducted pool and foosball tournaments. Duane Wilkes (second from left) took top honors in the pool competition, winning a 10 speed Fuji bicycle. Dean Parker (far left) was second. He won an AM-FM radio. Mike Neill (second from right) won the [illegible] and he also received a 10 speed Fuji bicycle. Kevin Wilkes (far right) was second. He received an AM-FM radio. Jim Novotny and Dan Murray tied for third in the foosball tournament and Mark Castro and Gregg Whitley tied for third in the pool competition. All four received French Quarters T-shirts. Jim LeFave (pictured in the middle) is the owner of French Quarters. The bicycles were purchased at LeCycliste.

Republicans offer tax proposal

Ralph Ostling

The start of the 1980 legislative session in Lansing brought with it a challenge to see which party in the Legislature, the Democrats or the Republicans, can present the best property tax relief proposal to the voters next fall.

The challenge came in opening session remarks by House Republican Leader William R. Bryant, Jr. Mr. Bryant noted that property tax relief continues to be an important goal of Michigan citizens.

He pledged that Republicans would vote for the best tax-relief program the Democrats could prepare for the 1980 ballot if Democrats would do the same for a Republican proposal.

"Let the people then decide whose proposal best meets their needs and the needs of our state," Bryant told the entire House.

In my view, this is not only a wise move, but may be the only way the Legislature can present tax relief proposals to the voters. Since any tax relief measure would involve an amendment to the Michigan Constitution, it will take two-thirds of all members of the Legislature to place such a proposal before the voters. Neither party in the Legislature controls the two-thirds votes necessary to do so.

In the past, it has been extremely difficult to gain strong enough bipartisan support to place such measures before the voters. For that reason, I believe the "healthy competition" Mr. Bryant referred to in drafting these plans will serve not only the Legislature well, but should give voters an excellent choice in November between two property tax relief measures.

In other areas, Mr. Bryant called for comprehensive reform of the way the House does its business. [illegible] long overdue.

In recent years, decisions on matters like the electronic voting board the House members use to cast votes on bills, new carpeting for the House chamber and other little-noticed but expensive "housekeeping" items has shifted into the office of Speaker.

These matters used to be decided in the House Policy Committee where all members of the House had access to the decision-making process rather than the present method whereby these decisions are made exclusively by the House Majority Leadership.

Finally, in a message I strongly endorse, Mr. Bryant said Republicans would oppose any tax increase this year.

As we face a tough recession year ahead, this is simply not the time to enact new tax increases. The people of Michigan will have enough problems keeping up with inflation, the high price of gasoline and home heating fuel that the state government will simply have to do without increasing taxes.

This will not only help the citizens of Michigan, but I believe it will be healthy for the sprawling state bureaucracy. The Governor has indicated that in his budget message, which will be sent to the Legislature in the next few weeks, that a number of boards and commissions will be eliminated and others will have their [illegible].

As you know, the Governor vetoed a "fake" sunset bill late last year, and action I support, because the measure lacked termination dates. The budget decisions this year may well be an informal test of how sunset would work for those agencies of state government no longer needed.

How will the weather affect economy?

After a Green Christmas, a Green New Years and two thaws before the middle of January, some Charlevoix [illegible].

But before they start to hang shutters, I wish they would consider the following.

The latest word out of Washington is that the fourth quarter of 1979 wasn't [illegible]. Instead of backsliding, the economy actually expanded somewhere between two and three percent — nothing spectacular, but still not all that bad.

Although the auto and construction industries has been hard hit by layoffs, unemployment across the country is not as severe as anticipated.

[illegible] that that that old rascal, inflation, may be starting to subside. Wholesale prices rose only .8 of a percent during the month of December and food prices actually showed a modest decline.

In fact, the recession many economists expected in late 1979 still hasn't developed in earnest and if we're lucky it many not hit at all.

The big economic question facing Charlevoix during the next six weeks is the weather — and what effect it will have on the winter sports industry.

Psychologically, the season may well be over for marginal winter sportsmen who prefer summer, anyway. However, great things could happen in the next six weeks which would turn Charlevoix and the surrounding countryside into the traditional marshmallow [illegible].

But it must happen soon — or it might as well not happen at all.

However, I am sorry to see merchants and other businessmen giving up without a fight, because hard times separate the men from the boys in the business world — as they do in every undertaking.

When economic conditions are good and the city is jammed with tourists and resorters, it is almost impossible not to turn a profit. However a slowdown gives merchants and other entrepreneurs an opportunity to take a long, hard look at their business practices and evaluate what they have been doing right — or wrong — and make changes where necessary.

For retail merchants, they could be a time for looking into new product lines, altering hours, trying new advertising approaches, or even organizing a community-wide mid-winter "Sidewalk Sale" to move balky merchandise.

Restaurants may find that this is a good time to try some new recipes geared to the year-'round family trade — at family trade prices — and to [illegible] — Soft music? Ballroom dancing? Square dancing? — that even grandma might enjoy.

Service businesses might even look into off-season prices.

Off-season prices? You bet. The whole business of seasonal pricing is anathema to me in normal times; but when business activity slows, prices are one of the most potent weapons in [illegible].

I guess what I'm talking about is [illegible] we have to offer — even if it's only to ourselves.

I am surprised that some merchants trim their advertising budgets when the [illegible] very times when such budgets should be maintained — or expanded — if possible.

You can be as aggressive as hell in the marketplace, but it won't do you any good if no one knows about it.

Mixed reaction on the grain embargo

Bob Davis

I have very mixed reactions about President Carter's decision to cut off grain shipments to the U.S.S.R.

[illegible] Afghanistan, it was necessary that our country take some action. The embargo was probably a good move at this point, but it may have some long-range negative effects for our farmers.

The U.S. has already agreed to purchase 14.5 million tons of the grain that would have gone to the Soviet Union. A great deal of this grain will be put to use making gasohol — but our country isn't prepared technically to go into full-scale production yet. Within a few years, I feel that we will have advanced to the stage where gasohol production will demand a great deal of our grain.

The government has taken a number of other steps to protect the farmers from any dumping of excess grain on the market. Some suggestions include the possibility of expanding the Food for Peace program (agricultural foreign aid) or increasing price supports.

We are going to have to look for other markets for our grain to fill in this gap over the next few years. The grain market in this country has been built up and promoted through the exporting of our produce to major foreign markets like the Soviet Union.

We cannot allow the Russians to move in and take over Afghanistan. We must continue our show of strength. The announcements of support for the grain embargo by the Canadians and other European countries enhances its effectiveness. As long as we are all aware of the problems that it may cause, and work toward solutions, I think the grain embargo was a good move.

During the closing weeks of the federal government's fiscal year, many federal agencies spend billions of taxpayers' dollars on unnecessary items just to "use up" their budgets.

In the closing months of the 1978 fiscal year, HUD's Denver regional office spent more than $87,000 for furniture. But almost a year later, departmental investigators found more than $85,000 of the merchandise sitting [illegible].

Agencies must turn back to the general fund any money they have left in their budgets on Sept. 30. Apparently, many of their administrators worry that their budgets for the next year will be cut if they don't use up what was appropriated to them the previous year.

Congressional committees have oversight responsibilities for these departments. It's time these committees kept a closer watch over the agencies and cut the budgets of the departments that exhibit this dollar dumping for unjustified expenditures.

Nick Thimmesch

WASHINGTON — The Iranian crisis and the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan should push us to a reassessment of what role the United States should play in the world.

An election year is a good time to make such a decision. The citizenry could stand some rousing arguments over our defense budget, how we define who are friends and enemies (and how we should treat them) and how aggressive our intelligence forces should be.

Operating a democracy is not easy. A chicken farm is probably much simpler. There is jingoism and hawkishness in the air. Suddenly, as if we were in the throes of the 1950s cold war again, strategists fuss over regional maps, consult scholarly works on Islam and ponder the balance of forces between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

But then there is also the Rev. William Sloane Coffin telling us to be [illegible] so that they will release the hostages and go back to producing more petroleum for our insatiable cars. President Jimmy Carter admits that he is only now understanding the Soviets. And there are some folks who think that all those greeting cards and vigils are going to move the Iranian terrorist-students into releasing our people.

The holidays are behind us, so now come the bills of January. So, too, come Republican presidential aspirants and an assortment of Hawks in both parties, informing Mr. Carter that the people are becoming impatient over Iran, and that something better be done soon. John B. Connally demands that the United States set a deadline for release of the hostages. Sen. Henry A. Jackson is undoubtedly pleased that the SALT treaty has been put aside.

Alas, it is time for the clear-eyed to take a look. Nuclear war is out, but what to do about the gathering brutal, irrational forces in the developing world? Do we hold their hands, as Rev. Coffin recommends, sing solidarity songs with them as Andy Young would like, or climb them as Jim Abourezk [illegible]?

Without killing so much as a flea we should decide who our friends and enemies are. Now a friend and ally is a nation which is on our side. It might not measure up in the human rights standards of the Americans for Democratic Action or the early Carter Presidency, but neither will it burn our flag, smash our embassies or hold our [illegible].

We might hope that South Korea, Pakistan or Saudi Arabia might one day become as democratic as other such friends as, say, Israel, Luxembourg or Japan, but we needn't go nuts if they don't. We must learn the difference between authoritarian states who aren't. Lately, we've been too hard on our allies and too easy on our enemies. Among the latter are the Soviet Union, Vietnam, North Korea, Cuba and, for the moment, Iran.

[illegible] take advantage of democracies. Way back in 1922, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover protested that while the United States made enormous grain shipments to the U.S.S.R. to relieve starvation, the Bolsheviks exported their own food in order to buy machinery.

The ways haven't changed. The Soviets love to borrow production circuits from our innocent pocket calculators for use as guidance computers in missiles. During detente, Soviet missions learned a great deal about U.S. technology and are using it now. We learn little from them.

According to a paper read at a recent conference of the Institute for Contemporary Studies, American exchange students in the Soviet Union typically pursue such matters as "Marriage Patterns in Russia and U.S.S.R., 1897-1975," "The State and Economy in Catherinian Russia" and "Professionalization of Russian Psychiatry, 1860-1911." Their Soviet counterparts in the United States got "Photoelectric Phenomena in Semi-Conductors," "Solid State Electrochemical Thermodynamics" and "Research in Digital Automatic Control and Diagnosis."

More? The United States builds an amazing, portable "Red-eye" missile. The Soviets acquire it through a [illegible] was used in the very SAM missiles which destroyed U.S. aircraft in Vietnam and Israeli planes in the 1973 war. The Soviets don't need spies, only easily duped nations and willing U.S. [illegible].

[illegible] soft enough to allow its citizens, like Rev. Coffin and Jane Fonda, to work on behalf of the enemy during war (Vietnam). We are mindless enough to scream against Iranians, but never question where our gasoline comes from. Should we blame NBC for paying the Soviets upwards of $100 million for rights to cover the 1980 Olympics or U.S. farmers for selling wheat to the strapped Soviets? Probably not.

Is it hopeless for a fat democracy like ours to survive in a world where nice-guy nations are becoming quite scarce? No, our democratic system allows a great flow of creative energy, and also the free will to make decisions about which Americans are honorable, in terms of the national interest, and which aren't. We must sensibly determine how to protect ourselves, and how to let the bad actors in the world know in advance that we will tolerate only so much. It is a good year [illegible].

Commander of the Sundew

By Peg Ohle

Lieutenant Commander Warren Miller has been commander of the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, with home port in Charlevoix, since June 1978. This week the Courier talks with Miller about his career in the Coast Guard, and about the Sundew and the men who serve on it.

COURIER: Where did you serve before coming aboard the Sundew?

MILLER: I came here from Vessel Traffic Service in San Francisco. Before that I served on the Coast Guard Cutter Planetree in Honolulu, at the Rescue Coordinating Center in Honolulu, on the Coast Guard Cutter Burton Island out of Long Beach, California, and the North Wind out of Seattle.

COURIER: You've had all those assignments in warm weather country and now you're in Charlevoix!

MILLER: Well, they haven't all been warm weather. We went to Antarctica on the Burton Island and to the Arctic on the North Wind.

COURIER: You've had a pretty easy season so far this year, haven't you?

MILLER: Yes, and the Soo Locks are going to close January 15 and the experiment in an expanded navigation season is ending so there will be less traffic. There also are three other cutters in the area – the Biscayne Bay, the Mobile Bay, and the Calmar Bay.

COURIER: How did the work on the buoys go this year?

MILLER: Very well. We didn't lose any lights or other equipment. We have 163 buoys to service, all the way from Michigan City, Ind. to Port Inlet to Cheboygan.

COURIER: And you've been in dry dock recently, haven't you?

MILLER: Yes, we spent October and part of November in Sturgeon Bay. We had some repairs made to the shaft and to the motor mount. They also found there had been some damage to the bow thruster and propellor from last year's icebreaking.

MILLER: We're doing regular maintenance work on the vessel, engines, and so forth. Next week we're going to make some repairs at the White Shoals Light and the Lansing Light, then we'll probably go on ice breaking duty.

MILLER: We have 56 crewmen. About [illegible] of them live on the Cutter.

COURIER: Where do the rest of them live?

MILLER: In houses and apartments all over the area. We have leases on 10 different units and hope to be able to build or buy about 11 more sometime in the near future.

COURIER: How many dependents do your 56 crewmen have in the area?

COURIER: How large is your payroll?

MILLER: $43,100 a month. As far as economic impact on the community is concerned, I should also point out that we buy a lot of material locally, including food for the commissary, and we also contract for a lot of services. In addition, we're going to build a storage building at the Coast Guard Station and make some improvements at the City Pier.

COURIER: What is the usual term of service of men on cutters like the Sundew?

MILLER: Enlisted men are usually stationed for three years and officers for two years. I have asked for a year's extension because I want to go to graduate school and study public administration, and such a spot hasn't opened up yet.

COURIER: Where will you go to school?

MILLER: Probably to George Washington University or American University in Washington, D.C. When I get through I'll be assigned to Coast Guard Headquarters.

COURIER: Where did you grow up?

MILLER: In Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. I graduated from high school there, then went to the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut. I finished in 1966.

COURIER: What are the advantages of serving in the Coast Guard compared to the other military services?

MILLER: Much is the same – the pay is the same, promotions are the same, and the chances for travel are the same – but the type of work we do is different. Our main functions are peace time functions – searching and rescuing, breaking ice, and that sort of thing. We keep busy year 'round and we are always ready. The training people receive in the Coast Guard can be used for jobs later on.

COURIER: Are the Coast Guard boats becoming less dependent on crews for day-to-day operation?

MILLER: There are two types of vessels in the Coast Guard. Those like the Sundew, which was built in 1944, are solid and the crew is responsible for maintenance except yard jobs. The other type, the Polar Class icebreakers, carry a minimum crew and need a shore-side support center for maintenance.

COURIER: What are your hobbies?

MILLER: Racquetball, skiing and sailing. I belong to the [illegible].

COURIER: Do you prefer sail boats or power boats?

Ingenious escapes for overcoming boredom and routine

Escape – The Pina Colada Song

I was tired of my lady, we'd been together too long
Like a worn-out recording of a favorite song
So while she lay there sleeping [illegible]
[illegible]

If you like Pina Coladas and gettin' caught in the rain
If you're not into yoga [illegible]
If you like making love at midnight in the dunes on the Cape
Then I'm the love that you've looked for write to me and escape

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Though I'm nobody's poet, I thought it wasn't half bad

Yes, I like Pina Coladas and gettin' caught in the rain
[illegible] champagne
I've got to meet you by tomorrow noon and cut through all this red tape at a bar called O'Malley's where we'll plan our escape

So I waited with high hopes and she walked in the place
I knew her smile in an instant, I knew the curve of her face
[illegible]
[illegible]

That you liked Pina Coladas and gettin' caught in the rain
And the feel of the ocean and the taste of champagne
If you like making love at midnight in the dunes of the Cape
You're the lady I've looked for, come with me [illegible]

There are ways and there are ways of overcoming [illegible].

Take our four-year old daughter, Laura, for example. One afternoon recently, she decided that naptime was boring. Already assuming that she knew that, I had plied her with enough dolls and doll clothes to keep her busy for at least an hour. Sometime later, a small voice at the top of the stairs cried down: "Something's in my nose, Mama." Eliminating the possibility of Laura's having caught cold in an hour, I laid her down and examined the nose in question. My legs turned to noodles as I saw something shiny lodged far up one side. Fortunately for Laura's nose and my heart, we were able to blow out a plastic pants snap this side of the Emergency Room.

Why? If you were to ask a four-year-old, even one as (otherwise) mature as Laura, why there was a snap up her nose, you would get some strange answers or none at all. She was probably just bored and thought an experiment like this one might be intriguing. You can't really predict these things. It might just as well have been a crayon in the ear or a breaking and entering into my jewelry box. Laura's solution to the problem of boredom was not premeditated. She merely chose the closest [illegible].

The duo in this song has a couple of things in common with Laura if you stretch the comparison just a bit, 1) they both got bored in bed 2) they both chose ingenious ways to overcome the monotony of a routine. Now if only Laura could read, she too, might have been perusing the Classifieds. It might have gone something like this.

If you like Kermit on Sesame, wearing braids in your hair
Eating hot dogs with mustard, reading books in your chair
If you like M&M's and bubble gum, sitting on your dad's lap
Then you should meet me at a nursery school, it's more fun than a nap

Happily our friends in the "Escape" song rediscovered spontaneity in each other. I'm glad. It would have been a dismal conclusion to think of his lovely old lady being left behind with a crumpled newspaper while he was out snorting Pina Coladas. It might very well have been enough to drive her to sniffing snaps.

St. Mary's to participate in MS Read-A-Thon

This winter St. Mary School in Charlevoix will be participating in a unique reading motivational program, the Multiple-Sclerosis Read-A-Thon

Because of the educational value of the program, the MS Read-A-Thon has gained the enthusiastic acceptance of Michigan school superintendents, principals, teachers, librarians and the children themselves.

The program operates like a walk-a-thon or bike-a-thon. The MS Read-A-Thon enrolls children in grades 1 through 8 as "mystery sleuths" to volunteer to read books for a three week period to help solve the "mystery" of multiple sclerosis. The children secure pledges from parents, friends and neighbors for each book read. The money contributed is used to help find a cause and cure for the disease and to [illegible].

Lakewood Savings & Loan gets ready for opening

BOYNE CITY - Lakewood Savings and Loan is expected to open its doors for business within the next two months.

According to Arch Wright, one of 11 principal investors, the association is awaiting approval on insurance coverage from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Wright said he is confident that the insurance will be approved and that Lakewood Savings and Loan will be open within two months.

Lakewood Savings and Loan will be a capital stock association with the 11 local investors serving as its incorporators.

Starting Thursday, the association will be selling common stock and soliciting deposits. However, until Lakewood Savings and Loan gets its insurance, all deposits will be [illegible].

Boyne City, Boyne Falls, East Jordan and Walloon Lake will be the primary service area for Lakewood Savings and Loan. According to Wright, there are no savings and loan offices in those communities. Charlevoix and Petoskey will be in the secondary service area. Although both communities have a savings and loan office, neither is "locally owned," Wright said.

Wright indicated the association will be "just as active" in the secondary market as it is in the primary market.

Wright said the fact that Lakewood Savings and Loan is locally owned will be a big advantage, especially in processing loans.

"We'll be able to process loans faster than our competitors," said Wright. "That is one of our selling points."

Another selling point, he added, is that savings and loan institutions traditionally concentrate on residential mortgages. And real estate happens to be a "principal industry" in northern Michigan. Lakewood Savings and Loan will use local appraisers, he noted.

When Lakewood Savings and Loan does open its doors it will culminate nearly two years of work.

The local investors submitted an application to establish the association in January, 1978. However, the application was protested by Family Federal Savings and Loan Association, which has branches in Petoskey, Charlevoix and Gaylord, and by Northwestern Savings and Loan Association, which has a branch office in Petoskey. Wright said the primary reason the application was contested was because "they didn't want competition." The application was subsequently approved.

The association purchased Boyne City's old City Hall. The building was razed and a new facility constructed. The new facility - on Lake Street - will have three teller stations and one drive-up station.

Randy Lightfoot, formerly of First State Bank in Petoskey and Family Federal Savings and Loan in Petoskey, will be the chief operating officer. Wright, who is a director of three financial institutions downstate, will be the chief executive officer. Wright was recently vice-chairman of the [illegible].

Ken Wojan proved Saturday that he is one of the top heavyweight wrestlers in northern Michigan. For the second consecutive year, Wojan won the heavyweight title in the Kalkaska Invitational Saturday

He repeated the feat by impressively pinning all three opponents he wrestled.

Overall, Charlevoix was fifth in the eight team invitational. Grayling won the title with host Kalkaska taking second.

In addition to Wojan, the Rayders placed two other wrestlers in the finals. Scott Golovich finished second in the 167 pound class. Golovich lost a "hotly contested" 4-3 decision. Gregg Whitley also placed second, losing in the 138 pound class 15-3

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix was drubbed twice - 43-24 by Mancelona and 58-12 by Rogers City.

Scott Golovich and Ken Wojan continued to sparkle. Golovich recorded two pins and Wojan won by pin and by forfeit. Gregg Whitley and Mark Drenth both had good outings against Mancelona, pinning their opponents in the 138 and 145 pound weight divisions. Drenth almost made a spectacular recovery against his Rogers City opponent. Drenth trailed 13-0 after two periods, and then almost pinned his man twice in the third period before time ran out. He lost 13-10.

Frosh beat BC

The Charlevoix freshman basketball team rolled to a 73-47 triumph over Boyne City Thursday night.

The Rayders led by just four points at the end of the first quarter, 18-14, before exploding in the second quarter to take a comfortable, 42-18, lead into the locker room at halftime. Charlevoix expanded its lead to 30 points, 56-26, after three quarters.

Craig Klooster's 20 points led all scorers. George Smith added 18 to the Rayders cause.

Skiers finish second in 1st meet

The Charlevoix Rayder ski team placed second in a triangular meet at Nub's Nob Wednesday afternoon

In the boys division, Harbor Springs took first place honors with 30 points, Charlevoix followed with 56 points and Grayling compiled 80 points

Mark Larson of Harbor Springs won both the slalom and giant slalom events. Bill Fels of Charlevoix finished second in the slalom and third in the giant slalom. The Rayders were without the services of Ken Speigl, one of the team's top skiers, who is injured

In the girls division, Harbor Springs again came out on top with 39 points, Charlevoix trailed with 60 points and Grayling took third with 68 points. Hope Malpell of Charlevoix won both the slalom and giant slalom events. Kristen Lignell of Charlevoix was third in the slalom.

Because of a lack of snow (up until a week ago), the ski team had been able to practice just one time at Mt. McSauba prior to Wednesday's triangular meet.

The Rayders will ski at Schuss Mountain on Wednesday with Bellaire and Cheboygan providing the competition.

Tom Morrison scored 24 points and Scott Blanchard and Dennis Dominick added 16 and 15 points, respectively, to lead Alray's past Duffy's. Gale Sheldon tallied 14 points and Terry Brammeyer added 12 for Duffy's.

Kit Carson	59

Town House fought off its toughest challenge of the season by edging Kit Carson in overtime. The winners held Kit Carson scoreless in the three minute overtime session. The score was 59-59 at the end of regulation play. Town House led at all three breaks - 12-9, 30-23 and 44-41. Rick Leslie scored 19 points, Dan McKenzie 18 and Brian Moltpf 13 for the Town House. Roger Crain had 18 points, Dale Boss 14 and Butch Klooster 13 for Kit Carson.

Winterfest at Boyne Mountain

BOYNE FALLS — The second of the Busch Winterfests - 10 action-packed weekends of skiing fun sponsored by Busch beer - begins Friday, Jan. 18, at Boyne Mountain. The weekends, complete with complimentary freestyle/ballet ski demonstrations and clinics by the Busch Ski Team, will be highlighted by the Busch Challenge - a giant slalom race open to anyone (legal drinking age) or older.

Friday the excitement begins at 1 p.m. with the Busch Bartenders Race, a giant slalom race open to local residents and mountain personnel with trophies awarded to the top three racers following the event.

The Busch Ski Team is led by the Bill O'Leary, one of the best freestylers in the country today. At 11 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday O'Leary and the Busch Team aided by local stars will be on the slopes to perform ballet maneuvers. Following each demonstration, O'Leary and his teammate, Joan Buzzetti, will be holding free clinics for all interested [illegible]

At 1 p.m. again on both Saturday and Sunday, the highlight of the Winterfest takes place - the Busch Challenge. Offering skiers (legal drinking age or older) of all abilities an equal chance to win, the Challenge champions will be determined by who comes closest (either faster or slower) to the pacesetter's time. Team captain O'Leary will set the time [illegible] will be awarded to the winners.

In addition, all skiers who enter the Challenge will be eligible to win either a set of Scott poles or goggles, Blizzard skis or Burt bindings through a special drawing following [illegible]

Boyne Mountain features 400 acres of skiable terrain and 14 ski runs, serviced by five double-chair and three quadruple-chair lifts, and rental equipment is available. The ski resort is located [illegible] exit on U.S. 131.

The eight other Busch Winterfests will be held throughout the U.S. during the winter months.

Ski race Sunday

BELLAIRE — The Bahnhof Citizens Race, second in a series of cross-country races at the Hilton Shanty Creek/Rossignol Touring Center, will take place on Sunday, Jan. 20.

Sponsored by the United States Ski Association, the race will begin at 9 a.m. with registration, followed by a racers meeting at 9:30 a.m., and beginning the first race at 10 a.m. There will be two races, 10 and 15 kilometers in length, open to all male and female classes.

Prizes, including racing skis, Kerma cross country poles, and Rossignol hats and gloves, will be provided by the Rossignol Ski Company and the Bahnhof Ski Shop.

Cost for the race is $4.50 per person. Applications may be picked up at the Bahnhof Ski Shop in Petoskey and Traverse City, or by writing to Hilton Shanty Creek.

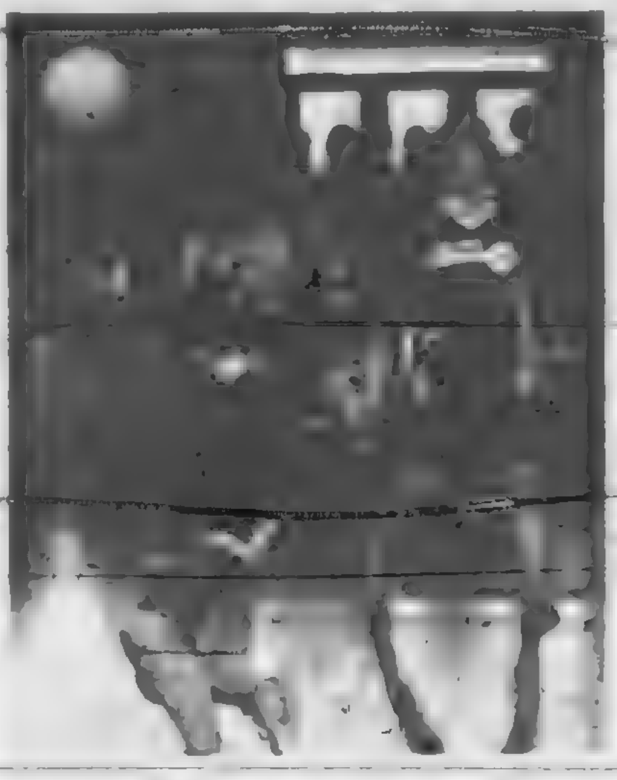
Leland wins invitational



Margo Smith keeps ball in action.

Leland won the Charlevoix Volleyball Invitational Saturday with a come-from-behind victory in the finals over host Charlevoix.

Charlevoix won the first match 15-6 before Leland rebounded with 15-7 and 16-10 victories to clinch its second straight championship here.

Leland had advanced to the finals with victories over Rogers City, St. Ignace and Petoskey. Charlevoix, after losing its opener to Cheboygan, came back with wins over Boyne City, Cheboygan, Kalkaska and Petoskey to advance to the finals.

Coach Mary Gengle said her squad played "remarkably well." Leland and Charlevoix both received trophies. Leland players also received medals.

Leland has one of the top girls volleyball teams in the state. In 1978, Leland won the state championship (Class D) and last year the school was runner-up.

Eight teams from the northern Michigan area participated in the invitational.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix split its contest at Petoskey, losing the first match 15-13 and 15-8 and winning the second match 15-5, 7-15 and 15-9.

Rayders dump Kalkaska

Charlevoix improved its record to 3-4 on the season. Bad weather postponed Friday night's contest with Boyne City. That game has been re-scheduled for Jan. 29.

The Rayders got off to a good start against Kalkaska, opening up a 10 point lead, 18-8, in the first quarter. From then on, however, Kalkaska was able to keep pace and prevent the Rayders from blowing the game wide open.

Once again Charlevoix relied on seniors Scott Morgan and Ken Otmanowski to provide the scoring punch. Morgan had 17 points and Otmanowski added 13.

Coach Dave Moyer was extremely happy with his club's defense, but the offense, he says, needs improvement.

"We're playing excellent defense right now," Moyer said, "but we've got to generate more offense.

"We're just not getting the points. Our shot selection must improve. At times we get a little too greedy (on offense)."

The Rayders shot just 37 percent against Kalkaska - 27 of 73. The Blue Blazers by comparison shot 48 percent - 19 of 40.

Charlevoix outrebounded Kalkaska 29-24. Otmanowski had 10 caroms. In addition to his 17 points, Morgan also dished out eight assists. As a team the Rayders had 23 assists and 23 steals.

Charlevoix will host Petoskey Friday night.

BOYNE CITY – A shorter race for recreational skiers has been added to the 10-kilometer Natural Light Avalanche Ski Classic, a cross-country ski race which will be held here at 12 noon Saturday, Feb. 9.

The shorter race will be five kilometers, a little more than three miles in length.

"We feel the addition of the shorter race will appeal to more skiers who will enter just for the fun of it," said race committee chairman Tim Clifton. "Keeping the 10-kilometer race will still provide a challenge to the more serious racers."

Olympic style medals will be awarded in both races – to the top three finishers in each of 24 classes. The classes are divided into age categories for men, women and children.

A grand prize of a set of skis, boots and poles will be presented to the winner of the 10-kilometer race.

Even those who don't finish near the top of their racing class will get something for their effort. Souvenir race T-shirts and bibs will be given to every entry in the race.

Both races will start and finish at the base of Avalanche Mountain, a former downhill ski area in Boyne City.

The 10-kilometer race course will take a gradual climb up the side of the hill. At the top, the course follows a ridge overlooking Boyne City and Lake Charlevoix, then goes down the hill, through woods and fields and back to the starting point.

"The view from the top of Avalanche is spectacular," Clifton said. "I think this might be one of the most beautiful ski trails in the state."

More than 100 racers entered last year's ski race, and organizers are expecting to have twice that many entries this year.

The Dilworth Hotel will be race headquarters – from check-in in the morning through lunch and an awards ceremony during the afternoon.

For entry forms and more information, write the Avalanche Ski Classic, P.O. Box 232, Boyne City, MI 49712. Entries will be accepted on race day from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Dilworth Hotel.

Budweiser Natural Light beer is co-sponsoring this year's race, along with five local sponsors. The local sponsors are The City of Boyne City, The Charlevoix County Press, First National Bank, Schafer's Store, and the Dilworth Hotel.

Attention 5th-6th graders

All fifth and sixth grade boys interested in playing basketball should report to the Charlevoix High School gymnasium Saturday morning or contact Stan Martin at the elementary school or Dave Moyer at the middle school.

The gym will be open for prospective fifth and sixth basketball players for six consecutive weekends – starting this Saturday. The fifth graders will meet at 9 a.m. and the sixth graders will meet at 10:30 a.m.

The following resolution was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix at the regular Council Meeting on Dec. 3rd 1979.

RESOLUTION 79-12-3
[illegible]

Be it resolved by the City Council of the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, as follows:

1. The said City Council, by a 3/5th vote of its members elect, pursuant to the authority granted by Act No. 279 of the Public Acts of 1909 as amended, proposes that Article II, section 2.11, Article III Section 3.8, Article IV [illegible] be amended to read as follows:

a) Provisions of existing Article II, Section 2.11 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix, if approved by the electors, will read as follows:

Each Council member and the Mayor and Deputy Mayor shall receive as payment for services a sum as determined by the local Compensation Commission which shall be established in accordance with Public Act 1972, No. 8, as amended. Such compensation shall be payable quarterly, and, except as otherwise provided in [illegible], shall constitute the only remuneration which may be paid for services performed by such officers for the discharge of any official duty for or on behalf of the City during a term of office.

Provisions of existing Article II Section 2.11 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix to be altered or abrogated by such proposal, if adopted, now read as follows:

Each Council member and the Mayor and Deputy Mayor and the City Clerk, shall receive as payment for services a sum as determined by the local Compensation Commission, which [illegible] with Public Act 1972, No. 8, as amended. Such compensation shall be payable quarterly, and except as otherwise provided in [illegible] only remuneration which may be paid for services performed by such officers for the discharge of any official duty for or on behalf of the City during a term of office.

(b) Provisions of existing Article III, Section 3.8 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix, if approved by the electors, will read as follows:

The City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire Council for an indefinite term. The City Clerk shall be Clerk of the Council and shall with the Mayor, sign all ordinances. The City Clerk shall keep a permanent journal of all Council proceedings and ordinances. In addition, the City Clerk shall perform all other duties prescribed by law, this Charter, and the Council. The City Clerk shall appoint a Deputy City Clerk.

Provisions of existing Article III Section 3.8 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix to be altered or abrogated by such proposal, if adopted, now read as follows:

The City Clerk shall be elected by a majority vote of the electors of the City at large for a one (1) year term. The City Clerk shall be Clerk of the Council and shall with the Mayor sign all ordinances. The City Clerk shall keep a permanent journal of all Council proceedings and ordinances. In addition, the City Clerk shall perform all other duties prescribed by law, this Charter, and the Council. The City Clerk may with the approval of the City Council appoint a Deputy City Clerk.

c) Provisions of existing Article IV, Section 4.4 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix, if approved by the electors, will read as follows:

Registered electors seeking the office of Mayor shall file nominating petitions bearing the bona fide signatures of no fewer than twenty five (25) or more than forty (40) registered voters residing in the City at large. Such petitions shall be filed with the City Clerk's office no later than 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon of the first (1st) Tuesday after the first (1st) Monday in June.

Provisions of existing Article IV, Section 4.4 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix, to be altered or abrogated by such proposal, if adopted, now read as follows:

Registered electors seeking the office of Mayor or City Clerk shall file nominating petitions bearing the bona fide signatures of no fewer than twenty-five (25) or more than forty (40) registered voters residing in the City at large. Such petitions shall be filed with the City Clerk's office no later than 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon of the first (1st) Tuesday after the first (1st) Monday in June."

(d) Provisions of existing Article IV Section 4.7 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix, if approved by the electors, will read as follows:

"The Mayor shall be elected at the annual General Election for a one (1) year term, by the balloting of the electors of the City at large. He/She shall take office at the first (1st) meeting of the City Council in January of the following year except as provided in Article XIV, Section 14.3. The name of the nominees will appear on the ballots and election materials of the Primary and of the General Election without reference to ward residence.

Provisions of existing Article IV Section 4.7 of the Charter of the City of Charlevoix to be altered or abrogated by such proposal, if adopted now read as follows:

"The Mayor and the City Clerk shall be elected at the annual General Election, each for a one (1) year term, by the balloting of the electors of the City at large. They shall take office at the first (1st) meeting of the City Council in January of the following year except as provided in Article XIV Section 14.3. The names of the nominees shall appear on the ballots and election materials of the primary and of the General Election without reference to ward residence."

2. The purpose of the proposed amendment shall be designated on the ballot as follows:

AMENDMENT A

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk Election Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

AMENDMENT B

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article II entitled "Form of Government," Section 2.11 entitled "Council Compensation" be amended to delete reference to the City Clerk. This amendment would allow compensation for the position of City Clerk to be determined by the City Council rather than by the Local Compensation Commission.

3. The City Clerk shall forthwith transmit a copy of the proposed amendment to the Governor of the State of Michigan for his approval and transmit a copy of the foregoing statement of purpose of such proposed amendment to the Attorney General of the State of Michigan for his approval, as required by law.

4. The proposed Charter amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the City [illegible] the City on Tuesday, the 4th day of March, 1980 and the City Clerk is hereby directed to give notice of the election and notice of registration therefore in the manner prescribed by law and to do all things and to provide all [illegible] charter amendment to the vote of the electors as required by law.

5. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the following form, to-wit:

AMENDMENT A

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk Election Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

CHARLEVOIX CITY COUNCIL MINUTES

January 7, [redacted]

8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met at the above date and time with Mayor Supernaw presiding.

Present: Councilmen Whitley, Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood and Muma. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the [redacted] 17, 1979 regular meeting were approved as submitted in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

A Public Hearing was held on the Special Assessment Roll prepared for the proposed Stover Road Sewer Extension which will include that portion of Charlevoix Township adjacent to the proposed line. The majority of the City property owners to be included in the assessment voiced their approval of the Assessment Roll. Mayor Supernaw stated that following Council approval the Special Assessment Roll will be sent to the Charlevoix Township Board for their approval or denial.

[redacted] by Councilman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood to approve the Special Assessment Roll for the proposed Stover Road Sewer Extension dated Dec. 3, 1979.

[redacted] was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Moved by Councilman Muma and supported by Councilman Timms that Councilman Wood be appointed as Deputy Mayor for 1980.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Whitley, Porter, Timms, Roloff and Muma. Nays: None. Absent: None. Abstaining: Councilman Wood.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter to accept and file the City Planning Commission Minutes dated [redacted] 1979.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Whitley, [redacted] Timms, Roloff, Wood and [redacted]. Nays: None. Absent: None.

A petition signed by three City property owners requesting sewer service from M-66 to U.S. 31 was presented to Council. The City Manager stated that the request could be processed like the Stover [redacted] Sewer Extension by creating a Special Assessment District. [illegible] Stroud, Charlevoix Township Supervisor, stated he had failed in his efforts to secure funds from individuals for this project which would continue into the Township, but the majority of the Township residents involved are in favor of the project and the Special Assessment means of funding it. The City Manager stated that the total cost of the project will be $166,000.00 with the City portion set at $66,000.00.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms that a Public Hearing be held on February 4, 1980 regarding the proposed sewer extension from M-66 to U.S. 31 and into Charlevoix Township.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Moved by Councilman Muma and supported by Councilman Roloff that the bid to purchase 2½ acres of land in the City's Industrial Park as submitted by William Stasiuk of General Gear Co. at a price of $5,000.00 [redacted]

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Whitley, Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood and Muma. Nays: [redacted]

Council discussed an actuarial valuation of the City employees retirement system, which stated it [redacted] cost the City $1,287.00 per year for 15 years to grant 2% [redacted] for more than one year. It was generally agreed not to grant the increase at this time.

[illegible] Russell, a member of the General Public present, asked Council to limit parking on May and Garfield Sts. on school days only. It was generally agreed to comply with Mr. Russell's request.

Robert Schieman, a member of the General Public present, questioned Council's right to rezone his property on Ferry Ave., presently zoned PUD, as previously discussed. Mayor Supernaw stated and the City Attorney concurred that the Council does indeed have the right in that the present threat of [redacted] owners of the PUD zoned property were against the [redacted].

The following Resolution was [redacted] its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman [redacted].

RESOLUTION 80-1-1

WHEREAS, the City Council determines that it is necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the City to acquire and construct [redacted]

AND WHEREAS, the total cost of the aforesaid improvements together with all legal fees and financing costs, has been estimated to be Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00),

AND WHEREAS, the City Council has determined that said improvements should be financed by the issuance of general obligation [redacted] of the City in the amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00),

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. The City Council does hereby determine that the aforesaid improvements are necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the City and does hereby approve [redacted] improvements in the total amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00).

2. The period of usefulness of the aforesaid public improvement is hereby estimated to be not less than forty (40) years.

3. At a special election which is hereby called to be held in the City on Tuesday, March 4, 1980 between the hours of 7:00 o'clock a.m. and 8:00 o'clock p.m., there shall be submitted to vote of the qualified electors of said City the proposition of borrowing the said sum of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00) and issuing general obligation bonds of the City therefor.

4. The proposition to be submitted at said election shall be stated on a separate ballot or as a separate proposition on voting machines, in substantially the following form:

On February 4, 1980 which is the last day for receiving registrations for said special election to be held on Tuesday, March 4, 1980 the City Clerk will be at her office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors.

THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR SAID SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD TUESDAY MARCH 4, 1980 WILL BE MONDAY FEBRUARY 4, 1980.

City Clerk

7. The City Clerk shall cause notice of the submission of said proposition to be published at least twice before the date of election in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper of general circulation in the City, the first publication to be not less than ten (10) full days prior to the date of said election.

8. The notice of the submission of the said proposition shall be in substantially the following form:

NOTICE OF ELECTION
TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Special Election to be held in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 4th day of March, 1980, from 7:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m. there will be submitted to vote of the qualified electors of said City the following proposition:

Water Improvements
Bonding Proposition

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan borrow the principal amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefore, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements to the City's Water System.

The above bonds will be payable in not to exceed thirty (30) annual installments, with interest on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 8% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY, AND THE CITY IS REQUIRED BY LAW TO LEVY SUFFICIENT AD VALOREM TAXES IF NECESSARY, FOR THE PAYMENT THEREOF UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT.

All qualified and registered electors may vote on the above bonding proposition.

The places of voting will be as [redacted]

City Hall Building, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan.

This Notice is given by authority of the City Council of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan.

City Clerk

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Whitley, Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood and Muma. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Roloff and supported by Councilman Timms that the City proceed with the law suit against C.D. Matthews' Belvedere Apartment project for violation of the approved site plan.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote:

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

Into each life it's said some rain must fall, inflicting tragedy on one and all. For whether we are famous or obscure, There is some sadness that we must endure. An illness or the loss of someone dear. A major setback in a great career. And yet throughout the history of men, According to the Universal Plan, For every tribulation that we face, Some blessing will arrive to take its place. So learn in Church the lesson that's implied: [redacted] close, another opens wide.

Residents to vote on new water tower

The city water tower was constructed in 1901. And, says City Manager James Brinker, it is "not in good shape."

What's wrong with the 100,000 gallon water tower?

Well, nearly two years ago the Chicago Bridge & Iron Company inspected the water tower and determined that it needed "a number of repairs."

In a report to city officials, the company said that the "current [illegible] of the tank can only be classified as fair" and that the city should either 1) make extensive repairs to that water tower or 2) construct a new one.

According to the report, the city would have to repair:

- Frost casing around the pipes
- Pipe support rods
- Expansion joints
- The roof
- And the foundation pier tops.

In addition, the city would have to bring the ladder and platform into compliance with OSHA regulations.

The company recommended that "due to the apparent condition of the tower and tank...and the probable short life-span for this structure...you consider replacing this tank with a new one."

The Charlevoix City Council has considered its option and has elected to seek voter approval on a general obligation bond issue - not to exceed $500,000 - to underwrite the cost of a new water tower. City residents will vote on the bond issue March 4.

"There are basically two reasons why we need a new water tower," Brinker explained. "First, even if we made repairs to the existing tower we could only expect it to last a few years. And then we would be in the same position we are in now, except that it would cost more to build. Secondly, we need more capacity. We are proposing a 300,000 gallon tank."

Brinker said a 300,000 gallon tank would "stabilize" Charlevoix's "fluctuating" water pressure, especially on the city's south side.

Council is proposing to construct the tower on a wooded area on the city golf course. Officials say it would not interfere with the operations of the golf course. Soil borings of the site indicate that it has an "excellent base" that, Brinker says, will reduce the city's expense [illegible]

He added that city crews would install the water main from Division Street to further reduce the expense.

Old water tower to be auctioned off

That's right! The water tower will be one of several items auctioned off at "Charlevoix's Largest Auction Sale" Saturday afternoon. All proceeds from the auction will be used to buy new band uniforms. The auction gets underway at 2 p.m. at the Charlevoix Middle School [illegible].

If you're the successful bidder on the water tower, you'll receive a deed to prove that it is, indeed, yours.

But don't take it too seriously. Even though the water tower is for sale - and will be sold - it will revert back to the city shortly after the [illegible].

"Even if you owned it for one hour it would be great fun," said auctioneer Tom Duke. "You can be the one and only individual in the United States to own a water tower."

If the water tower does not interest you, the Band Boosters, who are sponsoring the auction, will probably have something that will.

As of last week the Band Boosters had collected such items as: tires, televisions, bikes, lamps, tools, clothes, air conditioners, books, tape [illegible], toys, skis and ski boots, radios, paintings, jewelry, guncases, copper mugs and various pieces of furniture.

And the Band Boosters are still [illegible] miscellaneous items from area residents.

"We're asking people to help us out by donating to a very worthwhile cause," said Dave Fowler, general chairman of the event. "Maybe you [illegible] things on your shelf that you'd be happy to contribute. We don't care if it's out of style, fashion, [illegible] dusty from sitting on the shelf. We just ask that it be in good shape... This is not a rummage sale or a junk sale. This is a white [illegible]."

[illegible] the water tower there will be several other "fun" items for sale.

Beaver Island residents ask for full-time deputy

Does Beaver Island need a full-time deputy [illegible]

[illegible] 100 residents have signed petitions asking that the county provide one.

The petitions, received by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners two weeks ago, follow by two months a letter sent to the Sheriff's Committee of the board, in which St. James Township Clerk Vivian [illegible] that Deputy Sheriff James M. Peacock, who now serves Beaver Island on a half-time basis, be hired as a full-time deputy.

Deputy Sheriff Peacock went to Beaver Island last August following the resignation of Deputy Sheriff William Welke, who also served half-time. In her letter of Nov. 12, Miss Visscher stated that "Those present at the (township) board meeting asked what could be done to have Peacock placed on a full-time basis and expressed their desire to have full-time law enforcement on the Island, especially when it is done in the way that Peacock is doing it."

As a further endorsement of Peacock, Miss Visscher pointed out that "Last year, only 46 incidents had been reported to the Sheriff's Department but since Peacock has been on duty - roughly since the first of September - there have been 151 indicents" (reported).

The people of Beaver Island "obviously like" Deputy Sheriff Peacock and the work he is doing, but they are unhappy about the salary he is getting. Miss Visscher pointed out in her letter that those who attended the afore-mentioned township board meeting "expressed their dismay over the meager compensation that Peacock is receiving."

Peacock's salary is one-half that of a first-year starting officer, which amounts to $4,475 a year. In addition, St. James and Peaine Townships supplement the salary with payments of "something over $70 a month," according to Sheriff George Lasater.

He is also furnished with a trailer in which he lives free of charge, in exchange for overseeing the airport, and is given odd jobs, such as carpentry work, when required by the township.

Sheriff Lasater has asked the Charlevoix County Board of [illegible] to consider paying Peacock the same salary Welke was receiving when he quit last summer, $8,775 a year. However, Welke had several years of law enforcement experience, and according to the union contract, deputies' salaries are based largely on experience.

As far as hiring Peacock on a full-time basis in concerned, county board Chairman Clyde Cunningham told the Courier that "The board hasn't felt that the population on Beaver Island has changed enough to call for a full-time deputy."

Cunningham also said that the matter of Peacock's compensation is now in the hands of the Sheriff's Committee. "We are trying to do something, but we'll have to clear up the contract," he added. "They (the union) go strictly on seniority."

School board authorizes payment of two bonds

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its first meeting of 1980, approved the payment of bond obligations, offered probationary contracts to two elementary teachers, authorized board personnel to execute the contract for the high school addition and heard [illegible].

Two bond payments were authorized. The first, in the amount of $7,682, is to be paid to the City National Bank of [illegible] bonds dated April 1, 1969 (the present high school). The second, in the amount of $22,708.32, to be paid to the National Bank of Detroit, is the January obligation on the bonds dated July 1, [illegible].

Earlier it was announced that two members of the Elementary School faculty, Barbara Christiansen and Mary Helvig had resigned, effective at the end of the first semester, Jan. 25, to leave the teaching profession and operate a business they had purchased in Presque Isle, Wis. They had been in the school system since 1971.

At Monday's meeting Diane Boss was given a probationary contract to teach in the second grade beginning Jan. 28 [illegible] to teach fifth grade effective Jan. 28.

Miss Boss has been in the system 3½ years and most recently has been the Title I supervisor. Mrs. Hochhalter has been in the system for four years and [illegible] Carland, Special Education teacher.

The board authorized the president, Max Novak, and the secretary, Kenneth Boss, to execute the contract with the Petrie Construction Co. of East Jordan for the high school addition.

The company has been on the job since October and according to a report made at the board meeting, is preparing to place overhead steel beams on the building this week. The addition to be financed by a $700,000 bond issue approved April 30, 1978, is being constructed between Buildings A and B and will include the enlargement of the library, cafeteria and drafting room, a science lab and classrooms.

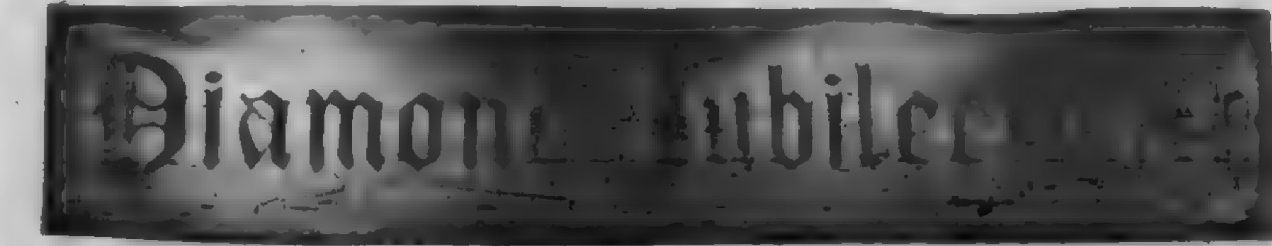
The board also gave its approval for an overnight trip to the debate team so the coach, Mrs. Connie Ford, and the team could participate in the State Finals competition at Mt. Pleasant Feb. 1 and 2.

The board heard a progress report on the Curriculum Council by Mary Gengle, chairperson of the council. The secretary, Ken Boss, in her absence, read her written report which told what was being done in three areas, life role competencies, drug and alcohol awareness which has high school students with those in the K-6 school in regards to alcohol awareness; teacher in-service by departments; K-12 needs for audio-visual equipment, the homebound education program and an overall look at the Intermediate School District supportive services.

Mrs. Geraldine Brady, School Nurse, advised the board of the requirements (by state statute) of the immunization program and what had been done to meet this criteria in the Charlevoix school district. She said some high [illegible] system all students with the exception of some families who had signed waivers for religious reasons had all been immunized. She is presently working with two families who have not met these requirements which state that children who have not been immunized or excused for a valid [illegible] 1.

Mrs. Connie Pointner who represents the board on the library committee reported on the activities of this group. A story hour evaluation is under way, an energy survey is being made, plans are underway to make some changes to bring some areas of the library up to barrier free requirements and a library patron survey is being conducted. The latter is to find what the public's interests in the library is, how the service can be bettered and what library materials and services the patrons would like. Survey sheets are at the library for the use of the patrons.

A delegation of parents who reside on Old US 31 south of Charlevoix attended the meeting to complain about a bus driver and to ask if a bus could be re-routed off US 31 to pick up nine children who live on this stretch of road. The children must now walk to the highway. Jerry Meggison was the spokesman for the group which was advised to make an appointment with the business manager, Vincent Olach, to discuss the matters. They are to meet with him late Tuesday.



First State Bank is celebrating its diamond jubilee this year. This banner is displayed at the bank, which had an open house Friday. A drawing was held and you can find out the winners on page 5.

Olach appointed to Board of Review

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night reappointed [illegible] Olach to the Board of Review.

Olach, who previously served a one year term, was reappointed for three more years. Robert Timms and Shirley Roloff, members of the council, will also be appointed to the Board of Review. Formal action on the two appointments is expected to come at the next council meeting.

Council was shorthanded Monday night as Councilmen Earl Muma and Ivan Whitley were absent and Mayor Sam Supernaw was late. However, there was a brief agenda and it took council just an hour to finish business.

A public hearing on the proposed use of federal revenue sharing funds was set for Feb. 4. City Manager James Brinker said Charlevoix will receive about $44,000 in federal [illegible] monies. This is down from the $67,000 the city [illegible] a year ago. Brinker said the funds are allocated on the basis of the city's previous millage rates. He added that in 1977 the city reduced its millage rate to 5 mills, which is just now affecting the city's share of federal funds.

In other action, council:

•Referred a purchase offer from General Gear Company to City Attorney Frank Hoffman. General Gear is seeking to purchase about two acres in the city's Industrial Park off Mercer Blvd. Part of the land is zoned industrial and part is zoned residential.

•Passed a resolution honoring Dan Geneit who recently retired from the volunteer fire and ambulance crew. Geneit was thanked for "a job well done."

•Authorized Brinker to attend the International City Management Association meeting in Ann Arbor.

•Learned that the 1980-81 fiscal year budget will be ready for presentation in mid-February. Brinker said the budget will be "tight."

•Learned that the two hour parking limit on Bridge Street is being "ignored" by workers in the downtown district. Council imposed the limit - at the request of business owners - to keep employees off the street so customers would have ample parking.

•Went into executive session to discuss union negotiations.

Auxiliary conducts work bee

Members worked on projects for Veterans Hospitals including bibs, tote bags for wheel chair patients, knitted bed socks and cast socks.

Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, Auxiliary president, said that anyone wishing to work on any of these items at home or donate materials or yarn may call her or Mrs. Kenneth Staley for instructions. Lap robes are also needed for patients.

The date for the dinner for the benefit of the summer Olympics will be announced later following a discussion at the meeting.

Mrs. Goldstick served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

The next business meeting is scheduled for Feb. 7. Members are urged to attend.

tower will cost about $400,000. But council is asking for a $500,000 limit just in case construction bids come in higher than expected.

"Once you set the bond you can't change it," Brinker said. "That's why we are asking for up to $500,000. We'll only use what we need."

On funding, council had an option between general obligation bonds and revenue bonds. With general obligation bonds the full faith of the city is pledged. With revenue bonds the city pledges the revenue of its (water) system. By selecting the general obligation bonds, Brinker said, the city should get an interest rate between 5-7 percent. He said that rate will be about 1-2 percent lower than with revenue bonds.

Brinker added that with general obligation bonds residents will be able to deduct that off their state and federal income tax.

"I think this is especially helpful for those people on fixed income because they'll get most of their money back," he said. "It will also be an advantage for the year round resident because the summer resident will pay a fair share. If we went to revenue bonds residents would pay for it through an increase in the water rates. And the summer resident is only here for three to four months."

Council is proposing to pay off the water tower in 15 years. He said it would cost residents about one mill per year. Residents are presently paying 2 mills per year for the sewer plant. That debt will be paid off in 1985. Ironically, Charlevoix applied for a $1,200,000 grant from the Farmers Home Administration to improve its water system. But was turned down because its existing debt (2 mills) was not large enough, Brinker said.

If voters approve the bond issue for a water tower, it "may help the city acquire grant money" to improve its water system elsewhere, Brinker said.

He added that the city would not sell the property on Park Avenue, where the present water tower is located, unless the public wanted to sell it.

"There is a restriction in the charter that says the city cannot sell any waterfront land it owns without the vote of the people. I wouldn't recommend we sell it anyway. I would recommend that we take down the water tower and use the property for a park. Some people have told me we should leave the water tower up as a landmark. But if we do that we have to maintain it.

"I think we're fortunate that we already have the land for a new water tower and that we don't have to make an acquisition. It is something that has to be done...and it is never going to be cheaper."

Auction

You can also buy a ride in a police car or in a fire engine or in a helicopter. Or you can buy "work pledges" from members of the band. The work pledges vary from babysitting to window washing to snow shoveling.

Also, you'll be able to bid on gourmet dinners, to be hosted by couples in the community.

If you see something you like, but you're short on cash, the Band Boosters will provide financing, too - 10 days at one percent.

Duke said the items will be auctioned off in a hurry.

"What we're trying to do is to make it a fun and spectacular afternoon. This isn't going to be like any other auction [illegible] two to three minutes to auction off one item. This is going to be the fastest auction you'll ever see. It will not be drawn out. If people get there after 2 o'clock they're going to miss a lot because the items are going to go in machine gun fashion. Believe me, they're going to move. It's the only way we can get this done and end the auction by 4 o'clock. If it runs to 5 or 6 o'clock, it's not because we didn't try. There's going to be no dawdling. If you try and milk the bidders to get the last dime you waste so much time that people get bored. If items go in a matter of seconds, people will be on the edge of their seats. Psychology is very important."

Fowler said that items will be accepted "before and during" the auction. For those who donate merchandise, a recording secretary will be present to prepare slips indicating how much your item sold for and to note the fact that it was donated to the Charlevoix Public Schools so you can use it as a legitimate tax deduction.

Duke said "that every seat will be a good seat." Each item will be displayed by a member of the band's Flag Corps. The band will provide a half hour of music prior to the auction.

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

SITTING ON YOUR NEST EGG

Your home probably [illegible] the biggest investment you ever made [illegible] the best one, too. If you're like most homeowners, your property has appreciated considerably since you first bought it. How can library best serve the community? You can help

The newly-formed Public Library Board is conducting a survey to determine how the Charlevoix Public Library can best serve the community.

Survey forms will be available in the library, from service clubs and other organizations, and will be taken home by children in the elementary school. (A reprint of the survey form follows this story).

The survey is the first undertaking of the Public Library Board, which will make recommendations concerning the library to the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Members of the Library Board are Mrs. William Sherman, Mrs. Charles Duerr, Dr. Arthur Riley, John Hess, and Scott Beatty. Mrs. Thomas Pointer, a member of the Board of Education, serves as liaison person, and Marybeth Wallick, librarian, is a non-voting member. They were all chosen by community nomination and approved by the Board of Education.

The Library Board is presently studying the energy needs of the library and Act 504 (Handicapped Persons Act) as it applies to the library. Toilet facilities for the handicapped will soon be added to the library and visual alarms installed for the hard-of-hearing. Carpenters are also in the process of making improvements to the lower level for story hours, and for an adult reading room.

The Charlevoix Public Library is the only library in the area which is operated by the local Board of Education. The others are under the jurisdiction of city governments.

Workshop on stress Tuesday

Robert M. Sell of District Health Department No. 3 will lead a discussion on "Stress," Tuesday evening, Jan. [illegible] at 7 p.m. at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

The discussion is one in a series offered by the "It Should Be Fun To Be a Parent" Committee to help parents share their concerns and ideas with other parents. The series also serves to make parents aware of the many resource people and materials which are available in the community.

Refreshments will be served following the discussion. All parents are invited.

Opinion

Our Opinion

After years of struggling, United Way puts it all together

There is good news to report today. The United Way of Charlevoix has reached its $18,000 goal.

That might not sound like a big achievement. But it is. This is an organization that has been struggling the past couple years. This is also an organization that has found it difficult trying to find people to serve on the Board of Directors - let [illegible].

Fortunatley in the summer of '79 it all turned around. The organization underwent a drastic change. Several new people joined the Board of Directors. They brought with them vigor and dedication. Truly instrumental in the resurgence were Ed McNamara, who was elected president, and Ann Hufford and Richard Kenney, who were picked to head-up the campaign. It was their aggressiveness that helped make the campaign a success.

Residents of the Charlevoix area also deserve credit for their support of United Way. About 90 percent of the $18,000 collected will be put to use right here in Charlevoix County. It will go to help agencies like Camp Daggett, Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Bergmann Center and the Red Cross.

Support the Band Boosters

On Saturday afternoon, the Charlevoix Band Boosters will be staging Charlevoix's Largest Auction Sale at the middle school gymnasium. All money raised at the auction will be used to buy new band uniforms.

We hope you will support this endeavor by attending and by donating a commodity that can be auctioned. The auction will start at 2 p.m. Don't forget!

Charlevoix's Largest Auction will be a 'happening'

Letters

Editor:

This letter is to thank you for the fine article you wrote about the Band Boosters Bonanza, also known as Charlevoix's Largest Auction Sale. Your front page article, complete with photographs of our good mayor taking a pie in the face, go a long way towards making the affair a big success.

In addition to the very well detailed article about the various things that will be taking place at the auction, it should be added that there will be a couple of surprises mixed in along the way.

We are making every effort to make this not only a successful money making, charitable adventure for the Charlevoix High School band, but to do it in the manner of a "happening." We have received pledges of a great amount of new merchandise, along with the sizeable donations being made by individuals from their own homes: couple this with the one or more items we hope each person will bring with them when they come to the auction and you can see the array of merchandise will be substantial.

As you know, one of the highlights will be the "pie in the face" affair. It is impossible to heap enough praise upon all of the outstanding citizens that agreed without hesitation to take a pie in the face at the auction, when they realized that the proceeds would go to the Band Boosters Uniform Fund. However, while we are respectful and appreciative of their efforts, we will simultaneously take great delight in watching them take their "pie in the face". We should take this opportunity [illegible] will take place at the Middle School, Middle School, Middle School, due to the fact that the wrong school was mentioned in one of our ads. Also, the fact that any items given will result in proceeds going to the school, allows the person giving the item to take a tax deduction as a charitable gift. We will have slips available for them at the auction for their donations, if they desire.

Therefore, in closing, we thank you again for your efforts and, as a reminder, please note the following:

1. Location: Middle School, Middle School.
2. Date: January 26, 1980, 2:00 P.M.
3. Please plan on attending and bring an item from your home or business – anything from an air conditioner or [illegible] ashtray. Everything in between would be appreciated and if you can bring more than one item it would be great.
4. If you have items that you wish to deliver for the auction prior to Saturday, please call David Fowler.

P.S. Remember that we will also have up for bids, rides in the police car with the Chief of Police and the County Sheriff, rides on the fire engine, passes to Mount McSauba, helicopter rides, and a multitude of other services, such as gourmet dinners, which will be available.

Sincerely,
Thomas A. Duke

Still a mystery after two decades

Erma Bombeck

What have your pantyhose done for you today?

Mine have provided me with cool comfort, up-front confidence and natural air flow. They have controlled my tummy, supported my thighs, firmed my hips, reinforced my toe, massaged my legs, allowed me to be me.

Then how come I feel like if I inhale, my knees will be caught in a vise?

Pantyhose are going into their third decade on the American scene and they are still shrouded in mystery. Has anyone ever figured out whether or not pantyhose are coming or going by holding them up? The feet give you no clue. They look like a toothless pout. All the while you are slipping them over your feet, you look for a telltale heel or toe or dart, but there is nothing. It's only after you have them on for a few hours that they take form — usually with a heel over your ankle and a flap of toe just under your heel.

After 20 years women of America still don't know what letter of the alphabet they are. I have seen some of them become quite light-headed at the pantyhose carousel as it spins around, trying to figure out if they are slight built, average, or a moose.

Some of the best fiction being written today is in the instruction pamphlet that accompanies each pair of pantyhose on how to put them on.

Listen to this, and I'm quoting: "Leave 1½ inches excess of tip of toes when slipping on your hose. (If I had an inch and a half left over, I'd announce it in the New York Times.)

"Stand. (Are they serious?) Pull hose [illegible]. Make sure the fabric is stretched to its full length. (Oh, sure, when Redford calls, I'll put [illegible].)

"If pantyhose feel too tight, please try a larger size." (They're out of them. They sold the last pair to slipcover New Jersey.)

When will they show a woman clutching the waistband resting on her hips while she leaps across the room trying to take up the slack?

I saw a little old lady just the other day who was trying to sit down. Her body was rigid, her knees were barely bent as she slid carefully onto the chair. She shook her head and explained, "I think the memory yarn in my pantyhose is getting senile."

Reducing fatalities

Writing about traffic safety is something akin to climbing up to the crest of Echo Ridge, shouting grim and calamitous news to the world and then waiting for an echo that never comes.

Let's face it. Americans simply don't get very excited about traffic safety, because auto accidents are something that always happen to someone else. And that "someone" usually brings it on himself by speeding, passing on hills and curves, or by not paying proper attention to rotten driving conditions.

Americans also have a certain ambivalence toward loss of life. As a nation we are willing to suffer all kinds of global humiliation rather than harm a single hair on the heads of the 50 Americans currently imprisoned by the [illegible].

Yet we allow hundreds of American lives to be sacrificed every week on the nation's highways and hardly a murmur is heard from anyone. It is almost as though we no longer want to think about a subject that has become a national disgrace.

But some people worry about traffic safety and among them is Reed K. Freidinger, M.D., a physician at Charlevoix at Charlevoix Area Hospital, who passed along an article on child deaths resulting from automobile accidents which appeared in the Dec. 28, 1979, edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA).

"You are too young to have worried about your children and polio," Dr. Freidinger wrote in an accompanying memo. "You may be concerned about Reye's syndrome like myself. However, this recent article clearly shows the leading killer of children is largely avoidable."

The JAMA article points out that between the ages of 1 and 14, half of all [illegible] injuries. And most of those injuries — about 2,000 annually — result from automobile accidents.

Of the auto-related fatalities among children, most occur among infants less than six months old. These youngsters are particularly vulnerable to injuries [illegible] body tissue and their extreme susceptibility to shock after an accident [illegible] rapidly. They are subject to impact not only with with the interior of the [illegible] hurtling through the air.

Although data is sketchy, infants riding on the lap of an adult appear to be particularly vulnerable.

The article acknowledges that while American drivers and passengers by and large would rather ignore seat belts than fasten them, their use would prevent many fatalities particularly among young people. Part of the problem lies in the fact that seat belts designed for adults sometimes are not appropriate for children. Furthermore, so-called plastic "infant holders" are sometimes used as child restraints even though they are not intended as such.

The authors, Jerome J. Karwacki Jr. and Susan P. Baker, believe that many infant deaths could be prevented if children were required to wear helmets or other head protection while riding, but they admit "their widespread use is probably remote."

They pin their hopes on cutting the infant mortality rate on more built-in passive restraints such as padded instrument panels, airbags and other energy-absorbing structures. But they acknowledge that it will be long time before most automobiles are so equipped.

"In the meantime, the problem merits increased efforts to promote restraint use through better legislative and educational approaches plus the development of restraints that are easy to use correctly," they conclude.

When was the last time you told your kid to fasten his seat belt? You ought to be ashamed.

What's new for the 1979 federal income tax return?

Part One

Although there were no major changes in the income tax law for individuals last year, a number of previously enacted changes will come into effect for the first time on 1979 federal income tax returns.

These federal income tax changes have been reviewed by The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants to alert taxpayers on what to expect when preparing 1979 returns.

A key change this year is the loss of the general tax credit, the greater of $35 per exemption or two percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income. To compensate for that loss of up to $180 or even more for larger families, the personal and dependency exemptions have been raised from $750 to $1,000.

The standard deduction has now been officially changed to the Zero Bracket Amount (ZBA). The ZBA, available to taxpayers who don't itemize, has been raised to $2,300 for singles and to $3,400 for those filing jointly. If the deductions you claim don't exceed these amounts, consider using the convenient short form 1040A and taking the ZBA.

The deduction for political contributions has been abolished, but the credit for contributions has doubled. You can now get a credit of up to $100 on a joint return of $50 on a single return. Unlike deductions, adjustments and exemptions, which reduce taxable income, a tax credit is subtracted directly from the tax itself.

Gasoline tax is no longer a personal itemized deduction of your federal income tax return, but it is still deductible as a business expense. The mileage rate has been increased from [illegible].

The CPAs say some previously untaxed income will be taxed for the first time this year. Part of any unemployment or disability benefits that take your income past the $20,000 mark or $25,000 on a joint return, now are subject to taxation.

The refundable maximum earned-income credit for parents in low-income brackets has been increased to equal 10 percent of the first $5,000 of earned income. If you have no tax liability because you do not meet the income requirements, you may still be eligible for the credit, simply by filing a tax return. If your tax bill is less than your [illegible]. The credit starts decreasing, however, as your income increases beyond $5,000 and is completely phased out at $10,000.

In an effort to offset the affects of inflation on any salary increase you might realize, Congress broadened the tax brackets, making it possible to earn more money without going into a higher tax bracket. This doesn't work completely, however, because if the dollar keeps shrinking, and the tax rate is not shrinking, then we aren't really staying even.

Employers will want to note that the jobs credit, intended to encourage the hiring of the hard-core unemployed, has been modified to place emphasis on the hiring of specific types of individuals. These include Vietnam veterans, certain welfare recipients, the handicapped, the young and some ex-convicts.

The investment credit has been made permanent and has been liberalized. It also has been extended to cover the purchase of certain buildings, mostly used in agriculture, and the rehabilitation of some buildings that have been in use at least 20 years.

The CPAs note that the rules covering tax-qualified pension plans have been simplified to make it easier for a small employer to take care of his employees' retirement needs through contributions into Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA). Where the employer does make such contributions into an IRA, the limits have been raised on how much can be invested in a plan each year. It is now 15 percent of earned income, up to $7,500.

Rehabilitation now possible for people with lung disorders

One of the newest fields in medicine is pulmonary rehabilitation, helping people with lung disorders learn to breathe properly and more easily, with hope for a normal life.

"Respiratory therapy, itself, is only about 10 years old," Mrs. Ballard explained. "Here at Charlevoix Area Hospital we are developing a program in pulmonary rehabilitation that is in step with the latest advances."

The development of Mrs. Ballard's department at Charlevoix Area Hospital is part of the hospital's continuing growth, which will directly benefit from the current expansion and renovation project.

"We will have a larger area in which to work, more equipment, and more time to devote to helping our patients," the head of the department said recently, as she talked [illegible].

"Pulmonary rehabilitation is designed to assist people with problems of the trachea, upper respiratory problems, children with cystic fibrosis, people with chronic bronchitis or emphysema, and people suffering other lung disorders," she continued.

"Basically we help people develop an exercise program that gives them confidence and helps them establish rhythmic breathing.

"Morale and self confidence play a vital role in the progress of a patient with lung problems," she said.

Mrs. Ballard works closely with the physical therapy department at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

A patient recovering from a heart attack may receive exercise therapy from the physical therapist while Mrs. Ballard works with the patient's breathing, helping hasten the day the patient returns home.

In addition, Mrs. Ballard and her staff of three, are responsible for administering ventilators for emphysema patients, respirators for accident victims, oxygen tents for youngsters with croup. Respiratory therapists test patient's arterial blood gasses, and give electrocardiagrams for heart patients and pulmonary function tests to determine the extent of lung disorders.

And there is a lot of preventative work in respiratory therapy, Mrs. Ballard explained.

"After an operation, a patient is very susceptible to pneumonia, because one tends to lie in bed and not breathe deeply if there is much pain.

"So we work with all post-operative patients, to prevent lung problems," she said.

Accident victims, too, are a special concern.

Mrs. Ballard and her staff are on round the clock duty, to administer oxygen, respirators and assist nurses and physicians in emergency situations.

Mrs. Ballard holds an associate degree in respiratory therapy and science from Washtenaw Community Collete, Ann Arbor. She had clinical training at St. Joseph's Hospital and Mott Children's Hospital and worked for a year and a half at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor before moving to northern Michigan. She has been with Charlevoix Area Hospital since this [illegible].

"The development of Respiratory Therapy from the old days if inhalation therapy is technical and scienticic. this is a step forward for patients."

Returning to the growth of pulmonary rehabilitation, she said, "This therapy is for acute and chronically ill patients, so they may go home to lead as close to normal lives as possible. This is an exciting and diverse field," she concluded.

Charlevoix Area Hospital Respiratory Therapist Jan Ballard and hospital Housekeeper Jeanne Cavitch demonstrate a device known as an "incentive spirometer" which helps post-operative patients' deep breathing. This is a measure to prevent pneumonia and one of the many facets of the work of a respiratory therapist.

First State Bank is celebrating its diamond jubilee this year and to honor the occasion the bank had an open house Friday. Prizes were awarded to three people. Randy Carey and Janis Dietrich won calculators and T.E. Goode won a camera. Mayor Sam Supernaw is pictured here picking the names of the winners while bank President Lou Hollow and employed Lynne Cook observe.

Back to nature

Hagen Macher owns a wooded chunk of lake front property near Charlevoix. He likes to play volleyball and he admires log cabins.

So, it was only natural that when strong winds uprooted several trees on his property last year that Hagen use the fallen timber to construct - what else - a log shed to store his volleyball equipment.

"That's how it all got started," Hagen admitted.

"The windstorms blew a lot of cedar down. This summer I started clearing a path to the beach - where we play volleyball - when I got this brainstorm to build a log shed so we could leave all the equipment right there instead of hauling it back and forth."

Building a log shed might sound easy, but Hagen had "never built anything before" in his life. In fact, he didn't even know he had to obtain a permit before he could build. It wasn't until the county building inspector issued a stop work order on the project that Hagen even put together a rough site plan that eventually got him a zoning permit.

The shed is roughly 10 X 10. It has an earth floor and there are no windows. But the design is not important to Hagen. The feeling of building something is.

"This is the most enjoyable thing I've done. I could have gone to Sears and bought a shed but that's not what I wanted. I'm getting satisfaction out of this. Everytime I put up a log I can relate to it. I know where I got that log, when I stripped it and how it carried it."

The shed is being constructed with cedar logs, although Hagen's first inclination was to use any type of timber that [illegible].

"There are a lot of things I don't know about building so I'm getting a lot of advice," he said. "My initial tendency was to grab any tree that was down, but I learned that cedar will last longer, that it weathers well and that it doesn't decay."

After finding a cedar log, Hagen strips the bark off with a knife and then drags it to the building site where he'll notch it and put it up.

"I bust a gut handling those 10 foot logs," he said. "I don't know how they did it in earlier times. I suspect they used horses."

Although he has been given a lot of advice, Hagen is convinced that "building log cabins is a lost art."

"I've talked to a lot of people and most of them really don't know much about log cabins. I found out by accident that the reason you strip the bark off the cedar is so that bugs can't get between the bark and cedar to hide."

Hagen plans to seal the cracks between the logs after the shed is roughed in. He is also contemplating putting cedar shakes on the roof.

"I'm getting pressure from the purists," he said. "They think I'll destroy it otherwise."

The hardest part of the job, he said, is stripping the bark off the tree. It takes him about 40 minutes to strip one tree.

"On a good day I'll get two logs up," he said. "It usually takes me five to six hours to find two logs, strip them, haul them to the site and notch them with the chain saw. And I am getting particular about the logs, too. All the logs must be fairly straight."

Hagen spends his off-day from work, which is Thursday, working on the shed. Oftentimes, his friends from Ski and Shore come out to help.

"This has turned into a community project. Everyone at the office has put a log up and so have a lot of other people around town. People get a kick coming out here to help, but it's not long lasting. They don't want to make a career out of it. I was originally going to burn the year and my name into it (shed), but now I would have to include at least 25 names."

So far, this winter's mild weather has been a blessing for Hagen. It has extended the building season, although Hagen admits it helps to have some snow on the ground because "it's easier to move the logs."

Hagen first became interested in log construction about 25 years ago when his uncles erected log homes in Atwood. And he has been fascinated since. In fact, now that he has learned something about it, Hagen is considering building his own log home.

He claims he's "getting better all the time" particularly in notching the grooves. And it doesn't bother him that it will take about a year or better to complete the shed.

"I know I'll get it done one of these days."

Newsletter deals with inflation

Inflation is a lot like the weather: It's easy to talk about but hard to do anything about.

There are some ways to ease inflation's squeeze on family finances, however.

These will be explored in a series of six monthly newsletters "Making Ends Meet" beginning in February.

The newsletters, developed by the Extension family resource management specialists at Michigan State University, are designed to help families cope with rising prices and shrinking dollars. The first issue will lay the groundwork for the rest. It will explain how inflation is affecting wages and prices, who is being hit the hardest and how consumers are responding. Later issues will focus on ways you can cope with the rising costs of goods and services. These include reducing expenditures, raising income, sharing or trading skills and goods with others, increasing home production of goods and services, and sharpening shopping skills.

The cost of the whole series, all six issues is $1. The deadline for subscribing is Jan. 25. To get your name on the mailing list send $1 subscription fee and your name and address to the Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 119, Boyne City, 49712.

Working together

Q. What duties does your job at Medusa entail?

A. I have the overall responsibility for the plant engineering, production and insurance. I help train new employees on the safety and health aspects of their jobs, and also lead tours through the new addition. I'm especially proud of the advances we have made at Medusa in safety and health as well as in conservation. My objective on the job is to learn the overall operation of the plant and as much about the process and the industry as possible.

Q. How long have you been at Medusa, and what did you do before joining the company?

A. I've been there 28 months. Before that I worked as a carpenter in Charlevoix, helped several area clubs with their racquetball and tennis programs, played racquetball professionally - on the first racquetball tour of the country - and worked in retail, foods, landscaping and automotive. When I graduated from college, no one was hiring engineers.

Q. What's the purpose of the Jaycees?

A. We have a three fold purpose: 1) To help the individual develop in the field of community service 2) To help him develop in business management and 3) To help him develop as an individual and as a family man.

Q. What kind of projects has the Jaycees been involved in?

A. We participated in the Centennial and Venetian festivals and we recently picked up and disposed of the discarded Christmas trees in town. Last year we sponsored a magic show - bought the tickets then gave them to local kids - and are planning on doing it again. When the grant for Michigan Beach comes through, we plan to recruit men and do the physical labor to build new walks, secure the banks, and generally beautify the area. This past year, as a group, we have learned to run projects properly and to accept the responsibility that comes with such undertakings. We also acknowledge the help we received from local businesses and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Q. Besides you, who are the Jaycees officers?

A. Mike Greeley is vice president for internal affairs, Dan Miller is vice president for external affairs, Mike Beebe is treasurer, and Tony LoMonaco is secretary. In April, we're going to add two new officers, directors, due to the number of projects we are undertaking and our growth in membership.

Q. When was the local chapter of the Jaycees formed?

A. A year ago. We didn't know then how much [illegible].

Q. Who is eligible for membership in the Jaycees?

A. Men between the ages of 18 and 35. We're mostly interested in people who want to improve themselves. Right now, we're in a membership drive and would like to hear from anyone wanting to join. All they have to do is contact one of the officers. I can be reached at Medusa, Mike Greeley is at the Wharfside and Dan Miller is at Ben Franklin.

Q. I gather that women cannot join the Jaycees?

A. Not the Jaycees as such, but the women's counterpart, the Jaycettes. That's the women's division of the Jaycees and we hope that w can have a chapter here before long. It would be a real addition to our program.

Q. What other organizations do you belong to?

A. The state Chamber of Commerce - I'm on an ad hoc committee - and the national Racquetball Club. I'm a certified instructor-trainer for mining safety law, a certified Red Cross instructor, and have been a participant in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

Q. What are your hobbies?

A. I like all outdoor activities - 10 speed touring (we ride around Lake Charlevoix in about three hours), soccer, jogging, woodcutting and basketball. I also feel it's important to read. I do a lot of reading - industry literature, local newspapers, racquetball magazines, the National Geographic, Smithsonian, magazines on nutrition and health, among others.

Q. Where did you grow up?

A. In Mancelona. My parents and other members of my family still live there. I graduated from Mancelona High School and competed in sports against Charlevoix teams. I knew Jack Ulrick and Sam Supernaw then. Then I went to MSU and earned a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Q. Do you like living in Charlevoix?

A. Yes. I'm here because it has special attractions for me. I work with highly talented people and feel that those who live in the area have high priorities in life. I feel that I'm fortunate to be here. Everything I have done in life has led to what I have now. My preparation for college and my college work have been rewarded.

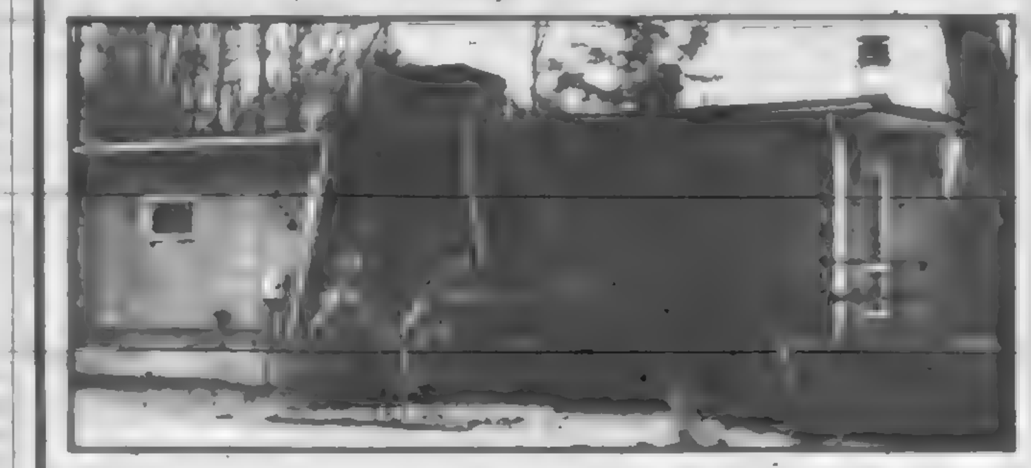
Woodstoves available

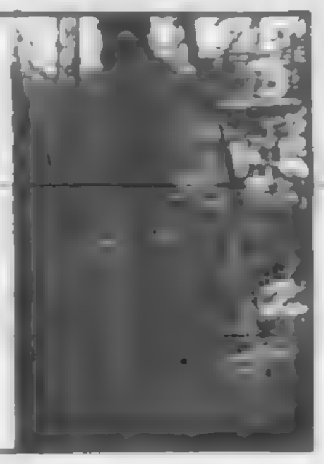
Are your fuel bills high? Would you like an alternative source of heat? The Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency might be able to help.

The NMHSA has received 35 Franklin cast iron woodstoves. And they are available to the public, provided the applicant meets CSA guidelines for income and home ownership. Priority consideration will be given to senior citizens and those people who presently use oil fired space heaters.

The stoves contain a cast iron grate so that coal or wood can be burned. It can be used in conjunction with an older fireplace or set-up as a freestanding woodstove. It will also come complete with the necessary piping and will be professionally installed at no cost to the homeowner.

For more information on applying for a woodstove contact the NMHSA office in Petoskey (347-9070) or Traverse City (947-3780).





PERFECT FOR THE RETIRED COUPLE

This quality-built 2 bedroom home is perfect for the retired couple. You can watch the trout from the 600 sq. ft. deck overlooking your own stream.

2½ wooded acres are included with this well insulated house (only $250.00 a year gas bill) and a garage with a wood burner.

Women indispensable in management

BELLAIRE — Women are an indispensable factor in successful farm management. That's the reason a seminar is geared toward their needs in Antrim County on Jan. 31.

The session begins at 9:30 a.m. at Brownwood Acres Farmhouse Restaurant located on East Torch Lake Drive, three miles south off M-88 at Eastport.

The seminar is sponsored by MSU dairy science and agricultural economics departments and the local County Extension office. Project coordinator, Martin Wilson, MSU Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) specialist, says that many times women are the only persons involved in a farming operation with sufficient knowledge to make the right management decisions.

The program provides information to assist women in making those decisions. The section of recent changes in probate laws will provide guidelines on probate procedures that must be followed in event of spouse's death.

There will be a review of the new DHIA forms and guidelines as to how these procedures can help improve herd milk production. Following will be a discussion on the proper organization of a farm office in order to improve decision making efficiency. As an option to this session Marlene Casnatt, Extension Home Economist will conduct a session on Credit for Women.

Participants will also take a look at the factors affecting positive employer-employee relationships.

The seminar concludes with a discussion on the amount of life insurance farmers should carry according to the size of the individual operation.

The program begins with coffee at 9:30 a.m. and a luncheon will be available at $4.50 per person. More details may be obtained by contacting the County Extension office.

Women who plan to attend should notify their local Extension Office by Jan. 24 for reservations.

Rally falls short, Rayders bow

A fourth quarter rally by Charlevoix fell short Friday night as Petoskey claimed a 71-63 triumph over the Rayders.

The Northmen had a comfortable 12 point lead, 60-48, with six minutes remaining in the contest when Charlevoix made its move. The Rayders - behind the shooting of Scott Morgan - closed the gap to just one point, 64-63, with three minutes to go. But missed opportunities and clutch free throw shooting by Petoskey sealed the Rayders doom.

"We really had the momenteum in our favor," Rayder Coach Dave Moyer said afterwards. "All we had to do was get the lead...but it just caved in on us...I think our inexperience showed."

Morgan, who tallied nine points in the fourth quarter, fouled out when the Rayders got within striking distance. It was after his departure that Petoskey regained control of the game.

"We made a run at them," Moyer said, "but our momenteum stalled."

Charlevoix jumped out to a 16-13 first quarter advantage as Ken Otmanowski banged in eight points. But Petoskey outscored the Rayders 27-16 in the second quarter to take a 40-32 lead at halftime. Petoskey's Clark Hewitt was the big gun as he collected 19 points in the first half, most on bombs from the outside. The Northmen built their lead to 10 points, 54-44, after three quarters, and then survived the Rayders last gasp rally.

Hewitt was the game's top scorer with 29 points. Scott Hayes - shrugging off a hip injury - had 12 points and Mike Juday added 10. For Charlevoix, Morgan tallied 25 points, Otmanowski 12 and Jim Buchanan 10.

Both teams shot extremely well from the floor. Petoskey hit on 26 of 45 shots for 58 percent whil Charlevoix connected on 29 of 56 for 53 percent. Petoskey shot a blistering 67 percent in the first half, a statistic that amazed Moyer.

"That is some kind of shooting," he said. "We shot well, too...but they were at the free throw line 25 times."

Petoskey made good on 19 of 25 free throw attempts Charlevoix, on the other hand, hit on five of eight attempts.

The loss dropped Charlevoix to 2-4 in Michigan-Huron Shores competition. The Rayders are 3-6 overall. Petoskey is 4-3 in the conference and 5-5 overall. Charlevoix will entertain Onaway in a non-league contest Tuesday night and then travel to Gaylord Friday to meet the Blue Devils.

In junior varsity action, Charlevoix improved its record to 7-1, but needed a fourth quarter surge to beat Petoskey.

The Northmen led most of the game before Charlevoix took over in the final eight minutes to win 53-45.

Frosh remain unbeaten

Craig Klooster scored 22 points Thursday night to lead Charlevoix's freshman basketball team past Petoskey, 55-42, in a battle of unbeatens.

The Rayders trailed by five points at half, 25-20. But an explosive third quarter turned the tide. In that third quarter, Charlevoix outscored Petoskey 15-2.

Chris Putman added 12 points to the Rayders [illegible]

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix whipped Harbor Springs, [illegible]

George Smith tallied 17 points, Klooster 16 and Putman 13 in the triumph. The Rayders led from start to finish - expanding a three point first quarter lead (17-14) to 12 points (49-37) after three quarters.

Charlevoix is 5-0 on the season.

Fifth and sixth grade basketball got underway Saturday with five games played at the high school gymnasium.

In fifth grade action, the Trailblazers defeated the Bulls, 14-7. Mike Thompson had 10 points for the Trailblazers and Mike Chew scored six points for the Bulls. The Lakers beat the 76ers, 19-15, as Ty Wagner tossed in 10 points for the winners. Quinton Walker had six points for the 76ers. And the Spartans edged the Pistons, 16-15. Steve Lenhart had 8 points for the Spartans while Jim Cluk tallied 14 points for the Pistons.

In sixth grade action, the Panthers tripped the Spartans, 18-14. Carl Rothenberger had six points for the Panthers and Steve Gauthier had six points for the Spartans. And the Lakers blitzed th Rayders, 42-14, as Jody Putman canned 24 points and Gary Frye added 10 for the winners. Deno Drost and Denny Curtis scored six points each for the Rayders.

At 9 a.m. Saturday the Trailblazers will meet the 76ers and the Bulls go up against the Spartans. At 9:45 a.m. the Lakers tangle with the Pistons and the Spartans meet the Rayders and at 10:30 a.m. the Panthers and Lakers battle.

Rayder grapplers fall on hard times

Coach Greg Bryan's Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team is still looking for its first win of the season after suffering three losses last week.

The Rayders were defeated by Kalkaska, 40-26, Elk Rapids, 28-36 and St. Ignace, 60-6. Charlevoix was ahead of Elk Rapids, 26-23, but had to forfeit the last two matches. The Rayders were without heavyweight Ken Wojan, who was suspended for disciplinary reasons.

Despite the setbacks, there were some fine individual performances. Mick Belfy and Alan Bergmann both recorded two pins and Gregg Whitley had a pin and a decision.

NOTICE OF THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR THE SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ON TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1980

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that any qualified elector of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, who is not already registered may register for the special election to be held on the 4th day of March, 1980, in said City.

The City Clerk will be at her office in the City Hall on each working day during regular working hours until and including Monday, February 4, 1980, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors of the City of Charlevoix not already registered.

The following proposition will be on the ballot at said special election:

Water Improvements Bonding Proposition

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, borrow the principal amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements to the city's water system.

ALSO, the following proposed amendments to the Charlevoix City Charter will be on the ballot of said election.

AMENDMENT A

Shall The City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk - Election - Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

AMENDMENT B

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article II, entitled "Form of Government", Section 2.11 entitled "Council - Compensation" be amended to delete reference to the City Clerk. This amendment would allow compensation for the position of City Clerk to be determined by the City Council rather than by the Local Compensation Commission.

On February 4, 1980, which is the last day for receiving registrations for said special election to be held on Tuesday, March 4, 1980, the City Clerk will be at her office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors.

THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR SAID SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1980, WILL BE MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1980.

Hayes Township Board - Regular Meeting

January 9, 1980

The Regular Meeting of the Hayes Township Board was called to order by Supervisor, Lee Sneathen, at 8:00 P.M.

All the members of the Board were present.

The Clerk's report of the December, 1979, Regular Meeting was read and approved.

It was decided that the Township would not ask for any new road work other than that already contracted with the Charlevoix County Road Commission for the 1980 year. However, the Township will request that the County do some urgently needed work on Maple Grove Road which is a County maintained Primary road.

On Motion, Dan Berg was re-appointed for a 3 year term on the Hayes Twp. Zoning Board of Appeals.

The bills of the Township in the amount of $1702.52 was approved for payment by a Roll Call Vote of the Board.

On Motion the meeting was adjourned.

Sandra Somerville
Hayes Twp. Clerk

Cribbage

The Masons won by three points in the annual Masons-Odd Fellow cribbage tournament now underway to cut the leader's lead to 756 points according to Ron Geer, tournament secretary.

With nine tables in play, Gerald Johnson was high for the Masons with 983 points. Bill Bergmann had 981 for the Odd Fellows.

The site of next week's series will be the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

Even if Benjamin Franklin had never become involved with the formation of a government, he still would have found his place among the great men and women of history, because of the simplicity and great clarity with which he summarized his formula for healthy and successful living. He was a consistent advocate of thrift, temperance, diligence and sensible hours. He knew that earthly life is made up of just so many units of time, and he urged us not to waste any of it. Moreover, he was a firm believer in God's guidance, needed just as much to help us acquire these good living habits as it was for the founding of a successful form of government, and you need only attend your Church to learn how very sound Franklin's advice was for all of us.

Obituaries

HENRIETTA VEENSTRA

Funeral services for Mrs. Bert (Henrietta) Veenstra, 81, who died Jan. 15 at the Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital, were held Thursday at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church. The Rev. Harry Weidenaar officiated. Interment was in the Atwood cemetery.

Born in Arlene, Michigan, Jan. 24, 1898, the former Henrietta Paul was married to Mr. Veenstra at Zeeland in 1937. They resided there until moving to Atwood in Antrim county in the early 1940's. Mr. Veenstra preceded her in death in June 1979. She was a member of the Atwood Christian Reformed Church and was active in the Ladies Bible Study Group.

Her only survivors are nieces and nephews and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Veenstra of Hudsonville.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

FRANKIE KLOOSTER

Funeral services for Mrs. Ralph (Frankie E.) Klooster, 81, who died Tuesday at Little Traverse Hospital where she had been a patient for four days, were held Friday at the Community Reformed Church. The Rev. Larry Grooters officiated. Interment was in the Barnard Cemetery.

Mrs. Klooster, the former Frankie E. Jackson, was born in Kewanee, Ind., Dec. 4, 1898, and came to East Jordan as a child. She later lived in Charlevoix where she was married to Mr. Klooster on Sept. 2, 1916. They always resided in this area. Mr. Klooster preceded her in death in October 1967. She was a member of the Community Reformed Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James (Dorothy) Willis of Charlevoix and Mrs. Harold (Esther) DeYoung of Ellsworth; five grandchildren; 18 great-grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Charles (Geneva) Stevens and Mrs. Ruth Tompson, both of Charlevoix. A daughter, Marie, preceded her in death in [illegible].

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Auction nets over $6,000 for band uniform kitty

The $6,035 will be put towards the purchase of new band uniforms. The Band Boosters had previously raised about $4,000 so Saturday's effort puts the organization over the $10,000 mark, which is just about half what is needed to buy 100 new uniforms.

"It was great, just super," said Dave Fowler, general chairman of the event.

"I can't thank the people enough. It would be hard to name all those who were so generous - the volunteers, the merchants and the people who participated in the auction - but they made this a success. We raised over $6,000 and had no expenses."

The middle school gymnasium was loaded with items prior to the 2 o'clock start. By 6:30 "everything but a cracked vase was gone," Fowler said.

Four gourmet dinners drew the highest bids, one going for $225. A letter from Gov. William Milliken, offering a tour and a visit, at the state capital went for $170. The city water tower sold to the American Mold Engineering Co. for $100. However, the water tower will revert back to the city. Pies in the face also brought high prices. Students at Charlevoix High School paid $85 to smear a whipped cream pie in the face of Principal Vane Smith. John Haggard paid $80 to rub one in the face of auctioneer Tom Duke. And three employees at the First State Bank paid $75 to let bank President Lou Hollow have it. All told, about a dozen of Charlevoix's leading citizens took pies in the face

"I was very pleased with the way it went," said Duke. "I think everyone who bought something got a good buy

"I know one guy bought four new tires for $40."

There were several good buys. A brand new three piece suit went for $5. A new pair of cross country skis went for $40. Coats, pants and jackets went for $5-$10

Because of the quantity of items donated, the auction lasted longer than organizers had earlier predicted. At about 6 p.m. Fowler finally told the bidders to look over all the merchandise on the tables and make an offer

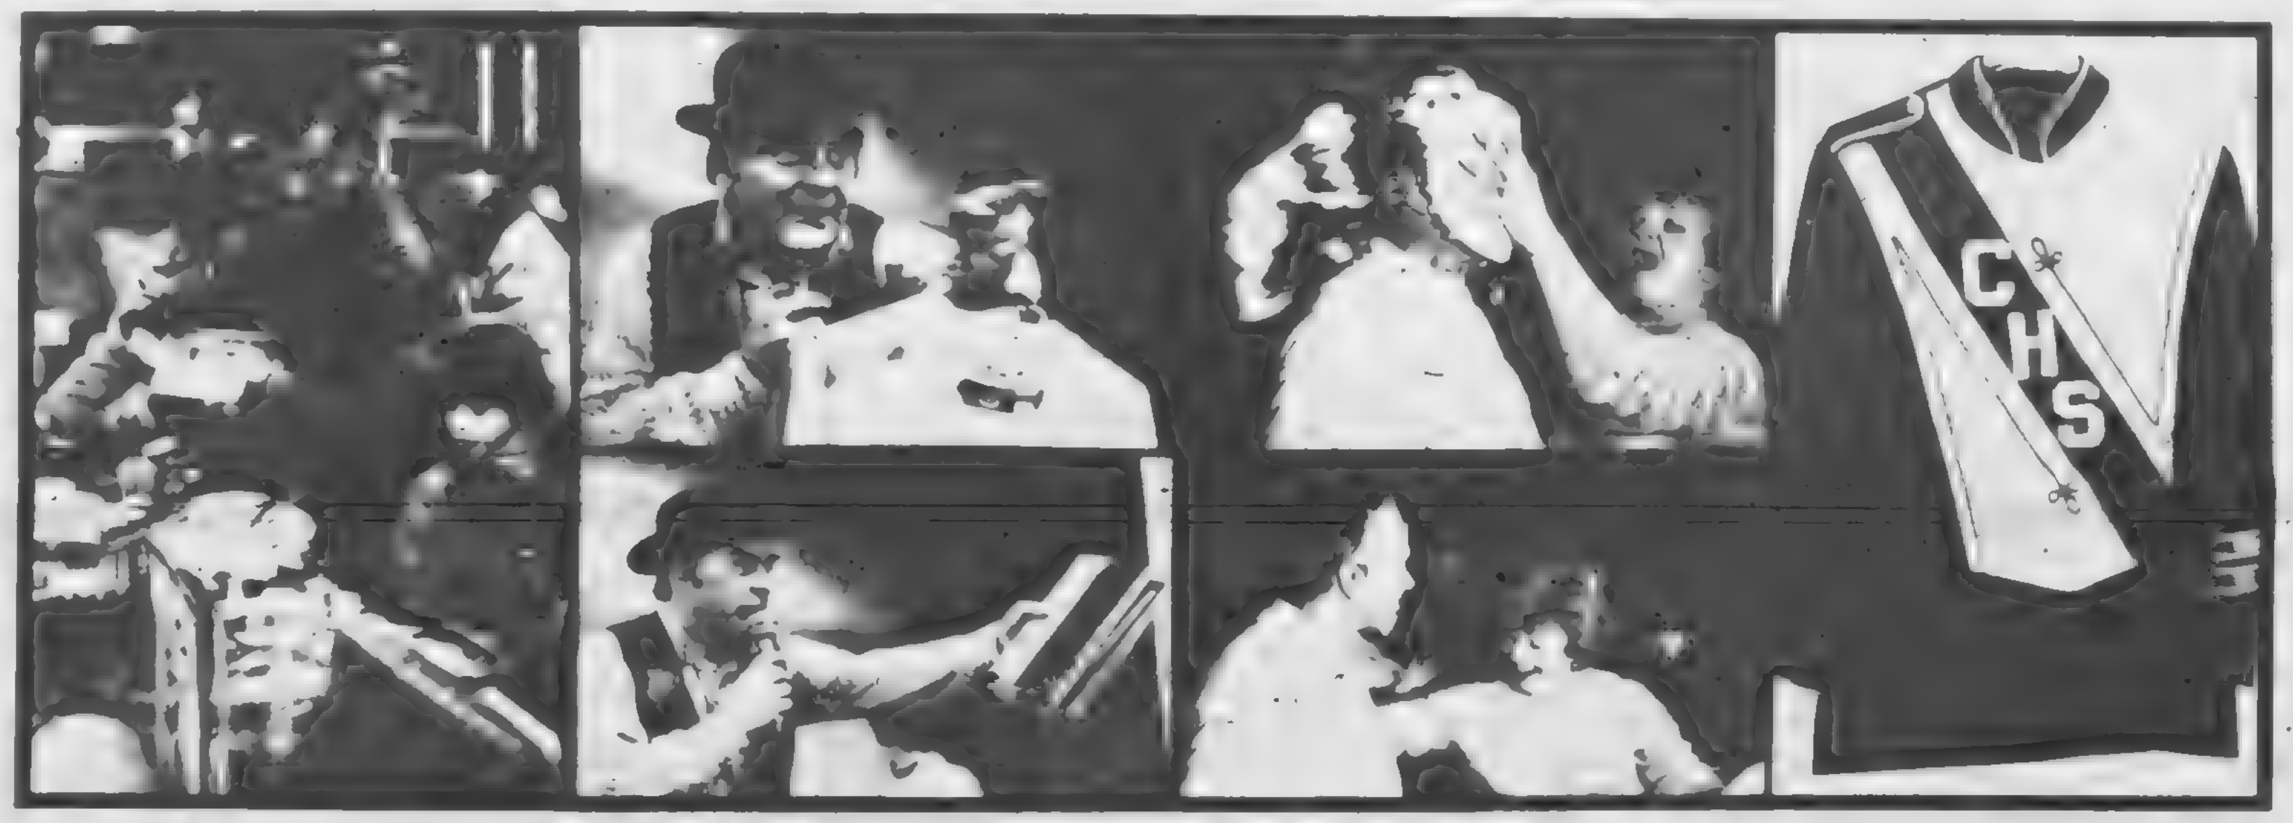
"Some stuff went for $1, $2 and $3," he said. "After that, I told them to take what they want."

The Courier has learned that a hit squad - made up of those citizens who were recipients of pies - is hot on the trail of two people who volunteered but failed to take a "pie in the kisser."

"They can rest about as easy as the Shah of Iran," said a spokesman for the [illegible].

But will amnesty be granted if they offer reasonable excuses?

"Absolutely not," the spokesman replied.



The Charlevoix Band Boosters raised over $6,000 in an auction Saturday at the Charlevoix Middle School. Tom Duke was auctioneer. One of the highlights of the auction was the "pie in the face." Here, Marsha Trimper is shown letting Gordon VanWieren, school superintendent, have it. The money will be used to buy new band uniforms. An old uniform is shown at the right.

Peacock resigns

Peacock, who Island residents claim is the best law enforcement agent they have ever had, told the Courier last week that "I just couldn't make it on the money I was getting."

As reported previously, Peacock was receiving an annual salary of $4,470 for part-time service. In addition, he received a supplement of slightly over $70 a month from the two townships and was furnished with living quarters rent [illegible]

Peacock's salary is based on the schedule of pay provided by the unio contract under which members of the sheriff's department work. However, due to the special circumstances of the Beaver Island assignment, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will now try to renegotiate the contract for that assignment.

Sheriff George Lasater said that his department is now screening applicants for the job, but if a permanent replacement for Peacock cannot be found immediately "someone will be sent over there to hold fort until we do find one."

Peacock said his future plans are indefinite, but that he has been invited to interview for jobs in Washtenaw County, Baltimore, Md., Las Vagas, Nev., and Mesa, Ariz.

Charlevoix also may be the site once again of the North American 40. As of yet, no decision has been made.

County evacuation plan readied

Suppose there was an accident at the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant. The accident was of proportions that plant officials deemed it necessary to have residents in the immediate area [illegible]

How would you be alerted? Where would you go?

The answers to those two important questions will be contained in Charlevoix County's "General Emergency Evacuation" plan, which is expected to be finalized this spring

The evacuation plan will focus on residents living within a five mile radius of the plant.

"Primarily, this will be for residents in Hayes and Charlevoix townships," Sheriff George Lasater said. "The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) requires us to have an evacuation plan for a 2½ mile radius. We are doubling that requirement. We are staying one step ahead of the NRC."

Although the plan is still subject to "minor changes," Lasater said, it is, for the most part, completed.

"If anything happened right now," he said, "this would be our plan."

The plan is relatively simple. It documents step by step what must be done in case of an emergency evacuation.

"I think this plan is very specific," Lasater said. "If anything happens, it's the sheriff's responsibility to make sure the people are evacuated. I do not want any foul-ups. I want to avoid human error."

Step-by-step this is how the plan would work

1) Officials at Big Rock would call the sheriff's office and indicate that they have a general emergency and that residents within a certain number of miles should be evacuated.

2) The sheriff's office would confirm the emergency by calling Big Rock and obtaining the name of the person who confirms the general emergency.

3) The sheriff would be contacted by telephone.

4) Patrol units on duty would be advised to start evacuating all residents within a certain number of miles of the plant. The units would be assigned areas

5) The Michigan State Police, Emmet County Sheriff's Department, Charlevoix Township Fire Department, Bay Shore Air Force Station, U.S. Coast Guard Station, Charlevoix City Fire Department and the Department of Natural Resources would be contacted and advised of the emergency. Each agency would respond and assist at assigned areas.

6) Emergency Service Director Earl Muma and Charlevoix County Board of Commission Chairman Clyde Cunningham would be contacted, advised of the emergency and requested to report to the Emergency Operation Center (EOC) at the sheriff's department.

7) All remaining officers and one posse member would be contacted. The posse member would then contact other members

8) As the officers arrived they would be assigned a patrol unit along with certain designated roads in which they would be responsible for evacuating [illegible]

9) As sub-station units arrive in the area they, too, would be assigned evacuation points

10) The Emergency Operations Center would be unlocked for arriving EOC members. One posse member would be a messenger between the communications room and the EOC

11) One officer would be assigned to contact radio stations WVOY, WJML, WMBN and WCLX and TV 9&10 to request that they advise their listening audience to evacuate within a certain number of miles of Big Rock.

All residents would be told to evacuate to the Boyne City High School gymnasium, where they would be sheltered and cared for.

In addition, after the area is evacuated, local agencies will assist in establishing blocakades to prevent anyone from penetrating that [illegible]

According to Lasater, Consumers Power is planning to install civil defense sirens in strategic locations throughout the area, which will alert residents of a general emergency. He said representatives of the Federal Siren Company have been in the area surveying potential sites

"The sirens would be our first line of defense in alerting the public to a general emergency," the sheriff said "Our second line of defense would be to go door-to-door.

"Some people who are asleep or who are deaf might not hear the siren. And then we may have some invalids who would not be able to evacuate."

There is also the possibility that a special telephone communications systems will be employed whereby all residents in the affected area would be called and a taped recording would alert them of the situation

Each agency involved in the evacuation plan would be responsible for a designated area

"There's no way our small department could evacuate everyone," Lasater said. "Some residences are a mile apart. The agencies have been very cooperative in giving us a hand."

Lasater said the plan will be tested, most likely in July

When the evacuation plan is finalized, letters will be sent to residents in the five mile radius explaining the procedure

"We will be in touch with the people," Lasater said. "We don't want them to be in the dark. In fact, anyone who is interested or concerned should contact us. This is not a secret plan. The more people who know about it the better off we are."

Lasater will soon be traveling to Vernon County, Wisconsin, to review the emergency plan there, reported to be one of the best in the country

"They have a situation like ours," he said. "A relatively small community with a small nuclear plant. The NRC says they have one of the best emergency plans in the country. I want to look at that plan before we finalize ours so ours is at least comparable if not better."

Lasater said that after the five mile evacuation plan is perfected, work will begin on a 10 mile plan.

Invalids should contact sheriff's department

Citizens in Charlevoix County, who reside within a 10 mile radius of the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant, and who are of "an invalid status or who would be unable to evacuate in the event of a general emergency because of physical disabilities" are requested to contact the sheriff's department within the next 10 days.

The sheriff's department would like the name, phone number, location of residence and type of disability of all area residents who would need assistance during an evacuation.

When the information has been compiled, the citizens will be "keyed" on the evacuation plan and arrangements will be made to see that transportation is available to remove invalids from their residence to a proper shelter.

Preserving our past

"Grandpa, tell me what it was like in the olden days."

Phrased one way or another, this request has been made of older people for generations. And, even when the stories are told, they usually provide only a few minutes of entertainment, then are lost forever.

In an effort to preserve information on "what it was like in the olden days," the Charlevoix Historical Society is setting up a program of recording interviews with senior citizens in the area.

"We are looking for people who would like to become involved in interviewing – people who are interested in going out to talk to our older citizens.

"We can use all kinds of people – women, high school students, other older people. We will furnish them with a tape recorder, tapes, and sample questions. We will provide them with a list of people whom we would like interviewed, or take suggestions from other interviewees.

"Our purpose is to build a library of voices to be placed in the Charlevoix Historical Museum when it opens. The Historical Society plans on buying a listening device so that everyone can listen to the tapes. And, along with the tape recordings, we will file a written outline of the material in the recordings."

Several area people have already been interviewed under Morgridge's direction: Bob Miles, Jay Oliver, "Cap" Paddock, "Buck" Ditlefsen, W.F. Meyer, Mrs. Alvin Joslyn, Robert Burns, all of Charlevoix; Ross and Hilda Alexander and Raymond Pillsbury of Ironton; and Herb Schneider of Boyne City.

Morgridge would like to hear from everyone interested in conducting interviews, as well as those willing to be interviewed and those knowing of persons with knowledge of the community who would make good subjects for interviews.

As soon as enough people are recruited for the interviewing project, a workshop will be set up to show how interviews can be conducted.

Morgridge may be reached at his home, 98 Oak St., Charlevoix, phone 547-4936, evenings.

Debaters in state finals

The Charlevoix High School debate team, coached by Connie Ford, will be in Lansing Friday and Saturday to participate in the [illegible].

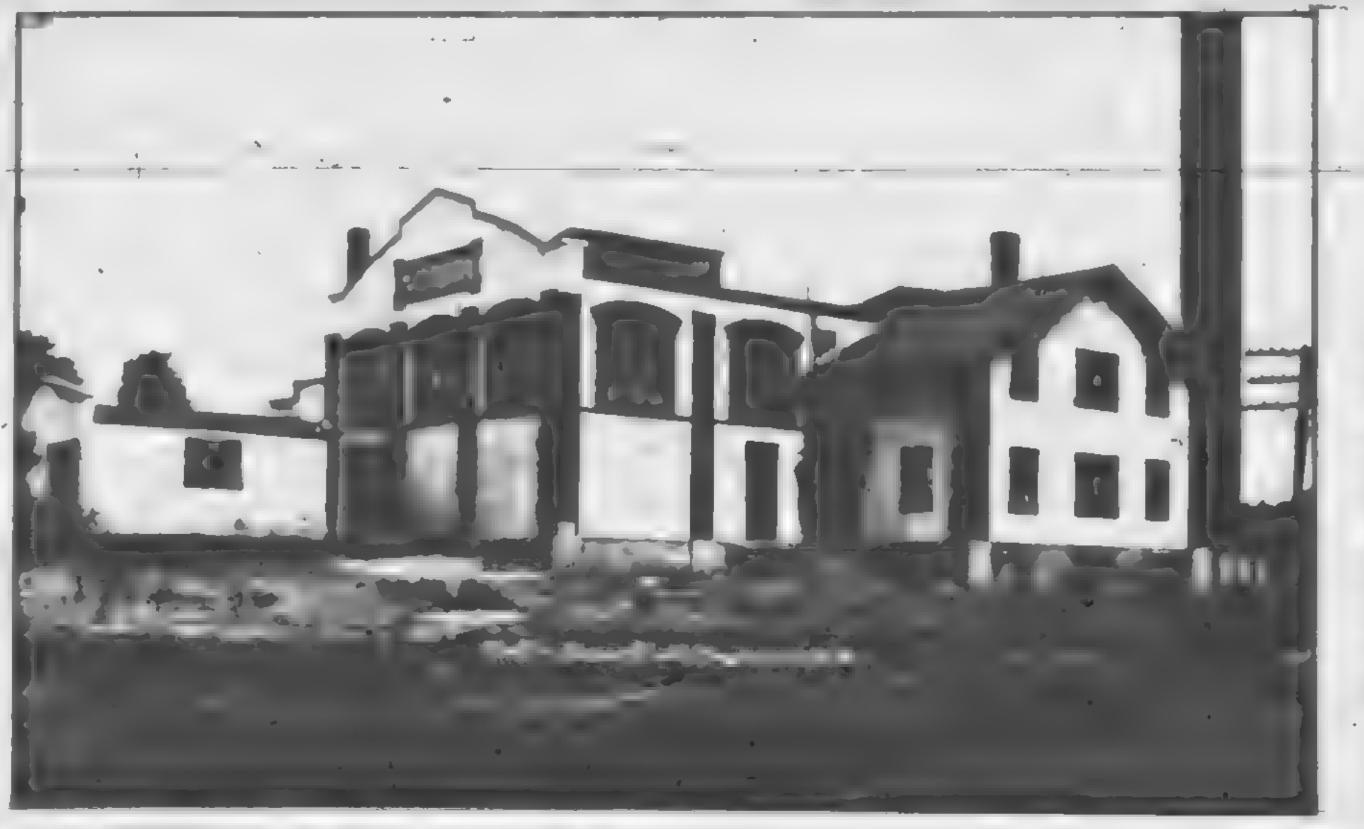
Charlevoix was one of three teams from District II to qualify for state competition.

The question being debated is Resolved that the Federal Government should change its foreign trade policies. "This has been a challenging question" Mrs. Ford said, adding that with the changing world situation, the team has had to do more research in order to keep abreast of current activities than it has ever had to do before.

For the first time, the finals will feature a quarter finals which Mrs. Ford feels will give her team a better opportunity to move from the preliminaries, quarterfinals, semi-finals and finals.

Participants in the state finals will be the two-person swing team of John Grooters and Kristy Mathews who will be the key debaters on the team because of their experience.

On the Varsity-JV level will be Beth Ford and Sheri Cook; JV level, Martha Staley and Dennis Batdorff; Novice level, Jack Carlson who has also completed on all three levels because of his ability; competing novices, Patti Cook, Kelly Mathews and James [illegible].



Charlevoix Yesterday

County could receive $34,000 under distressed communities program

Gov. William G. Milliken Wednesday said that four governmental units in Charlevoix County will receive an estimated $34,000 under a proposed addition to the state revenue sharing program.

Milliken said the new $40 million distressed communities program will assist more than 300 communities throughout the state. The distressed communities program will involve new state funds to be added to the $500 million unrestricted state revenue funds which now go to local units of government.

"The distressed communities program will help assure fiscal stability for Michigan's local units of government by providing additional funds to cities, villages and townships which most need it," Milliken said.

If the program is approved by the Legislature, communities will receive additional funds based on a formula considering the percentage of families with incomes below the poverty level, the percentage of senior citizens in the community, the growth or deterioration of the tax base, relative tax effort and decline in population.

Under the proposed program it is anticipated that Chandler Township will receive an estimated $900; Boyne City, $19,500; Charlevoix, $6,000 and East Jordan, $8,100.

Milliken stressed that the new program will not affect the general revenue sharing program.

"I will continue to support the present revenue sharing act," Milliken said.

"However, population projections and revenue growth estimates make it clear that following the 1980 census there will be an extremely adverse impact on some local governments which are growing, have demographic and other [illegible] which result in service needs that cannot be funded locally.

"That is why I am proposing that we add this new assistance program to the existing revenue sharing program, so that communities throughout Michigan which need additional funds have a means of securing them."

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

WHAT KIND OF FIX-UP?

How much should you invest in the house you plan to sell? What kind of home improvements are worthwhile?

The answer can't be cut and dried, of course, but there are a few rules of thumb.

Cosmetic improvements, such as a clean paint job, are a must.

Basic improvements, such as a new roof or a recently installed hot water heater, will help you get a better price.

A new kitchen, and a modernized bath will go a long way to making your home more saleable, but

Specialized improvements, such as a tennis court or swimming pool, any special purpose rooms, will not bring in what you paid for them.

Preferences are different around the country, of course. Screened-in porches are popular in one area, fireplaces in another. Generally, you'll do well putting money into THE IMPROVEMENTS THAT YOU WANT TO LIVE WITH, the things you will enjoy. The pleasure you get is the best return on your investment.

For the best return on your housing investment, let the professionals at Charlevoix Properties show you how to receive the highest value, quicker.

A new time, a new format

The silver-haired Mt. Pleasant native has acquired one-third ownership of the radio station with an option to buy more.

Originally hired in May 1974, before WVOY went on the air, Moore worked 3½ years at the station before accepting a job as general sales manager for TM Companies, one of the oldest and best known consultation firms in the country.

In his two years at the Dallas based firm, Moore moved steadily up the ladder. He was named vice president in 1978 and in 1979 he was offered the executive vice president-general manager slot, a position he declined.

"At about the same time I was offered that position this opportunity with WVOY came up," Moore said. "It was kind of scary to leave TM because even on the bad days I never disliked the job.

"A lot of people at TM thought I was crazy to leave. They were perturbed. They couldn't equate to it. Only the people who had been to Charlevoix - when they recruited me - understood. I guess I'm very sentimental. But I have no regrets. I'm very proud of my accomplishments at TM. It was two years of real growth. It was equivalent to getting a PhD in marketing and broadcasting. But this really feels right. There are more important things in life than money and titles."

Moore has high expectations for WVOY. The 5,000 watt AM station will undergo "massive changes" and the 100,000 watt FM-station will be on the air this summer, Moore said.

According to the Central Michigan University alum, one of the best things about San Francisco is on its way to northwestern Michigan.

"For 20 years, the Bay area has been enjoying the unique sound of KABL radio," he said. "In the face of rapidly changing demographic shifts and FM competition for the 18-34 listeners of northwestern Michigan, it simply makes sense that someone offers a [illegible] format alternative.

"We took a look at a lot of alternatives for WVOY, especially since we'll soon have a high power FM that will accomodate contemporary programming. We've been able to analyze the market quite thoroughly and are pleased to anounce that we've signed a contract with the consultants that program KABL in San Francisco."

Who programs KABL? That's right - TM.

Although recent listening trends have shown substantial erosion of audience from AM to FM with younger demographics, that trend does not seem to threaten AM's potential with adult groups, Moore added.

"The sound of the new WVOY will not be like anything ever before presented in upper Michigan," Moore explained. "Although some stations have experimented with a soft music approach, no one has used a consistently consulted, highly disciplined upscale good music approach."

WVOY will introduce its new "Beautiful Island" format around the middle of February.

"The secret for stations like KABL in San Francisco, KAIR in Tucson, WVCG in Miami, KHAR in Anchorage has been the blend of good foreground music and well executed news and promotion," Moore said. "It's incredible to see the long listening these stations achieve in the face of severe major market competition.

"We'll have the same approach, thanks to our consultancy agreement."

Bill Clark, general manager of KABL, has offered to assist Moore in the conversion of the station.

According to Moore, WVOY will become a very upscale foreground exception to the contemporary music approach currently being offered. Although the station will play familiar hits, they will be "cover versions" for the most part, featuring artists that may not be top 40 oriented but are familiar and established. Blended with CBS network news and other features, WVOY will target to an exclusively adult demographic, Moore said.

"We feel that we'll be extremely proud of our unique sound when the conversion is complete," he added.

To help with the conversion, Bob White will be returning to WVOY, too. White will be the operations director.

White left WVOY about a year ago. He bought into a radio station in Indiana. White's station, incidentally, was programmed by TM.

"Bob used our rock stereo program and has had good success with it," Moore said. "Several radio stations use TM programming, including WTC-FM in Traverse City."

Moore explained that TM offers five different formats: rock stereo, disco, country, beautiful rock and beautiful music. The format is decided upon after the firm performs a market analysis of the area. In addition to programming, TM also has a production department. TM productions include the NBC sports theme and the Coca-Cola theme song.

TM was founded by Tom Merriman. Recently, most of the TM stock was purchased by Roy and Patty Disney. He's the nephew of Walt Disney. According to Moore, the Disneys are contemplating moving TM to Los Angeles.

Besides Moore, several other TM employees have departed in recent months, including President Jim Long. Long, Charlie Pride and Reggie Jackson are buying radio stations. In fact, Moore and Merriman were ready to buy an Ann Arbor radio station when the WVOY proposition came up.

"I couldn't have done both," Moore said. "I'm just glad I'm back in Charlevoix. It was hard to leave in 1977. I love this area. I almost turned down TM. But I just couldn't pass up the learning experience. I don't think I've changed in those two years. I know I have to work hard. We all have to work hard. We can have a brilliant station, but it won't mean a thing if it doesn't translate into sales dollars!"

Irish to handle Catalina yachts

Dave Irish, president of Irish Boat Shops of Harbor Springs and Charlevoix, has announced the company's recent acquisition of the franchise for Catalina yachts.

Catalina, headquartered in Woodland Hills, builds 22, 25, 27, 30 and 38 foot sailing yachts. Irish said the yachts are "moderately priced" and one of the "best values" in today's sailboat market.

"Catalina does no advertising of their boats as they say all the money is in the boat itself," Irish said.

Irish Boat Shops have taken delivery of four yachts to date: the 25, 27, and two 30 foot yachts may be seen in the Charlevoix yard on Stover Road and the Harbor Springs yard on Bay Street. Irish deals principally in sailboats and also represents Pearson, C&C and Mariner yachts.

Cancer Society reorganizes

By Sara Gay Dammann

A reorganized chapter of the American Cancer Society for Charlevoix County plans to become heavily involved in the prevention, detection and public education of cancer.

Tuesday night over 15 people braved a winter's storm to meet at Duffy's to elect new leadership and set goals for the Charlevoix County Chapter of the Cancer Society for 1980.

According to Joan Hoffman, service chairman, education and prevention and detection are areas that the Charlevoix County chapter needs to develop.

The rejuvenated Cancer Society will continue, as well, Mrs. Hoffman explained, its financial aide to cancer patients and the operation of its "loan closet."

The "loan closet" is a service for cancer patients which provides, free of charge, beds, wheelchairs, walkers, commodes, crutches and other hospital equipment for home care. This service is available to anyone in Charlevoix County.

The organization's financial aide program assists cancer patients who have expenses that go beyond their personal means. Limited funds are available to help people with transportation costs for radiation and other cancer treatments, for medication and for dressings.

The Board of Director's meeting at Duffy's on Tuesday was conducted by Charles A. Moya, area representative of the Cancer Society, based in Traverse City.

The meeting was primarily devoted to reorganizing the local chapter after the retirement, last summer, of the core of the Board of Directors, who had served for many years.

Nancy Porter of Charlevoix is the new president of the local chapter, Chris Robinson of Walloon Lake is vice president. The treasurer's job is to be shared by Dorothy Dixon, who has served in that capacity for some 20 years, and Hugh Mason, both of Charlevoix.

Secretary is Barb Burch, Charlevoix, and publicity chairman is Peter Pace, also of Charlevoix.

Deanna Beyers, RN, has taken the job of professional education. She will have a committee for prevention and detection which will work closely with area doctors and nurses, conducting training and seminars.

Marilyn Wilmot, RN with District Health Department #3 in Charlevoix, will form a committee for public education. Ms Wilmot's committee will enlist people from throughout the county to begin the program of education, prevention and detection of cancer.

Dr. Mitchell Carey of the East Jordan Family Health Center is the local chapter's doctor.

Mrs. Hoffman said that future meetings of the Cancer Society will be held in the different communities of the county, with the object of enlisting as many volunteers in the Cancer Society's work as possible.

The organization's next meeting is Wednesday Feb. 6, at 7:30 at the East Jordan Inn.

Who will succeed Geneit? Two interviewed

Carla Spencer

Steve Pond

The two candidates for appointment as Register of Deeds to fill the unexpired term of Grover Geneit have been interviewed by the selection committee.

Both Stephen Pond and Carla Spencer report that they appeared before the committee last week. The committee, as constituted by law, consists of Probate Judge Murphy, Prosecutor Scott Beatty, and County Clerk Clarence Rabach. At the request of the Board of Commissioners Clyde Cunningham, chairman of the Board, sat with the committee members in an unofficial capacity.

It is expected that the committee's choice will not be announced much before March 15, the date of Geneit's [illegible].

Pond, 31, has worked in the Register of Deeds office for seven years and Geneit says he has been training Pond to take over his job. Mrs. Spencer, in her later thirties, has worked in the Equalization Department for 13 years and now [illegible].

Because these two seem to be the only candidates for the job, one of them will be appointed to serve until Dec. 31, 1980, when Geneit's term will expire. In the meantime, the office will appear on the ballot in next November's election and the winner in the election will hold the Register's job for the next four years.

Good, safe evacuation plan impossible

Letters

[illegible]

All nuclear plants have "submitted" emergency plans for the evacuation of people nearby. But there is one whale of [illegible] a workable plan!

For this particular area, a really good, safe, plan is impossible. Also, people in stress and weather do [illegible] and loss of life. Summarily, Big Rock "on line" and [illegible] plans is intolerable.

Big Rock, and nuclear power in general, gives such negative citizen consideration, that well paid, highly trained "public relation" people are desperately used to try bailing them out. If there are positive remarks made on nuclear power, the sources usually [illegible] or, in particular, paychecked nuclear industry personnel.

Nuclear power, born of Big Government and Big Oil, is able to "compete" in a competitive economy only by Govn't. funding, contracts, protection, and exemptions, plus present inadequate NRC safety standards. Banks mistakenly invested money in nuclear power. They will no longer overrun and doubts.

Insurance companies will not insure your property against nuclear devastation nor will they insure but a fraction of the nuclear industry. If you live next to a nuclear facility that has had an accident, the value of your property goes to zilch. Ask the folks at T.M.I.!

Without government backing (our taxmoney) and the Price-Anderson Act (public liability limitation), the whole nuclear industry would go down the tube. It will go down, with the very next accident, which is certainly more probable than nuclear industry [illegible].

In Traverse City on Jan. 19, the Kiwanis, League of Women Voters, Record Eagle, & N.C. College sponsored the first of a 4 part energy program. An audience of about 1,000 people heard Ralph Nader demand Big Rock's shutdown now for safety and economic reasons. He pointed out that 50% of our electr. power is wasted! There is 30% powergrid excess by Consumers Power of which Big Rock produces 1 to 1½% when and if it runs efficiently. The response was overwhelmingly agreeable to all of Nader's comments. It is unfortunate that more people of Charlevoix/Petoskey area did not hear his speech or that it received inadequate newspaper coverage. He will in the future, work for Big Rock's [illegible] products cruelly inflicted on people by large, powerful, companies. Ralph Nader is in agreement and support of the Concerned Citizens for the Charlevoix Area's quest for truth and facts regarding the Big Rock Point nuclear plant.

A pleasant change to see skiers

The first of March is four short weeks from next Saturday, a thought which should help you through your next bout of "cabin fever." February is such a nice, short month, even with that extra "leap day" tacked on the end.

It was a pleasant change to see so many ski cars — and ski buses — in town this weekend. The Lodge played host to three busloads of skiers from Toledo, Ohio. Since each bus holds 49, that's pretty close to 150 skiers — a nice piece of business for Charlevoix during this on-again, off-again winter.

The skiing was excellent Saturday and Sunday. Furthermore, prime ribs connoisseurs tell me Grey Gables did itself proud as dinner host for the skiers Saturday evening. The bus drivers say they're coming back in a few months to sample Charlevoix's summer hospitality — and try a little fishing off the pierheads.

Toledo, incidentally, has always been a ski-crazy town — almost as bad as Cincinnati. 'Way back a generation ago when I started skiing at Boyne Mountain, the Toledo Ski Club owned a clubhouse on the road linking the mountain resort to U.S. 131. Nothing fancy, you understand, but a place to [illegible].

Then one boisterous New Years Eve about 20 years ago, the famous Toledo Ski Club caught fire.

The next morning, all that remained was a black rectangle in the snow — filled with bedsprings.

Have you ever seen a winter with so many squirrels? Sunday the big maples along Dixon Avenue were alive with the little rascals who performed like circus clowns all day long.

I am not a student of squirreldom, but these fellows appear to be a cross between the black squirrel and the grey squirrel. Their bodies are black, but their tails have a grey cast. The red squirrels which used to inhabit Dixon Avenue have either changed color or have disappeared from the face of the earth.

I have always been under the impression that squirrels are hibernators of sorts, what with all that feverish activity to hide nuts and acorns in the fall. But these little acrobats had no intention of going to bed as they did their hijinks on the high wires and high branches.

At one point two little fellows fell to fighting and it was just like a schoolground, as the other squirrels gathered around on nearby branches to watch. The language was something awful. I guess they are only human, [illegible].

Now that winter has returned, what will happen to all the frost in the ground? Will it work its way up — thanks to residual heat deep in the earth — and be gone by the time the snow disappears? Or will we have a muddy spring, like the springs in Southern Michigan where frost penetrates five feet during a cold, open, [illegible]?

If I were Ronald Reagan, I would shun TV interviews and express my [illegible].

When he appeared on "60 Minutes" Sunday, Reagan appeared to be a very old man who is awfully unsure of himself. His simple answers to complex questions — such as proposing a blockade of Cuba to strike back at Russia for invading Afghanistan — were dismaying to at least one viewer.

The belles of St. Mary's

Saint Mary of the Springs was not Radcliffe. After all we didn't have to be class Valedictorians to qualify for admission at that time. We didn't have Harvard for a neighbor, but Capitol and Ohio State University were just around [illegible].

Like Radcliffe, however, we were young women who came from all over the country and some foreign countries as well to receive "Education for education's sake" while biding time until the wedding bell tolled. For myself, it was the sixties. For Rona Jaffe in Class Reunion it was the fifties, close enough for a remarkable memory trip. Reading Class Reunion is as close as I have come to revisiting my own alma mater after all these years.

I had almost forgotten the subtleties of my college eduction, the sign in and [illegible] came to call, the litany of rules. There were rules concerning lights out, no jeans or pants on campus, dressing for dinner in Hamilton Hall, caps and gowns for chapel, smoking in the smokers and "minutes" (subtraction penalties from your social life) if a transgression should occur. There was Learning – and learning to play Bridge according to Goren and learning to attend and put on teas for 300 – with petit fours.

The prize after all four years was a toss-up between the diploma and the ring. Not to belittle our personal aspirations, but we were basically, as one professor used to take delight in calling us, the "unclaimed treasures on the banks of Alum Creek." An assignment for his English lit class was a parody on one of the poems we had been analyzing. Mine went something like this (due respects to Robert Burns):

Alum Water

Flow gently sweet Alum beside our loved [illegible]
Flow gently I'll sing of what's oft unseen
My day dreaming lassie my St. Mary's girl
Flow gently disturb not her knit and her purl

Thou, gurgling mistress remind her of sinks
Ye and St. Mary's needs plumbers she thinks
A new set of rules and a catering crew less homework, more freedom, a cure for the [illegible]

How lofty sweet Alum thy neighboring dome caps the fair campus she's loathe to call [illegible]
[illegible]
biding her years 'til the wedding bell calls

Ye mustn't mock, Alum, from yon in thy glen for she's studied hard and acquired a yen for finesse in her manner and charm in her dress and that's most important, or so I [illegible]

Flow gently sweet Alum and pity her well
Whose life is so dreary, a ten-thirty bell
The day dreaming lassie, my St. Mary's girl

Class Reunion accompanies four [illegible] often bittersweet journey through the 50's, 60's and 70's. A flashback in time to their college days, it is now 20 years [illegible].

I suspect that more than nostalgia [illegible] class reunion. They were curious to compare what the fleeting years had wrought on their sisters before age rendered comparison absurd. They were still young enough and vain enough to believe they had been spared from at least the devastation of middle age. In defense of the characters which come across a little corny: Daphne the Golden Girl; Emily, little Miss Perfect; Annabelle, honest but horny; Chris, the dowdy but hopelessly romantic scholar – I knew them all at St Mary's, under [illegible] fiction. Somewhere in everyone's dusty photo album are the memories of a Class Reunion or the makings of one.

When you receive the next issue of your alma mater's alumnae news, remember that the tidbits in the "What's Happening to Whom" column would make a terrific novel. It is the 20 years between Then and Now which supplied Rona Jaffe with precisely the [illegible].

Understanding tax brackets

Part Two

If you thought you were lucky because your 1979 income kept pace with inflation, you may feel less fortunate now, as you consider the effect of that added income on your tax bracket. Finding yourself in the 40 percent bracket for the first time might give you nightmares about the tax collector taking 40 percent of that hard-earned salary away from you and your family. That is, however, not the way it works.

This fear, say The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, is probably a result of a widespread misunderstanding of our progressive tax system. The system attempts to link tax-rates to the ability to pay, but it is not nearly as confiscatory as "40 percent bracket" [illegible].

In fact, say the CPAs, there is so much confusion about the meaning of "tax brackets" that tax practitioners have begun using the term "marginal tax brackets" instead to indicate that your bracket affects only the leading edge. That is, they say the last few hundred dollars or so, the margin of your income. The rest of what you make is either taxed at a lower rate or not taxed at all.

Most of us have many tax brackets, each affecting a different level of income. The first $2,300 of taxable income after exemptions for a single taxpayer is in the zero bracket or no tax at all. What was previously known as the standard deduction is now called the Zero Bracket Amount (ZBA), say the CPAs.

Regardless of if you make millions, your first $2,300 is still untaxed.

Income over $2,300 is taxed at 14 percent until it reaches $3,400, when the rate climbs to 16 percent. At $4,400 it rises to 18 percent and continued rising until taxable income passes $20,000. It is then you begin paying over 40 percent, but on just a small part of your income.

If that's all tax bracket means, why is so much said and written about it? Because, the CPAs say, the highest tax rate one pays applies to the last dollar of income, as well as to the last deduction or adjustment where the most important action is for a person preparing a tax return.

If you are in the 40 percent bracket, for example, a nearly overlooked $10 deduction can put $4 in your pocket. Fifty dollars of income that can be reclassified from taxable to non-taxable is worth approximately $20 in cash. A $1,000 exemption is good for [illegible].

Conversely, tacking on a final bonus, [illegible] taxable income can mean ringing up 40 cents of taxes for every dollar of earnings. Out on the margin, the stakes are high. This is a good reason, the CPAs suggest, for doing a thorough job of checking financial records for the year to be sure there isn't an overlooked transaction that later might realize a substantial tax savings.

It's the tax break nearly missed, the one plucked seemingly out of nowhere, that counts the most, bringing the top rate of tax savings available to someone in your bracket. If the savings are big enough, they can even take you down to a lower bracket.

Lasater, Brown to vie for sheriff

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater says "absolutely" he will seek re-election.

Wally Brown says "definitely" he will oppose Lasater.

Although candidates have until June 3 to file, the race for sheriff appears to be off to an early start.

Both Lasater and Brown are Republicans and will be in the Aug. 5 primary.

Lasater, who was elected in 1976, said he will campaign "on the merits" of his record and his plans for the future.

Lasater said among his accomplishments are:

- Establishment of two sub-stations - one in the Boyne City area and one in the East Jordan area.
- The community rehabilitation program for the inmates serving time in the Charlevoix County Jail.
- Establishment of the sheriff's citizen award program.
- Increased cooperation with law enforcement agencies in Charlevoix County and surrounding counties.
- Bicycle safety and inspection program.
- Vehicle inspection program.
- Establishment of sheriff's auxiliary.
- Establishment of an explorer scout program for high school students interested in a career in criminal justice.
- Professionalization of the sheriff's department (3,100 hours of officer training in the last three years).
- Establishment of the jail garden program.

George Lasater

Wally Brown

He said one of his goals "for the next four years is to continue the programs and services started during the first four years." In addition, he said, he will "continue" aggressive professional law enforcement in Charlevoix County, establish an operation identification program, establish a neighborhood watch program, establish a junior deputy program, establish a good drivers award program and attempt to hire the county's first female deputy sheriff.

Lasater said he has received 482 hours of training in the last three years to keep abreast of new laws, methods and procedures.

Lasater has had 10 years experience in the county's criminal justice system.

Brown worked 26 years as a city police officer in Highland Park. He then worked three years with the Charlevoix County sheriff as a Region 10 detective (1972-75).

"I feel my qualifications will upgrade the office," Brown said. "I don't think the taxpayers are receiving what they are paying for.

"I think I can do a better job. I can give the people in Charlevoix County a better shake. The only thing he's got going for him is his four years in office, which he's bungled.

"But if the people are satisfied with him, hey, give him another shot. I just don't think it's healthy to have a guy in office run unopposed.

"I want to get back in the mainstream (retired since '75). And I want to do what I do best, what I'm most qualified to do."

Brown, 56, got involved with police work right after World War II.

"I volunteered for the Army when I was in high school," he said. "That was the vogue thing to do then.

"I spent three years in the service and when I got out in 1947 a lot of GI's were looking for work. I had a close friend who was on a police force and he liked it so well that I thought I might, too."

Brown went back to school, received his diploma, and started as a beat officer with the Highland Park police force. He stayed in Highland Park until the early '70s when he moved to northern Michigan.

Brown admits he did not support Lasater in 1976 because "he offered my job to someone else during the election campaign."

Consumers says Nader's statements 'untrue'

By Sara Gay Dammann

Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant is back in the news again.

Last week in a Traverse City press conference, consumer activist Ralph Nader called for Big Rock's closure, saying the plant is unsafe and unnecessary.

Meanwhile, Consumers Power Company, the owners of Big Rock have said that rate hikes over the next 20 years must include the $1 billion to decommission (close down permanently) both Big Rock and Palisades nuclear power plants.

Nader's attack on Big Rock came Saturday Jan. 19, at Northwestern Michigan College where he was making a speech.

Nader called Big Rock an "experimental plant" exempted from modern safety regulations. He said that Big Rock produces less than one percent of Consumers Power Company's generating capacity yet an "accident that would spew radioactive particles for 50 to 100 miles," according to accounts in the Traverse City Record Eagle.

Nader attacked the nuclear industry in general, calling for "coal, petroleum, and solar energy which don't pose the same risks as nuclear."

He also spoke out on the subject of nuclear wastes, saying "Imagine what the people of the 23rd century will think of us. We took this risk ... to provide energy for a society that wastes half of what it generates."

Nader called radioactive waste a "legacy that will last for thousands of years."

Big Rock spokesman Loomis said that plant employees are "upset by Nadder's statements."

Loomis said, "Big Rock is not an experimental reactor but a licensed commercial reactor."

He explained that "experimental reactors are the kind found on university campuses."

He said that experimentation is not being performed at Big Rock in the case of fuels and claddings as had been reported, but that the actual experiments will be conducted at another reactor to which the spent fuel and claddings are to be sent next year.

Loomis said that Big Rock's fuel is mostly uranium – 84 bundles – with 20 bundles of plutonium still remaining at the plant. (Big Rock was the first plant licensed in the United States to use plutonium as a fuel.)

According to Loomis the studies being done at Big Rock are not "experimentation" but "research and development," using uranium fuel pellets of different shapes and consistencies to "study the stress associated with pellet cladding interaction."

Reacting to Nader's charge that Big Rock has exemptions from modern safety standards, Loomis told the Courier that Big Rock has "one life-time exemption."

That exemption Loomis explained is in the secondary cooling system, which would come into play in the case of a loss of cooling water accident.

The public relations director said that two 4 inch stainless steel waterlines carry water into the reactor core — a primary core spray and a back up core spray.

"If a break in one line occurs the other line is the back up. But if there is a break in the core spray and a failure in the second lie there is not a third backup," Loomis explained.

"The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) and Consumers agree that a double failure is so unlikely that a 3rd system is not needed.

"That is the only exemption under which this plant operates," Loomis stated.

Continuing to speak on safety, Loomis said, "This plant was built to withstand a 10 percent core meltdown. Now with the lessons learned from Three Mile Island the NRC is asking this plant be built to withstand an 100 percent core meltdown."

Thus Loomis said, Big Rock is faced with the problem of improving the containment dome which is penetrable by gamma rays in the case of a loss of cooling water accident.

"But no one worries here, because the chances of a major accident are so minimal," Loomis concluded.

He also confirmed the reports that Consumers Power Company is seeking rate increases to cover the decommissioning of Big Rock in the year 2002.

Big Rock, which is the fourth oldest nuclear power plant in the United States, cost $25.8 million to construct.

Turning Big Rock off, and making the site safe again is estimated will cost $133 million by the year 2000, accounting for inflation.

Despite these figures and Big Rock's having been shutdown for 279 days in 1979 at a cost of $10,044 in replacement power – not including repair costs – Loomis says, "Nuclear energy is still cheap power."

"We've only just begun," is this year's cross country skiing theme.

But while only just begun, thanks to the inappropriate December and January weather, cross country skiing in Charlevoix County still has a lot to offer.

The Great Wooden Ski Rally at Windmill Farms to be held Saturday, Feb. 9 at 1 p.m. will give cross country skiers a chance to gain an historical perspective on the sport, whilst competing to see who can have the most fun.

Serious racing competitors look forward to the Feb. 17 USSA Sanctioned Winter Cup Festival races at Windmill Farms to test their ability and stamina.

Because of Nelly Hiehle's belief in the fun of cross country skiing, she and Tom Short, owner of Silent Sports North, devised the Great Wooden Ski Rally.

Open to all comers dressed in costumes depicting the earlier traditions of the sport, Nelly and Tom are not sure what to expect – cavemen on skis, Vikings, all sorts of costumed, humorously dressed cross country skiers.

Competition is in terms of "dignity, style, grace and poise" according to Nelly.

There will be an easy one mile course for competitors to ski while being judged on costumes and style. "Even falling is okay. It's how you get up that counts," she explains.

Sunday, Feb. 17, beginning at 11:30 a.m., starting guns will send racers off over 2, 5, 10, and 30 kilometer courses at Windmill Farms.

Sanctioned by the United States Ski Association, the Winter Cup Races, part of Charlevoix's Winter Cup Festival, will attract competitors from around the midwest.

Divisions for men, women, boys and girls, from 9 and under to over 45 will be held in two categories: USSA Sanctioned races and Citizen Races for people who would like to test their abilities or ski the race course simply for the fun of it. Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers in all divisions.

Registration forms for the Winter Cup Races are available at Silent Sports North, Windmill Farms, and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. Entry fees are $8 for adults and $4 for juniors before Feb. 9, after which fees are $10 and $6 respectively.

Rumor has it that one person anxious to compete is [illegible].

Meanwhile, the Windmill Farms Ski staff is preparing its 15 miles of marked and groomed trails. Open every weekend, with night skiing Thursday and Saturday nights, Windmill Farms offers over 500 acres on which to ski.

Tuesday's at Windmill Farms skiers may watch as local racers train on a course through the main valley which will be kept lighted until 9 p.m. On Thursdays special rates are offered to Senior Citizens and women.

The rental shop will rent skiers' headlamps, along with the usual skis, boots, poles and such, for people who want to try night skiing out on the trails.

Windmill Farms has a regular program of clinics and private lessons with Nanette Loennichen of Norway, who has joined the Holland-born Nelly as staff instructor. Nelly offers some basic advice to people out for the first time this season.

"Most people make way too much work of cross country skiing," she says. "The idea is to get your whole body moving naturally without relying on your arms and shoulders. You want to develop a natural kick or diagonal stride, as the pros call it."

To accomplish this, Nelly strongly urges that a short time be spent skiing without poles. "Put them around your back or leave them behind and just ski for 10 to 15 minutes, swinging your arms."

Looking out over the rolling hills and woods at Windmill Farms, Nelly comes back to her favorite theme, "This sport should be fun."

Ken Wojan outdueled Boyne City's Jon Sims 16-2.

Grapplers show improvement

The Rayders lost to Onaway, 39-32, and to Boyne City, 39-33.

Against Onaway, Charlevoix lost the first six matches but then reversed the tide and won six of the last seven matches. Gregg Whitley, Jeff Landon and Scott Golovich recorded pins. Mark Drenth and Alan Bergmann won by decision and Ken Wojan won by forfeit.

Against Boyne City, Mick Belfy, Drenth and Wojan won by decision while Whitley and Landon had pins. Golovich wrestled to a 2-2 draw.

Gaylord edges Rayders

Grayling and Gaylord will tangle Friday night in what could prove to be the most important basketball game of the season in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

Grayling, once the conference weakling, is flexing its muscles this season. The Vikings are 8-1 and share first place with Gaylord.

Gaylord had a scare Friday night, but survived to beat Charlevoix, 63-61.

Charlevoix led most of the ballgame - 16-11 at the end of the first quarter, 28-23 at half and 36-35 at the end of three quarters. But with Joe Andrews scoring eight points in the fourth quarter, Gaylord bounced back to post the win.

"Our kids played well," he said. "It was a good game. An exciting game to watch."

"But free throws did it to us again. That's starting to become a habit."

Charlevoix outscored Gaylord from the field, netting 28 baskets in 63 attempts for 44 percent. Gaylord connected on 25 of 61 shots for 41 percent. It was a different story at the foul line where Gaylord hit on 13 of 18 for 72 percent while Charlevoix canned five of 12 for 42 percent.

Jim Buchanan led the Rayder attack with 14 points. Jeff Drury came off the bench to contribute 11 points and Gerard Doan and Scott Morgan added 10 each.

Gaylord outrebounded Charlevoix 34-27. Ken Otmanowski [illegible].

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix edged Onaway, 58-57.

"Onaway is an aggressive team," Moyer said. "They have really improved."

The Rayders were trailing by two points, 42-40, after three quarters and it was not until mid-way through the quarter that Charlevoix grabbed the lead.

"We could have put the game away in the closing minutes," Moyer said, "but we missed three one and one opportunities."

Morgan had 21 points to pace the Rayders while Buchanan [illegible].

Charlevoix will entertain Boyne City and Cheboygan this week.

In junior varsity play, Charlevoix lost to Gaylord, 61-68. Dave Buday scored 16 points, Ross Carey 15 and Jeff Greene 10.

The Rayders had defeated Onaway, earlier in the week, 65-46. Carey, Mike Schmidt and Greene tallied 12 points each and Mark Beaudoin added 10.

Village Inn Pizza 42

Kit Carson gained revenge Monday night by defeating Village Inn Pizza. Kit Carson led from start to finish, building up a 20 point lead, 47-27, after three quarters. Butch Klooster and Mike Crain had 16 points and Rodger Crain 11 for the winners. Jerry Skippergosh had 24 points and Vince Left 14 for VIP.

Medusa 40

Town House extended its unbeaten string to a dozen games by thumping Medusa. Brian Molitar had 21 points, Rick Leslie 15 and Dan McKenzie 13 for Town House.

Wojan Aluminum 70
Coast Guard 57

Wojan's kept in the running for a playoff berth (top four teams) by defeating the Coast Guard. Stan Martin's 29 points led Wojan's attack. Teammates Don Ward and Dave Moyer added 14 and 10 points. Dave Motta had 23 points and Rick Forbis 13 for the Coast Guard.

Duffy's 44

After losing to Kit Carson, VIP rebounded with a smashing win over Duffy's. Jerry Skippergosh (26) and Vince Left (24) combined for 50 points. Also contributing to the VIP attack were Bryan VanLoo with 17 points, Beano Archey 16 and Randy Holicheck 14. Bill Hoagland and Jim Geis tallied 12 each for Duffy's.

Alray Cottages 83

VIP warmed up for its showdown with Town House (Monday) by blitzing Alrays. Jerry Skippergosh scored 29 points, Vince Left 28, Randy Holicheck 15 and Bryan VanLoo 12 to pace VIP's attack. Scott Blanchard and Jim Marsh had 16 each and Dennis Dominick 13 for Alray's.

County State Bank 54

Wojan's won its second game of the week with an important win over County State Bank. Dave Moyer tallied 19 points, Don Ward 16, Stan Martin 15 and Dave Smith 13 for Wojan's. Steve Martinus scored 14 points, Mike Bade 11 and Larry Skippergosh 10 for County State Bank.

Frosh knocked from unbeaten ranks

After five straight wins, the Charlevoix freshman basketball team finally tasted defeat Monday night. Gaylord edged the Rayders, [illegible].

The game was tied, 13-13, after the first quarter. The Blue Devils then broke out in front, 30-25, at half and, [illegible], after three quarters.

The Rayders will play East Jordan Monday night.

We wish to thank you for your past patronage and regretfully notify you of the closure of Cummings Plumbing and Heating.

7th graders play Petoskey

The seventh grade "A" team at the Charlevoix Middle School is experiencing a successful season with three wins to their credit according to the coach, Henry Wagner.

The team is scheduled to play at Petoskey Thursday.

In earlier games, the team defeated Petoskey in their first meeting by a score of 32-18 with the scoring well scattered. Brent Cole and Steve Greenway had six points each, John Pearl and Jim Martin, five each and Chris Haven four.

In their 51-36 win over Boyne City, Thad Morgan scored 19 and Doug Sloan 17 points.

Their most recent victory was a 29-15 win over Gaylord. Sloan scored seven points, and Pearl and Doug Milligan, six each.

5th-6th graders in action

In fifth grade basketball action Saturday, the Pistons beat the Lakers, 8-6, the Spartans beat the Bulls, 24-14, behind Quinton Walker's nine points and the 76ers beat the Trailblazers, 11-8.

In sixth grade play, the Lakers beat the Panthers, 35-12, as Jody Putman had 18 points and the Spartans beat the Rayders, 41-7, behind Shawn Ferguson's 14 points and Steve Gauthier's 12 points.

In action this Saturday, the Trailblazers meet the Lakers at 9 a.m., the Spartans meet the 76ers at 9 a.m., the Bulls tangle with the Pistons at 9:45 a.m., the Panthers play the Rayders at 9:45 a.m. and the Spartans meet the Lakers at 10:30 a.m.

NMU rep in Petoskey on Feb. 11

Northern Michigan University will host its annual open house program in Petoskey at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11 at the Holiday Inn on U.S. 31 South.

The program is designed to give prospective NMU students and their parents an opportunity to acquire first hand information about NMU's campus, student life, and academic programs.

A faculty member as well as some currently enrolled NMU students will be in attendance at the program.

There are 41 students from Charlevoix County presently enrolled at NMU.

Malpeli shines

Hope Malpeli had quite a week of skiing.

The Rayders top skier took first place in the slalom and giant slalom as Charlevoix bested Gaylord, 20-60. And then she turned the same trick in a ski meet against Bellaire, Boyne City and Mancelona as the Charlevoix's girls team won handidly.

Against Gaylord, Kristen Lignell took second in the slalom and giant slalom and Sandy Miller was third in the slalom and Karen Snzik was third in the giant slalom.

In the boys class, Charlevoix was defeated, 34-38, as Bill Fels took a second in the slalom and Ken Speigl placed second in the giant slaom and third in the slalom.

In the meet against Bellaire, Boyne City and Mancelona, Kristen Lignell followed Malpeli with seconds in both the slalom and giant slalom and Karen Snzik took a third in the giant slalom and fourth in the slalom.

In the boys class, Charlevoix placed second behind Boyne City. Speigl was third in the giant slalom and fourth in slalom. Fels was fifth in both events.

Volleyball team triumphs

The Rayders won the first series 11-15, 15-11 and 15-14 and the second series 15-10, 8-15 and 15-5.

Charlevoix will be at Grayling on Wednesday.

In junior varsity action, Cheboygan defeated Charlevoix 15-11, 15-13 and 15-2. The Rayders "showed improvement," according to Coach Mary Gengle.

NOTICE OF THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR THE SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ON TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1980

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that any qualified elector of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, who is not already registered may register for the special election to be held on the 4th day of March, 1980, in said City.

The City Clerk will be at her office in the City Hall on each working day during regular working hours until and including Monday, February 4, 1980, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors of the City of Charlevoix not already registered.

The following proposition will be on the ballot at said special election:

Water Improvements
Bonding Proposition

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, borrow the principal amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements to the city's water system.

ALSO, the following proposed amendments to the Charlevoix City Charter will be on the ballot of said election.

AMENDMENT A

Shall The City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk - Election - Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

AMENDMENT B

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article II, entitled "Form of Government", Section 2.11 entitled "Council - Compensation" be amended to delete reference to the City Clerk. This amendment would allow compensation for the position of City Clerk to be determined by the City Council rather than by the Local Compensation Commission.

On February 4, 1980, which is the last day for receiving registrations for said special election to be held on Tuesday, March 4, 1980, the City Clerk will be at her office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors.

THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR SAID SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1980, WILL BE MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1980.

From TV to PR

Phil Loomis is our guest this week. Loomis is the public affairs director for Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant.

Q. What are your duties at Big Rock?

A. Mainly to maintain a line of communications between the company, the plant, and the public. This entails staying in touch with the news media, answering questions and being visible.

Q. Did you go through a training period to learn about the nuclear industry?

A. I'm taking some programs, but mostly I'm learning on the job. I think they decided it would easier to teach a public relations person about nuclear energy than it would be to teach a nuclear energy person about public relations.

Q. Where did you work before coming here?

A. I came from WWTV, channels 9 and 10, the Columbia Broadcasting Station, in Cadillac. I've been a news man since I was a junior in high school. I worked for the Cadillac Evening News and and station WATT in Cadillac and served in Vietnam as a radio journalist for the Navy for two years.

Q. Where did you go to college?

A. I have a journalism degree from Michigan State. While in college I worked for the Ingham County Press in Mason, reporting and doing circulation work, and for one term I worked for the State News, assigned to the Spartan fencing team.

Q. Where did you grow up?

A. I've lived in Cadillac all my life.

Q. Do you have a family?

A. Yes, my wife, Carol, and I have a daughter, Erin, who is five years old. An interesting Charlevoix connection is that our babysitters in Cadillac were Kathy and Karen McKimmey. Their father, Jim McKimmey, used to be superintendent of schools in Charlevoix. And my wife was in the [illegible] business with Sue Ann McKimmey.

Q. Are you living in Charlevoix?

A. No, we looked for a house here, but finally bought one in Petoskey.

Q. Getting back to your job, what have you learned about the public attitude toward the nuclear industry?

A. I have learned that people have a lot questions. I thought I had a basic knowledge of the nuclear industry, but I've found since being here that I don't know anything. So I ask myself 'what do other reporters know?' There is [illegible] that needs to be known. A lot of misinformation has gotten around because the nuclear industry in total has done a poor job - notice the Three Mile Island incident.

Q. Who asks the most questions?

A. The news media. They're interested because the public has questions. The nuclear industry has discovered that. We're often asked 'what are you hiding?' in reference to security around the plant. That security is there because of federal regulations. People are interested in the safety of the plant because they don't understand how it is built.

Q. Who do you go to for answers to questions you can't handle yourself?

A. People in various departments in the plant and people in the different departments in Jackson. You know, it's hard for nuclear scientists to explain what they do, just as it is for most people to explain their jobs, but it's important that they do because of the public's fear of nuclear radiation.

Q. How many people work at Big Rock?

A. One hundred and one, not including the Burns security people. There are maintenance workers, engineers, physicists, service workers, secretaries - it's like any other organization. They've all been helpful to me, and when I ask them to explain something, I say 'Tell me as if you were talking to your mother.'

Q. Do you know of any anticipated changes in the operation at Big Rock in the near future?

A. No. We've been back in operation now for about two weeks and plan on running along as we have been.

Q. What about the objections to enlarging your spent fuel pool?

A. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission held preliminary hearings last December in Petoskey, and next fall they will hold regular hearings on the matter.

Q. Isn't there talk about your needing more shielding in the plant?

A. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission will require further shielding to protect workers in certain areas in case of a major accident such as in the infinitesimal chance of a 100 percent core meltdown. The plant now can withstand a 10 percent meltdown. The accident at Three Mile Island was a one percent meltdown - the worst yet.

Q. What about your site emergency plans?

A. They are being updated. Just last week, several Consumers people and the Charlevoix County Emergency Services staff attended a meeting in Chicago called by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. Emergency plans are one of our major concerns.

Q. Anything else you would like to say?

A. Just that I don't like labels which are put on people - such as 'anti-nukes' and 'ogres.' It's just not right. We are all human beings who believe in what we're doing. We have to worry about the plant and it's safety, but we have no desire to call anti's names like 'kooks.' It creates a barrier to a decent and intelligent exchange of facts. I would also like to say that I and others from the company are avialable to speak before any group of people who want to learn more about the nuclear industry.

Bloodmobile surpasses quota

One hundred and thirty-one pints of blood was collected during the Bloodmobile visit last week, surpassing the quota by six pints.

A total of 150 prospective donors visited the Bloodmobile. Twenty, however, were deferred for various reasons resulting in 131 pints being donated. The quota had been set at 125 pints.

Another 18 donors responded to a call for O-negative blood needed for a patient who is to undergo heart surgery for which [illegible] were required.

"The response was most gratifying," Mrs. Dave Fowler said. "It always seems that when we need the blood the most, the public responds."

On behalf of the committee, Mrs. Fowler expressed her appreciation to the donors and those who responded (though they were unable to give) and to the nearly 100 volunteers who assisted during the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

All three major communities in the county, Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix, conduct blood drives at various times during the year. The next visit of the Bloodmobile to Charlevoix is scheduled for May 6.

Kiwanis honored

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club has been honored as one of 17 organizations in the Scenic Trails Cuncil, Boy Scouts of America, for having sponsored a Boy Scout troop more than 25 years.

The club, which has sponsored Boy Scout Troop 11 for 30 years, has received a veteran flag emblem in recognition of its dedication to scouting. C.A. Odmark, president, accepted [illegible].

The Scenic Trails Council serves 11 counties.

Sandy Alward of Ellsworth recently was named business manager at Ski and Shore Inc. in Charlevoix.

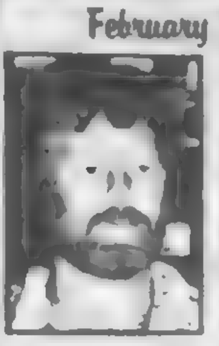
Mrs. Alward coordinates activities in the business department and she also handles the private business interests of Richard George, president of Ski and Shore.

Mrs. Alward has nine years of banking experience, including four years at Charlevoix County State. She also worked three years for Accountant Sam Supernaw.

"I really enjoy it," said Mrs. Alward, who started at Ski and Shore in mid-November. "It's challenging and it's different each day. You really get involved with people."

Mrs. Alward's husband, Bill, is employed with Gulf Western in East Jordan. The Alwards have two children, Bill, 9, and Amy, 7.

JAN



February Birthstone...Amethyst

An engraved amethyst bearing the figure of a little Cupid is said to have been worn in a ring by St. Valentine. While this may be somewhat doubtful, it is by no means impossible, for many pagan gems were worn by pious Christians who reconciled their consciences to the use of the beautiful but scarcely religious ornaments by giving to the pagan symbols a Christian meaning. Certainly in view of the time honored customs connected with St. Valentine's Day there seems something peculiarly appropriate in the design of the ring supposed to have been worn by St. Valentine.

CHIP seeks community support

Chip Counseling Center's appeal to the people of this area for financial support is meeting with success, but more community support is needed if CHIP is to continue its work.

"Many people are giving to CHIP," Marian Kohn, CHIP Board chairman said, "but if CHIP is to continue offering counseling services to this community, it will require more help from people who can give."

Founded in 1976, the CHIP Counseling Center serves people in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim Counties who seek help solving personal problems or in time of personal stress.

The underlying philosophy of the center is to offer the services of professional counselors to all who seek help, regardless of their ability to pay.

Thus CHIP operates with a sliding fee scale – $3 to $40 per hour – based on income and number of dependents.

As a result, the fees alone cannot support the center with its two full time professional counselors.

"Any person who comes to CHIP seeking help will be served, regardless," Mrs. Kohn emphasized in a recent interview.

"Luckily our first three years were underwritten by the Ransom family," she explained.

The Woodbury Ransom family agreed to get CHIP started using the funds from the estate of their son Chip who had died in a boating accident.

"That underwriting allowed CHIP Center to operate three years, so we could see if it was indeed needed in this community," Mrs. Kohn continued.

"After the first year our client list was so long we had to add a second counselor," she recalled.

Oren Schroeder, who became CHIP's director and first counselor holds several degrees in counseling and has extensive experience in counseling, including work in psychiatric hospitals.

Before joining CHIP, Schroeder, an ordained Lutheran Minister, was director of counseling at the Lutheran School Services Counseling Institute in Washington, D.C.

Terry Smith is a professional counselor who came to CHIP in 1977 from the University of Western Ontario's doctoral program, where he worked as a counselor for both the university and surrounding community. Smith has a MA from Central Michigan in counseling and a BA from Manchester College in Northern Indiana.

Today the two counselors's schedules are full and CHIP has a waiting list again.

The counselors work with people who have personal troubles, who seek help dealing with problems in their families or on the job. Counseling sessions are conducted for individuals and in some cases groups. The center also has been involved in community self-help projects including work with county jail inmates, and workshops for people in the community on stress, parenting, financial and personal lifestyle planning.

When the exploratory first three years were over last fall, CHIP of Board of Directors – businessmen, housewives, lawyers, doctors – people from around Charlevoix County, began a fund raising campaign.

That campaign has proceeded on two fronts. Members of the board are approaching individuals personally, seeking sufficient funds to keep CHIP's doors open while other seek long term financing.

"We are approaching people we hope can and will give," Attorney Roy C. Hayes explained recently. "So far we have been pleased with the breadth of giving, but we need more support from the community at large."

Hayes explained that some people have difficulty seeing CHIP's importance if they have not used the center [illegible]

"I explain," Hayes said, "that I think CHIP has made this community a better place for all of us.

"I have both friends and clients who have sought help at CHIP I am impressed with the work of these counselors," Hayes stated.

While local friends of CHIP are seeking immediate funds to keep the center going, Schroeder and the Board are examining the possibilities of foundation and government [illegible].

Tom Bickersteth, another board member is working out a plan for CHIP to build an endowment fund through deferred giving and estate planning.

"But there remains the necessity for CHIP to raise enough money to continue serving this area until our long range plans can be implemented.

"The question is," Marian Kohn said, "Does the community value the work of CHIP enough to support it now?"

Donations of CHIP are tax deductible and may be sent to CHIP-Counseling Center, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720."

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

It appears that, with an occasional respite, the so-called worldwide energy crisis will be with us for a long time with its effects on our lifestyles and our economy, and the continuing battles about how best to solve the problem without causing others. What everyone from our lawmakers and government officials on down would do well to remember is that all power originally came from God and still does that we would have no earthly possessions without His having endowed us with the intelligence and power to produce them, and that we can best solve our problems of energy or anything else by a continued reliance on His wisdom and guidance. Go to your Church and learn about the divine origin of this one inexhaustible source of power.

All cribbage players in the community are invited to play. It is not necessary to be a member of either fraternal order.

Obituaries

Miss Musa Dennis, 83, former local resident, died January 21 at a Lansing nursing home where she had been a patient for three years.

Born in South Dakota Sept. 6, 1896, Miss Dennis came to Charlevoix with her parents as a girl. She attended the Charlevoix schools before going to southern Michigan were she was employed by a pharmaceutical firm in Kalamazoo and later by a telephone directory census firm in Lansing where she had made her home for many years. She spent vacations in Charlevoix for many years with her sister, the late Mrs. Henry Stephan.

Her only survivors are two nieces.

Graveside services for Miss Dennis will be held at Brookside Cemetery in the spring.

[illegible]

Funeral services for Clarence R. (Champ) Ringler, 84, who died Friday at Manatee Memorial Hospital in Bradenton, Fla., were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m Tuesday. The Rev. Raymond Giffin officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born at Chase, Michigan, April 22, 1895, Mr Ringler was married to the former Esther Holmes at Joliet, Ill., in 1921. They made their home at Reed City where he operated a Maytag dealership. Later he was employed by Consumers Power Company. In 1940 they moved to Cedarville where they owned and operated a resort. He retired in 1962 and they moved to Charlevoix County. For the past three years they have lived at North Point.

He was a charter member of the Lions Club in Reed City, was the last remaining member of the Reed City band, was a member of the United Methodist Church in Reed City, a member and vice president of the Cedarville Chamber of Commerce and the Cedarville Businessman's Association. At Bradenton where he was spending the winter he attended the Evangelical Covenant Church of Trailer Estates, [illegible]

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Jack (Norris) Mol of Charlevoix; two sons, Delos B. of Wheeling, Ill., and Donald W. of Drayton Plains; 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital Building Fund or the American Cancer Society.

DNR wants dump near Argonne Supper Club cleaned

The unofficial dump adjacent to the Argonne Supper Club on the Boyne City Road in Hayes Township is being cited by the Department of Natural Resources as being in violation of the Michigan Solid Waste Management Statute.

The DNR has advised Frederick Ager, listed in the Charlevoix County Plat Book as owner of the property, that he must not permit any further dumping at the site except for certain permissible items, and that he must remove all other illegally deposited items.

Action by the DNR was brought about by a complaint filed by a Hayes Township resident who says she watched the pile of debris grow in size as she drove past it every day. Receipt of the complaint prompted a visit to the site last Dec. 14 by Arthur L. Caden, District Engineer for the Resource Recovery Division of the DNR. Following the visit, Caden advised Ager of the following violations:

(1) No construction permit exists for this solid waste disposal site.

(2) No license exists for this site, nor has one ever been applied for.

3) Solid waste, including building demolition debris, rubble, appliances, and miscellaneous metal, paper, and other debris is being dumped into a low, water-filled area north of Boyne City Road, along with brush and stumps. The material is considered and defined as solid waste, and shall be delivered to an approved solid waste disposal facility (landfill) in your area. The area is almost immediately adjacent to a home, and a restaurant is within 300 feet of the dump. Soils appear to be porous, providing little protection to the groundwater table.

(4) Solid waste has not been spread, compacted, or covered, as required under the law.

(5) No hydrogeologic report, engineering plan, or monitoring system exist for this facility.

Apparently the site started to become a dump last year when debris from a nearby demolition job was deposited there. It is only one of "several unlicensed open dumps in Charlevoix County which must either be closed or brought into compliance...soon," Caden says.

The only approved landfill in the Charlevoix area at the present time is the one the Charlevoix Garbage Service operates off Sequonota Road in Eveline Township.

Ager is said to be in Florida and could not be reached for comment. However, Caden has advised him that he will make a follow-up inspection of the site within 30 days, and if the clean-up has not been accomplished, he will "seek enforcement action."

Park erosion problems to be tackled

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night approved a plan to control erosion at the city's Lake Michigan park.

Although federal funds have not yet been appropriated to the project, officials say it's just a matter of time, since word has come from Washington that funds will be forthcoming.

The plan, presented by William Grimm of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, is aimed at preserving the land resource base, improving water quality, enhancing the environment and improving recreational opportunities and the aesthetic quality of the park.

According to the Soil Conservation Service, "loss of valuable public land by erosion due to wind, vehicular and foot traffic is occurring at an accelerated rate at the park. One area of severe erosion is adjacent to the present picnic and bathing area where foot traffic is destroying vegetation and causing slumping along approximately 150 feet of sandy lake beach.

"Severe foot traffic erosion is occurring over approximately 5,000 feet of trails and walkways at the park. Gullying has occurred on approximately 500 feet of steep walkways at various points leading to the beach along Lake Michigan. Approximately 10 eroded gullies have developed along the trail at points where grades are too steep for even limited amounts of foot traffic. Accelerated wind and water erosion is occurring in areas that are presently being used indiscriminately for vehicle parking and access to the park. Accelerated erosion is causing a loss of valuable public land, making the establishment of vegetation nearly impossible, and degrading the natural beauty and aesthetic quality of the entire park. Erosion problems caused by wind, surface water, and foot and vehicular traffic also contribute to the pollution of Lake Michigan.

"Controlling the erosion occurring on the uplands of the park will improve the water quality of Lake Michigan, prevent further loss of public land and improve the aesthetic quality of the park."

To control the erosion the city plans to install 1) approximately 150 feet of rock riprap along the slumping bank adjacent to the picnic area, 2) 385 feet of walkways in steep areas where trails descend from the lake bench to the beach, 3)

To control the erosion the city plans to install:

1) approximately 150 feet of rock riprap on the bank adjacent to the picnic area.

2) 385 feet of walkways in steep areas where trails descend from the lake bench to the beach.

3) rustic wood fencing along approximately 1,170 feet of trails to prevent foot traffic from entering eroded areas.

4) wooden barriers consisting of posts with cross bars along the north boundary of the parking lot for a distance of 385 feet to keep vehicular traffic from entering the dune area and doing further damage to ground over.

6) approximately three inches of wood chip cover on 2,500 feet of trails leading to bathing and picnic sites to prevent further erosion by foot traffic.

7) and woody vegetation seeding and planting on approximately 2.5 acres of bare, critically eroded areas in various locations of the park.

The entire project is expected to cost about $43,500. Part of the project cost would be federally funded with the city responsible for labor and material. The city would also be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the improvements for a minimum of 15 years.

Officials are hoping to start on the project this summer.

In other action, council:

- Tabled action on a proposed sewer extension along M-66 and U.S.-31.
- Discussed proposed uses for the city's approximate $47,000 in federal revenue sharing funds. Two council members suggested putting the money into the local street fund.
- Appointed Robert Timms and Shirley Roloff to one year terms on the Board of Review.
- Approved a dance permit for the French Quarters on the condition that it also be approved by the state fire marshall.
- Filed a pre-application for funds through the Water and Land Conservation Act in order to make improvements at the harbor.
- Announced that Earl Muma, Ray Wood and Timms would represent the city at the Michigan Municipal League Legislative Conference in Lansing Feb. [illegible]
- Approved an employment contract with the city manager.

How should rec facilities be utilized?

The Charlevoix Recreation Commission will conduct a public workshop on Wednesday, Feb. 13 to solicit input on how the city's recreational facilities should be utilized.

The workshop is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Appointed by the Charlevoix City Council, the four member commission - composed of Tom Felter, Conrad Klooster, Dave Novotny and John Hess - is in the process of putting together a comprehensive recreational plan for the city. Soliciting public input is a top priority of the commission's before the [illegible]

"It would be easy for us (commission) to write a plan saying this is what we would like to do," Hess said. "But we want the public's opinion."

Hess said recreational areas that will be discussed include the ski hill, golf course, marina, tennis courts, ball diamonds and the city's four waterfront parks.

The commission has already installed cross country ski trails on the golf course and there has been talk about putting a fit (exercise) trail on the course, too, for the benefit of the joggers. In addition, there has been talk about providing a shelter at the north end of the course to protect golfers during bad weather.

According to Hess, the cost would be [illegible].

"We're talking primarily about four posts and a roof," he said. "Our idea is to get the things we need without chasing after grants to do it."

Still, with a comprehensive recreational plan Charlevoix's chances for grant money will be greatly improved. About a year ago, an attempt to secure a grant for the expansion of the stage in East Park was turned down because the city lacked a comprehensive recreation plan.

On the proposed park stage expansion, Hess said the commission has expressed concern over the proposed size.

"We haven't met with the Park Stage Committee but our feeling is that the (proposed) stage might be too big for the park. Maybe it should be scaled down."

Hess said another problem that will be addressed will be the parking conditions at Depot Beach.

"Why do the people use Ferry Beach and not Depot Beach?" Hess asked. "Granted, Ferry Beach has a diving platform and the swimming lessons are there, but it also might be due to a lack of parking at Depot Beach."

Hess added that the commission will also discuss the city property on Park Avenue, where the city water tower is.

"We want to know what the people would like us to do with that property if voters approve a new water tower and we take the old one down," he said.

After Wednesday's workshop, the commission will "hash and re-hash" public opinion, draft a proposed plan and then hold another workshop.

Hess said he hopes the recreation plan is completed in the spring.

Fershee candidate for Circuit Court judge

District Court Judge David Fershee has announced his candidacy for Circuit Court Judge in the 33rd Judicial Circuit, which includes Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties.

Fershee, [illegible], has served as 90th District Court Judge in Charlevoix and Emmet counties since 1975. He was appointed to that position by Gov. William Milliken, succeeding Arthur Reibel. Fershee was then elected to a six year term in 1976.

In addition to serving in that capacity, Fershee has, on numerous occasions, been appointed by the Michigan Supreme Court to serve as a Circuit Judge.

"I feel that the five years experience as a District Judge and numerous special appointments as a Circuit Judge give me the qualifications to serve as a Circuit Judge," Fershee said. "I think it's a natural progression. I like what I am doing now, but an opportunity like this might not come up again."

The "opportunity" Fershee speaks of was created by the state legislature in May, 1978.

The legislature passed a bill creating 18 additional judgeships, including one in the 33rd Judicial Circuit. A second judge was added - effective Jan. 1, 1981 - because the legislature also redesigned the 33rd Judicial Circuit by replacing Mackinac County with Cheboygan County.

Mackinac County was placed with Chippewa County in the 50th Judicial Circuit and assigned one judge. Meanwhile, Alcona County replaced Cheboygan County in the 26th Judicial Circuit. The 26th Judicial Circuit, which also includes Alpena, Presque Isle and Montmorency counties - has two judges.

The Michigan Supreme Court had recommended that Mackinac County be added to the 50th Judicial Circuit, but it also recommended that Cheboygan County stay in the 26th Judicial Circuit, leaving Charlevoix and Emmet counties in the 33rd Judicial Circuit with one judge. The legislature, however, moved Cheboygan County to the 33rd Judicial Circuit and added a second judge.

Nineteen Seventy-eight was also an election year. Since there was a judgeship up for grabs in the 26th Judicial Circuit - and Cheboygan County was still affiliated to that circuit - it was decided that if a Cheboygan County representative won the election they would automatically assume the second judgeship in the 33rd Judicial Circuit when Cheboygan jumped over. However, an Alpena lawyer won the election.

Candidates have until June 3 to file for the position. If more than two candidates file, then a primary vote will be necessary. The judgeship is for six years.

Former Sundew members missing

By Sara Gay Dammann

Two recent members of the Charlevoix-based Coast Guard Cutter Sundew are listed among the crew members missing from the Coast Guard Cutter Blackthorn, which sunk in Tampa Bay, Fla. last week following a collision with an oil tanker.

According to the Sundew's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Warren Miller, Edward F. Sindelar, 21, came aboard the Sundew Oct. 18, 1978 and left it Aug. 6, 1979 to enter the Electricians Mate Class A School, Governors Island, N.Y. Upon graduation he reported aboard the Blackthorn.

Randolph B. Barnaby, 22, reported aboard the Sundew on Jan 25, 1979 and left on April 22 to attend [illegible] Yorktown, Va., reporting aboard the Blackthorn upon graduation.

Petitions presented

The first step in a drive to consolidate the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township was taken Friday afternoon.

In Lansing, Charlevoix Mayor Sam Supernaw presented petitions signed by more than 260 residents to James Hyde of the State Boundary Commission. The petitions ask that the commission consider consolidating the two governmental units.

"The State Boundary Commission will look over the petitions, check the signatures to see if there are enough and then discuss whether or not the proposition is viable," Supernaw said [illegible].

Approximately 220 signatures were needed on the petitions. Supernaw said "provided the petitions are OK," it's likely the State Boundary Commission will conduct a public hearing in Charlevoix late in the year to hear public opinion on the proposed consolidation. The mayor added that two residents of Charlevoix County would be nominated to the State Boundary Commission to give the county representation in this matter and on any future consolidation matters in the county.

If the commission approved of consolidation after the public hearing, the issue would be put to a vote of the people. If the township or the city voted against it, the consolidation effort would be defeated. If it passed, the township and city would elect a charter commission and that charter would require the approval of both the township and city voters.

"This whole process could take four years," Supernaw said.

Cribbage

The Masons continued to chip away at the Odd Fellows lead in the annual tournament by winning by 215 points to cut the leader's advantage to 319 points. A total of 9½ tables were in play.

Glen Pemberton was high for the Masons with 983 points. Allan Bergmann had 947 for the Odd Fellows.

The Masonic Temple will be the site of Thursday night's action.

All cribbage players in the community are invited to play.

Ostling told

SBA low interest loans will be available here

A top-ranking state official has assured State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) that many small Michigan businesses financially affected by this winter's lack of snow will be able to apply this week for low-interest loans of up to $100,000.

Ostling said Jack Wilson, Michigan Travel Bureau chief, has notified him that federal money will be made available to owners of businesses which can prove they have suffered financially as a result of a low snowfall count this winter.

Ostling said businesses—particularly ski-related businesses—will be able to get up to a $100,000 loan at an 8⅝ percent interest rate. He added that businesses which have been granted loans will have a maximum of 30 years [illegible] to pay them off.

He noted that the Michigan Travel Bureau collected data which led to Michigan's status as a "dislocation area," allowing small businesses [illegible] on snow in the winter to be eligible for federal funds under the [illegible] Act of 1976.

"About 330 small businesses interviewed last week by the Travel Bureau will be mailed loan application forms early next week," Ostling said. "I am very appreciative of the Small Business Administration's prompt response to financial problems that have been caused by a lack of snow in Northern Michigan this winter. They have done an outstanding job."

Ostling also noted that business not interviewed by the Michigan Travel Bureau last week can contact SBA offices in Detroit and Marquette for loan application forms.

"The SBA is still in the process of developing specific criteria and application packets for the loans," Ostling said. "At the present time, only businesses whose financial situations have been greatly affected by the lack of snow will be eligible."

Karen Taylor Campus Life candidate

Karen Taylor

Karen Taylor, 16, Charlevoix High School junior, will represent the Charlevoix Campus Life Club in the 12th annual Campus Life Sweetheart Pageant to be held at Petoskey on Sunday, Feb. 10.

She is among candidates from five other area communities seeking the coveted title. Other candidates are Kelly Bascom, Ellsworth; Mary Berden, Cheboygan; Kristi Schalk, Petoskey; Sharon David, Boyne City and Lucia Birch, Pellston.

Karen, daughter of Charlie and Nan Taylor, has been a member of Youth for Christ for two years. In addition to her academic studies, she is active in extra-curricular affairs such as treasurer of the French Club and a member of the Technical Writing Class which publishes the school paper, Crimson [illegible]. She is interested in [illegible] and such sports as cross country skiing, tennis and [illegible].

She was born in Petoskey and lived in Harbor Springs, Gaylord and Cadillac before coming to Charlevoix with her family five years ago.

Campus Life Club members are supporting Karen in her candidacy for Campus Life Sweetheart by conducting a variety of fund-raising events. Among these will be a luncheon at the American Legion post home from 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7; two give-aways; carrot sales at basketball games; blanket [illegible] at basketball games and a bake sale at Glen's Market on Saturday. Earlier, Campus Life conducted a rock-a-thon at the Assembly of God Church, a [illegible] sale at [illegible] and a door to door canvas. The funds are used to support the Youth for Christ program in the area.

The winner will be selected at the pageant at the Petoskey High School Sunday, Feb. 10 in the following manner: 20 percent, total number of dollar votes she and teens from her school have raised; 20 percent, personal poise and presentation of a prepared two-minute speech; 20 percent, impromptu speech by her escort; 20 percent, talent presentation; 20 percent based on the number of teens and adults attending from her community.

In addition to flowers and a dinner with their escorts, the winner will receive a bouquet of roses, a tiara and a scholarship. First and second runners-up [illegible]

5 qualify for state band finals

Charlevoix High School will be represented by five young musicians at the State Solo and Ensemble Festival to be held at Ferris State College March 22, Michael Filkins, their director, has announced.

They are Mary Plagge who played a flute solo; Sue Simmerman and Mary Horton, a flute duet; David Staublin, a trombone solo and piano solo and James Boggs, piano solo at the District II Solo and Ensemble Festival at Gaylord Saturday and won First Division ratings.

German group plans outing at Leutheuser's

The German conversation group is making plans for its Fasching-Carnival party to be held at Leutheuser's in Charlevoix.

The Fasching-Carnival is a pre-Lenten celebration similar to a Mardi Gras. The costume ball carnival is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 16. Reservations are necessary, and dancing will be preceded by an authentic German dinner.

Reservations can be made by calling Ethel Wiesinger at 547-9487. All persons interested in an evening of "Gemuetlichkeit and fun" are welcome.

The group, whose members come from Charlevoix, Petoskey, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Central Lake, Harbor Springs and Indian River, meets once a month.

Co-operation responsible for success of Band Boosters auction

Editor

SUPER EFFORT that's all I can say for the co-operation the City of Charlevoix's people, merchants and friends gave to the Band Boosters to help raise over 6,000 dollars in their [illegible] band auction. It could not have been achieved without the help of many, many people.

I would like to thank them all by name but the lack of space makes this impossible, so instead I say thanks to the various committees, E.G organizational, office workers, letter distributing, calling, picker uppers, deliverers, sorters, the pie makers, the pie receivers, bookkeepers, the pep band and helpers, and mostly the flag corps girls who worked all afternoon without any real beefs. I would like to thank both banks for paying for our advertising and last thank Thomas Duke for his GREAT job as auctioneer.

Letters

The merchants of Charlevoix gave us thousands of dollars worth of merchandise to help our cause so we could all work together with school pride. These merchants offer no coercement in shopping with them to raise funds, but do it from their hearts because they are familiar with [illegible].

We had fun, nothing was left and bargains were aplenty throughout the afternoon. I wonder if we should try again next year. If so some changes could be made and we would like constructive criticism if the idea is [illegible].

I have saved the Courier's thanks for last, but we certainly could not have done the whole thing without the fabulous coverage the Courier gave us. The articles were well planned, the advertising was perfect and the picture layouts were done to perfection. Thanks again to the wonderful people of Charlevoix.

Sincerely,
David Fowler, Gen. Chairman

Resident raises question on county evacuation plan

Editor:

It is reassuring to know that Charlevoix County is working on a practical plan to evacuate us, should Big Rock have problems, at last they are acknowledging the potential danger this plant is to the community.

But there are some things learned from the Three Mile Island, that I hope have not been overlooked.

How about the poor people, who do not have cars or money to get out! Who will help them?

The winds shift rapidly from the Great Lakes, are we all going to Boyne City if the winds shift directly to that area? Where from there?

The closest road to Boyne City from Charlevoix is only three miles from the plant. What else do we have left to go on – 31 and M-66?

How about our bank accounts! Will they be honored in Boyne City if we can't go back to Charlevoix?

What about our property investments, since you can not get insurance against a nuclear accident, who will reimburse us? All other disasters you can insure yourself against.

Finally, one comment from Mr. Nader. At the press conference in Traverse City he mentioned two important things, one that we shouldn't feel so bad, New York can't come up with a perfect evaluation plan either, for there is no such thing to be constructed as a perfect evacuation plan.

Secondly, part of his decision to zero in on Big Rock has to do with the statement by the NRC and US Government that they are more concerned about the plants next to urban areas, that there is too much focus on the bigger plants, therefore knowing how dangerous Big Rock is, he feels it is time to show concern for rural areas for we are just as important as the people in Chicago or New York where they are seriously considering to shut down plants of similar age and [illegible].

Finally, who will inform the tourists of the evacuation plan? Is the Chamber of Commerce willing to include this information in their pamphlets?

In the meantime who is paying for all of this? Taxpayers of course and ratepayers. It would not surprise me if during the next couple of years we are charged an excise tax just to cope with all the problems that created by having Big Rock in our community. The 1 to 1½ percent of power it feeds into Consumer Power's grid just don't seem to make up for it. We put three skylights into our house, that turned Big Rock off and Palisades, too a long time ago.

Plant physicist disputes letter on Big Rock's evacuation plan

Editor

This is in response to a letter to the editor which appeared in the Charlevoix Courier last week from Mr J. Mills of Charlevoix in which he alleges that the Big Rock Point Plant does not have a "workable" Emergency Plan; banks no longer invest in nuclear power; the property values around the Three Mile Island Plant have decreased; Big Rock is unsafe because of "exemptions" from NRC safety standards; and that Consumers Power is wasteful because it maintains a "30% powergrid excess". These statements are false.

The Big Rock Point Plant has had a Site Emergency Plan since the fall of 1962 which requires a quarterly review of the Plan, semi-annual drills and training for the plant staff, and training and drills for off-site agencies such as Hospital and ambulance personnel. These are U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission requirements and they have been met for 18 years.

Under State Law, a utility cannot evacuate people from their homes. This is a function of Local, State and Federal officials, many of whom are very familiar with evacuation procedures, such as the Sheriffs Departments and State Police. On the average, there is at least one non-nuclear related evacuation per week in this country, many of which are conducted successfully without the benefit of an Evacuation Plan. The latest large scale evacuation was in Canada where 250,000 people were evacuated within a few hours because of chlorine leaks from several train cars. I am confident that Local and State officials can safely evacuate my wife and children regardless of the cause for the [illegible].

Mr. Mills indicated that Big Rock received "exemptions" from NRC safety standards. This is totally misleading. We have received one exemption, which was granted in May of 1976, but the exemption also contained additional surveillance requirements which are Federal Law and are performed as required. A copy of the exemption is in the Charlevoix Public Library.

Mr. Mills states, "They (banks) will no longer loan money on new reactor construction..." Consumers Power sells bonds which are bought by individuals, Pension Funds, Insurance Companies, Corporations and financial institutions. We have not had a problem in financing the construction of the Midland Nuclear Plant nor do we expect to have a problem.

We are required to maintain approximately 20% "spinning reserve" electrical capacity in case a generating unit somewhere in the State is forced off the "powergrid". The spinning reserve can be brought on-the-line with minimum effect on homes, business and factories. There are days when we are over or under the 20%. One day last week our spinning reserve was 12%, not 30% as Mr. Mills indicated. There is no good reason to maintain a spinning reserve of 30% and we don't.

Mr. Mills indicated that property values around Three Mile Island have gone to "zilch". This statement is false according to John Dalensty, Board Member of Harrisburg, PA. Realtors and a Board Member of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Dalensty stated in a telephone conversation today that property values around Three Mile Island have been at about the same rate as inflation and that "basically, there has been no [illegible] change."

Mr. Mills is concerned for the "quest for truth and facts". He can get them by calling Mr. Delton Bushey, Realtor [illegible].

Sincerely,
Charles E. Axtell
Plant Health Physicist

A taxing decision: The long or short form?

[illegible]

Filing income tax in the long form can seem very tedious. Even with a professional tax advisor to help, there are records to keep, bills, receipts and cancelled checks to sort through and locate. The short form, with only a few lines to fill out, is a tempting alternative especially as April 15 draws closer.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has made the short form 1040A an even greater temptation this year by increasing the Zero Bracket Amount. This year if you're single, a $2,300 deduction can be claimed, while those married and filing jointly receive a $3,400 deduction. Exemptions, too, have increased from [illegible].

The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants has these recommendations for those taxpayers who are confused on what form they should use.

The short tax form is very handy for those who have had too much tax withheld from their pay and must file a return to get a refund. It can also be used by those with incomes under $10,000 who owe no taxes but have an earned income credit coming to them. The IRS will let you file the short form if your income is solely from salaries, wages and tips with no more than $400 in dividends or interest. If your adjusted gross income is over $20,000 or $40,000 on a joint return, then you [illegible].

Most American taxpayers, say the Michigan CPAs, don't bother to itemize their deductions while others alternate between the short and long forms, bunching deductible expenses, such as extensive dental work, in the years they itemize. However handy the short form appears, the question of which form to use is something to be reviewed each year, long before April 15.

Any change in your lifestyle, including one or more of the following, could warrant a reappraisal of the method of filing:

•Other large interest payments. Don't overlook interest on time-payment plans, loans, charge accounts and credit cards as well as the interest on back taxes paid for prior years.

•Unusual state and local tax payments. Again, include payments made in 1979 which apply to earlier years as well as generally higher current taxes and perhaps prepayments of 1980 taxes you may have made. Large purchases during the year could have meant exceptionally high sales taxes.

•Unreimbursed business expenses incurred. The costs of performing your job other than commutation expenses may be deductible: uniforms, special work clothes, union dues, subscriptions to technical publications, tools and equipment, business entertainment, and an educational course to help keep up with a present job.

•Expenditures for managing investments. Subscriptions to investment publications and services, costs of traveling to and from brokers' offices, tax advice and assistance and a safety deposit box if used to store investment documents are all deductible.

•Capital losses on sale of assets. This applies only to assets purchased for investment, not to such things as the family car or boat.

•Large medical bills. Only amounts in excess of three percent of adjusted gross income are deductible, but one serious dental project could do it. Don't forget health insurance, drugs and prosthetic devices such as eyeglasses, [illegible].

•Divorce. Alimony is deductible for the payer, taxable income to the recipient. Child support is neither, although, it will help to decide which parent can claim the dependent [illegible].

When cruise ships plied the Great Lakes

Certainly one of the easiest ways to escape the ice-bound shores of Northern Michigan in the dead of winter is to read the travel sections in the metropolitan dailies.

I am particularly hooked on stories about cruise ships which depart from Florida's sunny ports and spend anywhere from five days to three weeks slicing through the blue waters of the Caribbean Sea.

I picture myself throwing pennies to native divers on picturesque palm-fringed islands, lolling poolside on the fantail under a brilliant sun, and partying until dawn under a tropic moon.

Then there are the meals. The way the metros tell it, cruise ship passengers are expected to spend untold hours every day in the dining room sampling the most delectable cuisine the world has ever known. Five or more meals are served every blessed day — so you had better pack some loose-fitting clothes.

Of course, the ambiance — and the price — differ from cruise ship to cruise ship. One of cheapo cruise mentioned in Sunday's Detroit Free Press costs something like $150 a day. Generally the rates run about what you'd expect to pay for a bed in an intensive care ward of a first rate hospital. But cruise ships are purported to be a lot more fun.

There was a time not too long ago when cruise ships almost as nice as the Caribbean liners plied the waters of the Great Lakes. When I was a kid, the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Co. (D&C) ran its fleet of glorious steamers out of Detroit.

I don't really know if the D&C boats were cruise ships as such, because it was quite a business-like operation. If you lived in Detroit and had business in Cleveland, you'd hop a D&C boat at night and be there in the morning. The company also ran overnight service to Buffalo, N.Y., but it took a few hours longer, involving dinner and breakfast aboard.

Many drivers heading for points on the East Coast would cover the first [illegible] miles of the trip with their car in the hold of a D&C boat.

Other D&C boats visited Mackinac Island, Duluth, Minn., and other Great Lakes ports on a regular schedule.

So the D&C wasn't in the cruising business, as such. But if you wanted to take a trip by water, the big stern-wheelers or side-wheelers were ready and waiting to take you aboard. The steamers were very popular with honeymooners who wanted to get away from it all.

Furthermore the meals aboard all the D&C boats were superb, prepared under the direction of the late master chef Herman Breithaupt of Dearborn and Walled Lake. Perhaps they were a shade less caloric than the sumptuous repasts served Caribbean travelers, but they were wholesome and [illegible].

The Owen Sound (Ont.) Transportation Co. also used to run a freight and passenger service between Owen Sound, on Georgian Bay, and Sault Ste. Marie. The boats could accommodate about 100 passengers and made stops at all the quaint ports on Manitoulin Island and the North Channel.

The return trip took five days and was a delightful experience.

Perhaps as the energy crisis deepens, traveling by water will make a comeback on the Great Lakes. If they can do it in the Caribbean, why not here?

Meet Charlevoix

Franklyn "Corky" Curtis owns and operates Micro Data Service in Charlevoix. A native of Charlevoix, he returned last summer to start the business that is almost "one of a kind" in northern Michigan. This week he tells the Courier about it.

Q. What do you do?

A. We are a micro filming service bureau and do all the work from camera through processing. We also handle a complete line of micro filming equipment and supplies.

Q. Who are your customers?

A. We sell to everybody – doctors, lawyers, newspapers, libraries, counties, hospitals – everyone with a paper storage problem. Right now we're doing a lot of work with hospitals.

Q. How much space can you save by micro filming?

A. Well, you can put the contents of a four drawer filing cabinet on a four inch by six inch [illegible].

Q. Do you have any specialties?

A. Yes, we recently acquired a patented process for micro filming x-rays. We can put 200 [illegible] rays on 35 mm film one and a half inches square [illegible] and we won't lose even a hairline fracture. The doctor or dentist can [illegible] the [illegible] from the x-rays and come out ahead because the [illegible] filming will be less than the value of the silver reclaimed.

Q. You recently did some work for the County, didn't you?

A. Yes, we photographed the Supervisors and Board of Commissioners journals and the circuit court journals. They're now available at the library.

Q. And the Courier?

A. We photographed the issues from 1864 to the present for the library.

Q. How did you get into the business of micro filming?

A. I have ten years experience in data processing, the last five years spent in Escanaba and Marquette. The company I worked for serviced 9 banks [illegible] to them we did their micro filming. When I looked around this area I found there was no one in the business, and being from Charlevoix I was happy to move back and offer the service.

Q. Does your business require a lot of equipment?

A. There's a fair amount and we could always use more. We have three 16 mm cameras and one 35 mm camera as well as processing equipment and duplicating equipment. It's also important to keep the equipment in good shape to be sure the quality of work remains good.

Q. How long can micro film be stored?

A. Our film has archival quality. It's guaranteed for 100 years – the chemicals won't break down in that time. After that the film can be duplicated and stored for another 100 years.

Q. How do you find your customers?

A. By ringing doorbells [illegible] advertising, word of mouth. The only other company in northern Michigan doing similar work is located in Cheboygan, so we have a lot of territory to cover.

Q. How's business?

A. The market looks good. Money is tight but we're optimistic. With the government requiring more and more paper work, there has to be a better way to keep records.

Q. Is this the first time you've been in business for yourself?

A. It is and I'm happy to have the opportunity to give it a try. I gave up a good job but it was a corporate situation with only so much room for advancement and to express my own ideas. Now we're living in an area we like and are enjoying it very much.

Q. Have you had any jobs other than the one in the Upper Peninsula?

A. I worked four years for Auto Owners Insurance Company in Lansing doing data processing work, and spent four years in the Air Force.

Q. Where did you go to college?

A. MSU. I majored in math and computer science.

Q. And you grew up in Charlevoix?

A. Yes, I graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1963. My parents, Franklin and Ruth Ann Curtis, still live here.

Q. I understand the Curtises have lived in the area for several generations.

A. That's true. They go back well over 100 years. Also my mother was a Bedford, another old family. Thomas Bedford, who shot King Strang, was her great grandfather.

Q. Is your wife a local girl?

A. No, she's from East Lansing. Her maiden name was [illegible] Hooker. She works with me in the business part time.

Q. Do you have children?

A. We have a son, Scott. He's three.

Q. What do you do in your spare time?

A. I like outdoor activities – cross country skiing, hunting, basketball. I play for Wojan's Aluminum in the league. Our players are the oldest and most out of shape of any in the league.

Amy Haldaman captures 'America & Me' essay contest

Three students from the Charlevoix Middle School have been named local winners in the 11th annual America & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three, who earned first, second, and third place awards for their school, are Amy Haldaman, first; Eric Hoffman, second, and Debra Seelye, third.

All three received award certificates for their achievement. And, as the school's first place winner, Amy's name will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Amy's first place essay now advances to the state level competition from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in March, will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds ranging in value from $100-$500, totalling $2,000 in prizes for the top 10 essayists.

A team of finalist judges, headed by former President Gerald Ford, will determine the top statewide winners. Other members of the finalist judging team are Gov. William Milliken, Congressman Robert Carr and the Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, Mary S. Coleman.

Several thousand eighth grade students from nearly 400 Michigan schools participated in the 1979-80 America & Me Essay Contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau Insurance agents across the state.

Started in 1968 and open to all Michigan eighth grade students, the annual contest encourages Michigan youngsters to explore their roles in America's future through "America & Me" essays.

As sponsor of the contest, Farm Bureau Insurance Group has received nine national awards from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

America and Me

America is a place that some people think could be improved by stopping pollution. We have tried to stop it for so long even by making a fine for it in some states.

The number one problem is the government and law of all the states. I think we have tried so many times to improve America, it sometimes helped a little but not much. Sometimes I think it cant be improved, that the world would fall in a big ditch, but it hasnt yet and I sure hope it never does.

If we select the best president and the right one, that person should do everything in his power to help America concerning the law and the government and solving problems like our gas situation right now. We have been doing pretty good in some states like the state Im in Michigan. Some states havent been doing to well like Pennsylvania had even and odd days when your last number on your license plate was even or odd.

As for the law it has been broken in many states of America. The law is a very big problem thats destroying America. The people destroying America, I think they just dont care about the other people. They steal, destroy the others properties, and the state's properties. Everyone tries to enforce the laws and prevent them from being broken in all states. I know sometimes all over I see people breaking laws like walking on lawns without realizing it and just littering, like I said in the beginning of this about pollution in states, thats what it is mostly besides the smoke polluting the air.

When Im around with some people that I dont know and my friends are there to and they know them, then they do something bad to destroy America, then I say to myself if I do it Id be stupid.

America is a very big place and sometimes people abuse it by tearing ground up and by starting fires, by not being careful and putting fires out when their done. Theres another way we could improve America, is by taking a close watch at forests and grass lands, plus having firemen to put them out, without them we would probably have alot of forests and grass lands that are burned and ruened for good. We could replant some of the trees and grass, taking away burnt parts and diging the ashes away. But that costs money too and the states might not have that kind of money, unless everyone pitches in and helps by giving a donation or just helping them in the work.

America can be a beautiful place if everone would do their part at helping and try to be a good citizen by not breaking the law and respecting all the other citizens in America.

Also I think, at least I hope my parents have been doing their part in helping Americas problems, and wish they could do alot more to help.

That's really how I think America could imrpove. I dont think its gonna work but at least I hoping.

Amy Haldaman

Health department opens office in E.J.

Some Charlevoix and Antrim county residents will have an opportunity to receive health care without traveling as far from home. District Health Department No. 3 has opened a new branch office on the ground floor of the East Jordan Family Health Center.

Jean Miles, public health nurse and a receptionist, will work out of the office in addition to working with the department's various clinics.

The Health Department's new facility will be used for a number of programs. Immunization clinics will be held on the fourth Tuesday of every other month. The next immunization clinic is scheduled for March 25 from 9:30-11:30 a.m.

Starting in February all W.I.C. clinics for Charlevoix County will be held at the East Jordan Family Health Center. W.I.C. is a supplemental Food Program for women, infants and children. The clinics will be held on Tuesdays, Feb. 5 and 19 and on Thursdays, Feb. 7 and 21 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. and from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

The new facility will also be used for Medicaid Screening Clinics and Family Planning Clinics that will start in the near future.

The Substance Abuse Division of the District Health Department will have individual counseling and group presentations as further staff becomes available.

Most county departments operate within budget

How well do the various departments of Charlevoix County government operate within their budgets?

Most of them do very well, according to the 1979 year-end report of the county clerk. Many did not spend the total amount alloted to them and only a few had to ask for more money to finish out the year.

When all was said and done, there was a balance of approximately $48,200 unspent from the general fund budget of $[illegible] for 1979.

There was also an unspent amount of $181,549 in the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) budget due to a freeze on some CETA monies. The CETA budget for 1979 amounted to $314,740, which, added to the general fund budget, brought the total budget for the year to $2,168,725.

So, the $48,200 saved in the general fund budget and the $181,549 not spent from the CETA fund in effect reduced the 1979 budget by $229,749, or 11 percent.

All of the Judicial departments had balances: Appeals Court, $2,462; Circuit Court and Reporter, $1,458; District Court, $2,400; Friend of the Courkt, $1,478; Jury Board, $849; and Probate Court, $2,841.

In the General County Government category, unspent funds were reported by the Building Authority Administration, $630; Cooperative Extension, $1,228; Copy and Recording, $944; County Clerk, $7,725; County Building Annex, $1,515; County Building & Grounds, $199; Drain Commissioner, $2,261; Plat Board, $585; Planning, $4,471; Prosecuting Attorney, $4,657; Register of Deeds, $284; Tax Allocation Board, $1,080, and County Treasurer, $1,175.

On the other hand, three General County Government departments ran short of funds and received supplements to their budgets as follows: Building Inspection, $1,670; Equalization, $10,420; and Tax Roll Service, $521.

Pubic Safety departments also had money left over: Animal Control, $3,200; Jail, $8,633; Marine, $1,765; and Snowmobile, $303.

Two Public Safety departments received supplements to their budgets. The Sheriff's department received $7,000 and Civil Defense received $1,853 to finish out the year.

In the Health Department category, there were funds left over in the Contagious Disease account, $5,000, and in the State Institutions account, $25,486.

The Medical Examiner's stipend of $5,100 was supplemented by $487.

Welfare Department figures indicate that Services to the Aging had $7.57 left over and Veterans Affairs did not use $7,168 of their budget.

The County Library Board did not spend any of the $1,000 allotted to it.

There was $3,500 left over in the county Advertising fund, $10,000 in the Audit fund, $3,039 in the Retirement fund, $940 in the Insurance and Bonds fund, and $13,536 in the Capital fund.

The Social Security fund required an additional $12,798, and Legislative (Board of Commissioners) showed a negative balance of $313.83.

Two retire from Michigan Bell

Vonda McConnell

Alice Burrows

Two Michigan Bell Telephone Company employees who have a combined total of 58 years with the company were honored at a double retirement party held Saturday evening at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey.

More than 150 fellow employees, family and guests gathered to honor Alice M. Burrows and Vonda McConnell.

Mrs. Burrows had 30 years of service with the company and Mrs. McConnell, the former Vonda Howe and Charlevoix area resident, had 28 years of service. Both started their careers with Michigan Bell at the Petoskey office where they concluded them when the Operator Services Department closed Dec. 22, 1979.

They were honored with presentations from Michigan Bell; C.W.A. Local 4106, Telephone Pioneers, fellow employees, family and friends.

Kathy Germaine, assistant manager of Operator Services at Traverse City, presented the pair with their Michigan Bell Emblem and Retirement Identification cards. Karen Engle, Diane VanHorn, Carol Dutcher of Charlevoix and Carol Ward presented them with memory books and gifts from fellow employees and guests.

Jack Bush, vice president, and Richard Ricard, Chief Plant Steward, presented each with a check and Life Membership cards from the Communication Workers of America, Local 4106.

Marie Rabach, vice president of the Great Lakes Chapter of Telephone Pioneers, made presentations in behalf of the Pioneers. Upon their retirement Feb. 9, 1980, they will become life members of Great Lakes, Chapter No. 98, Telephone Pioneers of America.

Morris joins Charlevoix Properties

Joe Morris

Joe Morris of Charlevoix has re-joined Charlevoix Properties as a sales representative.

Since moving to Charlevoix from Cincinnati six years ago, Morris has been active in community affairs. He has served on the Charlevoix Common Council, as president of Charlevoix House, and as a member of the Charlevoix Planning Commission.

Morris is married to the former Keith Freyhof, long-time Charlevoix summer resident, whom he met in Charlevoix over 30 years ago. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, where he concentrated on economics and engineering. He later served five years in the Army, being discharged as a Captain.

Morris' business career has been with the paper industry, where he served as assistant to the president of the International Paper Company, in the truck and trailer building field, where he owned a company for 11 years, and as a distribution consultant.

Because of his business experience and knowledge of the community, Morris feels that he can offer his customers sound advice on real estate investments.

'Night Song' Sunday

"Nite Song," an action packed film that deals with the real life problems of poverty and adversity in an urban ghetto, will be shown Sunday at 6 p.m. at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church.

Hospital Board of Directors grateful for contributions

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Board of Directors want the people of the area to know they are grateful for their continuing support.

Every month the hospital receives many unsolicited donations, in the form of memorials, or in honor of people.

Thomas Carey, board president, recently said, "We've just broken all records in people giving to this hospital.

"I'm not talking about huge quantities, but people remembering this hospital with large and small donations."

"When someone passes away, we receive many memorials. Checks of $2, $10 and more," Carey explained. "This is a thoughtful and lasting way people remember others."

Carey said the Board of Directors are constantly surprised by the monthly reports of unsolicited giving to Charlevoix Area Hospital. He carefully distinguished between the unsolicited gifts and the solicited donations to the hospital's remodeling project.

"This is a rare thing," the board president said. "I have never heard of such community response to a hospital.

"The amount each person gives is not relevant, because someone who gives $2 may be giving more in his way than someone who gives $100.

Hospital records show that during the period from Dec. 18, 1979, through Jan. 18, 1980, more than 20 persons sent gifts to Charlevoix Area Hospital, in memory of friends and relatives who died this fall, totaling $1,030.

The previous month more than $3,500 unsolicited gifts came to the hospital. In October the total was $1,125.

From January 1979 to January 1980 Charlevoix Area Hospital received over $17,000 in unsolicited donations.

"This is an important source of additional revenue," Richard Krueger, hospital administrator said.

"All these spontaneous gifts are placed in a memorial equipment fund.

Recently a combination of the Memorial Equipment Fund and money raised by hospital employees at their pre-Christmas Salad Luncheon and Bazaar enabled the hospital to buy the new Life Pac – a cardiac monitor and defibrillator – for the emergency room.

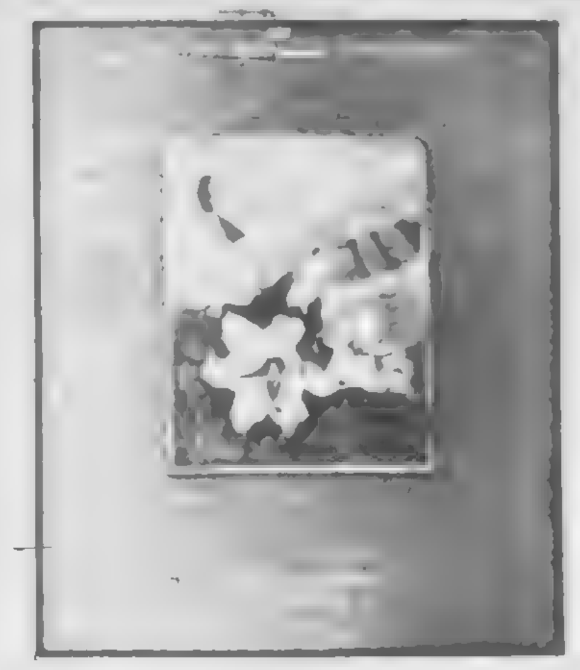
"These donations in memory or honor of a friend are a very significant contribution to this hospital," Krueger said.

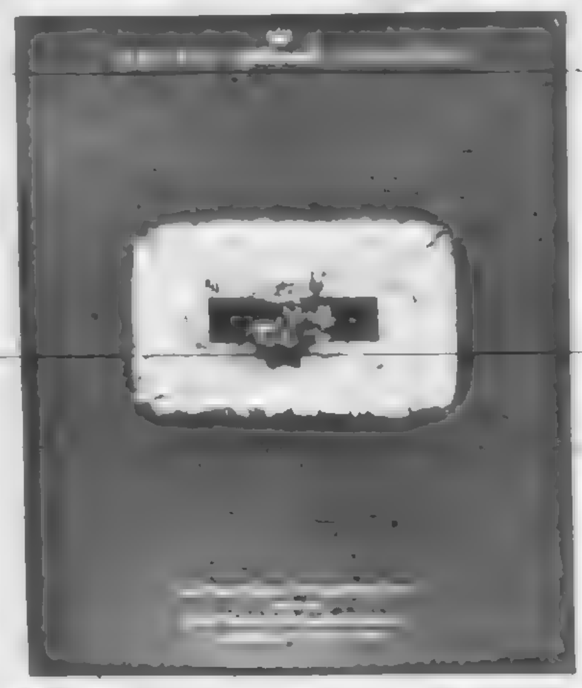
Piano scholarships to Interlochen offered by Crooked Tree Arts Council

Crooked Tree Arts Council of Emmet and Charlevoix counties is sponsoring a piano scholarship to the National Music Camp at Interlochen for the two-week session of All-State during the summer of 1980.

Auditions will be held on Feb. 27, (Wednesday) at 4:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church of Petoskey. The auditions are open to high school students in Emmet and Charlevoix counties. Applicants must be able to perform the following: A) a prelude and fugue from the Well-Tempered Clavier or the Allemand, Courant, Sarabande and Gigue from a suite of J.S. Bach; B) one movement from a classical sonata (i.e. Mozart, Haydn, Beethoven, etc.); C) a work of the student's own choice from the Romantic or Contemporary periods. All music must be memorized.

Judges for the audition will be Rose Stoakes, Petoskey; Steven Stargardt, Charlevoix; and Phyllis Homer, Boyne City. For further information, contact Mrs. William Zoerhof, 347-6497.





Rare cards at Barb's

A rare collection of 25 antique greeting cards is on display at Barb's Hallmark Harbor in the Captain's Corner shopping center.

The exhibit of historic cards dating from the early 19th century is on loan from the Hallmark Historical Collection, the largest and most valuable collection of antique cards in the world.

Many cards of this era featured designs of miniature flowers and lace. The intricate patterns of lace were fashioned by pounding or pressing paper into woodcuts or steel plates. Some of the lace patterns were then gilded with gold or silver, which still glitters.

In the late 1880's, cards were used both here and in England as a way of making new friends. People put colorful accessories over their names on calling cards and exchanged them with a friend. The friend then passed the card on to a third person who used it to introduce himself to the stranger who had started the chain. Thus began a new friendship.

Hot shooting Rayders clip Chiefs, 71-57

Shooting a blistering 60 percent from the field and 79 percent from the free throw line, Charlevoix knocked off Cheboygan, 71-57, in a Michigan-Huron Shores basketball contest Friday night.

Charlevoix connected on 28 of 47 shots from the field and 15 of 19 charity tosses to improve its conference record to 4-5

The Rayders shot particularly well in the second half when they increased a two point halftime lead, 28-26, to 10 points, 47-37, at the end of the third quarter. That margin ballooned to 14 points in the fourth quarter as the Rayders hit on 12 of 14 free throw attempts to keep the Chiefs at a distance

Ken Otmanowski and Scott Morgan led the second half charge with 15 and 14 points, respectively. For the game, Morgan had 24 points and Otmanowski 23

"In that second half, the kids were determined to win," Rayder Coach Dave Moyer said afterwards. "I think we frustrated Cheboygan, especially when we kept hitting our free throws."

In addition to Otmanowski and Morgan, Gary Drury tallied 10 points from his forward position. Cheboygan was led by Glenn Hyatt with 19 points, Todd Precord 15 and Jeff Shampine 12. Precord scored all of Cheboygan's 13 points in the second quarter.

Charlevoix outrebounded Cheboygan 27-24

Earlier in the week, the Rayders held on to beat Boyne City, 62-60.

Charlevoix had a seven point lead with less than a minute to go when the Ramblers made a last ditch effort. Boyne City had a chance to tie the game with one second remaining when Charlevoix turned the ball over on an inbounds pass. However, a desperation shot was off the mark

After a deadlocked first quarter, 18-18, Charlevoix broke out in front, 36-30, at half Boyne whittled the deficit to one point, 46-45, after three quarters.

Once again, Morgan paced the Rayder scoring attack with 18 points while Drury added 10. Daryl Tims scored 26 points for Boyne City and Larry Jerema added 16

This week Charlevoix travels to Kalakaska on Tuesday and then entertains Grayling Friday. The Vikings dropped to second place in the conference after losing to Gaylord, 54-49, Friday night.

In junior varsity action, Charlevoix beat Boyne City, 65-53, and Cheboygan, 65-47

Against Boyne City, Charlevoix broke open a tight game in the second half behind the scoring of Mike Schmidt. Schmidt finished with 21 points, 15 in the second half. Dave Buday and Van Sloan added 16 and 13 points to the cause.

Schmidt was held to four points against Cheboygan, but Buday, Ross Carey and Scott Kelly picked up the slack

Buday netted 20 points, Carey 18 and Kelly 10 as the the Rayders cruised to an 18 point victory. Once again, Charlevoix used a strong second half as a springboard to victory. The Rayders trailed, 31-30, at half

The only requirement is that skiers have wooden skies and wear costumes depicting the earlier traditions of the sport

Competition is in terms of "dignity, style, grace and poise," according to organizer Nellie Hiehle

Leland wins tourney

Leland captured its own volleyball tournament Saturday while Charlevoix lost both of its contests

The Rayders were dumped by Leland 12-15, 15-13 and 15-13 and by Traverse City 15-8, 14-16 and 15-7

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix split two matches with Grayling, losing the first set 8-15 and 13-15 but winning the second set 10-15, 16-14 and 15-2

The Rayders will entertain Rogers City Wednesday

Frosh triumph

The Charlevoix Rayder freshman basketball squad improved its record to 7-1 with victories over East Jordan and Cheboygan last week

Craig Klooster's 16 points led the Rayders past East Jordan, 73-59. Charlevoix led from start to finish. At one point, the Rayders had a 28 point lead, 63-35. George Smith added 11 points and Chris Putman 10 for Charlevoix

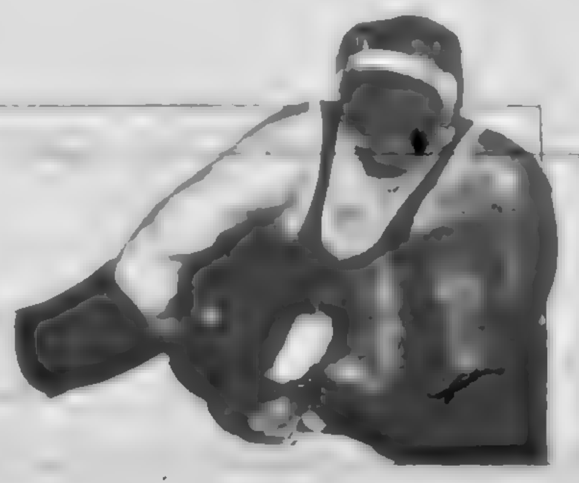
Klooster tallied 23 points in the Rayders 69-49 triumph over Cheboygan. Smith chipped in with 12 points. Charlevoix led by eight points, 28-20, at half and then blew the game open in the third quarter by outscoring the Chiefs 20-9

Mark Drenth (right) and Ken Wojan (below) both went 3-0 over the weekend

Grapplers end drought

The long drought is over

Charlevoix's wrestling team won its first match of the season by defeating Cadillac, 48-42, Saturday in the Petoskey Team Invitational.



The Rayders finished 1-2 in the invitational, losing to Escanaba, 51-19, and to St. Louis, 44-26

Charlevoix was led by Ken Wojan (HWY), Scott Golovich (167), Mark Drenth (145) and Greg Whitley (138). All three went undefeated and received medals. Wojan and Golovich both had three pins

Coach Greg Bryan said his team showed "great improvement" and that the team is "looking good for the upcoming conference meet at Gaylord."

Wojan should be the No. 1 seed in the heavyweight division at the conference meet while Golovich, Drenth and Whitley will be ranked high.

Competing in the Petoskey Team Invitational in addition to Charlevoix, Cadillac, Escanaba and St. Louis were Oscoda, Grayling, Chippewa Hills and host Petoskey. Oscoda won the invitational.

School's athletic code revised

The Charlevoix Board of Education, Monday night adopted a new athletic code.

In adopting the new athletic code, the board's intention is to strengthen the entire code with emphasis relating to the violation of statutes it was stated. Other sections were rewritten to mesh with the current student code it was explained.

In re-writing the code for the first time in eight years, the athletic council sought input from other Michigan-Huron Shores coaches, discussed the proposed changes with the school's attorney and requested recommendations and suggestions from him and consulted the extra-curricular activities committee of the board before finalizing the code.

"Much research and thought went into the new code. New statutes, the raising of the drinking age to 21 years after dropping it to 18 years and the prevalence of alcohol and drug problems were all taken into consideration before changes in the code were made" Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren said. "There are problems and it is necessary to have a code that addresses them" Vane H. Smith, high school principal, [redacted].

The major changes deals with the violation of a criminal statute such as assault, theft or forgery for which a student could be confined to jail and alcoholic beverages and [redacted].

Section IV of the code states that "The Charlevoix Public Schools considers the use of alcoholic beverages and/or controlled substances to be detrimental to the process of education. Present Michigan statute prohibits the use of intoxicants by persons less than 21 years of age. Violation of applicable statutes regulating the possession, use, transportation, sale or purchasing of alcoholic beverages or controlled substances will be considered a violation of this Code".

The penalty for the first offense of either section of the code will be the dismissal from the squad for the remainder of the current season and for a second offense dismissal from all athletic activities for a calendar year.

Grooming, scholarship requirements, class conduct, attendance requirements and quitting an established team are also spelled out in the new code. However, no major changes were made in these.

Bids for two used buses, a '67 and a '68 Ford, submitted by Cass Russell were accepted. He offered $340 for the former and $365 for the latter.

The board had considered purchasing from stock from Great Lakes Coach two buses at the cost of $22,800 each. However, after some discussion, it was decided to ask for [redacted].

The board is also seeking bids on a 300 gallon fuel tank no longer needed at the bus garage. Information regarding this may be obtained by calling the business office.

Ardeth Wieland was designated as the board's representative to the Char-Em Intermediate School District budget hearing scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 26 at the Service Center on Mercer Blvd.

Vincent Olach, business manager, reported on the Middle School renovation program which this year will place its emphasis on electrical service, plumbing and general maintenance of the building. The work is being financed by voted millage which earmarked the revenue from 1.0 mill for five years for the work. The millage expires this year.

Supt. VanWieren reported that all students in the school system have now met immunization requirements.

Max Novak, president of the board, reported on a tour of facilities for those requiring special education. Those making the tour visited the facility for the severely handicapped at N.C.M.C. in Petoskey, for the Hard of Hearing at the Melrose facility, Pre-school screening at Charlevoix and Bergmann Center. The tour was regarded as an inspection to make certain the facilities could meet state specifications.

Dental Health Month

My nephew is just nine months old and his teeth are full of decay. He mainly consumes formula and juices and of course he does not eat candy. What could have caused this extensive decay?

It sounds as if your nephew may be suffering from a condition known as "nursing bottle mouth." A baby who is given a bottle at bedtime can be a prime candidate for this condition of rampant dental decay.

As soon as a child's teeth appear, they are susceptible to decay. The teeth can be badly damaged if the baby is regularly put to bed for naps and at night with a bottle filled with sugary liquids. Formula, fruit juices, as well as sugary soft drinks are all very dangerous in a bedtime nursing bottle.

As the liquids containing sugar are consumed, they combine with the sticky, colorless bacterial plaque that constantly forms on everyone's teeth. By interacting with the bacteria in plaque, the sugars from the liquid form acids that eat away at the baby's tooth enamel. The teeth become so weakened by decay that they may break or become very difficult, if not impossible, to restore.

During the day, saliva can wash away much of the sugar and acids from the mouth. But while sleeping, the child's saliva production decreases and that allows the acids to remain longer in contact with the teeth. It is the length of time that these acids are on the teeth that is the factor in decay.

To prevent this problem a baby's mouth should be cleaned after each feeding with a clean washcloth or gauze pad. If a child must have a bedtime bottle, fill it with water.

Debaters defeated in state finals

The Charlevoix High School debate team concluded its season by finishing as one of the four quarterfinalists in the state Class C-D division at the state finals held at Lansing Friday and Saturday.

Coach Connie Ford said the team did very well in competition. Their out-right losses went to Negaunee, second place winners behind Ithaca in the C-D division.

The team of Kristi Mathews and John Grooters debated both sides of the topic. Sheri Cook and Beth Ford accompanied the pair as back-up in the event they were needed. Jack Carlson served as official time-keeper, which every entry must furnish, and also as a negative speaker in the event of an emergency.

Mrs. Ford said that Charlevoix was one of the few schools in northern lower peninsula to reach the finals.

Forensics class to perform 'Fiddler'

The drama division of the Charlevoix High School forensics class will present its state championship production, "Fiddler on the Roof" at the middle school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

A special children's matinee will be presented at 2 p.m.

The drama group's presentation of the musical in State competition in December resulted in the state Class C-D title.

This is the group's most ambitious production according to the faculty advisor and coach, Connie Ford. A total of 44 students are included in the cast of the play.

'Catholic School Week' celebrated

This week is "Catholic School Week", with the theme, "One of the Family" to indicate that the Catholic school is part of the family unit.

Students at St. Mary's School in Charlevoix were asked to join in the celebration by writing short essays on why they like their school. Here are some of them:

I like going to St. Mary's School because I like the teachers. I also like hot dog day. I like going to church and Religion class. (Ann Hogan, 2nd grade).

I like the school because you can make friends easy and the best part of this school is that you learn about God. And evry one is your friend. And all the teachers are nice. And you can learn a lot. (Matt Johnson, 5th-6th grade).

I like the plays we have at St. Mary's. Our class is small and that gives us all special attention. We had a pink panda and I liked him. His name was Teddy. I named him. We win prizes when we know our flash cards. I love church and religion. Sister reads Bible stories to us. We have names on our blackboard of people we want to pray for. And we take turns praying. (Lisa LaFave, 2nd grade)

I like about St. Marys School is that the teachers are very nice and they teach us very good. I think that it is the best school, and the best thing about it is that it has Religion and a Church. (Scott Novotny, 3rd grade)

I like St. Mary's because we learn about Jesus. Also the teachers are nice. They teach us a lot of good and nice stuff. (Bryan Celaschi, 1st grade).

I like St. Mary's because everyone is nice to you. And we have holiday parties at school. The teachers are especially nice to you. I also like it because it's a fun school. We get to go on a trip and have a school picnic at the end of the school year. Its fun to learn at St. Mary's school. And that is why I like St. Mary's. (Sharon Martin).

I like St. Marys school because it is very fun and sum times we even have pop corn. My name is Jenny Supernaw. (1st [redacted]).

I like St. Mary's because it is a nice school. I have a nice teacher who loves each one of us. My best classes are cursive and Religion and math and music. We have a small class so we get to do many things. We have a pink panda. It is as big as I am. He likes to be taken outside. I call him Casper the friendly panda. (Jenny Frabis, 2nd grade).

I like my teacher because he helps me to learn my study habits. I like math because I learn more here. I like to add and subtract because it helps me to learn multiplication. I like thursday the best because they have good hot dogs and cup cakeks. (Pamela Horstman)

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

One of life's most compelling temptations consists of trying to get away with something, particularly when we see those around us apparently doing it: from cutting classes in school to being less than honest in our dealings with others, financial or otherwise. However, sooner or later life will catch up with you, for you will either ruin your reputation, destroy your health or get badly hurt, depending on the nature of your transgressions. You will learn in Church that we must all pay our debt to that big Accounting Department in the sky, but that we may then make a fresh start. You will find that it pays to live by the rules, for there is no better feeling than the peace of mind you will enjoy as a result of it.

ELLSWORTH—Funeral services for Mrs. Selma Guertler, 90, who died Thursday at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for 2½ years, were held Saturday at the Hastings Funeral Home. The Rev. Estel Clark of Grace Community Church of Central Lake officiated. Burial was in Woodmere Cemetery in Detroit.

The former Selma Barth was born in Erin, Michigan, July 15, 1889. On July 11, 1911, she was married to Max Guertler in Detroit where they made their home until he came to Ellsworth to live. He preceded her in death in 1973. In 1975 she came to northern Michigan and lived in the Ellsworth area until she became a patient at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jay (Marion) Cole of Ellsworth; one son, Charles Guertler, also of Ellsworth and a sister, Mrs. Mable Newhouse of Beaumont, Tex.

Dr. George A. Buttrick, 87, a summer resident in the Charlevoix area for many years who appeared each summer at area churches including the First Congregational Church here, died Jan. 23 at Louisville, Ky., where he had made his home in recent years.

Dr. and Mrs. Buttrick for years spent the summers at the Sequanota Club and more recently lived at Birdland on the [redacted]

Dr. Buttrick was termed by the [redacted] York Times as "leading Protestant theologian until his recent retirement."

As pastor of the Madison Avenue Church in New York from 1927 until 1954, Dr. Buttrick led the city's largest congregation for more than a generation. He spoke out often and forcefully on public affairs. In his theology, he clashed often with fundamentalists over his refusal to accept a literal interpretation of the Bible.

From New York he went to Harvard University where he was preacher to the university and Plummer Professor of Christian Morals, a chair he held until his retirement as professor emeritus in 1960.

Later he taught at Union Theological Seminary in Manhattan, Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Ill., and Presbyterian Seminary and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. He was honored by many colleges and university and accumulated 29 honorary degrees among them Harvard, Columbia, Yale, Princeton.

He was general editor of the 12-volume work "The Interpreter's Bible" published in 1953 and the four volume "Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible" published in 1962, the first major work of its kind in half a century. He received praise for his leading role in bringing out the "Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible", an effort involving more than 250 scholars from 15 nations. He was also the author of "The Parables of Jesus" (1929), "The Christian Fact and Modern Doubt" (1946) and "Faith and Education" (1952).

His sermons gave him wide exposure and he took on many of the leading issues of the day. After a Far East tour in 1952, he warned of the dangers of communism. In later years he spoke out strongly for nuclear disarmament and detente.

Born at Seaham Harbour, England, March 23, 1892, Dr. Buttrick was graduated from Victoria University and Lancanshire Independent Seminary. All his ministry, however, was in the United States. Beginning in 1915 he was at the First Union Congregational Church in Quincy, Ill., First Congregational Church in Rutland, Vt. and the First Presbyterian Church in Buffalo until, in 1927, at the age of 34 years, he was called to the pastorate of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Agnes; three sons, John Arthur, professor of economics at York University, Toronto; George Robert, pastor of the Normandy Presbyterian Church, St. Louis and David Gartner of Santa Claus, Ind.; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Ski races highlight Winter Cup

Bev Eby was all decked out Saturday for the Great Wooden Ski Rally at Windmill Farms. This week Bev - and others - will have a chance to compete in Winter Cup ski races.

Once again Mother Nature is playing havoc with Charlevoix's Winter Cup Festival.

Lack of snow has caused the cancellation of this year's snow sculpture contest. The cancellation comes as a disappointment to festival organizers because several businesses in town had planned to enter the competition.

Skiers should not be distraught, though. There is snow and downhill and cross country ski races will take place as planned. In fact, several cross country skiers have already registered. Last year about 125 skiers braved sub zero temperatures. This year there will be 20, 10 and 5 kilometer races sanctioned by the USSA, which should draw skiers from throughout the state.

Of special interest will be a free style ski demonstration Sunday afternoon at Mt. McSauba. The demonstration will feature the Wing-O-Matics (from the Bahnhof Ski Shop in Traverse City), who will perform several acrobatic ski maneuvers. The demonstration will start at 1:30 p.m.

Highlights of the Winter Cup Festival, sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, will be:

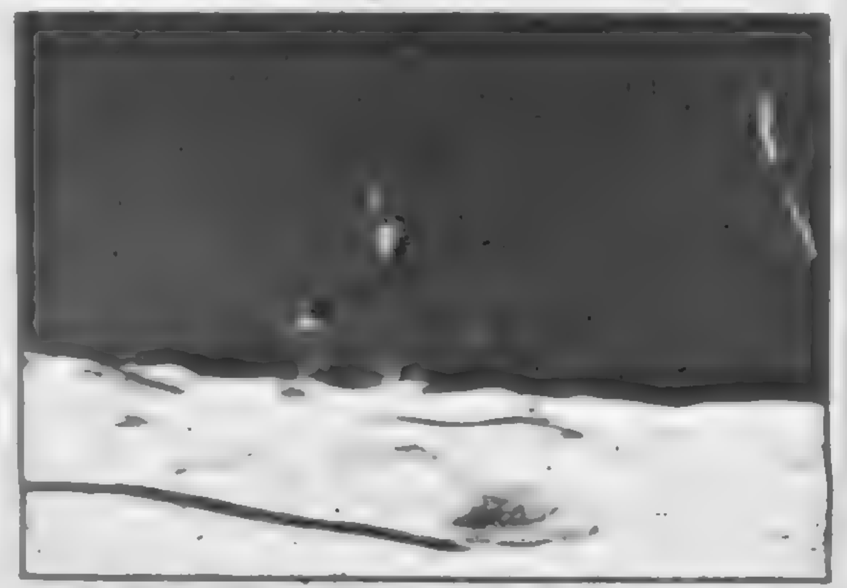
Saturday

Downhill ski races will take place at Mt. McSauba on Saturday. Registration starts at noon with racing to get underway at 1 p.m. Skiers of all ages will be able to participate. Children between 2-6 years of age can enter the Bunny Race; boys and girls between 7-9, 10-12, 13-15 and 16-over can ski in the Girls and Boys Races, and adults 21-over can enter the Grandfather and Grandmother Race. Following the ski races will be a bump jumper contest. The Charlevoix Lions Club will assist the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce with these events. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Scott Beatty is the chairman.

Sunday

Cross country skiers will takeover Sunday. Skiers can register at the Chamber of Commerce up until Saturday. For late arrivals a special registration will be held on Sunday from 9-9:30 a.m. Racing will start at 11 a.m. with the USSA Sanctioned Races of 5, 10 and 20 kilometers. There will be six different age groups (12-13, 14-17, 18-24, 25-34, 35-44, and 45-over) participating. Citizens Races (for the casual skiers) of 2, 5 and 10 kilometers will follow. The Citizens Races will also be broken down into six age groups. Prizes and medals will be awarded to the winners of all races. Nelly Hiehle is the chairman of the event. She will be assisted by the Charlevoix Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce members. Northwest React will assist with the traffic. A special free style skiing exhibition will be held at 1:30 p.m. at Mt. McSauba. The Wing-O-Matics, featuring Joe Tolle and Scott Evans - will perform acrobatic ski maneuvers.

Meanwhile, Duffy's and the Grey Gables Inn will be joining in all the fun. The two restaurants have special activities planned for the weekend, including the crowning of Mr. and Mrs. William Price as Charlevoix's King and Queen (Friday at the Grey Gables), a dance contest and a "Night of the Balls" (Saturday at both restaurants).



The Wing-O-Matics will perform at Mt. McSauba Sunday.

Elementary students learn basics of skiing

There are a couple of things about the Charlevoix School District which makes it unique.

First of all, how many school districts can boast of owning a lighthouse on an island in the Great Lakes?

And secondly, how many school districts offer cross country ski classes at the elementary level?

Cross country skiing is new to the curriculum this year. The physical education class is offered to 4th and 5th grade students.

So far, despite the weather, the ski program is getting favorable grades.

"The kids are really fired up about it," said Chris Davenport, who helps instruct the class. "Most of them have never skied before and they're really anxious to learn.

"And I'm amazed at how fast they're catching on. I think I underestimated their abilities."

The idea to add cross country skiing to the school curriculum was generated a year ago by Nellie Hiehle of Silent Sports and Principal Ralph Raymer.

"It's a total body activity, that is its number one benefit," Ms. Hiehle said. "And it's natural.

"Kids naturally run and cross country skiing is the closest thing on snow."

Each class is one hour in length. By the time the children go through their calisthenics and get into their equipment - provided by the school - they ski for about 45 minutes.

"In that time we can generally go a mile," Ms. Davenport said.

The students ski on the golf course, which is adjacent to the school.

During the first week of lessons, students skied without poles to improve balance and stride. As Ms. Davenport explained, "It's important they coordinate their arm and leg movement."

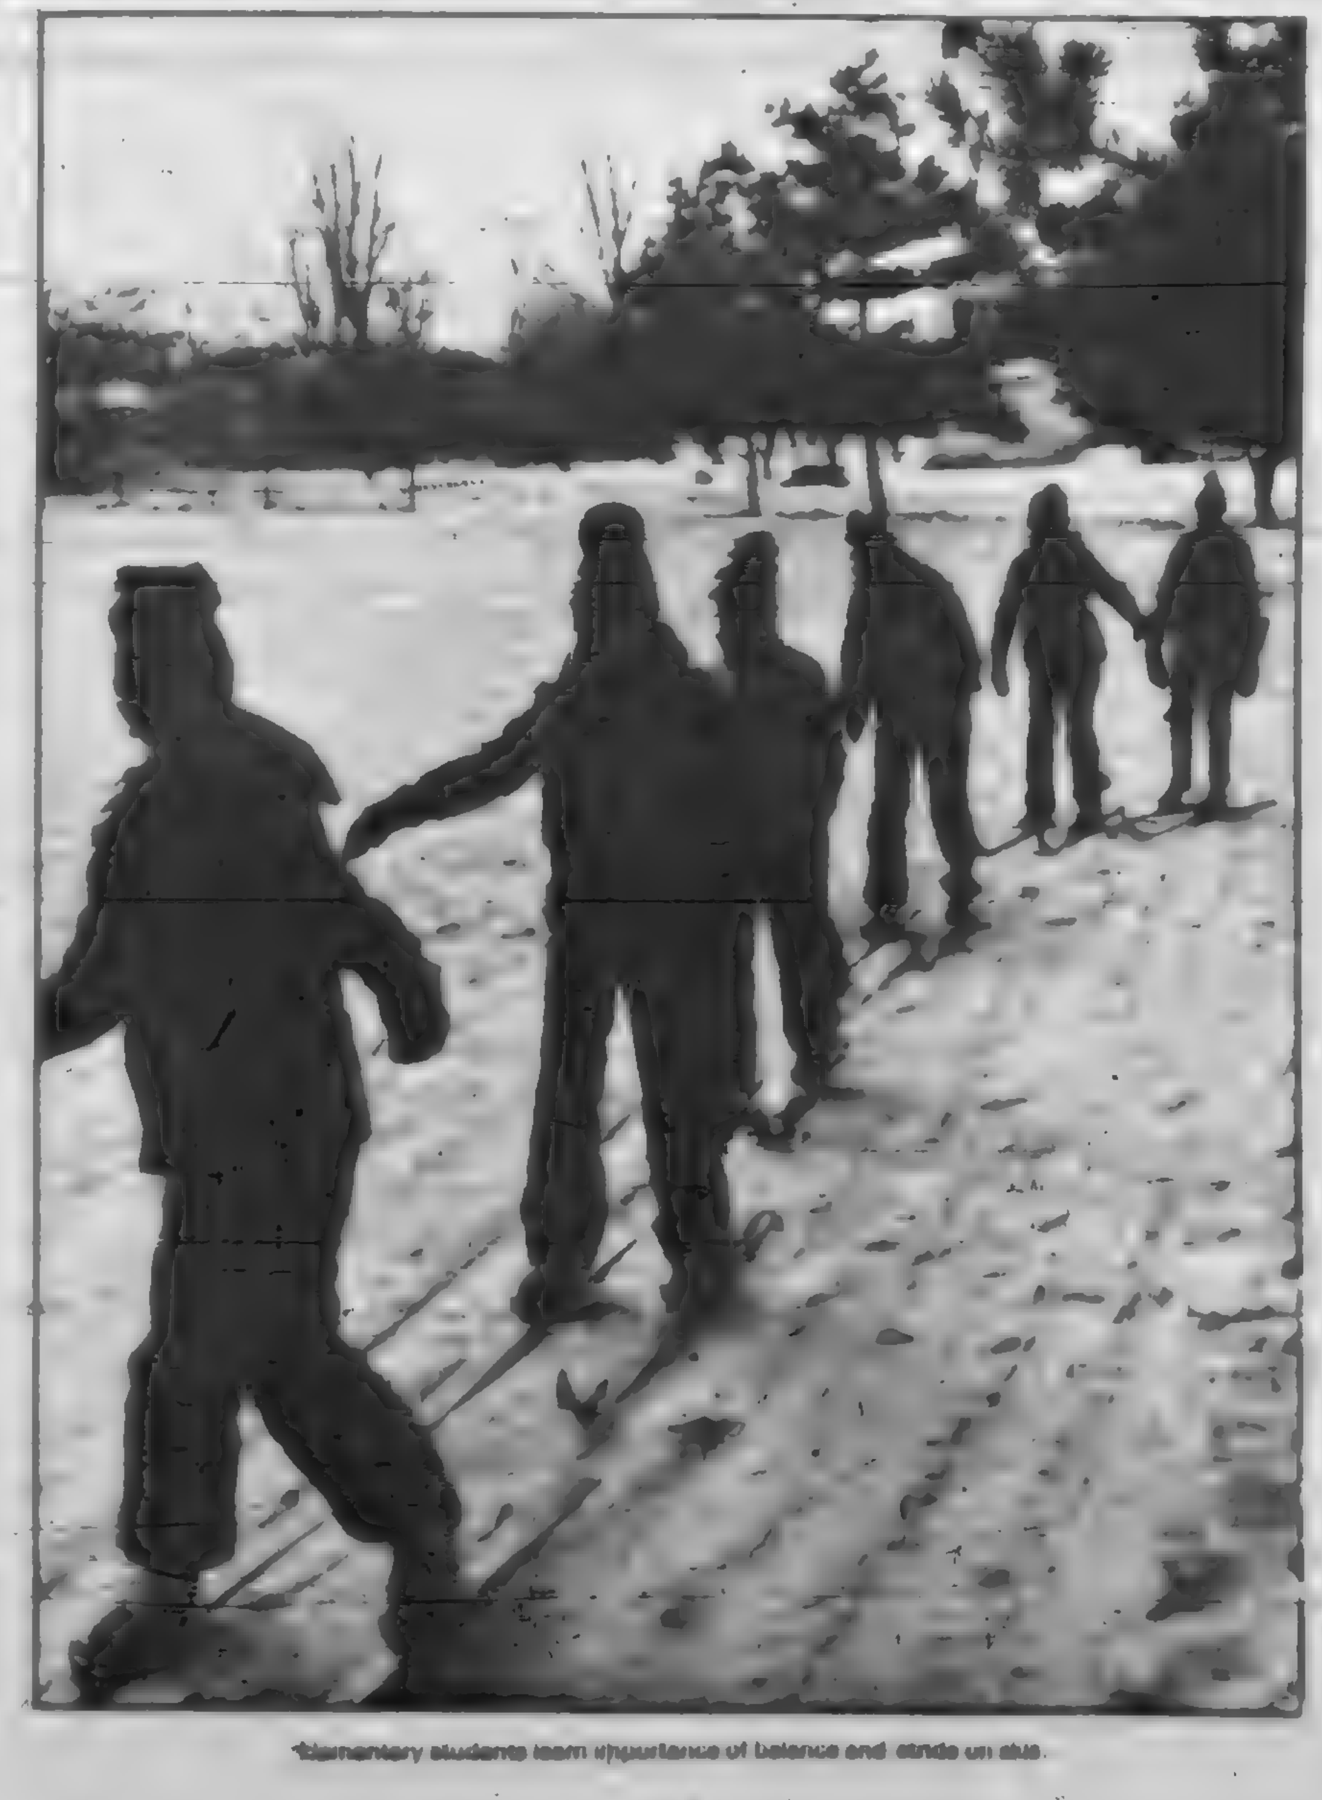
This week the students will be equipped with poles as they learn how to turn.

So far, the only real problem has been the weather. Lack of snow delayed the start of the program and some of the trails still have bare spots.

The ski classes will be offered for three to four weeks, depending on the weather. In addition to Ms. Davenport, Nanette Loennechen of Windmill Farms and several parents ski along with the lessons.

"It's a family affair," said Ms. Davenport. "The kids really look forward to it.

"When they come back from skiing they have rosy cheeks and big smiles. I know the third graders can't wait to take the class."



Elementary students learn importance of balance and stride on skis.

School bands to perform

The Charlevoix Public School music department will present a festival concert at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Featured in the concert will be the middle school seventh and eighth grade bands and the high school concert and symphony bands. The bands will play music they will perform in a forthcoming District II Band Festival.

"We feel that this concert will give residents of the Charlevoix School District an opportunity to see what type of music the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association expects students in these various stages of development should be prepared to play," Filkins said in announcing the Festival Concert.

The seventh grade band, making its first public appearance, will play "Marching Along" by Vitale, "Nutcracker Suite" Tschaikovsky/Henderson, and "Little Irish Suite", L. Jackson.

The eighth grade band contribution to the concert will be Schubert's "Marche Militaire", "Courtly Festival", arr. [illegible], and "Festival Day" Thomas.

The concert band, whose membership is made up of freshmen

Tight $? Residents pay taxes

By Peg Ohle

Despite all the talk about "tight money", Charlevoix County residents are paying their property taxes at about the same rate they usually do.

That's the word from County Treasurer Anah Potter, who says that only one township treasurer, Shirlene Tripp of Hayes Township, reports lower than usual collections.

Up or to March 1, taxes are paid to township treasurers and part of them – the portions due the county and the Intermediate School District (ISD) – are turned over to the county treasurer. After March 1, all property tax payments are made directly to the county treasurer.

So far Mrs. Potter's office has received $207,014 of the county's share of taxes and $81,405 of ISD taxes. This is approximately a quarter of the total amount billed – $1,200,165 in county [illegible]

Taxpayers who pay their bills after March 1 but before April 1 will be charged interest at the rate of four and three-quarters percent. After April, the interest rate increases one-quarter of a percent each month until the taxes are paid. This could amount to as much as 23 and a half percent at the end of three years, when the property would be eligible for a tax sale, Mrs. Potter points out.

Hospital accredited for two years

Charlevoix Area Hospital has again received two-year accreditation, the maximum granted, from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

Charlevoix Area Hospital, which has been continually accredited since 1953, was recently surveyed by a team from JCAH – a doctor, nurse, administrator and laboratory technologist – who determined that Charlevoix Area Hospital meets the national organization's standards.

The commission surveys and determines whether or not to accredit hospitals, and whether for one or two years, on the basis of what the JCAH describes as "optimal achievable standards."

The goal of the commission is to "promote the finest achievable health care," according to JCAH literature.

It is a voluntary organization which hospitals may join in order to "assess the quality of the care they render."

Since 1970 the JCAH has been revising its standards. The standards for accreditation in 1980, JCAH information states, "represent stricter requirements than those previously in force."

The JCAH describes standards for hospital practice, which cover virtually every hospital activity from patient care to records, nursing staff to doctors, "as a point of progress in a dynamic process."

Thus JCAH only grants accreditation for one or two years, requiring hospitals who gain two-year accreditation to conduct a self-survey in the intervening year.

JCAH literature describes the organization as "evaluator, consultant and educator." The survey teams which meet with Charlevoix Area Hospital staff every two years to review their accreditation, not only makes judgements on whether the practices at the hospital are up to their standards, but offers recommendations for continued improvement.

Accreditation by the JCAH is recognized by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), as being in compliance with the standards necessary to participate in Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement programs. Hospitals which do not seek or achieve accreditation by the JCAH may submit to government inspection to become eligible for Medicare and Medicaid.

This is the eighth time Charlevoix Area Hospital has been granted a two-year accreditation.

A geologist's haven

By Ed Beutner

Organized geological investigations began in Michigan and in the Charlevoix area shortly after Michigan became a state in 1837. A State Geological Survey was inaugurated by the First State Legislature with Douglass Houghton appointed the first State Geologist.

Although Houghton is best known for his exploration of the Copper Country, he sailed in 1838 from Detroit to the Straits of Mackinac and into Lake Michigan. He recorded observations of his examination of rock outcroppings along the lake shore near localities which were to become Petoskey, Charlevoix, and Norwood.

Most of his work was limited to the coast since only by boat could he and his party transport their instruments, food, supplies, and camping gear in this unsettled area.

During the period 1840-60, several other State Geologists examined the area. The most thorough study, however, was conducted by Carl Rominger in 1872-1874. Results of his field work were published in 1876 in "Geological Survey of Michigan, Volume III". Included are illustrations and descriptions of fossils, among them the Coral, Hexagonaria, known popularly as Petoskey stone as it occurs in weathered form on beaches and in gravel deposits of our area.

Rominger's field notebooks are preserved in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan. They are more exciting and colorful than his published geological reports and reveal the great changes that were occurring in settlement of the area during the span of only a few years.

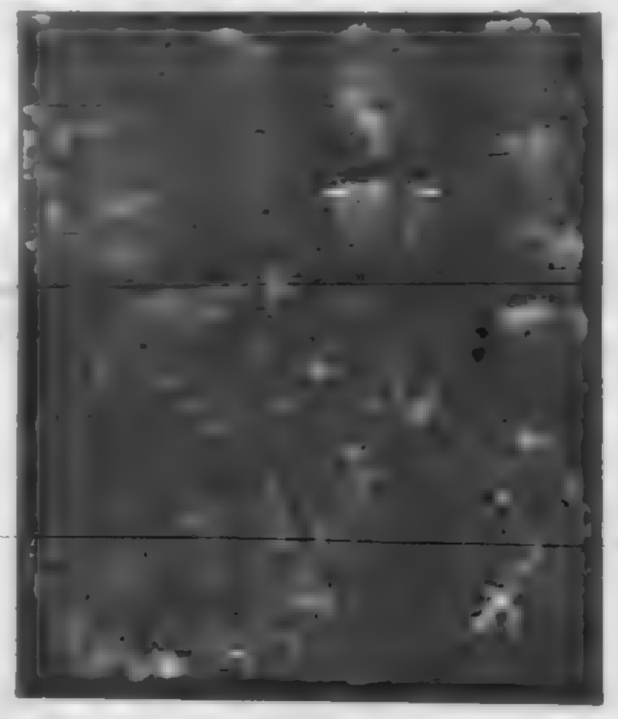
In his first trip, he camped at the dock of a little sawmill near the mouth of Bear Creek. Two years later he was surprised to find in the same place a new village named Petoskey. During his first trip he encountered considerable difficulty in exploring the shore of Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix) because of high winds. He did, however, sail to the end of the lake.

It may be asked "Why all of the geological interest in this area during the early stage of state development?" It must be remembered that in only very limited areas are bed rocks naturally exposed at the surface. In most of the lower peninsula, the bed rock is covered with a mantle of glacial drift (sand, gravel, clay, boulders) varying in thickness from a few feet to a number of hundreds of feet.

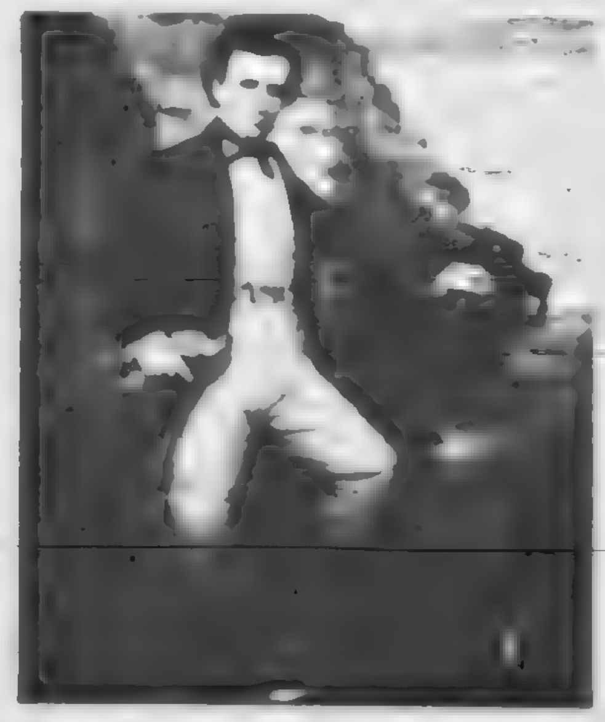
For this reason, studies of rock outcroppings which were available to early explorers were of great importance since they formed a basis for projecting the composition and structure of rock strata to areas where there were no exposures.

Paleontology (the study of fossils) was of great help in making correlations. Thus it was early determined that rock exposures near Alpena on the shores of Lake Huron were similar to those cropping out in the Petoskey-Charlevoix shore of Lake Michigan. Early geologists concluded that the strata were continuous between these areas and thus helped to establish the structural framework for the Michigan Basin. This was later confirmed by drilling and other methods.

Such basic geological information provided incentives and targets for exploration which led to discovery of reserves of salt, gypsum, limestone, oil and gas, and other minerals which contributed to the economic development of the Lower Peninsula.



Fossils were collected by early geologists from limestone outcroppings in the Charlevoix area. The large specimen is the coral, Hexagonaria, which in its weathered cobble form is popularly called Petoskey stone.



Oil painting by Alvah Bradish hangs in the State Capitol. Depicts Douglass Houghton standing on the shore of Lake Superior with Pictured Rocks in the background. Houghton served Michigan as its first State Geologist. He was also Mayor of Detroit, president of its first Board of Education, professor at the University of Michigan and was being nominated for Governor at the time of his early demise at the age of 36. In October 1845 he and two companions were drowned in Lake Superior while engaged in [illegible]

CHARLEVOIX CITY COUNCIL MINUTES

February 4, 1980
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the [illegible] Mayor Supernaw presiding.

Present: Councilmen Timms, Roloff, Wood, Muma, Whitley and Porter. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the January 21, 1980, regular meeting were approved as presented [illegible] in the Council [illegible].

A Public Hearing was held regarding the proposed M-66 to U.S. 31 sewer extension with the majority of City property owners to be [illegible] for the extension indicating they are against it. The City Manager stated that due to the fact the line will extend into Charlevoix Township, a larger line is required that would be necessary if only the City residents were to utilize the extension and therefore the Township should assume the additional cost.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood that the City table the proposed M-66 to U.S. 31 sewer extension until the City Manager can discuss the cost breakdown between City and Township with the project engineer.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Timms, Roloff, Wood, Muma, Whitley and Porter. Absent: None.

A Public Hearing was held regarding the proposed use of [illegible] Federal Revenue Sharing Funds which the City will receive this year. Curb and sidewalk, open parking and the Local Street Fund were suggested as possible uses of the funds.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Porter that Councilmen Timms and Roloff be appointed to the Board of Review for a [illegible] year term.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Wood, Muma, Whitley and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None. Abstaining: Councilmen Timms and Roloff.

William Grimm of the U.S. Department of Agriculture was present to discuss the Lake Michigan Park Resource Conservation and Development Master Plan. Mr. Grimm stated that the project had been initiated six years ago but that funding had not been available until now. He briefly outlined the proposed project and stated that the City's 50% share of the total cost of $43,546.00 could be satisfied in equipment use and labor.

Moved by Councilman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood that the Mayor be authorized to sign the Lake Michigan Park RC & D Master Plan Agreement.

following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Timms, Roloff, Wood, Muma, Whitley and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The City Manager was directed to draft a letter to officials of the Michigan Municipal League expressing opposition to the League's Resolution regarding distribution of revenue sharing funds on a per capita basis.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Roloff that a Dance Permit for the French Quarters Game Room, as requested by owner James LaFave, be allowed, contingent upon approval of the site by the State Fire Marshal.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmen Timms, Roloff, Wood, Muma, Whitley and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council discussed a letter from John Campbell of Site Planning Development, Inc. regarding improper pruning of City trees by City employees. Several means of training the employees in proper pruning procedures were discussed with no action being taken at this time.

The following resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Muma.

Resolution 80-2-1

BE IT RESOLVED that in accordance with Chapter 28 Charlevoix Municipal Airport, Article IV, Section 2.206 of the Charlevoix City Code the following fees and charges be effective retroactively to September 1, 1979, with reference to the following service and activities:

1. Overnight tie down and/or parking for non-permanently based aircraft shall pay a fee of $1.60 (one and 60/100) Dollars per night, $8.00 (eight) Dollars per week, $24.00 (twenty-four) Dollars per month.

NRC, Consumers want answers on Big Rock mishap

By Tom Dammann

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) as well as Consumers Power co. would like to know why a broken air hose in the containment area of Consumers Big Rock Point nuclear power plant here was not reported to the operations staff.

According to Phil Loomis, Big Rock spokesman, a workman inadvertently kicked a quarter inch tubing line – which controls a valve in the reactor cooling water system some time during working hours last Wednesday (Jan. 30).

It was not discovered until later that night when operators in the plant's control room noticed a high reading of the temperature on the water cooling pumps.

Early on Thursday two men were sent into the recirculation pump room to find the cause. Unsuccessful, they had to investigate elsewhere and finally found the broken tubing, which has since been repaired.

The two men each received small doses of radiation, considered too small to report, according to Loomis.

The event was duly reported to NRC regional offices in Chicago.

According to sources familiar with the plant, who decline being identified, workmen employed by an outside electrical contractor were putting fire proof insulation on electrical conduits leading from inside the reactor to the control center when one tripped on the air line in question.

These sources say the workmen knew what had happened and had agreed to report it, but that either they did not or the report was not acted upon.

In a telephone interview NRC inspector Kenneth Ridgeway disclosed the resident inspector recently assigned to Big Rock, Geoff Wright, was scheduled to arrive here last week. Ridgeway said one of his first duties will be to find why the accident was not reported to the plant operators and why Consumers Power did not have some on the spot supervision of the work that was being performed by outside contractors.

Loomis said he was unaware of the NRC's interest but that a plant engineer has been assigned to find the answer for management.

"This is a typical slip-up," said Shirley Johns, a spokesperson for a Charlevoix Concerned Citizens group which is trying to get Big Rock shut down permanently. "Industry boasts of the safety of its machinery but it forgets the infallibility of the people who run it."

Horton Bay Club seeks permit for buoys

The Horton Bay Club has applied for a federal permit to place mooring buoys in Lake Charlevoix.

The club is proposing to use the buoys - anchored by steel chains and connected to concrete blocks - to provide a mooring-anchorage area for pleasure craft.

Anyone who would like to comment on the proposal may do so by writing the Department of the Army, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, Box 1027, Detroit, Michigan 48231.

Permit sought for pier

John Campbell - representing Herbert Dow - has applied for a permit to dredge and construct a pier in Round Lake.

The permit would allow the applicant to dredge approximately 1,300 cubic yards of material from an area 1,600 feet X 1,000 feet. All dredged material would be placed on the applicant's property "in such a manner so as to prevent its return to any waterway an-or wetland.

In addition, the applicant proposes to construct an "L" [illegible] feet lakeward of the existing shoreline. Also, 17 wood mooring-bumper piles would be placed in conjunction with the proposed work. The purpose of the project would be to provide dockage for pleasure craft.

Anyone who would like to comment on the proposal may do so by writing the Department of the Army, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, Box 1027, Detroit, Michigan 48231.

Red Cross volunteers say thanks

Letters

Editor

The quota for the Bloodmobile's visit to Charlevoix on January 23rd was exceeded when 131 pints of blood were collected at the American Legion Hall.

The community support was evidenced by the cooperation of volunteers and donors, including many members of military families.

Special thanks are due to each person who donated their time and blood, and to the merchants who donated supplies: Edwards IGA, Glen's, Oleson's and Crown Drug. The canteen service was provided by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority members.

The blood collected is available through the American red Cross office in Petoskey. The Bloodmobile is scheduled to return to Charlevoix in May. Sincere appreciation goes to all who were involved in making the drive a success.

Sincerely,

Recently I became aware that C.H.I.P. Counseling Center of Charlevoix is in need of sources of funding. I would like to take this time to encourage businesses and individuals to become involved to insure that such a necessary community service is not lost.

As Friend of the Court I have had a chance to directly experience the need and results of client contact with the C.H.I.P. staff. At one time or another all of Charlevoix Courts and Social Agencies have referred cases and individuals to the center and many citizens have sought and found help on occasion.

The environment in which we now live creates pressures and problems to the extent that many individuals can no longer cope without the aide of others, such as the C.H.I.P. staff. Now, more than ever we need Counseling staff in our area, so please help.

Sincerely,
George L. Ebenhoeh

Resident responds to letter on Big Rock

Dear Citizens

In the past few months I have been reading the various articles in the newspapers about Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant. I have tried to keep up with the proceedings relating to Big Rock asking for permission to increase their spent fuel storage capacity. I also went to the pre-hearing in Petoskey, which involved some area residents petitioning this increase.

However, as a plain, ordinary citizen, I am not allowed to read all the documents and correspondence between Consumers Power and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission; only what is at my disposal in the Public Documents Room at the library in Charlevoix.

A week or so ago, I read a letter from a Mr. Charles Axtell, who is the plant health physicist. The letter astounded me. I won't even attempt to respond to all the issues Mr. Axtell stated. Only a few - for now.

Anyway, Mr. Axtell states that Big Rock is not an experimental plant. Wrong. In 1975 Big Rock asked for permission to quadruple their use of plutonium in mixed oxide fuel from 50 kilograms to 150 kilograms. Big Rock was granted such as set forth in License Amendment No. 4. The commission's (N.R.C.) guideline is, quite simply, that "there should be no additional licenses granted for use of mixed oxide fuel in nuclear power reactors except for experimental purposes." There are 20 fuel assemblies in the reactor core and 7 fuel assemblies in the fuel pool right now at Big Rock!

About this lifetime exemption - Big Rock was granted a lifetime exemption for their Emergency Core Cooling System, providing they make the necessary changes in core spray nozzle distribution, protect the controls, indication, and annunciation circuitry associated with the Emergency Core cooling system, modify emergency procedures to assure a second emergency diesel generator will be operational within 24 hours after a loss-of-coolant accident (LOCA). In the event that they ever need this diesel generator it is waiting, in Chicago, to be flown up here and installed. What if there is a snowstorm or heavy fog over O'Hara Airport in Chicago, preventing them from flying the generator here? What if some gasket or other component doesn't fit on the existing system at Big Rock? I have ordered equipment and parts from companies before, and when they arrived, they didn't function properly. Let's not forget the Ford Pinto, either.

In 1979 there was a loss-of-coolant-accident (here on in it will read LOCA) at the Oyster Creek Facility in New Jersey. The water level in the reactor vessel dropped 13 feet in 172 seconds. The water level came within 5 feet 6 inches above the fuel. Luckily, they were able to flood the reactor vessel and bring the plant to cold-shut-down 9 hours later.

After this 'incident' the N.R.C. required that all licensed reactors must have a minimum of two recirculation pumps in operation at all times. (This is what pumps the water into the reactor core to keep the fuel cool). Big Rock wrote back and was granted a change in the Technical Specifications stating they wanted to run with a minimum of one recirculation pump in operation. Isn't this also an exemption?

There are any number of safety problems to choose from and they all need to be evaluated. These problems stem from breakdowns caused by improper installation of equipment, inadequate quality assurance, defective components, design errors, human errors, pressure build-up in containment following a LOCA, stress corrosion cracking in Boiling Water Reactor piping, common mode failures.

There is also a relationship between the number of forced outages and abnormal occurrences after a plant is built on the one hand, and the degree of quality assurance that was enforced while the plant was being built. It amazes me that an electrical appliance like a blender or an iron has more stringent safety checks than the electrical instruments that control a nuclear power plant. As long as we cannot prove poor quality assurance is the cause of below-par plant performance, the nuclear industry complex enjoys the benefit of the doubt.

I wish I had more time right now to keep writing to you, the public. However I must continue my research to educate myself and my friends as well as the N.R.C., that Big Rock is not a safe plant.

I apologize for using technical words in this letter. The nuclear 'jargon' is a second language. I hope it will make you pick up a book and educate yourselves.

If you are concerned about nuclear power, remember that you, the people have access to the same materials that I do. It all depends on where your priorities lie. I cannot compromise - not when my life and the lives of future generations are at stake. Feel free to write me.

Hobbies and taxes

Many people operate a part-time business after putting in a regular workweek at a salaried job. Although these "moonlight" businesses provide extra income, they are often outgrowths of hobbies or talents which provide a great deal of personal satisfaction. Sometimes these people hope to one day give up regular jobs and earn a living doing what they love [illegible]

A computer analyst liked to relax after his commute from the city by building a sailboat in his suburban garage. His boat was much admired on the water, and a fellow sailor asked him to build a boat for him. Now, the computer analyst was being paid for his "hobby." As his reputation as a craftsman grew, more and more orders for sailboats came in, his garage had become exclusively a "shop," and his hobby was making a profit. He eventually hired an assistant to help run what had grown from a hobby to a "garage" industry and then into a very busy and profitable small business.

These same circumstances can apply to the antique collector who is now a dealer; the homemaker who operates a babysitting service; the bus driver who is developing a peach farm and the magazine editor who runs an editorial service from his home. There is sometimes no clear distinction, say The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, between freelancers, hobbyists who sell their work and full-fledged small business operators with the various stages in between.

Many people fail to realize substantial tax savings, because they don't realize their hobby or sideline is actually a business. If the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decides you are more interested in pleasure than profit, they may want to consider your activity a hobby. In that case they will tax the income from your hobby, but will consider any losses purely personal. The losses will not be deductible as business expenses.

A business that is as much hobby as anything else, say the Michigan CPAs, will be allowed to deduct operating expenses, but only up to the amount of taxable income the operation produces. Operating losses, which an established company can write off against taxable income, even applying any excess to previous or future years, have no tax effect for the hobbyist. The hobbyist must absorb those costs.

Does your business spend more than it earns? It must be shown that the activity engaged in is for the specific purpose of making a profit in order to claim deductions, say the CPAs. Also, there must be a justification for your hope of making a profit with your qualifications and experience such that the expectation is realistic. Finally, a business must be conducted using profit-motivation techniques such as advertising, promotions, minimizing costs and maximizing sales.

A good starting point in establishing that a true business exists is to actually show a profit. There must be taxable income out of five consecutive years, in any two or more of those years. It will then be presumed you are engaged in an activity for profit. The importance of adequate books and records cannot be over emphasized.

[illegible] freelance editing work is simply moonlighting. However, if he operates an editorial service, it may qualify as a business, but it would be difficult to show where his regular professional work ends and his part-time business begins.

His professional library, association dues and subscriptions could be necessities for either job. An electric typewriter, purchased for use in the editorial service, could be considered depreciable business equipment. However, it would be difficult to show that the editor never used the typewriter for his regular job or simply for a freelance assignment.

Business premises are another sensitive issue. The deduction for a home office was abused for so long that a few years ago Congress cracked down. To qualify as a business expense, an office at home must be used exclusively and on a regular basis as the taxpayer's principle place of business. If the antique dealer runs his service from the family basement, it must be shown that the family does not use the basement at all. The dealer must be able to prove that customers visit the basement office to do business on a regular basis and careful records of dates of visits and must be kept.

A small business can also get investment credit for tools and equipment, new or used, purchased during the year. To qualify, items purchased must be useable over an extended period and cannot include inventory or real estate, although certain building improvements do meet the requirements. The investment credit is equivalent to a rebate by the government of up to 10 percent of the purchase price.

The rate at which a company depreciates or amortizes its fixed assets will affect its after-tax income. There are alternative ways of depreciating, with still newer ones now being considered by Congress.

The owners of an incorporated business can enjoy certain tax-favored benefits, say the CPAs. These include pension and profit-sharing, company paid Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) and sick-pay plans usually allowable only if the same benefits are extended to other employees. Those not incorporated are entitled to certain of these as well, such as the self-employed pension or profit-sharing plan.

Notes on downstate excursion

Notes on the Clocks' first overnight visit to Detroit in five years.

I-75 IN OTSEGO COUNTY is so rough it feels like it is paved with doorknobs. The trouble stops at the Crawford County line traveling south — and starts at the Crawford County line traveling north — so the problem is pretty well defined. But it will require major resurfacing to put that section of freeway back in shape. The old Chevy rattled so badly I thought the kids were [illegible].

HOUSE TRAILERS or mobile homes, as the manufacturers like to call them, are providing an answer to housing problems in Detroit's western suburbs. We passed one trailer park on I-96 overlooking Kensington Lake that [illegible] A billboard along the highway advertised for additional residents. Regardless of what you think of them, house trailers are the nation's only reasonable solution to date to the high cost — and resulting shortage — of housing. The house trailer will remain a part of the American scene for many years to come — and 90 percent of them will never move an inch.

HOWEVER, BUILDERS also have been having a field day since the Clocks last visited the Motor City. In fact, there is hardly an open field between Plymouth and the inner city, since every vacant lot has been filled with tract houses, apartments and condominiums. Oddly enough, there appear to be many open areas near downtown where the wrecking balls of urban renewal obviously have been busy. Some sections near Wayne State University appear almost rural.

THE RENAISSANCE Center (Ren Cen to the natives) is every bit as attractive as we had heard — from the outside: Five gigantic cylinders thrusting themselves into the heavens from the banks of the Detroit River. However, the interior was something of a disappointment. Because of the overall design, the architects have forsaken the orderliness of squares and rectangles for the confusion of broken circles. The lobby of the central hotel is a veritable Disneyland of escalators and free-standing stairways that appear to be more ornamental than functional...although they are used, of course, to reach shops on the various levels. Massive rough-cast pillars of grey concrete are everywhere. I suppose their coarseness is somehow intended to reflect the inner-city roughness of downtown Detroit and Detroiters in general. But they aren't very attractive. And, unless I'm mistaken, they already are beginning to show signs of wear. The total effect is Confusion — with a capital "C." One of the nicest touches of the entire complex are the little ethnic food stands scattered randomly throughout the lobby where you can grab a bratwurst sandwich and a bottle of Perrier water (or a beer) while you are looking for your wife.

THE DETROIT Institute of Arts (main section only) is as beguiling as ever, even though the main entrance has been closed (and Rodin's sculpture of "The Thinker" removed) while remodeling is in progress. We entered through the new wing on Farnsworth Street, which, I am sorry to say, just doesn't have the class of the original building. It was painful to see paintings by Rembrandt, Pieter Brueghel and Frans Hals hanging in such second-rate surroundings. However, the Diego Rivera Court is still alive and well. Plans to construct a stairwell in the middle of the court have been abandoned, to the immense relief of Detroit's artistic community.

Meet Charlevoix

By Peg Ohle

Ronald G. Gear is counselor for the Office of Veterans Affairs in Charlevoix County. This week the Courier talks with him about his job and some of the special benefits to veterans.

Q. Who comes to you for services?

A. I work with veterans from World War I through the Vietnam Conflict, as well as persons on active duty, members of the National Guard, reservists, and families of any of these.

Q. What kind of services do most of them need?

A. The most requests are for help in making compensation claims and pensions. This includes getting veterans to outpatient clinics and VA hospitals, obtaining military records, getting student veterans headed in the right direction, helping with home loan programs, assisting with [illegible] and filing applications for pensions.

Q. There are probably many benefits due veterans and their families that are not generally known about, right?

A. Yes, for instance, burial rights. Many people don't know that the federal government will help pay to bury any honorably discharged veteran, no matter what his financial situation is at the time of death. Also, the federal government will provide a grave marker — marble, granite, or brass — for any honorably discharged veteran. This is free and it doesn't make any difference how much money the deceased had.

Q. Let's talk about some of the better known benefits — education, for instance. How does that work?

A. The Veterans' Administration will pay honorably discharged veterans to complete high school, go to college, or learn a trade either on the job or in an apprenticeship program. They have 10 years to do this. The amount of money they get depends on their length of service and number of dependents.

Q. And home loans?

A. The Veterans Administration will guarantee a veteran's loan for the purchase of a home, mobile home, or condominium.

Q. Are pensions a big thing?

A. Yes. In fact, the largest number of our cases have to do with widows' pensions. During November and December we work mostly on pension claim forms because they have to be filed each year by the end of December. Of course, pensions, both veterans' and widows', are based on need.

Q. We've been talking about federal benefits. Does the State of Michigan provide any services to veterans?

A. Oh, yes. There are 88 pages of Michigan law that apply to veterans, and the benefits are generous. For instance, Michigan has a $300 burial allowance for any honorably discharged veteran whose estate does not exceed $36,000 excluding his home. This is in addition to the federal allowance as mentioned before. Michigan has also offered bonuses to honorably discharged veterans. There has just been an extension on the date for applying for Vietnam Conflict bonuses.

Q. Do you deal mostly with Vietnam veterans?

A. Oh, no. Last year we had 46 contacts about veterans of World War II, 29 about veterans of World War I, 44 about veterans of the Korean Conflict, and only 118 about Vietnam veterans. All in all, we had 192 contacts with various people.

Q. You must have to go to other agencies for answers from time to time?

A. Of course, we work with Substance Abuse, the Half Way houses, Social Services, Social Security, such people.

Q. Is it hard working with people in need all the time?

A. There are pleasant and unpleasant aspects. It's good to be able to help people. You get attached to them.

Q. How long have you been Veterans' Counselor?

A. Since February, 1977.

Q. Are you a veteran?

A. Yes, I'm a veteran of the Korean Conflict. I served in the United States Navy as a Storekeeper on a 21 Class Destroyer for four years. We went all over the world — the Mediterranean, North Atlantic, Pacific, Indian Ocean.

Q. Have you lived in Charlevoix all your life?

A. Yes, I was born here and graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1953. I'm married to a classmate, Nancy Bodley, and we have two daughters, Julie Stolt and Sally.

Q. What did you do after you got out of the Navy?

A. I worked for the U. S. Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service out of Charlevoix. Then I spent some time purchasing and receiving in an industrial plant, working in construction, and finally as a public servant: I was Deputy Drain Commissioner for three and a half years and Drain Commissioner for four years, so I've been in County Government 10 and a half years.

Q. You still have another county job, don't you?

A. I'm Administrator of the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act in the office of the Building Inspector.

Q. What are your hours at the veterans office?

A. All day Tuesdays and Fridays. The phone number is 547-9985. I urge anyone with a veteran's problem to call me.

"Corky" Curtis, a member of the Wojan Aluminum team, was quoted in the Courier last week as saying that the players on the Wojan team are "the oldest and most out of shape of any in the League". Following Wojan's win last week and considerable ribbing by his team-mates, Curtis would now like to be quoted as saying, "It is true that we may be the oldest but we're not all out of shape."

Women's self-defense class offered at EJ

A class entitled "Women's Self-Defense" will be presented at East Jordan High School from 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21. The class will be taught by Robert Christensen of the East Jordan Police Department.

The three week class deals with basic self-defense for women. The class is free to the public and is co-sponsored by East Jordan Community Education and the East Jordan Police Department. To register or for further information call Jaquie Heumann at 536-2361.

Club donates to two agencies

The Charlevoix Coast Guard Wives voted to contribute to two agencies that they felt were in need of their support.

It was their decision to contribute $100 to the Chip Counseling Center which has become dependent on local support and a V.A. Hospital. The contribution was made to Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, president of the Auxiliary of the Charlevoix V.F.W. post who will forward it to the proper agency.

At the same meeting, plans were made for the club's activities during coming months including the Venetian Festival.

Mrs. James Bowman volunteered to send cards to patients at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility who have birthdays in March. Each month the club remembers patients' birthdays with cards.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Marvin [illegible].

Gaffney fired from job in Iowa

Norman Gaffney, Charlevoix's former city manager, has been fired as city manager in Johnston, Iowa.

The Johnston City Council cited "inefficiency, failure to follow council directives, lack of leadership, lack of communication with the staff and failure to fulfill requirements of the position" as reasons for Gaffney's dismissal.

Gaffney had been on the job just four months. He previously served as city manager in Charlevoix. But after nine months on the job here council asked for his resignation. Reasons for dismissal were similiar.

According to the Lake Country Tribune, several city councilmen in Johnston were unaware of Gaffney's past work record.

Two councilmen said if they had known of his dismissals in Charlevoix and Iowa they would not have voted for his appointment as city manager. Two others said they would have reconsidered their decision. The councilmen said the responsibility of checking Gaffney's references was delegated to the city clerk. The city clerk said she contacted "seven or eight" references, but nothing was said about his resignations. The clerk said she did not call anyone in Charlevoix.

When asked about being fired from two previous jobs, Gaffney told the Lake Country Tribune "I never tried to hide anything from the (Johnston) council. I listed every place I had worked."

Gaffney said was dismissed in Charlevoix because of a "strong difference of opinion" with Mayor Sam Supernaw.

"He thought my ideas were too big city," Gaffney told the Tribune.

Gaffney, 38, left his $25,000 a year job in Johnston almost immediately after council decision. He said he would not appeal the decision but added "All I can say is forgive them Lord, they know not what they do."

Pond appointed Register of Deeds

By Peg Ohle

Stephen K. Pond has been appointed Register of Deeds to fill the unexpired term of Grover Genett, who resigned.

Pond has served in the Register of Deeds' office for the past seven years and most recently acted as Deputy Register as well as Deputy County Abstractor.

His appointment is for the period ending Dec. 31, 1980, but he plans to enter the race for a full term in November's general election.

Pond went to work for the Register of Deeds after being employed for two years by McCutcheon Boat Works and spending four years in the Coast Guard.

A graduate of Rockingham High School in Rockingham, N. C., where he grew up, Pond got to Charlevoix via the Coast Guard, where he served three years on the Sundew. When his enlistment was up, he decided he liked the area so well that he would make it his home.

Pond is married to the former Lorraine Ager of Charlevoix and they have two children, Michelle, 13, and Stephen, 7.

When not on the job, Pond says he enjoys all kinds of sports activities, including motorcycle riding, as well as stamp collecting, art, music, and woodworking.

Rayders lose heartbreaker, 73-71

Grayling bounced back from a 21 point deficit in the third quarter Friday night to trim Charlevoix, 73-71, in double overtime.

The win kept the Vikings one game behind Gaylord in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference basketball race. Charlevoix dropped to 4-6 in the conference and 7-7 overall.

Grayling had entered Friday's contest with a three game losing streak and it appeared that Charlevoix was going to stretch that to four.

The Rayders jumped out to a 12-4 lead, and after Grayling fought back to within two points, 14-12, the Rayders apparently blew the game open, 35-18, at half.

Charlevoix was red hot from the field in the first half, hitting on 12 of 20 shots for 60 percent. Grayling, meanwhile, shot a horrendous 14 percent, connecting on four of 28 shots. The Rayders repeatedly beat the Vikings down the court for easy baskets.

But in the second half, after Charlevoix increased its lead to 21 points, the Vikings started putting the ball in the basket with some consistency. And Grayling's pressure defense caused the young Rayder squad to commit numerous turnovers.

Grayling cut Charlevoix's lead to eight points, 52-44, after three quarters before knotting the score, 67-67, at the end of regulation play. The first overtime ended at 71-71. Grayling's Rocky Tobin then scored the only basket in the second overtime to give the Vikings the victory.

Both teams missed golden opportunities at the free throw line in the second overtime. Charlevoix failed to convert on the front end of two one-and-one attempts and Grayling missed on all three of its attempts.

Scott Morgan was the game's leading scorer. The senior forward had 25 points. Center Ken Otmanowski added 16 points and sophomore guard Jim Buchanan had 13 points. Sophomore forward Gary Drury played a fine all-around game, scoring nine points, grabbing 12 rebounds and handing out several assists.

Charlevoix shot an incredible 64 percent from the floor, but the Rayders only put the ball up 39 times. Grayling, which played very aggresive in the second half, shot just 37 percent for the game, but put the ball up 76 times.

The Rayders hurt themselves by committing 34 turnovers.

Earlier in the week, the Rayders nudged Kalkaska, 50-45, in a non-league battle.

The game was close all the way with Charlevoix leading by just four points, 28-24, at half.

Morgan and Buchanan led the Rayder scoring with 18 and 12 points, respectively. Charlevoix played without Otmanowski, who had the flu. Without their big center, Charlevoix was outrebounded 34-22.

Charlevoix struggled from the floor, hitting on 22 of 58 shots for 38 percent. Kalkaska was 21 of 52 for 40 percent.

In junior varsity action, Charlevoix edged Garyling, 54-50, as Ross Carey scored 17 points and Dave Buday added 16. The Rayders also beat Kalkaska, 62-38.

M-HSC championships

Wojan wins heavyweight division

Ken Wojan pinned three opponents Saturday to capture the heavyweight title in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference wrestling championships at Gaylord.

As a team Charlevoix finished sixth. Petoskey emerged as the champ with Grayling and Rogers City close behind.

Wojan improved his season record to 20-1. According to Coach Greg Bryan, Wojan "is shaping up as a contender for district and perhaps regional honors with a strong possibility of winning spot in the Class C state tournament in March."

Scott Golovich took second place in the 167 pound weight class. Golovich lost a decision to Wade Huskey of St. Ignace in the finals. Golovich had pulled a slight upset in the semi-finals by defeating J. Corbin of Gaylord. Of Golovich, Bryan says, "his chances of placing in the coming district meet are promising."

Greg Whitley placed third in the 138 pound weight class by pinning his opponent in the consolation finals.

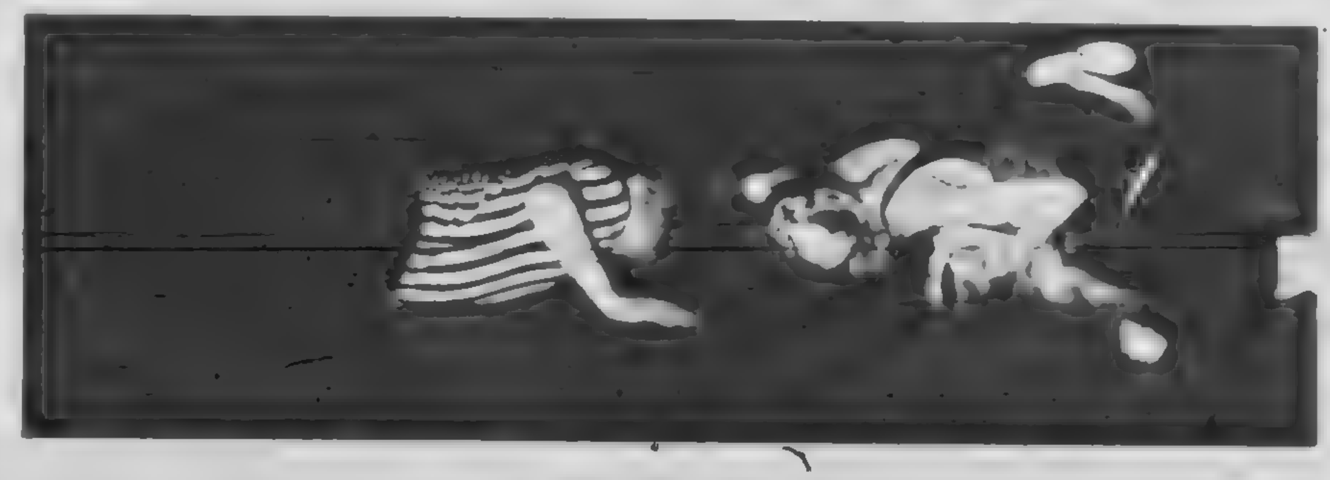
"This is a superb accomplishment for Greg since he is only a sophomore and still has two more years of competition," Bryan said. "If he improves next year at the rate he has this year he could become a state caliber wrestler and a guaranteed conference champ."

Jeff Landon took fourth place in the 155 pound weight class, which according to Bryan is a "tough weight class." Landon replaced Alan Bergmann who has been troubled by injuries this year.

Despite losing two of three matches, Bryan also praised senior Mark Drenth for his "quiet competitive spirit." Wrestling with a badly sprained ankle, Drenth pulled a "stunning" upset in the first round by defeating the No. 3 seed 8-3. Drenth lost his next two matches, but Bryan says "if his injury heals by the district meet look for Mark to be a contender. He has come on strong at the end of the season and has the potential to beat anyone."

Earlier in the week, the Rayders lost to Mancelona, 39-33.

For Charlevoix, Whitley, Drenth and Golovich won on pins, Greg Janz and Wojan won by forfeit and Golovich won by decision.



Jeff Landon tries for a pin.

Oscoda captures volleyball tourney

Oscoda won the Rogers City "round robin" volleyball tournament Saturday.

Oscoda beat Tawas in the finals.

Charlevoix played five matches in the tournament. The Rayders lost to Tawas (15-7, 9-15, 15-4), lost to Elk Rapids (14-[illegible] 15-7, 15-6), split with Petoskey (15-5 and 11-15), beat St. Ignace (15-10 and 15-1) and lost to Oscoda (15-10 and 15-2).

Earlier in the week, the Rayders split with Rogers City, winning the first series (11-15, 15-6 and 15-5) and losing the second series (15-11, 11-15 and 14-16).

Frosh victorious

The Charlevoix Rayder freshman basketball squad upped its record to 9-1 with victories over Petoskey and Harbor Springs last week.

The Rayders beat Petoskey, 50-38, and Harbor Springs, 55-43.

Charlevoix was led by the scoring of Craig Klooster. Klooster tallied 14 points in the win against Petoskey and he had 17 points against Harbor Springs. Jeff Trimper added 11 points to the Rayder cause in the Petoskey contest and George Smith popped in 10 points to help beat Harbor Springs.

Cribbage

The Masons rolled up an impressive 622 point total in the annual Masons-Odd Fellows cribbage tournament to wipe out the Odd Fellows lead and go ahead by 377 points after six nights of play, according to Ron Geer, tournament secretary.

M.F. Herriman, playing for the Masons, had a perfect hand, 968 points, the first one this season. John LaRue was high for the Odd Fellows with 951 points.

Ten tables were in play at the Masonic Temple, the largest turnout this year.

At the close of play, those participating collected money to be given to the First Congregational Church and the Charlevoix Area Hospital as a memorial to a fellow player, Floyd A. (Toby) Chamberlain.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ISSUE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS BY THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, AND RIGHTS OF REFERENDUM THEREON

TO ALL ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX:

TAKE NOTICE that the County of Charlevoix intends to issue industrial development revenue bonds in the principal amount of not to exceed One Million Dollars ($1,000,000), extending for not more than forty (40) years and bearing interest at not more than ten percent (10%) per annum, or such higher rate as may be permitted by law, for the purpose of financing all or part of the cost of acquiring and installing air pollution control equipment (including buildings, structures, facilities, equipment and their appurtenances together with to the extent necessary lands or interests in lands therefor), as defined in Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended, and included as part of the aforesaid air pollution control equipment all portions of cement manufacturing facilities which qualify as air pollution control facilities under Section 103(c) (4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, in or near, and for use in connection with the Charlevoix Plant of Medusa Corporation (including costs incidental to the issuance of said bonds). The air pollution control equipment referred to herein is the same equipment referred to in a notice of intention published in this newspaper on December 21, 1977; however, the bonds, in principal amount not to exceed $1,000,000, referred to herein (the "Additional Bonds") are in addition to the bonds in principal amount not to exceed $10,000,000 (the "Original Bonds") referred to in such earlier publication, which Additional Bonds are necessary to pay the increased cost of such equipment. Said air pollution control equipment is to be sold under an installment sales contract or contracts to Medusa Corporation.

Said Additional Bonds are to be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended (The Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act of 1963). Said Bonds may be issued by the County in one or more series.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT

Said Additional Bonds will be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Said Additional Bonds and the interest thereon will not be a general obligation to the County of Charlevoix and will in no event be payable from any tax revenues or other general funds of the County of Charlevoix, but will be payable solely and only from revenues derived from payments to be received as rental installments from Medusa Corporation.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

This notice is given to and for the benefit of the electors of the County of Charlevoix, in order to inform them that said Additional Bonds will be issued without submitting the question of their issuance to the electors of the county, unless within forty-five (45) days from the publication of this notice, a petition signed by not less than five percent (5%) of the registered electors of the County, requesting a referendum upon the question of the issuance of said Additional Bonds, is filed with the County Clerk of the County of Charlevoix, in which event the Additional Bonds in principal amount of up to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) will not be issued unless and until approved by a majority of the electors of the County voting thereon at a general or special election. The right of referendum described in the notice of intention published with respect to the Original Bonds has expired.

THIS NOTICE is given by order of the Board of Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, pursuant to the requirements of Section 12 of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Further information with respect to the Project to be financed, the Additional Bonds to be issued and the right of referendum may be obtained from the undersigned.

Clarence F. Rabach
County Clerk

No R-1 $9 500 000

KNOW ALL PERSONS BY THESE PRESENTS that the County of Charlevoix Michigan (the "Municipality") for value received, hereby promises to pay from the source and as hereinafter provided, to Mellon Bank, N A Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, or registered assignee (the "Bondholder"), the principal sum of Nine Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($9 500 000), unless prepaid prior thereto as hereinafter provided, in semiannual installments of Nine Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($950 000) commencing February 1, 1983 and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter to and through August 1, 1987, and to pay on the first day of August and February interest from the date hereof on the balance of the principal sum from time and to time remaining unpaid at the rate of SIXTY THREE PERCENT (63%) of the prime interest rate per annum announced from time to time by Mellon Bank, N A at its principal offices in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, for new ninety day [illegible] of substantial size and high credit standing (the "Prime Rate"), such rate to change automatically from time to time effective as of the effective date of each change in the Prime Rate, but in any event the interest rate shall not be less than SIX AND ONE-QUARTER PERCENT (6-¼%) per annum and shall not exceed EIGHT PERCENT (8%) per annum, provided however, that in the event that the interest on this Bond shall be asserted to be included in the gross income of the holder of this Bond by the Internal Revenue Service or an agent thereof or for any other reason fail to be wholly excludable under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 as amended from the gross income of the holder of this Bond (other than a holder who is a "substantial user" or "related person" as such terms are used in said Internal Revenue Code), this Bond shall bear interest from the date as of which interest shall so fail [illegible] excludable from gross income at a rate equal to 116% of the Prime Rate, such rate to change automatically effective as of the effective date of each change in the Prime Rate. The date as of which interest shall so fail to be excludable from gross income shall be as set forth in said assertion of [illegible] Internal Revenue Service or agent thereof or as specified in a notice of deficiency of the Internal Revenue Service or the written opinion of an attorney or firm of attorneys of recognized standing on the subject of the tax-exempt status of the interest on municipal bonds selected by the Bondholder

In no case however shall this Bond bear interest in excess of the maximum rate permitted by law

In the event that Mellon Bank N A ceases operations and does not have a Prime Rate then the Prime Rate referred to in the paragraph immediately preceding [illegible] of the prime commercial lending rates of the three largest (as measured by assets) banks in the City of New York, New York, in effect at the close of business on the first business day of the month next preceding any interest payment date [illegible] principal of [illegible] interest on this Bond are [illegible] in lawful money of the United States of America at the principal office of Mellon Bank N.A., as depository, or at [illegible] office of any successor depository

This Bond is a single fully [illegible] non convertible [illegible] limited in aggregate principal amount to $9 500 000 authorized and issued for the purpose of acquiring and constructing air and/or water pollution machinery and equipment (collectively the "Project") and leasing the same to Medusa Corporation, an Ohio corporation (the "Company") pursuant to a [illegible] Contract dated as of February 1 1980 (the "Contract"), and paying necessary expenses incidental thereto and to the issuance of this Bond so as to encourage the acquisition purchase construction reconstruction enlarging, remodeling [illegible], repairing operation and maintenance of adequate and [illegible] water and air pollution control equipment for industrial buildings and the facilities of public utilities now or hereafter located in the State of Michigan

This Bond is issued pursuant to and in full compliance with the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, particularly Act No 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963 as amended ("Act No. 62") and pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Commissioners of the Municipality adopted and approved on ________, 1980

This Bond and interest thereon shall never constitute a general obligation of the Municipality within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter provision or limitation and shall never constitute nor give rise to a charge against the general credit or taxing powers of the Municipality but shall be a limited obligation of the Municipality payable solely from and secured by certain mortgaged property under a Mortgage and Indenture (the "Indenture") dated as of February 1, 1980 from the Municipality to Mellon Bank, N A, as Bondholder, which mortgaged property includes a pledge of the Net Revenues derived by the Municipality from the Project and a mortgage lien on the Project

The payment of principal and interest on this Bond has also been unconditionally guaranteed by the Company, pursuant to a Guarantee Agreement dated as of February 1, 1980 from the Company to and for the benefit of any registered holder hereof

The Indenture and the Contract are recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and the Indenture, the Contract and the Guarantee are on file at the principal offices of the Municipality and Bondholder Reference is hereby made to the Indenture for a description of the mortgaged property and to the Indenture, the Contract and the Guarantee for the provisions, among others, with respect to the nature and extent of the security, the rights, duties and obligations of the Municipality, the Company, the Guarantor and the Bondholder, and the terms upon which this Bond is issued and secured.

This Bond may be assigned upon ten days prior notification to the Municipality and the Company by the registered holder in person or by his attorney in writing with a duly executed instrument of assignment in the form set forth below, and any assignee shall take this Bond subject to these conditions and the further condition that Mellon Bank, N A, shall continue as Depository and until any bank or trust company qualified to be such is requested by the assignee to be successor Depository and is approved by the Municipality in writing. Such assignment shall be noted on the registration books of the Municipality kept by the Depository and no assignment of this bond shall be valid unless made on said books

Installments of principal hereinabove set forth are not subject to prepayment except as hereinafter provided

This bond is subject to voluntary prepayment on any interest payment date on or after February 1 1985 in its entire remaining unpaid principal amount [illegible] portion thereof in inverse chronological order of the [illegible] installments and in multiples of said installments at 100% of the principal [illegible] hereof plus accrued interest to the prepayment date

Unless the Bondholder [illegible] Municipality should otherwise agree in writing the Bond is subject to mandatory prepayment at 100% of the unpaid principal amount hereof on any interest payment date on or after August 1 1981 following exercise by the Company of its option under [illegible] Contract to purchase the Project but only when following

(a) damage or destruction of the Project or the related plant of the [illegible] to such extent (i) that the Project cannot be reasonably restored within six months to the condition thereof immediately preceding such damage or destruction or (ii) that the Company is prevented from carrying on normal operation of the Project or the related plant of the Company for a period of six months or

(b) condemnation of the Project or the related plant of the Company or taking by eminent domain of such use of the Project or the related plant of the Company that the Company is prevented from carrying on normal operation of the Project or the related plant of the Company for a period of six months, or

(c) constitutional, legislative judicial or administrative action voiding the Contract or rendering it unenforceable or impossible of performance or imposing unreasonable burdens or excessive liabilities including tax liabilities on the Municipality or the Company or

(d) in the event the Bonds begin to bear interest at the Taxable Rate as provided in the Bonds

Notice of any such prepayment shall be given at least 30 days prior to the prepayment date by mailing to the Bondholder a notice fixing such prepayment date, the amount of principal and the premium if any, to be prepaid. Prior to the date fixed for prepayment, cash funds shall be placed with the Depository in an amount sufficient to pay the principal fixed to be prepaid [illegible] premium, if any. Upon the happening of the above conditions the installments of principal thus prepaid shall not [illegible] for prepayment and shall no longer be protected by or deemed outstanding under the Indenture

The Bondholder shall have the right to enforce the provisions of the Indenture or to institute action to enforce the covenants therein or to take any action with respect to any event or default under the Indenture, or to institute, appear in or defend any suit or other proceedings with respect thereto as provided in the Indenture, provided however that nothing in the Indenture contained shall affect or impair any right of enforcement conferred on the Bondholder by Act No 62 to [illegible] the payment of the principal of and interest on this Bond at and after the maturity thereof, or the obligation of the Municipality to pay the principal of and interest on this Bond at the time place, from the source and in [illegible] Indenture expressed In certain events on the conditions in the manner and with the effect set forth in the Indenture the principal of this Bond issued under the Indenture and then outstanding may become or may be declared due and payable before the stated maturity thereof, together with interest accrued thereon Supplements and amendments to the Indenture and the Contract may be made only to the extent and in the circumstances permitted by the Indenture and the Contract

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED RECITED AND DECLARED, that all acts, conditions and things required to exist, happen and be performed precedent to and in the execution and delivery of the Indenture and the issuance of this Bond do exist have happened and have been performed in due time form and manner as required by law and that the issuance of this Bond together with all other obligations of the Municipality, does not exceed or violate any constitutional statutory or charter limitation

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, has caused this Bond to be signed

Dave Vaughan: Charlevoix's ardent sports fan

Ask David Vaughan what sport he likes the most and he'll give you a politican's answer.

"That's a hard question because I like basketball, baseball, softball and football," he says.

Vaughan is perhaps Charlevoix's most ardent sports fan. Not only does he attend all the home football and basketball games, but he coaches in the city softball league.

"I'm a heavy slo-pitch fan," Vaughan confessed. "I don't like fast-pitch. It's no fun. Not everybody can hit fast-pitch. And that's not true of slo-pitch. Everybody can hit slo-pitch."

Vaughan coached last summer for Cash Register Exchange in the men's league. He hopes to do it again, although he admitted "they (Cash Register Exchange) haven't sent me a contract yet."

When he's not coaching slo-pitch in the summer, Vaughan spends his time following the Detroit Tigers.

Dave Vaughan was one of three bidders who received a gift subscription to the Courier at recent Band Boosters auction. Vaughan also bid on two pies - one for Jim Brinker (above) and one for Tom Erber.

Like a lot of Tiger fans, Vaughan is upset over the trade that sent Ron LeFlore to Montreal.

"That was a bad mistake," he said. "Horrible, actually."

How will the Tiger's do?

"I hope they finish higher than fourth, but I haven't made any bets yet," the 29 year-old Highland Park native said.

Vaughan's favorite Tiger is Mark 'Bird' Fidrych. And Vaughan would like nothing more than to see the 'Bird' [illegible].

"I would really like to see the 'Bird' come back," he said. "I really like the guy. He's got a lot of enthusiasm and he has a way of motivating people. He's my kind of athlete."

The enthusiasm that the 'Bird' shows is also evident in Vaughan. He gets just as excited as the players during the course of a game.

"I'm vocal at the games," Vaughan admits. "I'm always yelling encouragement to the guys trying to get them moving. And I'll even yell at the refs if I see a foul that wasn't called."

Vaughan is predicting a district championship for the Rayder basketball team in March, even though the host team - East Jordan - will be the favorite.

"We're playing good basketball," he said. "Everyone said we'd get stomped by Gaylord, but it didn't happen. We stayed right with them and Gaylord is a good team. I think we can win the (district) tournament."

According to Vaughan, Charlevoix has a bright basketball future. He's not only seen the Rayder's fine junior varsity and freshman teams play, but he has also watched the middle school squads, and they're "good."

Vaughan is not partial, either. He also attends city recreation basketball games.

And looking into his crystal ball, he sees Town House and Wojan Aluminum battling for the title in the upcoming playoffs. Town House will emerge the champ, he says.

Vaughan has other interests besides sports. He likes to read, watch television and sing in St. Mary's choir.

In fact, singing at midnight Mass is his "biggest thrill."

Vaughan also likes to frequent the Christian coffee house on Upright Street to listen to music.

And speaking of music, Vaughan was one of the top bidders at the recent Band Boosters auction. He spent $5 to hit City Manager Jim Brinker in the face with a whipped cream pie and then an hour or so later he spent $50 to hit Tom Erber with a pie. He said he hit Erber because "he sells Pintos."

"Actually, I wanted to get Lou Hollow, but the bank employees outbid me."

Keeping abreast of the news is important to him, too.

"I just read in the paper that Petoskey Ford is closing. That surprises me. I'm really concerned about businesses doing an el foldo. I feel bad that Gately's is leaving even though I don't go there. I just don't like to see businesses move out. When I get the Courier I always look to see who's building (building permits) and who's going into business [illegible]."

Vaughan's favorite television shows are the "Duke of Hazard" and "The Muppet Show." He also enjoyed the "The Muppet Movie."

"It was terrific," he said. "I hope it wins an award."

Skiers finish second in M-HSC

Petoskey captured the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference ski crown Monday.

Petoskey won both the boys and girls ski divisions with Charlevoix placing second.

In the girls competition, Katie Brown of Petoskey won the slalom event with Charlevoix's Hope Malpeli finishing 3rd, Kristen Lignell took 4th, Sandy Miller was 9th and Sally Westenbroek 10th.

In the giant slalom, Lynn Brown of Petoskey took top honors. For Charlevoix, Malpeli was 4th, Lignell was 5th and Miller 6th.

In the boys competition, Rick Kutcipal of Petoskey won the slalom, in which 19 of 36 skiers were disqualified. Bill Fels of Charlevoix was 3rd and Ken Speigl was 4th.

In the giant slalom, Scott Thompson of Petoskey was 1st with Charlevoix's Speigl finishing 4th, Fels 5th and Bill [illegible].

Charlevoix Coach Mike Bonello said his team looked strong but was hurt by lack of depth. The Rayder girls were without Karen Snizik, who is injured.

"The kids who skied well placed," Bonello said, adding that if his team can correct "simple errors" they will have an "excellent" chance to reach the state finals.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix defeated Boyne City.

The girls won, 38-30. Malpeli won the slalom event with Lignell second. Miller and Westenbroek took second and third, respectfully, in the giant slalom.

The boys won, 27-46, as Fels took the slalom and giant slalom events. Speigl was second in both events.

Bands

and sophomores, will present "March Lamar", Williams, "Fantasy for Band", Erickson, and Handel's "An Occasional Suite".

The symphony band, which will be entered in Class B in the District II Festival at Traverse City, will present Sousa's "The Fairest of the Fair", "Chorale and Shaker Dance", Zdechlik, and "Second Suite in F for Military Band", Holst.

The 50-piece concert band will play before adjudicators at Traverse City at 1:45 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 23. The 80-piece Symphony Band will play at the same site at 4:55 p.m. the same day. The exact site will be announced later.

The middle school seventh and eighth grade bands will participate in the District II Middle School Festival at Harbor Springs March 1. The hours will be announced later.

Rec meeting tonight

The Charlevoix Recreation Commission will meet tonight (Wednesday) to receive public input on how the city's recreational facility's [illegible].

The meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. in City Hall.

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters were treated to an evening of ice skating and refreshments of hot chocolate by the management of Boyne Mountain Ski Lodge recently. There were many children and adults there, who enjoyed much fun and ice skating. The Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization is planning other events, such as bowling at Paul Bunyan Bowling Lanes in Charlevoix Feb. 16, at 1:30 p.m. to kick off National Big Brother and Big Sister Week of Feb. 17-23.

U-M band director conduct clinic here

Carl St. Clair, Associate Director of Bands and Assistant Professor of Conducting at the University of Michigan, will present a clinic for the Charlevoix High School Symphony Band from 9 a.m. until 12 noon Friday, Feb. 15, Michael Filkins, Director of Charlevoix School Bands, has announced.

"It is only on rare occasions that directors of St. Clair's calibre conduct clinics in high schools. We are, indeed, fortunate to have such a widely known personality in our community for a clinic" Filkins said in announcing the clinic.

St. Clair is Associate Conductor of the Wind Ensemble and Symphony Band, Conductor of the Chamber Winds, Concert Band, Youth Band/Wind Ensemble, and instructor of the graduate and undergraduate courses in instrumental conducting.

Pancake supper

The Men's Club of Christ Episcopal Church will be sponsoring a pancake supper at the church from 5-7 p.m. Feb. 19.

Adults will be charged $3 and children under 12 will be charged $1.75.

The church is located on the corner of State and Clinton Streets.

Photographer guest at Artists North meet

Richard Jackson, a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design, will be the guest at the Artists North meeting Feb. 19. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in the art room of NCMC.

While at Rhode Island, Jackson studied photography under Harry Callahan, considered by many to be one of the finest photographers in the world. Jackson has a master's degree in painting from Cranbrook School of Art. He has taught at Oakland Community College and Oakland University-Rochester. He also instituted the photo department at the Cranbrook Art Academy.

Jackson, his wife, Ginger, and their son, Tim, presently live in Boyne City, where he is teaching and working on a book on photography.

Artists North members are encouraged to bring slides and photographs to share.

PUBLIC NOTICE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Section 1, Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, being Sections 211.1 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, is amended by adding Section 34a to read as follows:

Sec. 34a. The equalization director of each county shall prepare a tabular statement each year by the several cities and townships of the county, showing the tentative recommended equalization ratios and estimated multipliers necessary to compute individual state equalized valuation of real property and of personal property. The county shall publish the tabulation in a newspaper of general circulation within the county on or before the third Monday in February each year and furnish a copy to each of the boards of review in the county and to the state tax commission. All notices of meeting of the boards of review shall give the tentative ratios and estimated multipliers pertaining to their jurisdiction. The tentative recommended equalization ratios and multiplying figures shall not prejudice the equalization procedures of the county board of commissioners or the state tax commission.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

At the top of a poem the cupids embrace On a beautiful Valentine bordered in lace. As a sign of the love we consider romance Which is ever so often dependent on chance. For you need to acquire the feeling sublime To arrive on the scene at the opportune time. And yet true love is not a precarious state That abandons us all to the mercy of fate. But we learn in the Church [illegible] to attend That the height of affection is being a friend. It's a form of devotion we all can display With the love of our Father to show us the way.

LaLeche League to start series of meetings

The Charlevoix LaLeche League will begin its new series of informal discussion meetings at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, at the home of Marsha Mort, 114 W. Lincoln Avenue in Charlevoix.

A non-profit organization, the league's purpose is to help encourage "good mothering through breast feeding". The league's service include a lending library of books on child birth, child care and breast feeding.

The series of four monthly meetings being offered will include discussions of the advantages of breast feeding; the art of breast-feeding and overcoming difficulties; baby arrives: the family and the breast-fed baby and nutrition and [illegible]

The La Leche (pronounced Lay-chay) League was founded 20 years ago in a Chicago suburb when one mother who had successfully nursed her baby helped another who wanted to breastfeed. This is still the basic approach although the league is now international in scope with more than 3,000 groups helping thousands of women in the United States, Canada and 40 other countries.

All women who are interested in nursing their babies are invited along with their babies. You need not be pregnant or have a baby to attend. All women are welcome.

For more information, more complete directions and information regarding car pools to the meetings, call League leaders, Jennie Bellairs at 547-6255 or Mary Morehead at 588-6037.

TOWNSHIP OF HAYES COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN ORDINANCE NO. 6

THE TOWNSHIP OF HAYES ORDAINS:

ACCESS TO LOTS IN PLATS Section 1

In order to encourage the use of lands in accordance with their character and adaptability and the conservation of property values and natural resources, access to lots in any plats recorded in Hayes Township, subject to individual approval by Hayes Township Board, may be by a dedicated private way or by private easement. The proprietors, plators and owners of lots in any such plat shall assume all liability for maintenance and accessibility of the recorded plat by roads, private ways and private easements.

RESTRICTIONS Section 2

If at any time one hundred percent (100%) of the lot owners within the Residential Area shall file a petition or otherwise apply directly or indirectly to the Charlevoix County Road Commission for the purpose of having said Commission accept and maintain all or any portion of the roads within the Residential Area as county roads or township roads, said Commission or Township will consider the application and may accept or reject said roads. If said Commission or Township accepts said roads, the lot owners within the Residential Area shall be required by the Commission to bear on a pro rata basis the cost of improving such roads or such portion thereof to meet the then current and applicable standards as promulgated by the Commission. The provisions of this paragraph will not obligate the Commission or Township and shall be disclosed to each lot owner prior to the conveyance of title to the lot.

This Ordinance is adopted pursuant to Section 186 (f) of the Subdivision Control Act of 1967, as amended, and shall take immediate effect.

A Motion to approve this Ordinance No. 6, as read by the Clerk, was made by Sandra Somerville. Support by Lloyd Kuebler. Roll call vote: Margaret Green, Aye, Lloyd Kuebler, Aye, Shirlene Tripp, Aye, Sandra Somerville, Aye, and Lee Sneathen, Jr., Aye. Ayes: All. Nays: None.

FLOYD CHAMBERLAIN

Funeral services for Floyd A. (Toby) Chamberlain, 75, who died Feb. 4 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Wednesday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond Giffin and Charlevoix Lodge. No. 282, F. & A.M. officiated at the service. Interment was in Maple Grove cemetery at Concord, Michigan.

Mr. Chamberlain was born at Concord, Michigan, Sept. 8, 1905, and was graduated from the Hart High School. In March 1931 he was married to the former Marcella McCormick at Lansing. She preceded him in death in May, 1964. On October 2, 1965, he was married to the former Mrs. Edith Novotny at Charlevoix where they always lived.

Mr. Chamberlain was employed by the Federal Bureau of Sports Fisheries, Department of the Interior, as a supervisor for 35 years prior to his retirement Dec. 31, 1965. During those years he was stationed at Brimley and Northville in Michigan, Senaca, Ohio, Cortland, N.Y., Arcadia, R.I. and, in 1964, Charlevoix.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church and was the financial secretary. He was also a member of the Point Pleasant F. & A.M., Pleasant City, Ohio, Knight Templars, Royal Arch Masons and Commandry Lodges in Cambridge, Ohio and Charlevoix Lodge No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Robert, of New York City; a step-son, David Novotny of Charlevoix and two grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the First Congregational Church or the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Envelopes for this purpose are at the funeral home.

L. LEE MOERLAND, Charlevoix County commissioner, has been elected to serve another year as chairman for the Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium Administrative Board.

Cecil Edgecomb, Grand Traverse County commissioner, was also elected to serve as vice-chairman of the board for another year

The Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium Administrative Board governs the CETA program for the 10 counties of northwest Lower Michigan

Nineteen-eighty is considered a crucial year for CETA in northwest Michigan. The consortium is applying for Federal Prime Sponsorship which means the funds would be allocated directly from Washington, D.C., thus allowing more local control on the types of programs administered.

Yacht Club to host North American 40 Regatta

By Dennis Chase

The Charlevoix Yacht Club will host the 1980 North American 40 sailing championships this summer.

The North American 40 will take place Aug. 1-3 in Lakes Michigan and Charlevoix. About 25 boats are expected to compete in the races.

The Yacht Club received a big boost Monday night when the Charlevoix City Council agreed to provide dockage for the sail boats. Council will ask Coast Guard officials to relocate the Sundew that weekend at the Coast Guard Station, thus enabling the club to "raft" the boats at the city marina.

Organizers predict the event will pump about $30,000 into the economy. Each boat will carry approximately 10 crew members, which means there will be between 250-300 participants in town. Crew members will be staying at the Weathervane Terrace and The Lodge. In addition, the Yacht Club will pay the city $1,000 for providing dockage.

Dock Rates

Council also established dock rates for the 1980 boating season Monday night. City Manager Jim Brinker said the rates are a "little higher" than a year ago, but that the increase will "offset costs to repair the docks."

The rates per day are as follows

May 1-May 15 and Sept. 2-Sept. 30

	Last Year	This Year
Boats under 20 feet	$1.25	$1.75
Boats 20-29 feet	$2.25	$3.50
Boats 30-39 feet	$3.50	$5.00
Boats 40-49 feet	$4.50	$6.75
Boats 50-59 feet	$5.75	$8.50
Boats over 60 feet	$7.75	$11.50

May 15-Sept. 1

	Last Year	This Year
Boats under 20 feet	$3.00	$3.50
Boats 20-29 feet	$5.50	$7.00
Boats 30-39 feet	$8.00	$10.00
Boats 40-49 feet	$11.00	$13.75
Boats 50-59 feet	$13.00	$17.00
Boats over 60 feet	$18.00	$23.25

Golf Rates

New golf rates were also established by council. The nine hole rate will remain $4.50 and the 18 hole rate will stay at $6.50. Season passes, however, increased $5 for city residents and $10 for non-residents.

Season rates for residents of Charlevoix are as follows

	Last Year	This Year
Single	$40.00	$45.00
Double	$50.00	$55.00
Family	$65.00	$70.00
Student	$20.00	$25.00

Senior citizens (60 years of age and older) who reside in the city will pay $40 for a single pass and $50 for a double pass.

Season rates for non-residents are as follows:

	Last Year	This Year
Single	$80.00	$90.00
Double	$90.00	$100.00
Family	$100.00	$110.00
Student	$35.00	$40.00

Senior citizens (60 years of age and older) who reside outside the city will pay $80 for a single pass and $90 for a double pass.

1980-81 Budget

Council received copies of the proposed 1980-81 budget Monday. The budget - for all funds - is $3,339,546 which represents a 13 percent increase over a year ago

"That's about what the Consumer Price Index is running," Brinker noted.

Weather ideal for '80 Winter Cup

By Fran Martin

The fourth annual Winter Cup Festival was held over the weekend under ideal winter weather conditions.

A light snowfall blanketed the area on Saturday and Sunday with temperatures of 20 degrees.

The downhill events were held Saturday at Mt. McSauba. And cross country ski races were held Sunday at Windmill Farms

Also on Sunday, the Wing-o-matics, a team composed of Joel Tolle and Scott Evans, presented a free style exhibition on skis at Mt. McSauba. The exhibition was sponsored by the Bahnhof Ski shops.

Cross Country Ski Races

There were several USSA-sanctioned cross country ski races Sunday of 5 and 10 kilometers. The winners included

Five Kilometers (Boys 14-17) - 1)Gregg O'Gawa, Petoskey; 2)David Tyson, Rochester; 3)Gordon Folk, Clarkston; (Men 18-24) 1)Mark Gustafson, Grand Rapids; (Men 25-34) 1)Ron Cool, Grand Rapids; 2)Gregory Czarnecki, Petoskey; (Women 25-34) 1)Sherry Marchand, Bay City Ten Kilometers (Men 18-24) - 1)Dan Cool, Grand Rapids; 2)Scott Salik, Grand Rapids; 3)Christopher Weingartz, Rochester; (Women 18-24) 1)Diane Culp, Traverse City; 2)Randi Talsma, Houghton Lake; (Men 25-34) 1)Robin Cool, Grand Rapids; 2)Donald Cane, Freeland; 3)Bob Kemp, Roscommon; (Women 25-34) 1)Marilyn Buffinga, Kentwood; 2)Dawn Hemlek, Rockford; (Men 35-44) 1)Doug Melvin, Petoskey; 2)Robert Greene, Highland; (Men 45-Over) 1)Darwin Gilbert, Lansing; 2)Tor Orbeck, Midland; 3)John Saam, [illegible].

For the casual skiers, there were the less competitive citizens' races. Winners included

Two Kilometers (Boys 9-Under) - 1)Christian Byra, Parma, 2)F.L. Dammann, Charlevoix; 3)Marty Joy, Charlevoix; (Girls 9-Under) 1)Heidi Banse, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario; (Boys 10-13) 1)Kurt Banse, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario; 2) Mike Steele, Charlevoix; 3) Robb Phail, Charlevoix; (Girls 10-13) 1)JoAnn Westman; 2)Chris Helbig, Detroit; 3)Lori Cole, Charlevoix Five Kilometers (Boys 14-17) - 1)Jon Spieles, Charlevoix, 2)Brian Cool, Grand Rapids; 3)Ed Boyer, Boyne City; (Girls 14-17) 1)Kristin Gardey, Roscommon; (Men 18-24) 1)Paul Mills, Bellaire; 2)Carl Olstrom, East Jordan; 3)Nathaniel Jo Pines, Traverse City; (Men 25-34) 1)Jim Cihak, Essexville; 2)William Aten, Boyne City; 3)Hagen Manker, Charlevoix; (Women) 1)Jennifer Cihak, Essexville; 2)Sharlene Cole, Charlevoix, 3)Pam Shepard, Charlevoix.

Several skiers -- young and old alike -- turned out for the Winter Cup Festival. Amy Phillips (upper left) took part in the downhill Bunny Race. Bill and Ruth Price (2nd from left) were this year's king and queen. And the cross country skiers had a blast on the scenic Windmill Farms trails.

Solid waste planning - a tri-county adventure?

By Peg Ohle

"Sharing a problem is easier than going it alone."

With that thought in mind, Emmet County Commissioner Pauline Mengebier appeared before the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week with a proposition.

Would Charlevoix County like to join with Emmet and Cheboygan Counties in working out plans for Solid Waste Management

The three counties, as well as most other counties in the state, must submit a plan for disposing of their solid waste (garbage and trash) to the Department of Natural Resources by the summer of 1982. The plan must be in compliance with the New Solid Waste Act (Act 641), which has been the subject of public hearings for several months.

It's going to cost the counties considerable money to devise plans for getting rid of their solid waste, to say nothing of the actual disposal facilities. If the counties can work together in the undertaking, it will cost each one less, Mrs. Mengebier pointed out

Sometime around the middle of next June, each county will be asked to file notice of its intent to submit a Solid Waste Management Plan. If a county does not want to take this responsibility, local units of government within the county will be asked to assume it, and if they refuse, then the region becomes the governing body and the county must comply with whatever plan the region comes up with.

It is because of this possible loss of control that Charlevoix County, as well as Emmet and Cheboygan Counties, prefer to do the planning among themselves.

Act 641 requires that each county establish a 13-member advisory committee to help coordinate plans for setting up its Solid Waste Management facility. The expenses of committee work would be partially funded by the state and partially by the county. However, if the three counties were to work together, only one 13-member committee would be necessary, thereby saving an estimated $8,000, according to Mrs. Mengebier

Whether the cooperative effort of the three counties, if embarked upon, would continue after the planning stage is over, depends on many factors, but the cost of setting up a Solid Waste Management facility would seem to make a cooperative effort most attractive.

Charlevoix County Planner John Hess reports that at a recent meeting he attended, the capital costs of equipment for a landfill were estimated at $200,000, and the required clay lining for the landfill an additional $20,000 to $40,000 an acre.

The costs of site acquisition, wells, roadways, engineering, fencing, and operating costs would all be additional. And the landfill is only one part of a Solid Waste Management facility

To assist counties in building modern Solid Waste Management facilities, Gov. William G. Milliken has asked the Legislature to approve spending $300 million over the next five years. It would be dispersed on a matching grant basis, half from the state and half from local governments, with $10 million becoming available in 1981 and the balance in later years

Larry Holcomb, resource recovery specialist for the Department of Natural Resources, reports that the DNR considers 64 counties are in a "crisis situation" with solid waste.

"When you get right down to it," he added, "only 10 counties have suitable landfills which will last for as long as five years, while just nine counties have sites which will be good for longer than that."

The only licensed landfill in Charlevoix County is the one owned and operated by the Charlevoix Garbage Service in Eveline Township

The question of Charlevoix County joining up with Emmet and Cheboygan Counties to plan for Solid Waste Management has been turned over to the Planning Committee of the Board of Commissioners, consisting of Oral Sutliff, chairman, Delbert Ingalls, Marvin Loding, and Ira L. Davis. It is anticipated they will make a report at the Feb. 27 meeting of the commission.

Some can pay taxes late

A resolution passed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week makes it possible for certain senior citizens, handicapped individuals, and service people and veterans and veterans widows to delay paying their 1979 property taxes until April 30, 1980.

Such eligible persons will not be penalized for late payment if they make application for the extension before March 1.

Any person wanting further information on the extension should contact County Treasurer Anah Potter.

Parent session to discuss drugs and discipline

Would you like to share your concerns about children's use of drugs and alcohol with fellow parents?

Would you like to talk with other parents about discipline

Are you concerned about changes in your family and how children may be affected?

Each of these topics will be the subjects of discussion groups in this year's final "It Should be Fun to be a Parent" evening at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Three simultaneous parent discussion groups, led by trained counselors, will run from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday the 26th of February.

The evening is free and everyone is welcome

Parents of children of all ages, will have a chance to share their concerns. Group leaders will serve as moderators, helping with the search for solutions to problems parents raise during the sessions.

The "It Should be Fun to be a Parent" program which began last year, has had three previous such evenings.

One of the major goals of these evenings is to give parents a chance to discover that they are not alone in their worries, and that other's experiences can be helpful, according to [illegible].

The hope is that by sharing concerns and seeking solutions with each other, parents will also discover that being a parent is fun.

The topics for this year's final evening were chosen by participants in past evenings.

The discussion group on drugs and alcohol will be moderated by Bob Sell, a counselor with the District Health Department. Sell has led similar discussion groups for parents in other area communities

Terry Smith, Counselor at Charlevoix's CHIP Counseling Center, will moderate the discussion group on "The Changing Family."

Smith explains that his group may discuss such "passages" as birth, death, divorce, separation, or changing roles as a result of changing economics.

"We will talk about the changing society and the impact on families," the CHIP Center counselor said. "The specific subjects we discuss will be determined by those who come to the session."

Gary Brindel, social worker with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District will lead the session on discipline. The direction the discussion takes will be up to the parents who participate.

Connie Pointner, a member of the Charlevoix School Board, who developed the idea of these parents' evenings, said "This evening will be entirely in discussion groups. There will be no lectures. We have found that people want to share their own concerns and look to others for answers."

Mrs. Pointner continued, "In these groups, parents support each other. They come away with positive feelings because they discover they are not alone and that there are positive alternatives."

Others who have attended the "It Should be Fun to be a Parent" sessions have found them stimulating and helpful.

CHIP counselor Smith commented, "People enjoy talking about what it is like for them. These evenings are marked by warmth, sharing and mutual help. People do not want to be taught, but they have fun and are encouraged finding answers, together."

Refreshments will be provided by the Charlevoix Parent Advisory Council.

Fluoride program offered for area school children

The topical fluoride program will be held again this summer for area children who do not drink from Charlevoix's water supply and for certain children who have only recently moved into the community, according to Nelly Hiehle chairman of the Beta Sigma Phi's topical fluoride committee.

Most of the children of Charlevoix have had the benefit of fluoridated water during the time that their teeth were developing and will receive no additional benefits from the topical applications of sodium fluoride, Ms. Hiehle said.

She said that three or four year old preschoolers, second graders, fifth graders, and eighth graders who drink from private wells or from non-fluoridated public water systems are eligible for the program as are eighth graders who have lived in Charlevoix less than seven years, fifth graders who have lived here less than five years, and second-graders and preschoolers with less than three years residence.

Parents of eligible children have until March 1 to enroll them in the program she said. Those interested in having their children receive the topical fluoride but who do not have the necessary registration cards may contact her at 547-5506 or 547-5143.

A fee of $6 to cover costs of operating the clinic must be submitted along with the registration card.

The procedure consists of six visits to the fluoride clinic which will be held in the Charlevoix Elementary school. The child's teeth are cleansed on the first visits and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. The fluoride application only is then repeated during the three succeeding visits. This technique has been shown to reduce tooth decay by about forty percent compared with sixty to sixty-five percent reduction obtained with fluoridated water, Ms. Hiehle said.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offer a valuable dental experience for children with no discomfort. Dental health education by the clinic personnel, included instruction in the proper method of brushing teeth, also is an important part of the program, according to Ms. Hiehle

Michigan, which pioneered in the field of topical fluoride applications in 1949, leads the nation in the number of community programs in operation and in children treated. In addition to the program in Charlevoix, more than 40,000 children will receive applications in over 200 clinics scattered throughout the state. The state-wide program is supervised by the Dental Division of the Michigan Department of Public Health, which assists local groups in the organization stage, recruits and trains dental hygiene students, provides the fluoride solution, and oversees the program operation through periodic visits to the various clinics by staff dentists.

It's official

Rabach resigns, replacement sought

The resignation of Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach became official last week when Rabach told the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners that he would leave his post March 21.

Rabach became county clerk Jan. 1, 1969 and before that served as supervisor of Charlevoix Township for 14 years.

A successor to fill Rabach's unexpired term will be named by Circuit Judge Martin Breighner, who has asked the Board of Commissioners to help him make the selection. Three commissioners – Clyde Cunningham, Don Meggison, and Delbert Ingalls– are serving on the selection committee and will interview applicants who respond to the advertisement now appearing in local newspapers

One of the applicants for the interim appointment will be Jane Brannon, who has served in the clerk's office for seven years and is now chief deputy

Mrs. Brannon also intends to file to run for the clerk's job in November's general election, when the post will be filled for the following four years.

Rabach, who is married to the former Marie Ikens, a member of an old Charlevoix family, intends to remain in the area and do some of the many things he hasn't had time for up to now

Special showing of 'Fiddler' Saturday

A special showing of "Fiddler on the Roof" will be presented by the Speech Department of the Charlevoix High School at the Middle School at 8 p.m. Saturday, Connie Ford, director of the musical, has announced

The 45-member cast is presenting the play for the second time as a result of a public request, Mrs. Ford said. She said that residents of the community who had missed the earlier presentation asked for a request performance when they heard how fine the presentation was.

Only one showing will be possible because of conflicts with band and sports events scheduled earlier for Saturday. Next week the class will launch its Individual Events division of the program which will open March 1.

"We are pleased with the response from the public. We hope that those who want to see it will be able to do so at the time we had to schedule it" Mrs. Ford said

The admission prices will remain the same. Though some thought they were a little high, Mrs. Ford said that, basing the anticipated income on past performances the admission prices were necessary to meet financial obligations which included royalty and housing costs. The latter was owed to the school board. Any profit derived from this week's showing will underwrite the cost of the royalty which will be half of the initial costs and for the expense of the Individual Events traveling and housing expenses. Forty-four persons were in this year's speech program. An anticipated 50 students will be involved in the Individual Events. The extra money will make it possible for all students to participate.

Rabach resigns, replacement sought

The resignation of Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach became official last week when Rabach told the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners that he would leave his post March 21.

Rabach became county clerk Jan. 1, 1969 and before that served as supervisor of Charlevoix Township for 14 years.

A successor to fill Rabach's unexpired term will be named by Circuit Judge Martin Breighner, who has asked the Board of Commissioners to help him make the selection. Three commissioners – Clyde Cunningham, Don Meggison, and Delbert Ingalls– are serving on the selection committee and will interview applicants who respond to the advertisement now appearing in local newspapers.

One of the applicants for the interim appointment will be Jane Brannon, who has served in the clerk's office for seven years and is now chief deputy.

Mrs. Brannon also intends to file to run for the clerk's job in November's general election, when the post will be filled for the following four years.

Rabach, who is married to the former Marie Ikens, a member of an old Charlevoix family, intends to remain in the area and do some of the many things he hasn't had time for up to now.

Special showing of 'Fiddler' Saturday

A special showing of "Fiddler on the Roof" will be presented by the Speech Department of the Charlevoix High School at the Middle School at 8 p.m. Saturday, Connie Ford, director of the musical, has announced.

The 45-member cast is presenting the play for the second time as a result of a public request, Mrs. Ford said. She said that residents of the community who had missed the earlier presentation asked for a request performance when they heard how fine the presentation was.

Only one showing will be possible because of conflicts with band and sports events scheduled earlier for Saturday. Next week the class will launch its Individual Events division of the program which will open March 1.

"We are pleased with the response from the public. We hope that those who want to see it will be able to do so at the time we had to schedule it" Mrs. Ford said.

The admission prices will remain the same. Though some thought they were a little high, Mrs. Ford said that, basing the anticipated income on past performances the admission prices were necessary to meet financial obligations which included royalty and housing costs. The latter was owed to the school board. Any profit derived from this week's showing will underwrite the cost of the royalty which will be half of the initial costs and for the expense of the Individual Events traveling and housing expenses. Forty-four persons were in this year's speech program. An anticipated 50 students will be involved in the Individual Events. The extra money will make it possible for all students to participate.

Oblivious of the churches

Editor

I note that one of the events of the local Winter Cup Festival started at eleven o'clock on Sunday morning at Windmill Farm. I certainly appreciate the work of many people in organizing this annual event. However, I protest the scheduling of any events for the traditional Protestant church hour. I know this was not an intentional snubbing of the church schedule, but it is an indication that those who plan such things are oblivious of the churches in their midst. Some theologians and historians are calling [illegible] "post-Christian." I understand why.

Sincerely yours,
Raymond H. [illegible]

'Fiddler' fantastic

Editor

I would like to say a big congratulations & praises to Mrs. Connie Ford's class for the play they put on Sat. Feb. 9th. Fiddler on the Roof. This class did a fantastic job, each & every student was excellent. I have never seen teenagers work together with such team work. I would like to see the school & public encourage & support this class in the future. a big congratulations to Mrs. Connie Ford & a special congratulations to Carla Sizemore who played Mama & Jack Carlson who played Papa they were just great. These kids put in a lot of hard hours the best of luck to each & every one, we enjoyed the play very much.

Wind resources available

Editor

The northeastern states have been hard hit economically by soaring petroleum and energy costs because of their heavy dependence on imported oil from the mideast, but they have the best wind resources available in the United States just off their coast.

One hundred miles off the coast at Washington D.C. in less than two hundred feet of water average annual wind velocities could produce six hundred watts of power per square meter. The entire region, from Washington D.C. northward beyond Boston, where average annual wind velocities could produce eight hundred watts of power per square meter one hundred miles off the coast in less than two hundred feet of water, has a similar untapped wind resource potential.

That power potential is between four and five times the power that would be generated from an equal area exposed to the wind in the Great Lakes area.

High wind velocities over water produce high waves. The average wind velocities in this area would produce average wave heights of about thirteen feet.

Power platforms could be constructed to harness wind power above the surface of the platforms and harness wave power from beneath the platforms.

A big tax bill

Although Brinker did not get into specifics since council did not have a chance to review the budget prior to Monday's meeting - he did say he is proposing a $1 service charge per month for water and a $2 service charge per month for sewer to help bolster those two funds, which have been [illegible].

"Everybody connected would pay," Brinker said, "whether they use it or not."

Presently, the city has a $2 per month service charge (for city residents) for electric. Residents outside the city pay a $2.75 charge.

A public hearing to discuss the budget has been slated for March 3.

Venetian Festival

Council normally budgets $1,500 to promote the festival. This year the Chamber of Commerce has asked for [illegible] since it will mark the 50th year of the festival.

"They are really planning on a big festival this year," Brinker told the council. "Some motels are booked solid (that weekend) already, which I think is unusual considering the gas problem."

Brinker said $15,200 has been budgeted for promotion in the 1980-81 fiscal year.

In other action, council:

Authorized the execution of an annual contributions contract and the issuance of project loan notes on the senior citizen housing project.

Appointed Brinker as the city's street administrator.

Big Rock employee responds to 'misrepresentations of facts'

Letters

Editor

Like Ms. Johns, I too am a "concerned citizen". However, my concerns seem to have taken a different turn in the road. I am concerned about the misconceptions she, and others like her, leave in this community by presenting half-truths and, yes, even total untruths with regard to Big Rock Point.

While reading her letter to the citizens in this week's paper, I ran the gambit from sheer disbelief to anger at the misrepresentations of the "facts" she quoted.

The experimental plant as she so named Big Rock Point does not exist. We are not experimental, provisional, or tentative in nature. Big Rock Point has been one of the most solid foundations of this community since its beginning. It, along with many other commercial nuclear power plants in the nation has a research and development program designed in correlation with fuel suppliers to improve the productivity and longevity of the fuels we use. Our primary function as a commercially licensed nuclear facility is to produce electricity for all those "[illegible]".

The statements made about the emergency generator being snowed in at O'Hare and her iron having more safety checks than the systems at Big Rock Point brought quite a chuckle to this "concerned citizen". The generator [illegible] has been on site since [illegible]. As for safety checks, I think Ms. Johns would be hard-pressed to verify that statement. I doubt seriously that she checks her iron or blender over 180 ways prior to use. At Big Rock Point, there are over 180 Surveillance Tests and Procedures done at different intervals throughout the year - on-going, never-ending checks and rechecks. Plus, most people are not aware that logs are kept - hourly, daily, weekly, monthly. Systems are monitored continuously. Everything throughout the daily operation of Big Rock Point is monitored, rechecked, verified, and logged. We are not allowed the luxury and alibi of a half-truth. The logs are there and cannot be hidden.

All this leads me to believe many people are really misinformed and confused about Big Rock Point and nuclear power in general.

Like most of you, I have a home, a family, even a dog. I am normal. My yearly physical did not produce a third eye or leg. If the fact be known, myself and my sons received more exposure to radiation from x-rays deemed necessary by our family physician than we did from Big Rock Point and I am a full-time employee there. Yes, "EXPOSED" every day. I do not fear for my family's lives or my own because we are near a nuclear facility. Contrary to the impression left by some factions of the community, Big Rock Point is not the dooms-day device in disguise.

I'm a "concerned citizen" when I think of the revenue Big Rock Point has created for YOUR community, the jobs for YOUR residents and the energy for YOUR homes and future.

I only wish there was some way to help the truly concerned citizens realize the benefits Big Rock Point has provided in the past and those nuclear power can provide in the future, given the chance. Those of us who believe in our jobs, in our families, and want what is best for them and feel that nuclear power is the energy source of the future should step forth and clear up some of the muddy waters which have been created.

Readers, don't be misguided by half-truths. Seek out the truth - whether you are in favor of nuclear power or oppose it - YOU are entitled to know all the facts.

Nuclear power needed to ease OPEC stranglehold

Open letter to the residents of Michigan

As a resident of Michigan, particularly Charlevoix County, I feel the need to express my feelings about the operation of Big Rock Point plant and the other nuclear power plants in our state.

I work at Big Rock Point (BRP) as a licensed Control Operator, licensed by the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission. It would be a little naive of me to say that there isn't going to be any prejudicial statements in this letter, because there are.

We need nuclear power in Michigan and throughout the nation. We need to ease the stranglehold of the OPEC nations have on us. We can do this safely and economically by the use of nuclear power.

I believe I can safely say that in the minds of every control operator in this state, that safety and well-being of the public is of the utmost importance. Our families live in this area also. Each and every licensed control operator while operating a nuclear plant, has the right (by his license) to "scram" (shutdown) the reactor anytime he feels it is unsafe. We are not going to knowingly allow the power companies to operate a power plant in an unsafe condition. Sure, operators make mistakes, and equipment doesn't always work the way it is supposed to. But our reactor plants are designed to take this into account. They are designed to shut themselves down automatically if an unsafe condition should occur.

We did not abandon the DC-10 jetliner because there was a design problem which resulted in hundreds of facilities. We fixed the design problem. We cannot abandon nuclear power because of the accident at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania. No one was killed or even injured in that accident. The industry and federal officials learned a great deal from it. As a result, some [illegible].

Before the Three Mile Island accident, critics of nuclear power would have you believe that thousands of people would die if such an accident were to happen. But they didn't and it [illegible].

Here at BRP we need to increase our spent fuel storage capacity from 193 fuel bundles to 441. Our present storage area is designed to handle the increased number of fuel assemblies safely. We use about two-thirds of the Uranium from each fuel assembly, leaving one third in the spent fuel. This fuel should be reprocessed in the future and reused as new fuel.

There is no way BRP can be used as a "dumping ground" for other power plants. The fuel assemblies used for other plants are much larger and would not even fit in our storage racks.

The problems of waste and storage of radioactive material from power plants are real ones. However, the technology or the means to solve these problems are known. Perhaps the worst problem is at the political level which has halted any major progress [illegible].

It seems like every other day the OPEC nations are raising the price of oil. The cost of producing power from oil is almost four times that of nuclear power. If the people of this country would back nuclear power plants, in 10 to 12 years we could have 60 percent of our electrical power coming from nuclear plants. The design of the breeder reactor is almost a reality and [illegible].

I have worked at BRP for more than eight years. Before that, I spent eight years as a power plant operator in the Navy Nuclear Power Submarine Service. I feel that the Big Rock Point plant is a safe, reliable, economical means of producing the electrical power we need until a better way comes along. I am getting sick and tired of reading some of the misinformed information ad comments in the paper by people who don't know what they are talking about.

I read an article the other day by a spokesperson of Charlevoix Concerned Citizens group which was full of major "misquotes". Our standby emergency diesel generator she thinks is in Chicago, has been on the site at Big Rock for four years and is tested for automatic start every week. This spokesperson compares our instruments to her blender and iron. I can assure you that our safety instruments receive 10-fold the amount of testing her kitchen appliances do, and on a continuing basis. As a control operator I help run the tests. I just hope these people who are so concerned for our well-being continue to go back to the library and study the facts. But I hope even more that they tell the truth like it is and not just the way they want it told.

Let us use our heads and some common sense and back the power companies and the nuclear power plants so we can tell OPEC nations what they can do with their oil.

Signed,
Wm G. Merwin

Fraser's visit a sorry scene

ONE OF THE sorriest spectacles we have been treated to in some time is UAW President Douglas Fraser traveling to Japan in an attempt to persuade more Japanese automakers to build their products on American soil in order to provide jobs for American workers.

Not too many years ago, the tire was on the other wheel. During the U.S. Occupation, automotive technicians were shipped to Japan in droves from Michigan to help salvage the war-ravaged Japanese auto industry.

The Japanese learned their lessons well and today Japanese-built cars are hot-selling items on the American market, to the detriment of U.S.-built products which have a hard time competing in the areas of economy, quality and price.

So now we find Mr. Fraser, hat in hand, asking the Japanese for jobs for America's working men and women. Very, very sad.

IT IS TOO bad some kind of slap on the wrist can't be meted out to the logistics committee which fouled up transportation so badly at the Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y.

I have no idea who is to blame - probably no one does. But isn't it embarrassing to have the United States - the world's foremost people movers - fumble so badly on the international scene?

The stories coming out of Lake Placid are incredible. One gentleman has spent literally hundreds of dollars on tickets to various events, but he hasn't seen a single one because he can never get where he is supposed to be on time.

Others have waited hours in biting cold for standing-room-only on smelly buses. Taxi service is sporadic and expensive. Parking lots are located a dozen miles or more from the main events.

A battalion of Greyhound officials and a fleet of Greyhound buses have been hired to straighten out the mess. But the question remains: Why weren't they brought in before the games got under way? I suppose no one will ever know.

NOR WILL we ever know why Lake Placid was chosen for the winter games. The town itself is no bigger than Charlevoix. In fact it looks a lot like Charlevoix in many respects: A pretty summer resort town circling a picturesque lake. And it is just as capable as Charlevoix of handling hundreds of thousands of visitors in the [illegible].

No wonder decent housing costs an arm and a leg.

Until permanent Olympic centers are established, the games should be held as close as possible to metropolitan areas where housing and mass transportation are readily available.

Do you ever long for the good old days before the advent of self service gasoline stations? I do.

I like to remember pulling into a gas station, rolling down the window and asking the attendant to "fill 'er up." Then I'd sit back while the gas jockey would not only replenish my fuel tank but would also check the oil, test the battery water levels, fill the window washer container, check my tires for proper pressure and wash all the windows. All for the price of a tank of gas.

Of course, we still have a few full-service stations, but the price differential has turned them into luxuries.

At today's self-service stations I seldom see patrons do anything more than fill their tanks. And I wonder how many batteries are slowly dying for want of water and how many engines are thirsting for a drink of oil.

Meet Charlevoix

By Peg Ohle

Casimir "Cass" Toton is chairman of the Charlevoix County Republican Committee and a County Commissioner. This week the Courier talks with him about some of the problems facing northern Michigan, about the political outlook, and about public participation in the government process.

Q. How long have you been interested in Republican politics?

A. I've been a Republican all my life and active in the Party for at least 25 years. I'm serving my fourth year as Party chairman.

Q. Do you think there will be many candidates for county offices in the November General Election?

A. Yes, I think there will be! Already there seems to be more interest than in previous elections – in the Clerk's office, Register of Deeds and in the Treasurer's office.

Q. Do you think there might be Democrat candidates, too?

A. Yes, there well could be.

Q. Why do you think the Democrat party is not as strong in northern Michigan as it is downstate?

A. Organized labor keeps the Democrats going. Up here we don't have the big union groups.

Q. What are the important issues facing local government today?

A. The cost of government is the big problem. We're going to have to re-assess government services and cut some of them out. We just don't have the sources of revenue to pay for everything. Inflation is taking a big bite out of government funds the same as it is everywhere else.

Q. Who's going to be the Republican nominee for president?

A. I think Bush is going to make it.

Q. Even though Congressman Bob Davis is supporting Baker?

A. Yes. All the talk is about Bush.

Q. [illegible] going to the Republican National Convention?

A. I hope so, even if only as an alternate. But before that I'll be going to the State Convention.

Q. Who's going to be the Democrat candidate for president?

A. Kennedy. I didn't think he had a chance to start with. Now I don't see how Carter can motivate people with his accomplishments. He's already changed his mind three times on the hostages. Before election time we'll have war or Carter will be out in left field. He can't keep Iran going forever. At least Kennedy's bringing out the issues.

Q. What about draft registration?

A. It's not going to endear Carter to the young people. If there's a national emergency, people are going to get out and fight.

Q. What other problems does Carter have?

A. Energy – he's had over three years to work on the problem, where is it? And inflation and unemployment. The same problems [illegible].

Q. What can people do to help solve some of these problems?

A. Work within the Party to get good candidates, then go out and work for them. Vote and get others to vote. Voting should be the first political involvement of young people. I'm disappointed in them. We older people made it possible for 18 year olds to vote. Then what did they do? They should get involved, know about the issues. How can they talk about the draft when they don't know?

Q. It's not just the young people who don't vote, is it?

A. No, we seem to be happy when we get 40 percent of the voters out. We should be getting 75 percent or more. Government should be by the people and for the people. Some Congressmen and Senators, once they're elected, forget who put them there. They don't vote the wishes of the people who put them in office. They forget they are from northern Michigan and begin voting along with metropolitan groups. Although I don't always agree with him, I can't help but admire State Senator Mack for voting the way his people in the Upper Peninsula want him to.

Q. What other concerns do you have?

A. The educational system. We obviously are doing something wrong because we are turning out high school graduates who can't take their place in the world – some of them can't even read, write or spell. They can't find anything to do and wind up getting into trouble, increasing our crime rate.

Q. When does the Charlevoix County Republican Committee meet?

A. The third Thursday of the month at 7:30 in the County Building. We'd like to see a lot of new faces, especially younger ones.

Q. Did you grow up in Charlevoix County?

A. No. I was born in Posen and grew up there. I moved to Boyne City in 1962.

Q. Have you held any elective office other than County Commissioner?

A. No, but I served on the Boyne City Charter Commission and the Economic Development Commission. I was also president of the Boyne City Rotary Club and a Director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Q. What business are you in?

A. I'm a real estate salesman.

Q. You have a large family, don't you?

A. My wife, Barbara, and I have nine children from 28 down to seven years of age.

Correction

Last week's Courier carried a story from the Army Corps of Engineers stating that John Campbell, representing Herbert Dow, had applied for a permit to dredge "approximately 1,300 cubic yards of material from an area 1,600 feet X 1,000 feet."

Campbell has advised us that the Corps of Engineers is in error as to the size of the area involved, and that it should be "160 feet X 100 feet."

'Ski for Heart' Sunday

"Ski for Heart", a cross county ski event to benefit the Michigan Heart Association, will be held Sunday, Feb. 24, at the Birchwood Farms Golf Course in Harbor Springs.

The event, which will run from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., will be open to all skiers, although those under 12 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and all those under 18 must have parental consent.

"This is not a race, but a fun event every level of skier can enjoy," Deborah Bascomb, one of the organizers of the event, promises.

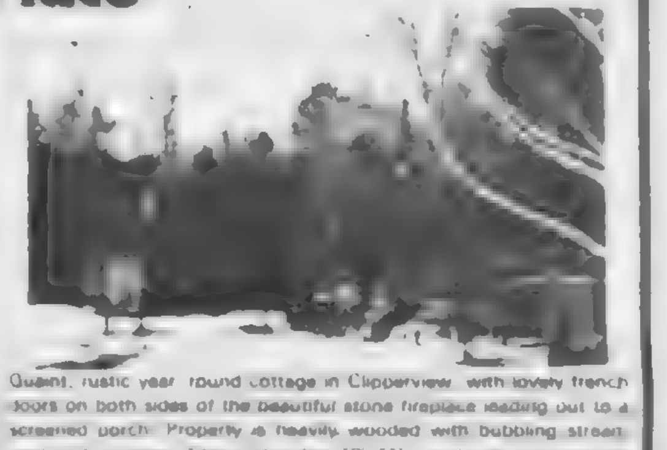
Rustic Retreat



Quaint, rustic year round cottage in Clipperview, with lovely french doors on both sides of the beautiful stone fireplace leading out to a screened porch. Property is heavily wooded with bubbling stream next to the cottage. Storage building 10'x11' would make an excellent sauna. Garage has large gabled roof with platforms on front and back for a walk out deck. Could be finished into a guest home.

Basketball

Schedule

Playoffs in the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League started Monday.

Town House finished in first place with a 15-1 record, followed by Village Inn Pizza 14-2 and Kit Carson 13-3. The top four teams in the league qualify for the playoffs.

Wojan Aluminum ended at 8-8. Because of an error in scheduling Medusa played one less game and finished at 7-8. Since that game could make a difference in who participates as the fourth place team, Medusa will make that game up with County State Bank Monday night. If Medusa wins they will make the playoffs.

Last Week's Results

Kit Carson 71
Medusa 52

Butch Klooster scored 17 points and Mike Grain added 16 as Kit Carson humbled Medusa. Barney Way and Dale Boss contributed 10 points apiece for the winners. Jim Parrish tallied 16 points, Doug Winter 15 and Dick Putman 10 for Medusa.

County State Bank 52
Airay Cottages 25

After a low scoring first quarter 4-2, County State Bank raced past Airay's. John Hutchison scored 18 points. Mark Shaberg had 15 and Steve Matthews tallied 14 for County State Bank.

Village Inn Pizza 78
Wojan Aluminum 56

Village Inn opened a tight game in the second half to defeat Wojan's. Jerry Skipperdush tallied 31 points for the winners while teammates Randy Holcheck had 12 and Bryan Vanders added 10. For Wojan's Dave Moyer scored 20 points, Stan Martin 11 and Don Ward 10.

Medusa 54
Wojan Aluminum 50

Medusa trailed almost the entire game until the fourth quarter. Jim Parrish scored 16 points, Dick Putman had 11 and Randy Detloff 10 for Medusa. Don Ward's 16 points led Wojan's. Dave Moyer and Dave Smith chipped in with 10 points apiece.

Village Inn Pizza 58
County State Bank 52

County State Bank played VIP tight all the way Thursday before losing. Jerry Skipperdush scored 16 points while Jeff tallied 11 and Randy Holcheck added 10 to pace VIP's attack. For County State Bank Larry Skipperdush scored 24 points.

Town House won by forfeit against Duffy's

Hope Malpeli qualifies for state ski finals

Hope Malpeli of Charlevoix qualified for the state ski finals by taking third place in the slalom and giant slalom in regional competition Friday at Schuss Mountain.

The top three finishers in the two events qualify for the state finals, which will be held Monday at Nub's Nob.

Malpeli's strong performance helped the girls to a third place finish at the regional. Petoskey won the girls title with Harbor Springs second. In boys competition, Harbor Springs won the regional title with Petoskey second. Charlevoix placed eighth.

In addition to Malpeli, Kristen Lignell of Charlevoix placed 10th in the giant slalom to win a medal. Ken Speigl also won a medal by taking eighth place in the boys giant slalom.

Katie Brown of Petoskey was the girls slalom winner. Brown's time was 57.98 seconds. Malpeli's slalom time was 59.08 seconds. Penny Jones of Saginaw MacArthur was the girls giant slalom winner with a time of 52.31 seconds. Malpeli was about one second off that pace with a time of 53.50.

Tim Dye of Saginaw Eisenhower won the boys slalom with a time of 56.88 seconds. Pat Richards of Bellaire took the boys giant slalom with a time of 50.28 seconds. Speigl's time in the giant slalom was 53.07.

Also racing for Charlevoix were Sandy Miller, Karen Snizik, Sally Westenbrook, Cindy Trimper, Bill Fels, Bill Mosher, Will Ranger, Peter Dunkelberg and Pete Cockfield.

Rayders trip Rogers City, EJ

Four players scored in double figures Friday night as the hot shooting Charlevoix Rayders whipped Rogers City, 70-49.

The win improved Charlevoix's Michigan-Huron Shores Conference basketball record to 5-6, one game behind slumping Cheboygan and St. Ignace, who share fourth place.

It was a badly needed win for the Rayders who lost a heartbreaking double overtime game to Grayling in their last conference contest.

The Rayders shot a torrid 56 percent from the floor. Sophomore Gary Drury's 19 points led the Charlevoix attack. He was followed by Jeff Drury with 14, and Jim Buchanan and Ken Otmanowski with 12 each. Gary Drury connected on 9 of 12 shots, Jeff Drury hit on 7 of 9, Buchanan 6 of 8 and Otmanowski 4 of 5. Only Scott Morgan, the Rayders leading scorer, had trouble. Morgan made just 2 of 10 shots for four points.

"Offensively, we're starting to shoot better as a team," Coach Dave Moyer said. "We're taking the same type of shots we did earlier in the season, but now they are starting to go in the hole."

Charlevoix led by a comfortable margin most of the game. The Rayders jumped out to a 17-11 first quarter advantage, increased the lead to 32-20 at half and 48-34 at the end of three quarters. Rogers City made a run at Charlevoix early in the fourth quarter, cutting the lead to seven points with about five minutes remaining. But the Rayders went to a pressure defense, caused several turnovers and pulled away from the last place Hurons.

In addition to his 19 points, Gary Drury also had five rebounds, seven steals and five assists. Jeff Drury and Scott Kelly also dished out five assists.

While Charlevoix was shooting 56 percent from the floor (68 percent in the second half), Rogers City was hitting on 40 percent.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix scored an impressive win over East Jordan, the leader of the Ski Valley Conference, 69-60.

Moyer termed it a "big win" and said it would boost his team's confidence for the upcoming district at East Jordan.

Again, Charlevoix shot extremely well from the field, hitting on 28 of 49 shots for 57 percent. The Rayders made 16 of 20 shots in the second half for 80 pecent. East Jordan shot even better, connecting on 23 of 36 shots for 64 percent.

Morgan had the hot hand for Charlevoix, tallying 26 points, including 12 points in the fourth quarter. Gary Drury chipped in with 14 points and Otmanowski 12. Otmanowski pulled down nine rebounds for Charlevoix while Drury had seven. Drury and Buchanan had six assists.

For East Jordan, Duane Carpenter had 15 points, Tim Vermillion 14 and Jerry Fuller 10.

Overall, Charlevoix has a 9-7 record.

In the East Jordan game, the Rayders coasted to victory, leading by 19 at half and by 28 at the end of three quarters. Ross Carey's 25 points led the Rayder attack while Dave Buday had 14 and Mike Schmidt 13.

Against Rogers City, Charlevoix outscored the Hurons 20-4 in the third quarter to break open a close game. Carey had another big game, scoring 24 points while Buday added 11 and Andy Schafer 10.

Charlevoix will travel to Petoskey on Tuesday night and then entertain St. Ignace Friday, in the last home game of the season.

Standings

Gaylord	11-1
Grayling	10-2
Petoskey	7-4
Cheboygan	6-6
St. Ignace	6-6

Charlevoix wins Northport Invitational

Charlevoix won 11 of 12 games to win the Northport Volleyball Invitational Saturday.

In addition to Charlevoix and Northport, Kalkaska and Traverse City St. Francis also competed. All schools played one another four times (11 point games) in round robin competition. Charlevoix defeated Northport 3-1, St. Francis 4-0 and Kalkaska 4-0. Northport finished second to Charlevoix with an overall mark of 6-6. Kalkaska was third at 5-7 and St. Francis fourth at 2-10.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix split a match with St. Ignace, losing 13-15 and 8-15 and then winning 15-7 and 15-7. The Rayders followed that by beating Gaylord twice. In the first series, Charlevoix won 15-8, 14-16 and 15-10. In the second set it was 15-2 and 15-6.

Charlevoix is just one game behind Boyne City and St. Ignace in the Michigan-Huron Shores standings. The Rayders tangle with Boyne City here on Wednesday in a Parents Night game.

In junior varsity action, Charlevoix lost to St. Ignace 4-15, 10-15 and 7-15 and to Gaylord 4-15, 8-15 and 5-15.

Standings

Boyne City	9-3
St. Ignace	9-3
Charlevoix	8-4

Wojan, Whitley qualify for regionals at Grant

Ken Wojan moved a step closer to winning a berth in the state wrestling finals by taking a first place in district competition Saturday at Pine River.

Wojan, a heavyweight, defeated three opponents to win his division. Wojan bested Greg Malchart of Mason County Central 9-3 in the final.

Coach Greg Bryan expects Wojan to be seeded "either first or second" in the regionals Saturday at Grant. The first, second, third and fourth place finishers in each weight class at the regionals will advance to the state finals.

Wojan's decision against Malchart was considered an "upset" since Malchart had beaten Wojan in last year's regional, keeping Charlevoix's heavyweight from making the state finals.

Only one other Charlevoix wrestler qualified for the regional - Gregg Whitley at 138 pounds. Whitley was expected to finish fourth at the district level, but placed third by capturing a 12-4 decision in his last match.

Bryan said Whitley has a "good chance" of qualifying for the state finals although he will not be seeded at the regionals.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix lost to Onaway, 46-23, and to Petoskey, 55-18.

Whitley, Wojan and Scott Golovich paced the Rayders. Whitley decisioned his Onaway opponent 14-2 and pinned his Petoskey opponent in 4:58. Wojan won by forfeit against Onaway and pinned his Petoskey opponent in 5:02. Golovich had two pins.

The two matches closed out Charlevoix's season and although the Rayders struggled with coaching changes and a lack of participants (filling only nine of 13 weight classes) there is hope for the future. The Rayders return eight wrestlers. Only Mark Drenth, who was held out of post-season competition because of a bad ankle, graduates.

Frosh finish 11-1

Charlevoix's freshman basketball team concluded a very successful season last week by thumping Boyne City, 62-49, and St. Ignace, 65-51.

The Rayders finished 11-1.

Three players scored in double figures Monday night to lead Charlevoix past Boyne City. George Smith was the high point scorer with 15 points, Craig Klooster added 12 and Jeff Trimper popped in 10.

Charlevoix bolted out to a 21-8 first quarter lead against the Ramblers. Boyne City cut the deficit to three, 31-28, at half, but the Rayders broke the game open in the third quarter by outscoring Boyne City, 23-6.

Smith (18) and Klooster (16) combined for 34 points Thursday night as Charlevoix upended St. Ignace. The Rayders led by 14 points, 31-17, at half and were never seriously threatened. Steve Schmidt also tallied in twin figures for Charlevoix with 11 points.

Choir workshop here April 12

The second annual choir workshop sponsored by the Christian Nurture committee of the United Church of Christ will be held in Charlevoix at the First Congregational Church on Saturday, April 12 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Clinicians for the workshop are Dr. Howard Slenk of Calvin College, Ms. Bobbie Bates of Petoskey, and The Rev. Jim Plackner of Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix.

Dr. Slenk holds his master's and doctor's degrees from Ohio State University and teaches music history and theory at Calvin College in Grand Rapids, where he also conducts the Concert Choir. He is an authority on Renaissance vocal music and has published a number of articles in musical journals, including Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians. He is also the church music representative for the Michigan Choral Director's Association.

At the workshop, Dr. Slenk will present two sessions, the first entitled "Preparation for Rehearsal" and the second "In Rehearsal". Music for these sessions has been chosen by him as representative of different periods of music, and will fit well into the repertoire of every church choir. Dr. Slenk will teach these pieces of music.

Ms. Bobbie Bates of the Presbyterian Church in Petoskey will present a session on Creative Movement. Ms. Bates has participated in sacred dance choirs for the past 25 years, and has conducted choirs as well as a number of workshops in sacred movement. She is also an active member of the Sacred Dance Guild.

The Rev. Jim Plackner of the Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix will lead the final session, and will teach some of the music he has composed, and used in his own church services.

Harold Kruse, pastor of the Congregational Church in Ironton is acting as the liaison between the Christian Nurture Committee and the recently appointed music and design team, which consists of Sally Schworm of the First Congregational Church in Traverse City, Ed Catton of the First Congregational Church in Benzonia and Fran Tollas of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix. This design team has been appointed to work with church music programs - particularly of the smaller church - to set goals for learning new music - and to help find new ways to enhance the church worship service, with music and sacred movement.

This is a "take part" workshop, and music and choir directors, choral members, organists, music and worship committee members, ministers and other church members interested in the enhancement of the worship service are invited.

Registration, lunch and music is $7.50 per person. Registration, and lunch (no music) $3.00 per person. No more than 2 persons per packet of music. The registration deadline is March 1st.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Special Election to be held in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 4th day of March, 1980, from 7:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m., there will be submitted to vote of the qualified electors of said City the following proposition:

Water Improvements
Bonding Proposition

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, borrow the principal amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements to the City's Water System.

The above bonds will be payable in not to exceed thirty (30) annual installments, with interest on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 8% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY, AND THE CITY IS REQUIRED BY LAW TO LEVY SUFFICIENT AD VALOREM TAXES, IF NECESSARY, FOR THE PAYMENT THEREOF UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT.

All qualified and registered electors may vote on the above bonding proposition.

ALSO, PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Special Election to be held in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 4th day of March, 1980, from 7:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m., there will be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of said City the following amendments to the Charlevoix City Charter.

AMENDMENT A

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk - Election - Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

AMENDMENT B

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article II, entitled "Form of Government", Section 2.11 entitled "Council-Compensation" be amended to delete reference to the City Clerk. This amendment would allow compensation for the position of City Clerk to be determined by the City Council rather than by the Local Compensation Commission.

The places of voting will be as follows:

City Hall Building, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan.

This Notice is given by authority of the City Council of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Deanne Balch

THELMA HULL

Funeral services for Mrs. Lawrence E. Hull, 67, who died Sunday at her home here, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Walter Hastings of the Community Church of God officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born at Kingsley Jan. 28, 1913, the former Thelma A. Drost came to Charlevoix with her parents as a child and lived in the Barnard area. In 1934 she was married to Kenneth Toedebusch at St. Charles, Mo. They returned to Charlevoix in the 1940's and later lived in Boyne City where he died Feb. 20, 1963. In 1964 she was married to Lawrence E. Hull at Boyne City. They resided in Detroit until returning to Charlevoix to live in 1971.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Kenneth W. Toedebusch of Traverse City; four grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Clara Drost of Charlevoix; one brother, Irving Drost of Noble, Fla.; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert (Lottie) Sarasin of Houghton Lake and Mrs. Robert (Beatrice) Sprow of Indian River.

The family has suggested memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital or the American Cancer Fund.

BEATRICE KOPKAU

Funeral services for Mrs. Beatrice Kopkau, 73, of East Jordan, were held Thursday at the United Methodist Church in East Jordan. The Rev. Dan Minor officiated. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery in East Jordan.

Born in Luther July 10, 1906, the former Beatrice L. Parmateer was married to Ernest Kopkau at Luther on Oct. 24, 1930. They lived there until moving to East Jordan in 1940. Mr. Kopkau preceded her in death in 1977. She was a member of the United Methodist Church and its Ladies Aid, Jassamine Lodge No. 365, and the Gold Star Mothers.

She is survived by three sons, Ernest Jr., of Belleville, Ill., Dennis of East Jordan, and Alvin Bates of Boyne City; two daughters, Mrs. Russell (Wanda) Bolser of East Jordan and Mrs. Clyde (Wilda) Croff of Conway, 19 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Hastings Funeral Home of Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorials to the Michigan Heart Association.

BERTIE RATIGAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertie P. Ratigan, 90, of Detroit, mother of William Ratigan, were held Saturday at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Farmington Hills. Interment was in a Detroit Mausoleum. Mrs. Ratigan died Feb. 13.

A native of Detroit, she had been associated for many years with Detroit's oldest DeSoto Plymouth dealership operated by her late husband, B.J. Ratigan.

She is survived by four sons, William, of Charlevoix and Dunedin, Fla., Francis, Bernard and Patrick, all of the Detroit area; 12 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ratigan came from Dunedin, Fla., where they are spending the winter and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Ranger of Charlevoix were in Detroit for the service.

LEONARD A. THOMSON

Funeral services for a former resident, Leonard A. (Link) Thomson, 60, who died Tuesday at his home in Holt, were held Friday at the Estes-Leadley Funeral Home in Holt. The Rev. Myron Williams of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery at Charlevoix.

A Masonic and Eastern Star service were held at the Masonic Temple Thursday evening.

Born at Alba Oct. 7, 1919, Mr. Thomson moved to Eveline township in Charlevoix County in 1931. He was graduated from the East Jordan High School and later became the first Charlevoix County resident to enlist in the U.S. Army prior to World War II. He served five years in the U.S. Army, most of it in the South Pacific. Following his discharge, he and the late Burl Walker built and operated a store at Ironton. On Dec. 2, 1950, he was married to the former Clara Gregory at Charlevoix. They lived here until moving to Holt in 1952. He was employed at the Oldsmobile Experimental Assembly plant in Lansing until he was forced to retire because of illness.

He was a member and Past Master of Holt Lodge No. 572, F&A M., Royal Arch Masons, Leslie Council, Jackson Commandry and Holt Chapter No. 510, Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are his wife; four brothers, Ivan J. of East Jordan and Harlingen, Tex., Duanne C. of East Jordan, Arney W. of Lansing and Ezra Noel (Ed) of West Milton, Ohio and eight sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Ada) Brown and Mrs. Percy (Merta) Brown of East Jordan, Mrs. Arkie (Helen) Simpson of Rector, Ark., Mrs. Gene (Arlesa) Townsend of Holt, Mrs. Edward (Gwendolyn) Perry of Romeo, Mrs. Dan (Wava) Sinclair of Mesa, Ariz., Mrs. Charles (Virgleen) Fairbanks of Boulder, Colo., and Mrs. Roger (Irma Jane) Benson of Elk Grove, Calif.

JOSIE ANN LETTELLE

Funeral services for a former resident, Mrs. Josie Ann Lettelle, 44, who died Tuesday at Mesa, Ariz., were held Friday at the Church of the Russerection at Mesa. Burial was in a Mesa cemetery.

Born on Beaver Island Sept. 12, 1935, the former Josie Ann Lewis was graduated from the Beaver Island Community School and later went to Grand Rapids to live. On Feb. 14, 1957, she was married to Jack Lettelle at Grand Rapids where they lived until going to Mesa in 1962. She was employed at the General Motors Co. until she became ill. JAN MANCINELLI, director of the Women's Resource Center (WRC) in Petoskey, was the guest speaker at a recent Petoskey Zonta Club meeting.

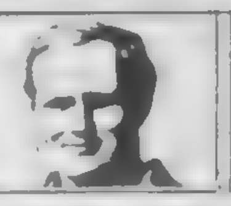
The WRC, located at North Central Michigan College, is a non-profit organization which meets the special needs of women in Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego counties.

Ms. Mancinelli told the Zonta Club that the WRC is a place where women can find companionship, enjoy the support of other women, share common experiences and concerns, learn more about yourself and others, and experience change and growth.

She told the club about the center's Spouse Abuse Program that offers battered women and their children a safe home to go to in time of emergency. According to Ms. Mancinelli, the "safe home" offers a caring environment in which women who have been physically assaulted can make decisions about their future. Trained personnel provide immediate help, transportation, counseling, advocacy and referrals to legal assistance, she said.



Names In The News

MARILYN IZOR, Charlevoix Welcome Wagon hostess, was recently the subject of a story in "The Call", national magazine for Welcome Wagon hosts and hostesses.

Mrs. Izor was cited for arranging a successful "[illegible] Party", to which she invited four newcomers to Charlevoix. Because the four were employed, it was difficult to reach them during the day, so a date was set for them to meet at the Village Milkhouse after 5 p.m., with free home-made soup and sandwiches as part of the deal.

Since the Milkhouse is a Welcome Wagon sponsor, it was an ideal setup, Mrs. Izor explained to her fellow workers, and "The group enjoyed their good nutritious supper (instead of eating at home alone), which reminded me of the commercial 'Don't worry, Mom, I'm eating right.'"

Incidentally, three of the four participants, two men and a young woman, are unattached, according to Mrs. Izor, apparently looking forward to a possible Newly-Wed Welcome Wagon call.

DALE BOSS, Charlevoix township resident, has been named county chairman of Michigan Week which will be observed the week of May 17-24.

Michigan week is a special time set aside each spring to focus attention on Michigan, its resources, its heritage and its boundless opportunities. It provides a unique occasion for Michigan citizens to increase their knowledge and appreciation of all that makes Michigan great.

Michigan Week, sponsored annually by the Greater Michigan Foundation, a non-profit, charitable, educational organization, and conducted by thousands of volunteers throughout the state, aims at three objectives: to teach Michigan residents more about their state, to tell people in other states the advantages of Michigan and to inspire citizens to work together to make Michigan even better.

The Board of Governors of the Foundation is made up of leaders in industry, business, Labor, finance, education, and religion, all working together to promote the advantages of the state.

Special election Tuesday

Voters in the City of Charlevoix will answer two important questions Tuesday.

Should the city borrow an amount not to exceed $500,000 and issue general obligation bonds to construct a new water tower? And should the City Charter be amended to make the clerk's position appointed rather than elected?

Water Tower

The question of whether or not the city needs a new water tower has been discussed for years. The tower was constructed in 1901. And, according to city officials, it is "not in good shape."

Two years ago, the Chicago Bridge & Iron Company inspected the 100,000 gallon tower and reported that it needed "a number of repairs." The company said that the "current structural condition of the tank can only be classified as fair" and that due to its condition, and its probable short life span, a new tower should be constructed.

"There are basically two reasons why we need a new water tower," City Manager Jim Brinker said. "First, even if we made repairs to the existing tower we could only expect it to last a few years. And then we would be in the same position we are in now, except that it would cost us more to build. Secondly, we need more capacity. We are proposing a 300,000 gallon tank."

Brinker said he expects a new tower to cost about $400,000. The city is asking for $500,000 in case construction bids are higher than anticipated.

"Once you set the bond you can't change it," Brinker said. "That's why we are asking for up to $500,000. We'll only use what we need."

The city is proposing to pay off the tower in 15 years. Brinker said it would cost residents less than one mill per year. By issuing general obligation bonds, the city should get an interest rate between five and seven percent, Brinker said.

The city manager added that residents will be able to deduct the expense on their state and federal income tax.

"I think this is especially helpful for those people on fixed income because they'll get most of their money back," Brinker said. "It will also be an advantage for the year round resident because the summer resident will pay a fair share. If we went to revenue bonds, residents would pay for it (tower) through an increase in water rates. And the summer resident is only here for three to four months."

City officials are proposing to construct the tower in a wooded area on the city golf course. Soil borings of the site indicate that it has an "excellent base."

One councilman who voted against putting the issue to a vote was Ivan Whitley.

"I question whether or not we need a new water tower," he said. "I really don't know if we do...I don't feel it's that bad."

Whitley said he is concerned that a new tower on the north side of town would "interfere" with the water pressure on the south side.

Whitley suggested the city consider a pressurized pump system instead of a water tower. Brinker said he is opposed to a pump system because it has no storage capacity, a backup system would be necessary and it would require more maintenance.

Charlevoix resident Oscar Ward said he would like to see the city establish a sinking fund to pay for the tower.

City Clerk

The question of whether or not the clerk should be elected or appointed has been a contested issue since the City Charter was drafted.

Because the clerk's term is for just one year and the pay is $3,300, there has not been a lot of interest in the job. In fact, in the last two elections no one has filed for the position. Deanne Balch, the present city clerk, combines the clerk's job with her other duties at City Hall.

The City Charter is not specific about the clerk's duties other than mentioning that the clerk keep the minutes at council meetings, sign all ordinances and supervise all elections.

"I firmly believe, as do a majority of the city council, that the clerk should be a full time administrative officer of the city, appointed by the city council and answerable to the council, free from political pressures of filing and running for election each and every year," Brinker said. "The city clerk does not take part in the decision making process of the council and does not have a vote.

"The city clerk should be appointed and removed from office the same as the city manager, attorney, assessor, treasurer, police chief and fire chief, by the city council, who in turn are answerable to the people of the City of Charlevoix."

Whitley and Ward are opposed to the appointment of a clerk. Both men said they would prefer that it remain an elected position, but that the City Charter be amended to make the term "at least two years" in duration and that the salary be improved to attract "competent people."

Grant money available to promote bicycling

Charlevoix County is expected to apply for a $20,000 grant from the Department of Commerce to promote the use of bicycles and the conservation of fuel.

The grant application will be one of several items on the Board of Commission agenda Wednesday. The deadline for filing a grant application is Feb. 29. Should the commission OK the application, it would be delivered to the Department of Commerce (Energy Administration) on Thursday by Mike Davis, director of the Charlevoix-Emmet County Youth Activies Program.

Upon award of a grant, Davis said, Charlevoix County would establish a six month pilot program aimed at "converting short distance motorized commuting to bicycle commuting."

"With energy cost increasing and supplies decreasing, Americans continue to needlessly consume fossil fuel by over-using automobiles for short distance commuting," Davis said.

The project goal would be to convert five percent of the population from motorized to bicycle commuting.

"By accomplishing this," Davis said, "a substantial amount of fossil fuel will be conserved to 1) decrease the nation's reliance upon foreign oil, 2) increase standing supplies of oil for home heating purposes, and 3) provide economical short distance transportation."

Davis said Charlevoix County is suited to bicycle transportation because "the majority of public recreation lands and light industrial parks are located within five miles of the major population centers (Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City), and are accessible by bicycle."

If Charlevoix County receives the grant, Davis said, "a publicity campaign will be initiated, utilizing all forms of media, to make the public aware of the project (Project Two Wheeling), the services to be provided by the project, and the energy savings that can be realized by participating in a bicycle commuting program."

Davis said a staff would be assembled to manage the project and perform the following services:

- Initiate community bicycle organizations - which for the duration of the project (May to November) would act as an advisory council - providing advice, direction, and volunteer service.
- Publish and distribute location maps depicting low volume motorized traffic to all schools and major places of employment as an aid in safe cycling.
- Contact and cooperate with national organizations involving bicycles to promote the use of nationally accepted training and special events projects.
- Encourage local governments to promote bicycle commuting through resolutions - promoting bicycle transportation for short term trips.
- Cooperate with local law enforcement officials in designing in-service programs to promote and enforce bicycle "rules-of-the-road."
- Plan and implement indepth safety seminars at area school districts. (Presently, the county Sheriff's Department maintains a bicycle safety program. This project would enhance that of the Sheriff's Department, plus broaden its concept.)
- Initiate and implement special projects, such as bicycle rodeos and races - working in conjunction with existing recreation and community education programs, to illustrate the recreational and competitive use of cycling.
- Initiate a countywide bicycle registration prgram, to act as a deterrent to theft and aid in recovery of stolen property.
- Plan and implement consumer seminars to explain how to select a bicycle and how to take care of it - using local merchants and resource people.
- Publish youth and commuter safety brochures, illustrating safe routes and bicycle safety and etiquette.
- Hold and energy conservation bicycle day - asking everyone to ride only bicycles for a day to and from [illegible].
- Award merit awards to employees and students who log the most miles in riding to and from work and school in a four week period.
- Erect route markers showing safe routes for community cyclists.
- Erect billboards promoting bicycle activity.
- [illegible] personal physical benefits of bicycling.
- Persuade the newly initiated dial-a-ride mass transit system to recognize the need for incorporating bicycle [illegible].

Can you guess who this is? Would you believe Steve Hater! This picture of Steve was taken over 20 years ago. At the recent Band Boosters auction, the Courier offered a picture on the front page. A member of the Hater family won the prize and unbeknownst to Steve had this picture sent to the Courier from Cincinnati. It will surely be a surprise to Steve, a frequent visitor to Charlevoix, when he sees this issue.

Renovation of Middle School to continue

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night voted to advertise for bids on work to be done at the Charlevoix Middle School [illegible].

The board discussed the proposed plans for the work, which will include rewiring the 53-year-old building located on Grant Street, re-plumbing the structure, the installation of toilet and shower facilities for the handicapped and several alternates, before giving its approval to the various improvements. The alternates discussed included an emergency lighting system in various parts of the building, a new clock system which would replace the one in use in the building since it was built, an intercom system and the lighting of the stage.

It was pointed out that approximately $200,000 would be available for the work. However, with inflation it will not be known until bids are received how much of the work will be possible. David Morgridge, representing the architects, Manson Jackson and Kane, said that it was likely the board would receive some very good bids for the work.

The project is being financed by a vote approved in 1975 that would permit the levy of one mill for five years to bring the middle school up to today's standards rather than construct a new school. This is the last year the millage will be [illegible].

To date a new heating system has been installed in the building, numerous energy-saving projects such as removal of windows and bricking up a wall in the gymnasium and the installation of new windows and doors, the construction of a playground and other smaller remodeling projects in the building.

A decision regarding the extent of the proposed construction will be made when bids are received. It was the consensus of the board that they would get as much as possible for their money.

In other action, the board approved a change order in construction of the addition to the high school that will cost an additional $3,493. They related to the relocation of a four-inch water line and a change in the type cement asbestos board to match existing materials and a credit of $322 on a third minor change.

- Approved the reconditioning of the wrestling mat at a cost not to exceed $1800. Vincent Olach, business manager, said the company doing the work advised him the reconditioning process would add another eight to 10 years to the 10-year-old-mat. The work will be done this summer.
- Approved the purchase of a pole vault landing pit and a high jump unit as mandated by the State. The cost will be approximately $2600 which Olach said was a good price because the company offering this price was closing out its track equipment.
- Approved the hiring of two teachers aide in the middle school. One to assist in the learning center because of the large number of students will be financed in part by funds from the Intermediate School District. A second aide will assist in the Home Ed and Art classes. The second aide will be financed from funds earmarked for that

Ms. Huber, a resident of Hayes Township, has been selling advertising for 12 years, working previously at the Petoskey News-Review, Big Rapids Pioneer and the Kalamazoo Gazette.

A Petoskey native, Ms. Huber studied advertising and fashion merchandising-marketing-modeling at Patricia Stevens Career College in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She also studied dance, English and the social sciences at Muskegon College, where she graduated cum laude, and at Western Michigan University.

Ms. Huber was a member of the [illegible] Dance Theatre, where she performed and choreographed dances. She taught dance at the Muskegon Adult Center and choreographed "The Music Man" at Muskegon High School.

Ms. Huber has modeled for several years and in 1979 she organized Stafford's Gaslight summer fashion shows.

Ms. Huber's husband, Bill, works as a district representative for U.S. Congressman Bob Davis.

Health Department in financial trouble

By Peg Ohle

Like so many purveyors of health services, District Health Department No. 3 is in financial trouble.

The department, which serves Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet, and Otsego counties, lacks sufficient funds to operate at current program levels, according to Gerald Chase, administrator.

"The funding problem is caused by several factors," Chase says.

"Collectively, the counties have failed to appropriate enough money to meet the department's 1980 budget. This lack of funds, coupled with the high rate of inflation for things purchased by the department, has caused the present financial problems," he adds.

The total budget for District Health Department No. 3, as set up for 1980, amounts to $1,430,000. Of this, approximately $1,000,000 would come from state and federal funds. A relatively small amount would come from fees of various kinds charged by the department, and the remainder was requested from the Boards of Commissioners of the four counties, based on county populations.

The Health Department asked Charlevoix County for $97,323 and received $90,791, according to Chase. Emmet and Otsego counties also made cuts in appropriations, but Antrim County paid the whole amount of $77,000 as requested.

Charlevoix County Commissioner Lee Moerland, who heads the Ways and Means Committee of the Commission, told the Courier: "In past years, we have gone along 100 percent with the Health Department's requests for money, even when the other counties held back. However, this year we did not feel we could support their request for $97,000. Neither did our represeantatives on the Board of Health."

On top of the cut in funds from the counties is the problem raised by an increase of more than 100 percent in the cost of workmen's compensation insurance – from $9,000 to $20,000 a year.

"This increase was brought about by the re-classification of people working in the environmental health field," Chase explained.

"We are appealing the re-classification, but this will take two or three months, and in the meantime, we have no funds in our tight budget to cover the increase."

District Health Department No. 3 was formed 50 years ago to do the work then being done by the individual counties. At the present time, about half of the counties in the state are served by District Health Departments, according to Chase.

"The District Health Departments used to b e funded largely by local governments, but now their share is relatively small," he points out.

"There is the option of going back to a county Health Department. The county would have control, but the operation would be much more expensive," Chase adds.

The administrator believes that the District Health Department can best serve the people. However, he feels that county governments must take a more active interest in supporting the districts and sharing in the funding process.

What can District Health Department No. 3 do now to keep its head above water? Among the choices are cutting the staff (and thereby some services), increasing fees, and going to a four-day work week.

Chase believes the latter is the best solution.

"We are now working on a five-day, seven-hour basis. The administrative staff will propose that we operate on a four-day, eight-hour basis Monday through Thursday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. This would mean a cut of 8.6 percent in salaries," Chase calculates.

If such a four-day program is initiated, services rendered under the Home Health Care program would be most seriously affected.

Chase says that many of these services must be rendered daily to be effective. "We would have to find some way to accommodate them."

The list of services provided by District Health Department No. 3 fills four typewritten pages. It covers the broad categories of Environmental Health, Personal Health Care, Substance Abuse, and Health Education, then is broken down into over 80 specific services, many of which the general public has come to expect of the Health Department.

These include inspection of on-site sewage systems, water wells, swimming pools, public water supplies, public marinas, restaurants, campgrounds, summer camps, child and adult care facilities and foster homes, and air pollution.

There are physical and speech-therapy programs. There are programs for the control of diabetes, venereal disease, tuberculosis, in fact all dangerous communicablew diseases. There are programs for vision and hearing screening, senior citizen health screening, high blood pressure monitoring, and supplemental nutrition for women, infants, and children.

Even the newer programs necessitated by newer problems are becoming part of the "expected" work of the Health Department: Individual and family counseling on alcohol and drug problems, parent education on these problems, high school and community college courses on the dangers of drugs and alcohol, and court referral services for those whose problems with the law are substance-abuse related.

There are the old standbys of first aid courses, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation training, and general health promotion.

Most of the services in the Environmental Health field are mandated by state act, while others are rendered under agreements with the state. This means they are either paid for by state or other funds or are self-supporting from fees.

Personal Health Care services are also funded largely by outside monies. In the Home Health Care field,

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

WHY A MIDDLEMAN?

The role of a real estate agent is to act as liaison between buyer and seller. He shows the seller's merchandise (house) to the prospective buyer and carries back the prospect's offer of purchase. Then he may return to the prospect with a counteroffer. This back-and-forth may continue until a price is agreed upon. There may be several prospects involved at one time.

Why do the buyer and the seller need the agent between them? Wouldn't they be better off negotiating directly, face to face?

No.

Direct negotiations between interested parties leave the door open to personality conflicts, misunderstandings, and other pressures. A seller can't call a buyer to urge a decision without seeming over-anxious, for instance. The real estate professional, a disinterested third party -- a middleman, a diplomat, if you will -- can consummate the sale.

Put a professional to work for you. The staff at Charlevoix Properties is trained in negotiating effectively to the benefit of all parties. Call Charlevoix Properties and let one of our counselors show you how they can be of service.

THE CURRENT COST OF THE SMITHS' APPLIANCES IS $3230.

THE COST OF THE CURRENT, LESS THAN 25¢ A DAY.

You already know that electricity does a lot of work around your home. What you may not realize is for how little money.

On a typical day, the Smith family – father, mother, daughter – uses enough electricity to cook breakfast, lunch and dinner, vacuum the floors, dry their hair, make coffee, listen to the radio and watch TV.

All of that use costs them less than a quarter. Compared to the cost of other things in life — like the appliances themselves – it is amazingly low: pocket change.

Yes, the cost of your total electric bill has gone up in recent years. But, that's partly because you are using a lot more electricity — you use it to run all those appliances that make your life so much easier.

We at Consumers Power Company are working hard to keep reasonably-priced electricity working hard for you. If you do your part by using electricity wisely, we'll all benefit.

ELECTRICITY. It's still a good buy.

Marie Rabach honored at Special Olympics

MT. PLEASANT – Marie Rabach of Charlevoix has been named "1979 Volunteer of the Year" for Michigan Special Olympics.

The award was presented to Rabach on Feb. 20 in a ceremony on the opening day of the Winter Special Olympics. The games, which go through Feb. 22, are being held at Schuss Mountain in Mancelona and the Hilton Shanty Creek Lodge.

Rabach has been employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Company for 35 years. She is currently vice president of the Great Lakes Chapter #90 of the Telephone Pioneers of America and president-elect for 1980-81.

Rabach became involved with Special Olympics through the community service committee of the Great Lakes Chapter Pioneers. She has been chairperson of that committee for the last five years. Their major project during this time has been volunteer work for the Special Olympics.

Rabach has helped in regional Special Olympics events and was active in the fundraising program for the 1979 Special Olympics Yearbook. She has presented numerous programs to gain the support of such local service groups as the Charlevoix Kiwanis, Petoskey Kiwanis, Charlevoix V.F.W. Auxiliary, and Charlevoix Legion Auxiliary.

Currently, Rabach is presenting seminars on telephone usage to handicapped people.

Rabach is a member of the Methodist Church and on the Board of the Bergmann Center, a workshop for the handicapped in Charlevoix. She is also a member of the V.F.W. Auxiliary, Legion Auxiliary, and Charlevoix Historical Society.

Rabach is the wife of Clarence Rabach, Charlevoix county clerk. They have one daughter, Madelyn Harwood of Plainfield, Indiana.

Rabach is the third recipient of the Volunteer of the Year Award. Previous winners are Bobby Crim, Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives, in 1978, and Lyle Stephen, head of Special Transportation, Inc., Lansing, in 1979.

Winners of the Michigan award are eligible for the national award nomination.

Rabach, Crim and Stephens are among the more than 12,000 volunteers in the state who devote their time and energy to all facets of Michigan Special Olympics throughout the year.

Concert Saturday

The Saginaw Valley State College will present a concert at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Michael Filkins, band director at the Charlevoix High School, has announced.

The band will make its single appearance here while on Spring tour, Filkins said. The Saginaw group will come to Charlevoix from Sault Ste. Marie where it will appear in concert on Friday night. Another concert is scheduled for Saturday night at a site south of Traverse City.

Featured in the concert will be Steven Chenette, trumpet soloist, and his wife, a piano soloist.

Bands compete in district

Two Charlevoix High School bands were in Traverse City Saturday to participate in the annual District II Band and Orchestra Festival.

The Charlevoix Symphony band received straight II's, i.e., three II's in concert and a II in sight reading.

The Concert Band received straight III's which means three III's in concert and a III in sight reading.

In announcing the results, their director, Michael Filkins said that both bands played as well as they were capable of playing.

However, he went on to say that there has been a great deal of discussion within the State Band and Orchestra Association regarding the methods judges were using in their adjudicating. It was the overall consensus, Filkins said, that the standards should be higher than they had been in the past and that a band should receive a top or I rating only when the band has given a superior, flawless performance. As a result I's were at a premium this year because few bands met the new standards.

"The new standards place more demands on the students. However, ultimately it will make us work harder," Filkins said.

Keep your dogs at home

Letters

Editor

I have two dogs, they are either kept inside, on a leash or on their dog chains. Maybe once or twice a year, if the chain wears out or door is left open, they will run off, but for the most part my dogs are at home in their own yard.

I do not want my neighbors complaining about my dogs in their yards, I do not want my dogs stolen or lost and I do not want my dogs run over; other people must not seem to care and the dogs out running seem to increase in numbers, more each year. I have seen dogs in my yard I have never seen before. Granted, different parts of the City of Charlevoix have the stray dog problem worse than other parts.

I used to be able to put my garbage out the night before the pick-up day, but not any more – if I do, I can plan to pick up the garbage that the stray dogs have spread around. It is one thing to clean up after my own dogs, but every one else's dogs, NO THANKS!!!

My dogs are fairly quiet, but if outside, and stray dogs in my yard, they will bark and bark which proves to be very aggrevating.

If your dog needs to run, why can't you let him out in the country, instead of in the city? If your dog has to be outside all day, why can't you keep it on a chain or fenced in area? If you own a pet, please take care of it for the pet's sake, if nothing else.

PLEASE KEEP YOUR DOGS AT HOME !!!!

Barry Manilow - a manipulator

Anne Kelly

Barry Manilow is a manipulator. He takes impressionable young (and not so young) minds and molds them into a sentimental putty casserole. And he knows what he's doing – boy does he know it.

When he had the feeling that "Ships" for example would be a "monster hit record" that the "melody is a haunting classic" he was also very much aware of the consequences. That when this song was played on the radio in kitchens all over the world, [illegible] mothers and fathers, sons and daughters were all going to develop terrific lumps in their respective [illegible].

Frank Sinatra knew when he sang, back in his prime, that women would fall like flies – all in love with him. Barry Manilow knows that when he sings people will either laugh or get choked up. "Ships" is one of the choked up variety. Barry and Frank have four things in common: fame, fortune, crooning and collecting swoons.

Early in 1975, Barry Manilow was experiencing the euphoria of commercial success for the first time. [illegible] was No. 1. Since then he has enjoyed 15 Top Ten hits, [illegible] of which is "Ships." This is the 33 year old vocalist who was Billboard's No. 1 Easy Listening Artist in 1978 and also The American Guild of Variety Artists' Top Vocalist of the Year in '78 and '76, Billboard's and Cashbox's No. 1 Singles Vocalist in '76 and who received a Grammy as Best Pop Male [illegible] for "Copacabana" last year. All this and Manilow ranks singing as the last of his talents on a totem pole of four: he is admittedly a "musician first...a songwriter second, and an arranger third."

Yet every time he croons out a melody, it is unmistakeably BARRY MANILOW and unquestionably good. He attributes the consistency of his five-year success story to his own dedication to the craft, the expertise of his co-producer Ron Dante who helps sift out the good stuff and the talent of an intimate circle of lyricists who write for Barry Manilow from a personal knowledge of the man.

And so he's made it again. With all the imagery of "Weekend In New England," the nostalgia of "Even Now," and the melancholy of "Looks Like We Made It", "Ships" is sailing on a sentimental journey over the channels and up the charts. It's also putting a lump in my throat.

The Professional Study Committee has recommended another telephone survey in May relating to the schools and how the taxpayers feel about them.

Concern was shown by school administrators and school board members regarding a pool room that had been opened in the former Puff building on Bridge Street a short distance from the school. Board members said they had received complaints from parents. The place of [illegible], known as the Silver Cue, opened recently. THIS COULD BE YOUR TAX RETURN
AUDITOR
ARENTZ

1979 tax return may be audited - plan for it now

Your 1979 income tax return may be one of many that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) randomly selects for audit each year. While preparing your return, it's a good idea to keep that in mind, says The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

A tax audit by the IRS, may not be as bad as imagined, if you have all the necessary documentation.

What makes an audit difficult, the CPAs say, is that it usually takes place a year or two after your return has been filed and by then you might have trouble remembering a former business contact's name, not to mention the reason for taking him and his wife out to dinner back in 1979.

Right now, with events fresh in your memory and documentation still at hand, is the time to prepare for that IRS interview. While assembling the facts going into your 1979 Form 1040, retain the receipts and cancelled checks that support your tax data. File them with your copy of the tax return.

Not only will this help you prove, if necessary, that you did indeed spend a great deal of money having your son's teeth straightened, but the existence of such thorough documentation could also serve to reassure an IRS examiner that your return would probably stand up to careful examination in other areas.

If the contrary were the case, should you be unable to document a substantial deduction, the agent would be much more likely to keep on digging.

Although it's often possible to come up with proof by consulting other people's records, the orthodontist's in this case, it still means at least one more visit with the IRS. Full, orderly documentation tends to keep these audits short and sweet.

Should a taxpayer try to head off a possible audit by holding deductions within the average amounts claimed by persons in his tax bracket? Certainly not, the CPAs advise. There is no sound reason for passing up legitimate claims. When your deductions are especially high, it's all the more reason for saving your documentation.

Maintaining a low profile by trying to keep within the average parameters is no assurance that you will avoid an audit. Returns pulled for audit, about one in fifty overall, are selected by the computer. No one outside the IRS knows exactly what criteria is used in the selection process. It is known, however, that some returns are picked strictly at random, so there is no sure way to prevent an audit.

IRS auditors can and do question any part of a return including whether all taxable income is reported, claimed exemptions are legitimate, deductions are justified and are accurately reported. When notifying you that your return is to be reviewed, the IRS generally indicates the areas in question. This helps so you know what to bring to the meeting, but it is not to say that the examination can't be expanded to other areas.

Randomly selected returns are examined in detail each year as part of an ongoing IRS study of the degree of taxpayer compliance with the Internal Revenue Code. If you are chosen for one of these examinations, expect to be questioned in depth about any or all aspects of your return. This includes financial data not even listed on your return.

In its conventional audits of computer selected returns, the IRS each year gives extra emphasis in certain areas. Right now and in the months to come, agents still auditing returns for 1978 have been instructed to look closely for

- *Unreported gains on sales of stock or other assets.
- *Unreported stock dividends and state tax refunds.
- *Gambling casino winnings.
- *Closing out of tax shelters which often result in the [illegible].
- *Sales of homes without replacement by persons who received the home-purchase tax credit in 1975 or 1976.

What areas will be receiving special attention when the IRS gets around to auditing 1979 returns is anybody's guess, but those who follow the CPAs' advice and put aside documentary evidence should have no reason to be unduly concerned, whatever those areas may be.

Everyone wants a younger image

Erma Bombeck

If I had known the '80s were going to give birth to a youth cult, I'd have taken better care of my body.

It's a little scary the way things are going. First, Bert Parks was let go because the Miss America pageant officials wanted a "younger" image...like John Davidson.

Then Mike Douglas' contract was not renewed and someone suggested his audience was growing older with him and perhaps a younger host was [illegible].

I even heard someone say recently (who had just returned from a Ronald Reagan rally), "The Republicans could use a younger man...someone like John Davidson."

The way things are going I predict that by 1985, every public official, every talk show host, every sports figure, yea, every man over 30 will be replaced by a [illegible].

It's only a matter of time before Big John Davidson walks to the microphone of the Tonight show and introduces his look-alike, "Hereeeeee's John!"

And how about the dean of CBS News [illegible], "This is John Davidson...and that's the way it is."

Can you imagine John Davidson replacing George Burns and saying, "At my age, I get excited when my soup is hot," and no one laughs?

Can you honestly see Santa Claus as a bearded John Davidson? Would you have the same feeling for finger-lickin' food if you saw Col. John Davidson spinning around in a bucket full of chicken?

I for one cannot imagine a world without the silver-haired set: the Henry Fondas, the Cary Grants, the Walter Cronkites, the Leonard Bernsteins, the Joe DiMaggios, the Robert Penn Warrens, and the Fred Astaires.

Every time an older man or woman dies...part of our past dies with them. They all own a piece of our lives which can never again be created. When they are gone, we are at the mercy of our [illegible].

When I look back and try to remember the most impressive human being I ever saw, it has to be a night in Kentucky when I saw an award being given to Gen. Omar Bradley. He was confined to a wheelchair, but as the flag was unfurled, with some difficulty, he pulled his body to sitting attention.

He was the most beautiful 86-year-[illegible] John Davidson I had ever seen.

The opening of the Hilton

It was like old home week Saturday night when Judy and I returned to the new Grand Traverse Hilton Hotel just northeast of Acme off U.S.-31.

Our first visit was last August when we were invited to the "topping off" ceremony — a ritual in the construction trade that takes place when the last steel on a new building is in place.

That celebration took place within the raw ribs of the structure: Steel girders here, open sky there, puddles on the bare concrete floor (it had been raining for days) and construction materials piled against the walls and on the grounds.

The party, however, was delightful, with vast quantities of shrimp, roast beef and exciting beverages for the well-wishers.

Six months later — almost to the day — the hotel opened officially with a glittering ball sponsored by the Women's Committee of the American Lung Association.

Of course, there are a few odds and ends to be completed (the tiebacks on the draperies in the lobby were still secured to the sash with finishing nails, for example), but the overall effect is one of warmth and charm — an old country inn where visitors are welcomed by an open fire in a fieldstone hearth.

The Grand Traverse Hilton is a world apart from the glass, chrome and concrete hostelries that are springing up in the Detroit area.

And any similarity between the GTH today and the raw construction site the Clocks visited last summer is purely coincidental. We wandered about trying to find familiar landmarks without a great deal of success.

[illegible] the new convention-resort hotel is its vast complex of indoor recreational facilities — including a giant swimming pool surrounded by living greenery, and broad expanses of tennis courts and [illegible].

Outdoors, there's an 18-hole golf course, a trout stream and trails for jogging and cross country skiing.

If you can't find something to do at the Grand Traverse Hilton, you must be the sedentary type.

Gourmets will find two exquisite restaurants on the premises, including the informal Orchard Room which is light, airy and inviting. The other is the Hannah Lay Room, named after the Hannah Lay Mercantile Co., one of Traverse City's pioneer businesses. The decor is straight out of the 1890's, with simulated gas lamps and shelves lined with all the [illegible] of an old time general store.

Despite the rough-sawn lumber, the atmosphere in the Hannah Lay Room is strictly formal. You can feel it when [illegible].

The Grand Traverse Hilton is the brainchild of Paul L. Nine, 39, a Bloomfield Hills attorney who was one of the founders of WGTU-TV (Channel 29) in Traverse City.

Nine began putting the 411-acre parcel together in 1973 and the hotel is only the beginning. Eventually, Nine sees the site accomodating close to 800 condominium and apartment units and a shopping and office village.

For the convention trade, the Grand Traverse Hilton offers a 20,000-square-foot display and exhibit area and 12 meeting rooms — eight of which can be combined into a single 9,000-square-foot conference center with a banquet seating capacity of 1,000. (Up to 2,000 may be seated if the tennis courts are pressed into use, Nine said.)

ISN'T IT nice to have music back on WVOY?

I used to glue myself for hours on end to the little radio in the dining room, afraid someone would turn it on.

Now I'm the one who tunes in.

Meet Charlevoix

The Rev. Dale A. Turner is Chief Chaplain of the Charlevoix County Jail as well as pastor of The Missionary Church in East Jordan. This week the Courier talks with him about his work with prisoners and how he tries to fulfill their needs.

Q. How long have you served as Chaplain at the jail?

A. Since 1974. I go over there every Tuesday.

Q. How do you go about trying to help the prisoners?

A. I try to share their hurts. They seem to know all the wrong things about religion and Christianity and have the wrong concepts. They have seen all the farces.

Q. So what do you do?

A. When someone asks to see me, we sit down and read a portion of the scriptures, study it, break it down, and investigate it. I try not to force a particular denomination or religious theory down their throats. We also have voluntary group study and individual counseling relating to personal needs and problems.

Q. What do most prisoners talk about?

A. Most men talk first of their innocence. I find very few "guilty" people. In their own eyes, they have been fleeced, taken advantage of. There's something within them that makes them want to justify away whatever they have done -- it's the other guy's fault.

Q. How do you handle this situation?

A. I tell them they can talk to me and to God without fear, that I won't squeal on them. But I try to get them to confess to the Sheriff. I believe in restitution. I tell them they must realize their route will get them into more trouble.

Q. Why are they in jail?

A. It's my guess that probably 90 percent of the people in jail are there because they use alcohol or grass or other drugs. They commit the crimes they do because they are under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Q. Are most of these crimes serious crimes?

A. Yes. When I first went into jail ministry, if there were five men in jail, one would be sent to Jackson and the rest would be serving less than a year. Now the larger percentage goes to Jackson. And their chances of going back to jail are probably about 75 percent unless they have some spiritual experience. If they don't, they'll go back to [illegible].

Q. How can this be prevented?

A. They must have some kind of religious counseling along with substance abuse counseling. There must be a ministry to the whole man – physically, spiritually, emotionally.

Q. How many of the prisoners ask to see a Chaplain?

A. Probably 35 to 40 percent ask for personal counseling. However, most of them will go to group counseling sessions, probably just to get out of their cells.

Q. Where are these counseling sessions held?

A. In the library at the jail. We go in and the door is locked behind us.

Q. Still, don't you have trouble reaching these people?

A. We can answer most of their questions. They need explanations of Bible quotations. They ask what's wrong with drinking and smoking pot. And they'll say, "What's the best religion?". I'll tell them that religion is a positive thing, not just a bunch of no-nos, and that all religions are good as long as they practice it and keep Jesus Christ in the center. I'm out to win converts to Christianity, not to my church. I'm trying to build THE church.

Q. What age group are most prisoners in? Do you also minister to [illegible]?

A. I would say they are mostly 17 to 25. Yes, when there is a woman or women, in jail, we will meet with them in a separate service, not [illegible].

Q. How long have you been in East Jordan?

A. Since 1971.

Q. Tell us about The Missionary Church.

A. It branched off from the United Brethern Church. There are 48 Missionary Churches in Michigan and about 250 worldwide.

Q. Where did you grow up?

A. In Decker in the Thumb area. I went to high school in Cass City and was a dairy farmer before coming to the East Jordan church. I took some courses at MSU and some correspondence courses.

Q. Tell us about your family.

A. Mickey and I have three girls. Sherry is 25, married, and secretary to the Development Office at Bethel College in Mishawaka, Ind. She is a graduate of Bethel and her husband is a student there now. Renae is 22 and a student at Bethel, and Melanie is 19, also a student there.

Q. What are your other interests?

A. I'm on the Executive Board of The Missionary Church in Michigan. I play a little golf and do a little fishing. My life is people. They are important to me. I appreciate my church letting me participate in the jail ministry and should mention that one of our deacons, Jim Rathbun, assists at the jail when I can't be there. You should know, too, that I'm not the only Chaplain there. Cliff Molnar of the Assembly of God Church in Boyne City spends Saturday afternoons at the jail.

Health

approximately 90 percent of the total cost is re-imbursed, while state grants cover many of the others. Communicable disease control services are [illegible] by the state.

The state also picks up the tab for 90 percent of Substance Abuse Services and underwrites many of the Health [illegible] programs.

This all indicates that District Health Department No. 3 is an integral part of the lives of the people it serves, and it is big business. The department has 40 employees in the four-county area, with 19 headquartered in the administrative office in Charlevoix.

The department is governed by a Board of Health made up of two county commissioners each from Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet, and Otsego counties. Marvin Lasling and Delbert Ingalls represent Charlevoix County.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for March 3 at 9:30 a.m. in the department's Petoskey branch office. The problems facing the department and what to do about them will be discussed at that time.

Cheboygan attorney to seek judgeship in 33rd district

Cheboygan attorney Harold A. Johnson, Jr. has announced his candidacy for the newly created judgeship in the 33rd district which includes Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan [illegible].

Johnson, 38, has been practicing law for 11 years.

"I have always wanted to be a judge," Johnson told the Courier. "I like court work and I believe with my experience I can do a good job."

Johnson moved to Cheboygan in 1969 from Grosse Pointe. He served as city attorney in Cheboygan from 1970-74. In 1976, he was appointed as an assistant United States attorney by the then Attorney General Edward H. Levi. As an assistant United States attorney he was in charge of the Flint and Bay City offices, handling criminal and civil [illegible].

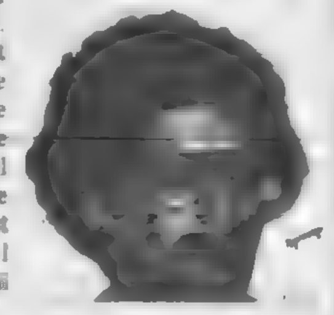
In September 1978, he returned to Cheboygan to continue practice with his former partner, Peter [illegible].

Johnson is a member of the Negligence Law, Probate and Trust Law, and the Real Property Sections of the Bar. He is admitted to practice in both the United States District Court for the eastern district of Michigan and the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a former member of the faculty of the Detroit College of Business and a current member of the American Philatelic Society and a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Johnson is married and has three children. They reside in [illegible].

Rohe passes Patent Bar exam

John F. Rohe has successfully completed his Patent Bar exam allowing him to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office, United States Department of Commerce.



Rohe is the partner of Charlevoix attorney Roy C. Hayes and is the first patent attorney practicing in the Charlevoix area. Rohe completed his under-graduate work in mechanical engineering at Michigan State University and holds a first class Federal [illegible].

A patent is granted by the U.S. Department of Commerce to the inventor of a new and novel process, machine, manufacturing process or material or any novel improvement on these. Essentially, a patent gives an inventor a seventeen year monopoly on his invention. Also related to the patent field are copyrights, which protect written materials such as books or songs and trademarks which protect unique and recognizable symbols of business enterprises. Patents, copyrights and trademarks are sought by businesses and industries as well as by individuals who have novel, unique and useful ideas.

Carson assumes duties

Howard Carson of Boyne City has taken over the job as head of the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection. He was apppointed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and succeeds Dick Mayhew, who [illegible].

Carson has spent most of his life in the construction business and is a member of the Carpenter's Union, so he will be able to "speak the language" of the contractors with whom he does business.

In his new position, Carson will be in charge of issuing permits for, and making inspections of, all constuction projects in the county as required by the state construction [illegible].

Other appointed members of the Building Inspection Department are Donald Anderson, in charge of electrical inspections, and Ronald Geer, in charge of Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Act inspections.

The office is [illegible] in the lower level of the County Building Annex in Charlevoix.

Rayders - St. Francis clash in pre-district

Can history repeat itself?

Volleyball Coach Mary Gengle sure hopes so.

Charlevoix will play Traverse City St. Francis tonight (Wednesday) in a pre-district contest with the winner advancing to district competition Saturday at Interlochen. Charlevoix is the defending district champion.

The winner of tonight's game will play Elk Rapids at 11 a.m. The winner of that contest will play the Boyne City-East Jordan winner at 1 p.m.

What are Charlevoix's chances?

"Excellent," according to Coach Gengle. "I think we are just as good as anyone else," she said.

Charlevoix has defeated St. Francis twice this season and, at present, is playing extremely well.

"We have a good serving team, which really makes a difference," Coach Gengle said.

Charlevoix will start Mel Kerridge, Carolyn Loper, Teresa Noirot, Debbie Resch, Marie Buday and Brenda Buchanan. Margot Smith, who was recently called up from the junior varsity team, Tami Noirot and Doretta Anderson are the top three reserves.

Charlevoix posted a big win over Boyne City Wednesday night to claim second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

Going into the contest, Charlevoix trailed Boyne City and St. Ignace by one game. The Rayders upended Boyne City twice (15-10, 15-5 and 15-0, 18-16) to move past the Ramblers in the standings. St. Ignace won twice Wednesday to win the title.

Rayders tumble, Boyne City next

A championship will not be at stake, but Friday night's Charlevoix-Boyne City basketball contest will be important to the Rayders.

A win would give Charlevoix a winning record and, perhaps more importantly, some momentum going into the Class C district at East Jordan next week.

The Rayders stumbled twice last week, losing to Petoskey, 65-58, and to St. Ignace, 83-67.

The Rayders had a good chance to beat Petoskey, trailing by just one point entering the fourth quarter, 47-46. But the Northmen kept their poise and connected on six of eight charity tosses to ice the win.

Charlevoix had four players score in double figures - Scott Morgan 17, Ken Otmanowski 13 and Jim Buchanan and Gary Drury 12 each.

Clark Hewitt exploded for 29 points to pace the Northmen.

Nothing went right against St. Ignace.

"When St. Ignace shoots 52 percent from the floor (32 of 62), gets 25 free throw attempts and makes 72 percent of them (18 of 25), and then commits just six turnovers, they can do just about anything they want," Charlevoix Coach Dave Mover said afterwards. "They played well."

The Saints started fast Friday building up a 38-30 halftime advantage. Larry Peters was the big gun for St. Ignace scoring 30 points. Billy Pope added 18. Buchanan led Charlevoix with 15 points and Otmanowski chipped in with 12.

Charlevoix shot 38 percent from the floor (27 of 71) and 62 percent at the charity line (13 of 21).

Charlevoix is 9-9 on the season and 5-8 in the Michigan-Huron Shores.

The junior varsity team had better luck last week. The Rayders posted wins over Petoskey, 56-44, and St. Ignace, 54-39.

Against Petoskey, Charlevoix had a comfortable [illegible] throughout the contest with quarter scores of 15-6, 33-20 and 46-30. Russ Carey, who has come on strong in the last couple weeks, scored 17 points to lead the attack. Teammates [illegible] Buday and Andy Schafer added 13 and 12 points.

Charlevoix moved out to an early against St. Ignace, too. The Rayders grabbed a 15-0 first quarter lead and then blanked St. Ignace in the second quarter to take a 29-0 halftime advantage. Carey's 21 points and Buday's 11 paced the scoring.

Rayders draw EJ

Charlevoix will play East Jordan Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the first round of the East Jordan district basketball tournament.

The winner of that game will meet Boyne City at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. Boyne City drew a first round bye.

Rogers City and Onaway will collide on Thursday night at 7 p.m. with the winner advancing to the finals on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Wojan advances to state finals

Ken Wojan

Heavyweight wrestler Ken Wojan will be going to Watervliet Friday to compete in the Class C state finals.

Wojan decimated two opponents by scores of 6-4 and 13-11 to qualify for the regional finals and then - after trailing in the final period - he brought the crowd to its feet by pinning Jim Hamm of Byron Center with just seconds remaining.

The win raised Wojan's record to 25-1. He has won 21 of his matches by pin.

Ken has performed spectacularly in the last two weeks proving that he is now one of the best heavyweight wrestlers in the state," Coach Greg Bryan said of his junior.

Gregg Whitley, the only other Charlevoix wrestler who qualified for the regionals, did not place high enough to qualify for the state meet.

Although he won just one of three matches, Bryan said Whitley "wrestled very competitively and performed better than he has all season."

"Being only a sophomore, he accomplished more than most wrestlers of his age simply by qualifying for the regionals, where the level of competition is superior to that [illegible] the regular season," Bryan added.

State honors local fishermen

Two local sports fishermen, Randall B. Langston, and Eugene Bergmann have received Master Angler Awards given by the Fisheries Division of Michigan Department of Natural Resources in recognition of their catches during 1979.

Langston's catch, a 28 pound brown trout, was the largest taken from Great Lakes bordering the state. In fact, it was the largest of the top five, all taken from the northern section of Lake Michigan. Langston caught his off the pier-heads in Lake Michigan.

Bergman's lake trout weighed 24 pounds and was the third largest among the top five. The largest was 32 pounds three ounces trout taken in Lake Superior. Three of the top five were caught in Lake Superior. The other two in Lake Michigan. Bergmann caught his in Lake Michigan off South Point.

Both are ardent fishermen. Langston is stationed here with the U.S. Coast Guard as Chief of the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station.

Bergmann residents in Charlevoix.

Spartans win 5th grade tourney

The Spartans won the 5th grade basketball championship Saturday by defeating the Pistons, 18-16. Brian Seymour had eight points and Jim Ciuk added six for the winners while Steve Lenhart canned 10 points for the Pistons.

The top four teams in the 5th grade league qualified for Saturday's tournament. Prior to the championship game, the Spartans edged the Bulls, 10-6, behind Ciuk's six points and the Pistons trounced the Trailblazers, 34-2, as Jamie Spencley scored 12 points and Lenhart added six.

In another 5th grade contest, the 76ers topped the Lakers, 6-4.

In sixth grade action, the Lakers beat the Spartans, 19-17, as Jody Putman tallied eight points for the Lakers and Matt Lignell had six points for the Spartans. The Panthers clobbered the Rayders, 30-12, as Jerry Toth canned 24 points for the winners while Neil Britton scored eight points for the Rayders.

Nub's Nob to host freestylers

Nubs Nob will host Region One Championship Freestyle Competition March 1-2.

The competitors will be representing three or four states. They will be competing for the right to enter the competition in the Mid-West Championships the following week at Cable, Wisconsin where they will, in turn, be trying to qualify for the national competition at Sugarloaf in Kingsfield, Maine.

The growth of freestyle skiing is just beginning in the Michigan area, as skiers realize there can be more to skiing then just going up and down hills. It can be as gracefull as the ballet or as challenging as the moguls that are done in competion, sponsors say.

The ballet will start the competition on Saturday at Nubs Nob.

Everyone either interested or courious about freestyle skiing is invited to Nubs Nob to watch the competition this weekend.

Anyone interested in joining a freestyle club can contact John Crinnion at the competition or call hime at 347-2659.

Three juniors selected for Girls State

Three Charlevoix High School juniors will find out first hand this summer how our political and governmental process works.

Vicki Falting, Rene Russell and Beth Carey will represent Charlevoix at the 40th American Legion Auxiliary Girls State June 14-22 at Central Michigan in Mt. Pleasant.

The purpose of the Girls State program is three-fold: 1) to emphasize the importance of government in modern life 2) to stimulate a deep and lasting interest in government and 3) to enlarge understanding of the governmental process.

Care has been taken to design the Girls State program so that every girl may participate in the electoral process, hold public office, and be encouraged to share in the formulation of public policy. Since no one person can serve in all offices of government, it is expected that a great deal will be learned by observation of the activities of others.

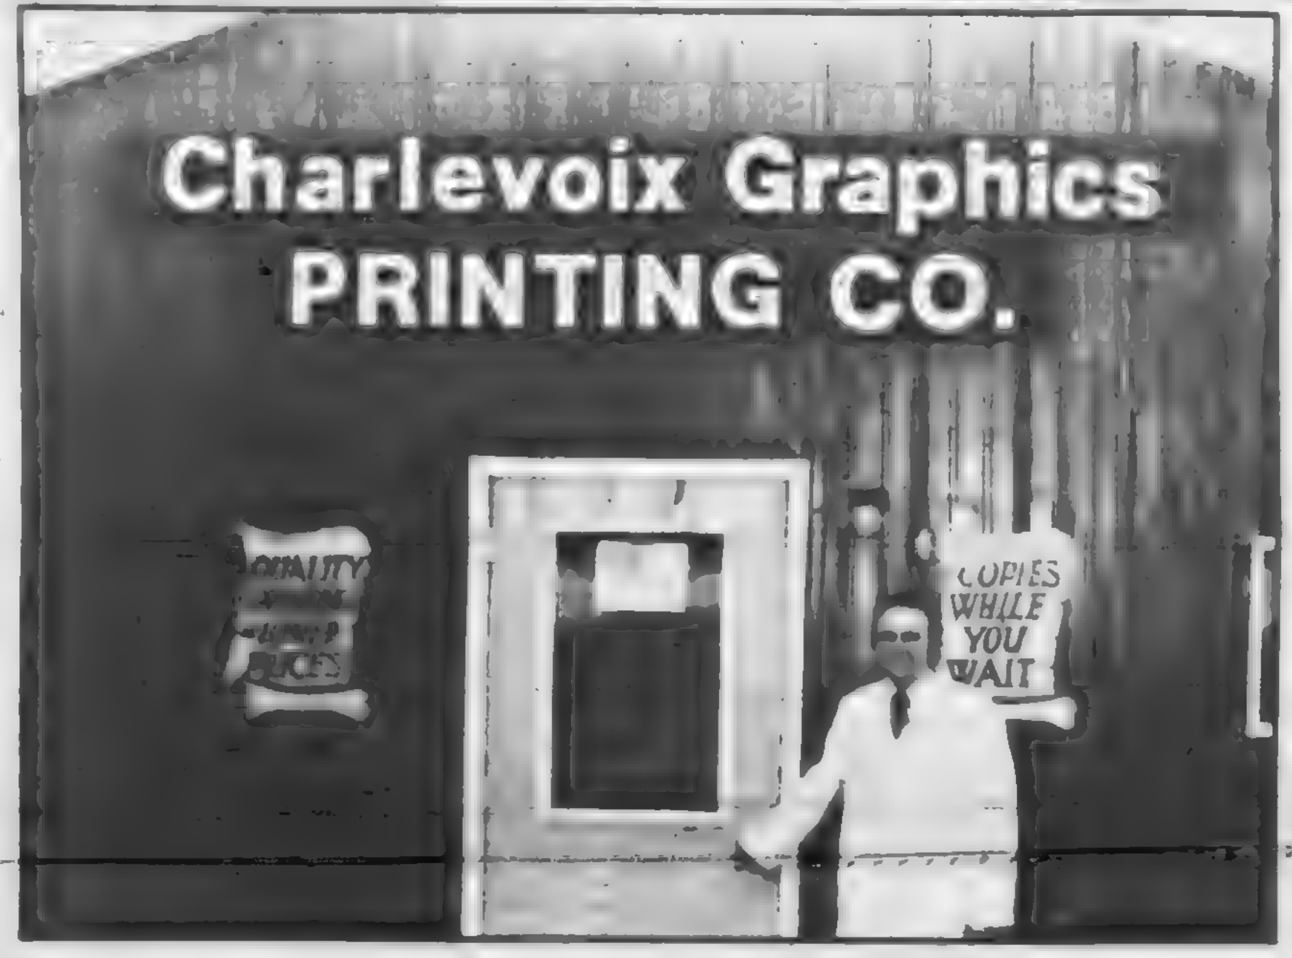
Organizers hope the participants will leave Girls State with a "mature appreciation of some of the basic strengths and weaknesses of the American system of government and also with a firm resolution to make government a more effective and responsible servant of the people."

Upon arrival, each girl will be assigned to a mythical political party, a county and a city. The "citizens" will be nominated, elected and appointed to various city, county and state offices.

About 500 girls will attend Girls State. The three girls from Charlevoix will be sponsored by Medusa, the Charlevoix Lions Club and the American Legion Auxiliary Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 228. The three organizations have put up [redacted].

The girls were selected - by a committee composed of Nancy Wood, Gayle Kaczynski and Jan Medford - on the basis of interest, character and potential abilities, rather than on a single achievement such as excellence in scholarship or proficiency in any one specific field.

Selected as alternates were Shari Jones, Sue Smith and [redacted].



Jim Boocher stands by the entrance to the shop he dreamed of opening when he moved to Charlevoix - Charlevoix Graphics Printing Company, across the street from the Charlevoix airport. The former Ohio newspaper publishers says his new shop can meet any printing needs, from wedding invitations to brochures, books or signs.

Printer's dream comes true

Charlevoix Graphics Printing Company's new enlarged facilities, across from the airport on U.S. 31 in Charlevoix are a milestone in the realization of Jim Boocher's dream.

The first step was moving to Charlevoix in 1978.

The Boocher family dream was to move north and establish a high quality printing business that offers the best possible service.

So in 1978 Jim, his wife Jane and two children traveled [redacted].

"When we drove into Charlevoix we knew this was it," Boocher says with the pride of a true booster.

He sold his printing and publishing business in London, Ohio, where he published four weekly newspapers, and opened Charlevoix Graphics in temporary quarters on [redacted].

"I knew that if you give a good quality product and better service, you are bound to be successful," Boocher states.

Quality and service remain his major concerns, which is one reason moving into his new quarters across from the airport was important to the printer.

Looking over his array of presses, copying machines, and computerized typesetting equipment, Boocher says, "We believe in quality printing, excellent service and lower prices.

"This project-a-lith machine has the capability of producing a film plate – a "quick copy plate" – within 90 seconds. That plate can be used to run up to 5,000 copies, almost as you wait," he says.

"Now if you want a longer run and finer lines, an even higher quality product – book and magazine quality – we have a complete graphic darkroom facility."

A film to metal plate produced in his dark room, Boocher explains, can be used repeatedly with more clarity and fine detail than a "quick" film plate.

Turning toward his computerized typesetter he continues, "This machine is the only one around here. It can produce professional quality type as fast as you can type it. It gives us a better ability to produce books, brochures, pamphlets, virtually any printed product."

The pride of Boocher's establishment, at the moment, is his 17½ by 22½ offset press. "We can print large maps, which we have done for the Charlevoix-Antrim Board of Realtors, even tabloid size newspapers," he says as he reaches for the latest [redacted] newspaper.

"This used to be a mimeographed paper. Look at its professional quality now," the former publisher points out.

Reaching for a telephone book, Boocher flips open his copy machine. With a push of a button a copy of the cover slides [redacted].

"How many copy machines have you seen that can actually copy photographs like this?" he asks.

Boocher continues, "Now that we are in this shop we can serve any printing needs, from simplest quick copy jobs to the extra fine 2, 3, or 4 color jobs. We have over 400 styles of wedding invitations. We can design and print logos, letterheads, businesscards, brochures, books, anything."

Recently Charlevoix Graphics Printing Company completed a set of 20 instructional books, some over 250 pages, for special education coordinators throughout the United States, under the Federal Title III Projects.

In addition, Charlevoix Graphics does screen printing and custom sign work.

[redacted] for local businesses and governments. We screen print when more than one or two are required.

"We can screen print on anything," Boocher laughs, "even T-shirts."

Boocher is obviously delighted at the development of his dream.

He and his family built a white cedar log cabin on 12 acres in Hayes Township, where daughter Linda, 17 is showing Arabian horses and developing a new breed of rabbits which she hopes to introduce to the American Rabbit Association – "The American Dapple" – an unusual blue eyed white rabbit with grey ticking.

Scott Boocher, 16, who is learning the printing business from his father, is headed for a career in computer technology after graduation from Charlevoix High School.

Jane is the secretary at the Charlevoix Church of God.

Moving to the new shop, across from the airport, Boocher says, means "there is virtually no printing job we can't handle.

"And we intend to do it with the highest quality, best service and most competitive prices anywhere."

For residents on limited income

Home improvement funds available

There is money available for certain people with limited incomes to repair or improve their homes.

This is the word from Pauline A. Chorley, assistant county supervisor in the Petoskey office of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA).

Michigan's allocations are $430,000 for loans and $530,000 for grants, Ms. Chorley reports.

"These loans and grants are made to assist owner-occupants in rural areas who do not qualify for conventional or Section 502 loans to repair or improve their dwellings, to make such dwellings safe and sanitary, and to remove [redacted] occupants, their families, or [redacted].

The maximum loan and-or grant available per applicant is $5,000. Improvements may include, but are not limited to:

Roof repairs, supplying screens, storm windows and doors; insulation and needed heating system for the dwelling; repairing or providing structural supports; adding a room to an existing dwelling in special cases when clearly necessary to remove hazards to the health of the family, i.e., bathroom; providing a sanitary water and waste disposal system; providing other similar [redacted].

To be eligible for a loan, the applicant must: Own and occupy the dwelling to which repairs or improvements are to be made; be without sufficient income to qualify for a Section 502 loan, or bank financing; have sufficient income, including any welfare-type payments, to repay the loan.

These loans are made at an interest rate of one percent. Loans of not more than $1,500 may be repaid over a period of 10 years; loans of $1,500 but not more than $2,500 may be repaid over a period of 15 years; and loans of more than $2,500 may be repaid over a period not to exceed 20 years from the date of the note.

A grant may be made to an applicant who is 62 years of age or older; has income so low that he or she cannot repay any part of a loan; the repairs and improvements are not for cosmetic purposes but are necessary to make the dwelling safe and sanitary and-or remove health hazards to the [redacted].

Ben Blake, Laraetha "Tootie" Goodwin and two members of the Emmet County 4-H Club are pictured here looking over some fashions to be modeled Monday.

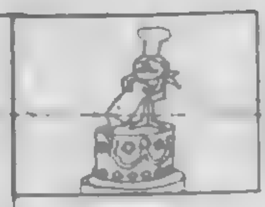
Fashion show Monday at PHS

"80's, 80's, 80's, Past, Present and Future" will be the theme of Monday's 4-H - J.C. Penney Party to be held at Petoskey High School.

The 34th annual event will start at 7:30 p.m. This year's show will feature six segments of fashion - active sportswear, Easter parade, Americana, daytime dressing, children's wear and formal wear. The show coordinator is Mary Lee Huber.

Special surprises include door prizes compliments of J.C. Penney, fashions from the past (some over 100 years old) compliments of the Little Traverse Historical Society, favors from The Chemist Shop and music with Blanch Chapp from Music Makers. Ms. Huber and Julie Michael will provide the commentary.

Tickets are free and are available at the Emmet County Cooperative Extension Office, 347-2596, or that evening at the door.



Weddings

Hooker - Graham

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Charlotte.

The Rev. Austin Regier officiated at the single ring service in the presence of more than 50 guests. Mrs. Carlton Ikens, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white silk Venise accented with Venise lace for her wedding. Fashioned with a high neckline and long fitted sleeves, the gown featured an empire waist and A-line skirt. She wore a garland of baby's breath interwoven with white roses in her hair and carried a bridal bouquet of red and white roses fashioned in the shape of a valentine.

Tracine Curtis, as maid of honor, wore a gown of red rosebud print on white fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves, empire waist and full skirt trimmed with white lace and red ribbon. She carried a single long-stemmed red rose. Lisa Hooker, as her sister's flower girl, wore a gown identical to the honor attendant's and carried a white basket of red silk roses and baby's breath.

A buffet supper and reception followed in the church dining [redacted].

The couple will make their home in Charlevoix.

The bride is a senior at Charlevoix High School and the bridegroom is stationed aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter [redacted].

Documentary to be shown Sunday

"He Leadeth Me," a unique new documentary film featuring concert singer Ken Medema, will be shown at the Community Church of God on Sunday, March 2 at 7 p.m., according to Rev. Walter Hastings, pastor.

Medema is considered a dynamic young singer-pianist-composer and recording artist whose imaginative music is powerfully effective for contemporary audiences.

The film will feature Medema in concert and in intimate moments with his family. Actually, the film is also about handicaps, for Medema has been blind from birth.

The public is invited.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Special Election to be held in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 4th day of March, 1980, from 7:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m., there will be submitted to vote of the qualified electors of said City the following proposition:

Water Improvements
Bonding Proposition

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, borrow the principal amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements to the City's Water System.

The above bonds will be payable in not to exceed thirty (30) annual installments, with interest on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 8% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY, AND THE CITY IS REQUIRED BY LAW TO LEVY SUFFICIENT AD VALOREM TAXES, IF NECESSARY, FOR THE PAYMENT THEREOF UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT.

All qualified and registered electors may vote on the above bonding proposition.

ALSO, PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Special Election to be held in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 4th day of March, 1980, from 7:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m., there will be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of said City the following amendments to the Charlevoix City Charter.

AMENDMENT A

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article III, entitled "Administration", Section 3.8 entitled "City Clerk - Election - Duties" be amended to provide that the City Clerk shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire council for an indefinite period. Further, that reference to the City Clerk as an elective office be deleted from Article IV, Section 4.4 and Section 4.7.

AMENDMENT B

Shall the City Charter for the City of Charlevoix being Article II, entitled "Form of Government", Section 2.11 entitled "Council-Compensation" be amended to delete reference to the City Clerk. This amendment would allow compensation for the position of City Clerk to be determined by the City Council rather than by the Local Compensation Commission.

The places of voting will be as follows:

City Hall Building, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan.

This Notice is given by authority of the City Council of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Deanne Balch
City Clerk

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ISSUE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS BY THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, AND RIGHTS OF REFERENDUM THEREON

TO ALL ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX:

TAKE NOTICE that the County of Charlevoix intends to issue industrial development revenue bonds in the principal amount of not to exceed One Million Dollars ($1,000,000), extending for not more than forty (40) years and bearing interest at not more than ten percent (10%) per annum, or such higher rate as may be permitted by law, for the purpose of financing all or part of the cost of acquiring and installing air pollution control equipment (including buildings, structures, facilities, equipment and their appurtenances together with to the extent necessary lands or interests in lands therefor), as defined in Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended, and included as part of the aforesaid air pollution control equipment all portions of cement and manufacturing facilities which qualify as air pollution control facilities under Section 103(c) (4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, in or near, and for use in connection with the Charlevoix Plant of Medusa Corporation (including costs incidental to the issuance of said bonds). The air pollution control equipment referred to herein is the same equipment referred to in a notice of intention published in this newspaper on December 21, 1977; however, the bonds, in principal amount not to exceed $1,000,000, referred to herein (the "Additional Bonds") are in addition to the bonds in principal amount not to exceed $10,000,000 (the "Original Bonds") referred to in such earlier publication, which Additional Bonds are necessary to pay the increased cost of such equipment. Said air pollution control equipment is to be sold under an installment sales contract or contracts to Medusa Corporation.

Said Additional Bonds are to be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended (The Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act of 1963). Said Bonds may be issued by the County in one or more series.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT

Said Additional Bonds will be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Said Additional Bonds and the interest thereon will not be a general obligation of the County of Charlevoix and will in no event be payable from any tax revenues or other general funds of the County of Charlevoix, but will be payable solely and only from revenues derived from payments to be received as rental installments from Medusa Corporation.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

This notice is given to and for the benefit of the electors of the County of Charlevoix, in order to inform them that said Additional Bonds will be issued without submitting the question of their issuance to the electors of the County, unless within forty - six (46) days from the publication of this notice, a petition signed by not less than five percent (5%) of the registered electors of the County, requesting a referendum upon the question of the issuance of said Additional Bonds, is filed with the County Clerk of the County of Charlevoix, in which event the Additional Bonds in principal amount of up to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) will not be issued unless and until approved by a majority of the electors of the County voting thereon at a general or special election. The right of referendum described in the notice of intention published with respect to the Original Bonds has expired.

THIS NOTICE is given by order of the Board of Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, pursuant to the requirements of Section 12 of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Further information with respect to the Project to be financed, the Additional Bonds to be issued and the right of referendum may be obtained from the undersigned.

Clarence F. Rabach
County Clerk

This notice of intention is a republication of a similar notice of intention published in this newspaper on February 13, 1980. The referendum period referred to in the prior publication and in this Notice of Intention shall run from the date of publication of this Notice of Intention.

Boy Scouts honored

The annual Boy Scout Banquet honoring Scout Troop 11 and its adult leaders was hosted recently by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club at the high school cafeteria.

During the program which followed the dinner, Louis Edwards, scout master, presented perfect attendance pins to James Smith and Richard Wurst for one year attendance; Gerald Zeitler and Mike Paul, two years, and Paul Stangis, four years; John Houting, assistant scout master, presented year pins; Badges of Office were presented to Junior Patrol Leaders, Kevin Whitley and Rick Rajewski; Quartermaster, Tim May, and Librarian, Mike Paul; Recruiter recognition was presented to Jim Smith. Twenty-three skill awards were presented by May and Rajewski.

Jim Smith and Richard Wurst was presented with Polar Bear awards by Ken Whitley of the Leadership Corps; Whitley also presented Canoeing and Emergency Preparedness Awards to Mike Paul; Emergency Preparedness award to Paul Strangis and Archery award to Gerry Chose.

The Scout Rank was awarded to Robert Norman, Rich Hough, Richy Thayer, Andy Brumm and Scott Weliver by Scoutmaster Edwards and his assistant Houting; Tenderfoot rank was awarded by David Novotny of the Scout Committee to Richard Wurst, Gerry Chase, James Smith and Matthew Landon; Second Class Rank by Robert Rajewski of the Scout Committee to James Landon, Daniel Buday and Gerald Zeitler and First Class Rank by Valois Avery of the Scout Committee to Mike Paul.

Slides of life at Camp Grielick operated by the Scenic Trails Council were presented by James Parker and John Collins of Petoskey.

Paul Stangis, Senior Patrol Leader, was Master of Ceremonies. A color guard composed of May, Wurst, Tom Graf, Weliver and Thayer presented the colors and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Members of the Scout Committees are Avery, Gunnar Lundteigen, Houting, Jerry Paul, Melvin Thayer, Novotny, Rajewski, Frank Schuch, Charles Bergmann and Scoutmaster Edwards.

The troop and its committee expressed their appreciation to Olesons Food Store and their sponsor, the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, for making the banquet possible.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Muma.

Resolution 80-2-2

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (herein called the "Borrower" and/or the "Local Governing Body") acting by and through the Charlevoix Housing Commission (herein called the "Local Authority") proposes (1) to enter into an Annual Contributions Contract (herein called the "Contract") with the United States of America (herein called the "Government"), and (2) to authorize the issuance of its notes as evidence of advances to be made to the Local Authority pursuant to the Contract, all with respect to any "Project" as defined in the Contract and which at any time now or hereafter is incorporated under the terms of such Contract.

BE IT RESOLVED AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Annual Contributions Contract. The Contract substantially in the form of contract hereto attached and marked "Exhibit "A"", is hereby approved and accepted both as to form and substance and the President of the Housing Commission is hereby authorized and directed to execute said Contract in quadruplicate on behalf of the Local Authority and the Clerk of the Local Governing Body is hereby authorized and directed to impress and attest the official seal of the Local Governing Body on each such counterpart and to forward said executed counterparts, or any of them, to the Government together with such other documents evidencing the approval and authorizing the execution thereof as may be required by the Government.

The Contract is hereby declared to be a part of this Resolution and all applicable provisions thereof shall be deemed incorporated herein to the same extent as if the provisions thereof were expressly set forth in full herein.

Section 2. The President or Vice President or Director of the Housing Commission is hereby authorized to file with the Government from time to time, as monies are required, requisitions together with the necessary supporting documents requesting advances to be made on account of the loan provided in the Contract, and the proper offices of the Local Governing Body shall prepare, execute and deliver to the Government Notes hereinafter authorized and shall accept payment therefor from the Government in cash and/or exchange for other Notes of the Local Governing Body and such persons are authorized to do and perform all other things and acts required to be done or performed in order to obtain such advances. Cash proceeds from the sale of all Notes shall be deposited and disbursed only in accordance with the provisions of the contract.

Section 3. (A) In order to provide monies to finance the Development Cost of each Project and to refund, renew, extend or substitute for any Project Loan Notes (in the Contract called "Advance Notes") by this Resolution authorized to be issued (or any such Notes by any other resolution authorized to be issued and which are outstanding, or on deposit for delivery pending payment therefor as of the date This Resolution becomes effective), or for any Project Notes (in the Contract called "Temporary Notes") issued by the Borrower in anticipation of the delivery of Project Loan Notes, there are hereby authorized to be issued, from time to time, Project Loan Notes of the Borrower in an aggregate principal amount outstanding at any one time (whether authorized by this Resolution or any other resolution authorizing the issuance of Project Loan Notes) equal to the Maximum Development Cost of all such projects.

(B) Each such Note shall bear interest and be payable in the form and manner prescribed by the Contract and this Resolution, shall be signed in the name of the Borrower by the authorized officials of the Local Governing Body, shall have the official seal of the Borrower impressed thereon and attested by the Clerk of the Local Governing Body. Each Project Loan Note shall be substantially the form of Form No. HUD-9204 MICH, which form is incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof. Project Loan Notes shall be issued to finance the Development Cost of Non-Permanently Financed Projects.

(C) Each note issued with respect to any Project shall be secured by (1) a first pledge of the annual contributions payable to the Local Authority and authorized to be pledged to such payment pursuant to the Contract and (2) by a pledge of an lien on the Residual Receipts of such Project.

(D) As additional security for the equal and ratable payment of the principal of the interest on each Note issued with respect to any Project, which is not permanently financed together with each such Note issued with respect to such Project, the Borrower, of the fullest extent permitted by the Laws of the State, hereby pledges, mortgages, conveys and grants unto the Government all property described in the Contract constituting such Projects, including the certain real property relating to each such Project and more particularly described in the trust instrument or any amendment thereto as executed and recorded by the Borrower pursuant to the Contract. If the preceding sentence shall be adjudged by a court or competent jurisdiction to be invalid or ineffective it is the intention of the Local Governing Body to be fully obligated under the other provisions of the Resolution and that such judgment shall not impair or invalidate the obligation of the Local Governing Body to pay the principal of and interest on each note from other funds to the Local Governing Body as herein provided.

Section 4. Whenever the following terms, or any of them, are used in this Resolution, the same, unless the context shall indicate another or different meaning of intent, shall be construed and are intended to have meanings as follows:

(1) the term "Resolution" shall mean this Resolution.

(2) All other terms used in this Resolution are which are refined in the Contract shall have the respective meaning ascribed thereto in the Contract.

Section 5. All resolutions or parts of resolutions heretofore adopted by the Borrower which authorize the issuance and/or delivery of Advance or Project Loan Notes pursuant to the Contract are hereby repealed. Provided, however, That such repeal shall in no way affect the validity of Advance or Project Loan Notes issued pursuant to said resolutions which are outstanding or on deposit for delivery pending payment therefor on the date this Resolution becomes effective. Provided further, That the Project Loan Notes authorized by this Resolution shall be exchanged for any Advance Notes heretofore issued pursuant to any previous resolution.

Section 6. This Resolution shall take effect immediately.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmen Roloff, Wood, Muma, and Timms. Nays: Councilman Whitley. Absent: Councilman Porter.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood.

RESOLUTION 80-2-3

Whereas, Section 13 (7) of Act 51, Public Acts of 1951 provides that each incorporated city and village to which funds are returned under the provisions of this section, that, "the responsibility for street improvement, maintenance, and traffic operation work, and the development, construction, or repair of off-street parking facilities and construction or repair of street lighting shall be coordinated by a single administrator to be designated by the governing body who shall be responsible for and shall represent the municipality in transactions with the state transportation commission pursuant to this act."

Therefore be it resolved that this Honorable Body designate James M. Brinker as the single (Street) administrator for the City of Charlevoix in all transactions with the State Transportation Commission as provided in Section 13 of the Act.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmen Roloff, Wood, Muma, Whitley and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Porter.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

The founding fathers, though vastly different in background and temperament, were all equal to the tremendous task of making the decisions which would affect the future of our country and the [illegible] religious training that they could do nothing by themselves, and so they relied on the wisdom of God for the right answers. Being endowed by the Almighty with the ability to act as His instruments, they were willing to place the future of the nation in His hands. If the greatest men of our history saw fit to go to Church and pray for God's guidance as their best source of advice we would all do well to follow their example.

A native of Charlevoix, Mr. Norton graduated from Charlevoix High School. He was a supervisor for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. where he worked for 30 years prior to his retirement in 1975. He was past member of Ionic Lodge No. 474, F.&A.M.

Surviving are his wife, Hilly; two daughters; two grandsons; his mother, Mrs. Vern (Rosabelle) Norton and a sister, Mrs. Fred (Julia) Llewellyn, all of Detroit.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society.

JOHN O'BRIEN

Funeral services for John J. O'Brien, 73, who died Friday at his Marion Township home, will be held Wednesday at St. Mary's Church in West Quincy, Mass. Interment was in Mt. Wollaston cemetery at Wollaston, Mass.

The rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home here Sunday evening.

Born at Quincy, Mass., Dec. 25, 1906, Mr. O'Brien was married to the former Lillian M. Gosselin at West Quincy, Mass., Jan. 25, 1939. They made their home in West Quincy. He was employed at the Boston Gear Manufacturing Company until he retired in 1971. At that time, they moved to Charlevoix. He was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Russell J. of Hyde Park, Mass., one daughter, Mrs. Raymond (Nancy) Dixon of Charlevoix and seven grandchildren.

REBECCA HAMMOND

Funeral services for Mrs. Stanley D. (Rebecca F.) Hammond, 68, of Petoskey, were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond Giffin of the First Congregational Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Hammond died Thursday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey where she had been a patient for a week.

Born in Morissa, Ill., Dec. 22, 1911, the former Rebecca Fulton was married to Stanley D. Hammond at Charlevoix on Aug. 16, 1933. They made their home in Lansing for 14 years before moving to Belleville, Ill. In 1972 they returned to Charlevoix where they resided until moving to Petoskey in 1976.

Mrs. Hammond is a member of the First Congregational Church and the Charlevoix Historical Society.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Leonard (Ruth) Finley of Sparta, Ill., and Mrs. Elizabeth Kieffer of St. Louis, Mo.; two brothers, Charles Fulton of Salem, Ill., and James Fulton of Sparta, Ill.; and several nieces and nephews.

The family suggests memorials to the First Congregational Church Memorial Fund.

DR. JAMES HARRISON has accepted a position with the State Health Department in Lansing.

Harrison had been medical director for District Health Department No. 3 and No. 4 (eight counties) since August, 1978.

In his new post, he will be medical co-ordinator for the Office of Local Health Services for the Michigan Department of Public Health. Harrison assumed his new position Feb. 4 and he will be involved in training physicians for public health.

The Board of Health for District Health Department No. 3 (Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego) appointed GERALD CHASE as acting health officer. Chase also serves as administrator for District Health Department No. 3.

The Board of Health is actively reviewing the structure of the department and will be searching for a candidate for the medical director's position. Harrison had succeeded Dr. Robert Luke, who died in August, 1977.

Charlevoix Commissioners MARVIN LODING and DELBERT INGALLS are members of the 1980 Board of Health for District Health Department No. 3. Loding is the secretary-treasurer.

The eight member Board of Health is responsible for governing the District Health Department. Each county (Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego) is represented by two commissioners who act as a liaison between their county board of commissioners and the District Board of Health. All major policies carried out by the Health Department are determined by the individual counties through the Board of Health.

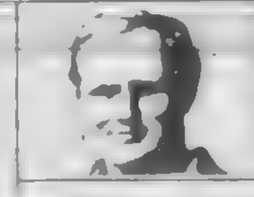
A letter of appreciation regarding JAY R. WELLS who is stationed near Frankfort, Germany with the U.S. Air Force has been received by his mother, Mrs. Louise Wells.



Names In The News

Written by his commanding officer, Major Michael R. Tietge, the letter reads, in part, as follows: "Since being assigned to the 601 ASOC's Ground Radio Maintenance Work Center, Jay has performed in an outstanding manner. He has shown considerable expertise in the repair of complex mobile ground to aircraft radio communication equipment and his attitude and actions have been above reproach.

I wish to express my appreciation to the parent of an outstanding airman. Seldom does an airman as young and junior in grade show this type of professional leadership qualities. You can be extremely proud of Jay's job performance."

Jay enlisted in the U.S. Air Force in April 1977 and after receiving training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., went overseas in May 1979. He was promoted to Senior Airman Feb. 1, 1980.

He is also the son of Ralph Moore of Tucson, Ariz.

LEON E. WHITE, son of Mrs. Gail N. Rouche, Lantana, Fla., recently was promoted to Army specialist four while serving as a clinical specialist with the Troop Command at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

White's father, Donald K. White, lives on Loeb Road, Charlevoix.

The appointing orders for this promotion stated "...The Secretary of the Army has placed special trust and confidence in this soldier's patriotism, valor, fidelity and abilities."

The promotion was based upon these qualities and the demonstrated potential for increased responsibilities.

White received his new insignia from Col. Elizabeth M. Lyke, chief of the Operating Room Nurse Section, and Capt. John V. James, commander of Company A, Troop Command.

White attended North Central Michigan College and Northern Michigan University and received a bachelor's degree in 1976. He entered the Army in January, 1978.

Is Sundew leaving?

Rumors persist that the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew will be leaving Charlevoix.

The latest speculation came Monday night. Mayor Sam Supernaw told the Charlevoix City Council that he heard the Sundew might be transferred to Duluth, Minn.

In return, Supernaw said, Charlevoix would get a smaller Coast Guard boat, similar to the one in St. Ignace.

Supernaw said he has been in touch with Congressman Bob Davis' office trying to find out if there is a way to discourage such a move. Council passed a resolution Monday night authorizing City Manager Jim Brunner to write a letter to various officials indicating council's desire to see the Sundew remain in Charlevoix.

Coast Guard officials were unavailable for comment following Monday night's meeting.

In other action, council agreed to rezone property on the northwest corner of May Street and Stover Road from R-2 (single family) to R-4 (multiple family).

The owner, Ron Pair, plans to construct two 20 unit apartment buildings on the [illegible] acres.

Roy C. Hayes, representing Pair, told council that 16 one bedroom units and 24 two bedroom units are proposed. Council stipulated that Pair submit a site plan for approval within six months otherwise the property will revert back to R-2.

Under R-4 zoning, the developer can build a maximum 15 units per acre. An architect for Pair told council that a spring groundbreaking is planned upon approval of a site plan.

Council also granted permission to Bruce Bartlett to convert a "large" single family residence into a two family dwelling at 1220 State Street.

Council stipulated that an adequate parking arrangement be provided. Bartlett must provide off-street parking for four vehicles. The Charlevoix Planning Commission approved the conversion with the same stipulation.

Council approved a side yard setback variance for James Hilligan, 210 Nettleton, to allow for a deck. The deck has already been constructed, to the chagrin of some council and planning commission members.

"If we allow this for one guy, what do you think the next guy will do?" asked Ray Wood. "Where do you stop this?"

Planning Commission Chairman Dr. Dave Strawbridge said it was a "problem" for the planners, too, although they finally recommended approval.

"It's obviously a violation of the ordinance," Strawbridge said. "But it's already there.

"What do you? Tell him to take it down? I think we were hard pressed to tell the man to tear it down since that was the only alternative left."

Strawbridge said the fact that Hilligan's son owns the adjacent property might have had a bearing on the commission's decision.

"I think we did the best we could with it," Strawbridge said.

"It's a hard decision to make, really," Wood added.

Council also learned that the Michigan Aeronautics Commission will not help fund a parking lot at the city airport. The city is proposing a 10,000 square yard revenue producing lot.

Earl Muma also recommended to council that a basement be added to the proposed senior citizen building. Muma, civil defense director, is concerned about the lack of shelter in the Charlevoix area.

The new wing on the Grandvue Medical Care Facility was officially dedicated Sunday. Over 300 people turned out to tour the 27 bed addition. Officials plan to start admitting residents to the addition this week. The $650,000 addition is already paid for. County voters approved a one mill levy for three years in 1975. Instrumental in the completion of the new wing were (left to right) Clyde Cunningham, Charlevoix County Board of Commission chairman; Richard Tillen, Social Services director; John Haggard, chairman of the building committee; and Condit Drury, Charlevoix County Board of Social Services chairman.

Consumers asks for evaluation

Consumers Power Company has asked the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to support the utility's proposal for a study to evaluate what equipment should be installed at the company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant to provide the "greatest improvements in safety at the most reasonable cost."

In a letter to the NRC, Russell B. DeWitt, the utility's vice president for nuclear operations, said the company is concerned that making modifications as required by recent NRC directives "may not be cost effective in terms of overall plant safety."

He asked the commission's director of nuclear reactor regulations to accept the results of a study that will use "probabilistic analysis" methods to determine the cost-benefit of various safety modifications.

If authorized, the company would employ a consultant to conduct an overall risk assessment by identifying those plant characteristics which have the greatest effect on health and safety of the public. Any proposed modifications to reduce risk would be evaluated to determine the benefits they would achieve and the costs of attaining those benefits.

Among the items to be included in the study are the need for a monitor to measure hydrogen in the plant's containment building and a technical support center which would provide duplicate monitoring of plant conditions.

"We feel this program is the most effective way to make any needed changes in the plant and get the most for our money," DeWitt said. In his letter he noted that Big Rock Point is "unique with respect to plant design size and location" and that "strong incentives exist for continued operation."

He listed the incentives as:

– The plant is one of the few operating reactors at approximately the midpoint of its design lifetime. It is also a small and comparatively simple design. Therefore, it provides a somewhat unique opportunity to obtain mid- and late-life operating experience.

– There is an ongoing active department of energy nuclear fuel research program underway at the plant. The new fuels being evaluated have a potential for improving operation and reducing the possibility of accidents at all nuclear power plants. This program may not be capable of being economically pursued at larger plants.

– The plant provides power equal to 3,000 barrels of oil per day. Because of the design of the company's electric generating system, essentially all the replacement power for Big Rock Point comes from oil-fired units.

– Big Rock Point's remote location would require replacement power to be transmitted several hundred miles.

– Big Rock Point has operated safely for over 17 years. Many members of the 33rd Judicial Circuit: 2 or 3 county Circuit?

How does it feel to be a candidate for an office that may not ever exist by voting time?

"It's tough," says District Court Judge David W. Fershee.

Judge Fershee is one of two announced candidates for the second judgeship in the 33rd Judicial Circuit which has been re-organized to include Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties.

Currently, the 33rd Circuit is a two-county Circuit consisting of Charlevoix and Emmet counties presided over by Judge Martin B. Breighner, whose term runs through 1984.

The second judgeship was created by the Legislature in 1978 when it also voted to take Cheboygan County out of the 26th Judicial Circuit and add it to the 33rd.

The new alignment which was to take effect in 1981 meant that the second judge would be elected in the November 1980 general election. To that end, early last month Judge Fershee announced his candidacy.

Now the possibility has arisen that Cheboygan County may not join the 33rd Judicial Circuit and the second judgeship in the Circuit will not materialize.

It all started a while back when the Cheboygan County Board of Commissioners voted to request that Cheboygan County be made a one-county Circuit. Like good neighbors, the Emmet County Board of Commissioners then voiced their desire to retain the present two-county circuit with Charlevoix and supported Cheboygan County in its desire to "go it alone."

Last week it was Charlevoix County's turn. The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners also like good neighbors, passed a resolution asking that the 33rd Judicial Circuit be continued on a two-county basis and that Cheboygan County be a Circuit unto itself.

It's now all up to the State Legislature and the State Supreme Court, which all have to decide whether or not the Circuit Court setup as requested by these three northern counties is in the best interests of everyone concerned.

It is anticipated that Emmet County will ask a local legislator, perhaps State Senator Mitch Irwin, to initiate proper legislation. The resolution passed by Charlevoix would back up the request since copies of it went to "All senators and representatives directly affected by representation or on committees, the Justices of the Supreme Court, and the Court Administrator's office."

In the meantime Judge Fershee is biding his time. "I'm on a spot," he told the Courier. "I've committed people and money to my campaign. It's hard to get enthusiastic when you don't know what's going to happen. I hope the matter is settled soon."

To date only one other person has announced his candidacy for the second judgeship in the 33rd Judicial Circuit. He is Harold A. Johnson, Jr. of Cheboygan County, who would presumably be a candidate for the Cheboygan job if it materializes.

As far as Charlevoix and Emmet counties are concerned, the objections to the second judgeship appear to be financial. Members of both Boards of Commissioners have pointed out that a second judge would probably require another court clerk and court reporter in addition to the supplement to the judge's salary paid by each county. The judge's base salary is paid by the state.

However, no mention is made of the comparative case loads in the projected two Circuits. The population of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties combined far exceeds that of Cheboygan County, and the Circuit Court case load would therefore presumably be far greater in the two-county Circuit.

Another factor pointed out by Judge Fershee is that even if Cheboygan County is willing to pay for its own Circuit Court employees and pay the judge a supplement, all the taxpayers of the State are paying the judge's base salary.

District pays 70% of special costs

The Charlevoix School District pays 70 percent of the cost of special education as compared to 50 percent in districts which receive state aid, Thomas Caldwell of the Char-Em Intermediate School District told the Charlevoix Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night.

Caldwell outlined briefly the various programs which are listed under special education. He said that when there were a limited number of students in a category, such as the hard of hearing, the students are bussed to a central site. However, when possible they are kept in their own schools where they are assigned to learning centers in areas where they need special assistance and "mainstreamed" into other classes. Charlevoix has 3½ classes, with all students being main-streamed.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of four lots located on Old US 31 South as future sites for Building Trades houses. The cost of the lots is $29,000 for the four. Wells and septic tanks must be installed on the lots. In recommending that the lots be purchased by the school district, Vincent Olach, business manager, said that lots within the city limits are not available. Therefore, it was necessary to go outside the city limits to obtain building sites. The lots were purchased on a land contract.

A bid of $33 for a 300 gallon fuel tank submitted by Michael Kiteley was accepted.

The proposed sale of the metal lathe shaper was tabled for the present.

A request made by the French Club for permission to make a trip to Quebec in April was approved.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for March 17.

The meeting adjourned at 8 p.m. so board members and administrators could attend the Char-Em I.S.D. meeting at which the proposed consolidation of intermediate districts was to be discussed.

Rec Commission seeks input

The Charlevoix Recreation Commission will hold a public hearing on Monday in Council Chambers to discuss the city's future recreational needs.

The public hearing – to be held in conjunction with the Charlevoix City Council workshop session – will start at 8 p.m.

This will be the second public hearing conducted by the Recreation Commission. The first hearing, held one month ago, was attended by just one resident, excluding members of council.

The city has commissioned [illegible] Ross – a member of the Recreation Commission – to write a comprehensive recreation plan.

Topics discussed at the first hearing included:

- Establishing a "fit trail" for joggers at Michigan Beach.
- Moving the ice rink to the Winter Sports Park at Mt. McSauba.
- Establishing more parking at Depot Beach.
- Improving water movement at Ferry Avenue Beach to eliminate stagnant water.
- Reviewing the proposed the Park Stage for East Park.
- Supplying more "play things" for children at city parks.
- Erecting a shelter for golfers on the north side of the city golf course (for protection in bad weather).
- And reviewing the condition of the city softball diamonds.

Cy Hartman and John Selby

Safety award to Big Rock

For the third year in a row employees of Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant have earned the utility's top recognition for safety, The President's Award.

John D. Selby, the company's chairman of the board, presented the award to C.J. Hartman, plant superintendent, Wednesday.

Under a formula which computes man hours worked, number of medical cases, severity of injuries and traffic accidents, the plant had the best safety performance among all facilities – owned by Consumers Power – involved in the production of energy. No disabling injuries were incurred by plant personnel during 1979. The last lost time injury occurred on Aug. 3, 1977 (sprained ankle). "I should mark this

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

SELECT, DON'T SETTLE

In New York City there's a large men's wear store whose slogan is "Select, don't settle." They emphasize that their selection of suits, sportswear, shoes, and haberdashery is so vast that customers may pick and choose instead of settling for a poor choice out of limited options.

That company has learned an important lesson about marketing: people buy by comparison.

The same is true about marketing houses. People want to choose among several possibilities.

The role of the real estate professional is to present a number of homes to the prospects — enough to satisfy their curiosity but not so many as to confuse — and then help them choose the one that's right. Most buyers need this guidance.

If a prospect visits your home and then compares it with others he sees, will he remember its features.

Charlevoix Properties utilizes the professional techniques to make sure your home receives the attention it deserves and that potential purchasers are exposed to all of its merits. Let Charlevoix Properties show you how we can sell your home quicker and get the highest dollar with less inconvenience to you.

50 Years Ago

From the Courier 50 years ago:

The Ford Motor Company advertised its complete line of cars with prices:

Roadster, $435; Phaeton, $440; Tudor Sedan, $500; Coupe, $500; Sport Coupe, $530; Two Window Fordor Sedan, $600; Three Window Fordor Sedan, $625; Cabriolet, $645; Town Sedan, [illegible].

A group of men made the first trip of the year by car on the ice from St. James to Cross Village. W. J. Registration dates announced for Nursery School

Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery School has announced dates and times for registration for next year's 1980-81 classes, beginning September, 1980.

Children eligible for the cooperative nursery school program must be three by Sept. 1, 1980, and residents of the Charlevoix School District.

Classes are scheduled for half days, either two days per week – Tuesday and Thursday – or three days a week – Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Registrants may choose morning sessions – 9 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. – or afternoon sessions – 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m.

To ease registration parents are asked to come to the nursery school in the Charlevoix Elementary School at the following times.

Alumni families, those whose children have attended this nursery other years, are to register at the nursery school room, next to kindergarten, at the elementary school on Monday March 10 at 7 p.m.

All new families are requested to register their children for nursery school on Tuesday March 11 at 8 p.m. at the nursery class room.

Registration forms will be available during registration periods. A registration fee of $7 per child is required.

The Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery School is in its 10th year of operation. It began with a few children and one teacher in the basement of the Charlevoix library. Today it occupies its own classroom within the Charlevoix Elementary School where the nursery children may enjoy the facilities of the school and become accustomed to the atmosphere of the school they will attend.

Two highly qualified teachers, Dorothy Miller and Nancy Taylor, of Charlevoix, direct the activities of the nursery. Mrs. Miller is the morning teacher, Mrs. Taylor the afternoon teacher.

Because of the growth of the nursery and the limitations on class size, parents wishing to enter their children should be sure to register at the designated times. Each year there is a waiting list for those who have registered late.

The nursery school is a cooperative in which parents take an active role. Each family has responsibilities for assisting the nursery school, joining one of many committees. In addition, every school day, two parents work as teacher's aides, on a rotating basis. Every parent works at nursery school about once every six weeks.

The philosophy of the cooperative school, which is governed entirely by parents of children enrolled in the school, is to provide a pre-school experience in which children learn social skills and are exposed to a variety oflearing experiences while having fun.

For more information about registration or the school, call Cheri Hoffman in Charlevoix at 547-4578 after 5:30 p.m.

Family Federal Savings names Kenney manager

Keith E. Kenney has been named manager of the Charlevoix office of Family Federal Savings. Keith O. Hopper is the new manager at the Petoskey office of the Association.

Kenney is a native of the Bellaire/Ellsworth area and now resides in East Jordan. Kenney was formerly with a Charlevoix bank before joining Family Federal Savings in July 1979. He has been an officer of both the Ellsworth and East Jordan Lions Clubs, past auditor of the Charlevoix Hospital fund drive, currently a member of the Antrim/Charlevoix Board of Realtors and Little Traverse Association of Home Builders. He attended North Central Michigan University and the LaSalle University in Chicago where he obtained a business degree in accounting and finance. Kenney is married and has one child.

Hopper formerly worked for a finance company in the Petoskey area before joining Family Federal Savings in November 1979. He is a native of Royal Oak and is a member of the Emmet County Sportsmans Club and Ducks Unlimited. He is married and resides in Oden.

Family Federal Savings is a Saginaw based savings and loan with assets of $371 million. They have twenty-one offices throughout Michigan including the Charlevoix Office at 101 E. M-32 and the Petoskey Office at 313 Spring Street. The Association was originally chartered in 1888.

Humane Society elects officers

The Charlevoix County Humane Society recently elected officers for the coming year: They are: Mrs. Robert Snyder, East Jordan, president; Mrs. Ted Jeffrey, East Jordan, vice-president; Mrs. Keith Annear, East Jordan, secretary; and Millie Mack, Charlevoix, treasurer.

The society also named the following members to its Board of Directors: Mrs. Tony Wojan, Charlevoix; Mrs. Carl Rothenberger, Charlevoix; Mrs. William Mathews, East Jordan; William Miller, Charlevoix; Richard Wheeler, East Jordan; Mrs. John Haram, Charlevoix; Mrs. William Bowser, East Jordan; Mrs. Ernest Ross, Ironton; and William Mathews, East Jordan.

The Charlevoix County Humane Society operates the animal shelter in cooperation with the County Sheriff's Department. It is located next to the Sheriff's Department at 1004 Grant Street in Charlevoix and is open Monday through Friday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. to take in animals or to show animals for adoption. Mrs. Vernice Smith, who manages the shelter reports, that last year they handled 850 animals.

Membership in the society is $5 a year for adults and 50 cents for juniors. Membership fees, as well as donations, adoption fees, and fund-raising projects support the work of the society. Members and friends also save Glen's Markets sales slips for the society.

Everyone with an interest in animals is invited to join. The society also needs the names of individuals willing to devote even a small amount of time to its fund-raising activities.

Flexible rules key to hospital's policy on visiting

Flexibility, consideration for patients and their families, are the rules governing Charlevoix Area Hospital's visiting hours.

Recently Nursing Services Director Kathy Boss discussed the do's and don'ts, and the thinking behind the hospital's policy on visiting.

"We welcome visitors here," Mrs. Boss began. "We know that a patient who is feeling good emotionally and spiritually may recover more quickly.

"That's why we are flexible. It's an advantage we have as a smaller hospital.

"But, we do ask that visitors consider all our patients when they come," the nursing director continued.

Regular visiting hours at Charlevoix Area Hospital are from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. daily. Exceptions can be and are made for close relatives and in special cases.

But the hospital asks that people not take advantage of this flexibility.

"Mornings are the busiest times here," Mrs. Boss explained. "Doctors see patients, nurses work with patients, Xray, lab procedures and surgery are performed, and housekeeping chores are taken care of mornings. We prefer that visitors come after lunch."

Charlevoix Area Hospital is also flexible about children. Children are allowed to visit close relatives.

"Most hospitals do not permit children to visit at all, for good reasons," Mrs. Boss explained. "Children carry infection, they are very vulnerable to infection and their short attention span can make their visits difficult."

Mrs. Boss continued saying, "We permit children to visit parents, grandparents, and other very close relatives, because the visits cheer up the patient and help the children.

"Children worry a lot more than we realize. Visiting the hospital helps ease the children's worries," Mrs. Boss continued.

However, the hospital staff requests children only visit close relatives and that the visits be short. The staff asks that children be accompanied by two adults so one can take the child out after a short time.

"Visiting rules are based on the needs of all patients," Mrs. Boss explained.

"Children running in the halls disturbs others and hampers the work of our staff."

Speaking of general do's and don't's for visitors, Mrs. Boss said, "Visits should be limited to ten or fifteen minutes. Patients are polite and don't say when they are tired, but they are here because they are sick and need to rest."

Mrs. Boss reported that occasionally patients suffer relapses after weekends when they have had too many visitors.

The hospital asks that visitors be limited to two per patient.

She also advises people to talk about light and happy subjects. She urges visitors to avoid discussing their own illnesses, problems or depressing subjects.

"Be a listening ear," she says. "If a patient wants to talk about problems he or she will let you know."

If a family is faced with a crises while one member is hospitalized, Mrs. Boss says the family may want to talk it over with the nursing staff.

"If we know that a patient has problems on his mind, we can try to help, as well," she said.

For people wondering what makes the best gifts to bring to friends in the hospital, Mrs. Boss suggests magazines, books, games or personal gifts.

Flowers and food can present problems, she said. Too many flowers may crowd a room. Food and alcohol should not be brought without approval because most patients are on strict special diets.

"Mail is one of the most welcomed gifts," Mrs. Boss observed. "The volunteers of the Guild read cards to patients who can't read for themselves. It really cheers them up."

Stressing the willingness of the staff to help visitors, Mrs. Boss said, "If a visitor needs a wheelchair, or has other problems, let us know. We want to help."

Smoking is the one subject on which there is no flexibility. "Smoking by visitors is forbidden for health and fire reasons except in the lobby," Mrs. Boss said.

The basis of all hospital visiting rules is patients' welfare. Mrs. Boss said most visitors are very considerate and do not over stay their visits or create disturbances.

Two new services available at library

The Charlevoix Public Library is now offering two new services.

The first is a film rental service through which films may be rented overnight by civic groups for the minimal price of $1 to cover the cost of servicing and transportation.

Listed among the films available now through July are: Aging, Alternative Energy Sources, Be Fit and Live, Big Lake, Clothing and Fashion, Cycles, Dancing Prophet, Farmer in a Changing America, Filmaking Techniques: Makeup (Aging and Hair), For Tomorrow We Shall Diet, How Old is Old..., It Must Be Love 'Cause I Feel So Dumb, Losers, Never Weaken (and) Why Worry, Stunt Man, Water Safe, and Windowsill Gardening.

The second service is for children. The library has acquired a Talking Book Player and seven Talking Books titled The Ghost Chasers, Animal Sounds from A to Z, The Clock Cleaners, Big Bird's Look and Listen Book, A Visit with Winnie-The-Pooh, Gertrude McFuzz, and The Desert Island.

Also for children are six 8mm. sound films of Walt Disney subjects: Monster from Under the Sea (from 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea), Winnie the Pooh & Tigger Too, The Dapper Dalmation (from 101 Dalmations), The Rescue (from The Rescuers), Brer Rabbit & Tar Baby (from Song of the South), and Island of Mystery (from Swiss Family Robinson).

Further information about the new films and talking books may be obtained by contacting the library at 547-2651.

An anticipated transient is one that is expected to occur at least once — or more — during the operating life of a commercial power reactor. Initiating anticipated transients include, but are not limited to, a loss of offsite power, closure of valves in the main stream or feedwater lines, or accidental shutting off of feedwater or condensate pumps.

Some anticipated transients require a reactor scram. In the unlikely event that the reactor does not scram as a result of such a transient — an anticipated transient without scram — the vessel which contains the reactor fuel would produce more energy than is being removed — resulting in a pressure rise large enough to threaten the integrity of the reactor vessel and connected piping as well as the operability of valves in standby cooling systems.

Award

date on the calendar each year," Selby told Big Rock employees. "You seem to have a lock on this award.

"I congratulate you for doing it again."

An annual safety award program was first begun by the company in 1948. The present program was established in 1960.

The award is part of the company's accident prevention program. Its purpose is to stimulate enthusiasm for safety on the job, at home and on the highways.

Hartman lauded the plant's 115 employees for their individual efforts and their teamwork in preventing injuries.

Protection against unfair property taxes

Ralph Ostling

This time of the year often brings out anger in homeowners who feel they have been wronged by a property tax assessor. The standard agrument is that the assessor has assessed their property at too high a level, causing their already too high property taxes to be based on a ballooning property value this year.

Of course, there are normal channels open to you if you want to appeal your assessment. But if you have made some home improvements on your property in the past year and your home was assessed at a level which included the increased value based on those repairs, the assessor is breaking the law. If you have made some "normal" repairs, you can bring a strong case before the appeal board in attempts to lower the [illegible].

You see, a 1978 law passed by the Legislature clearly states that such expenditures for normal repairs and maintenance in determining the true cash value of property for assessment purposes should not be considered until the property is sold.

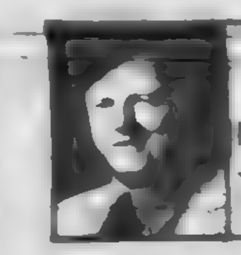
Normal repairs which are exempt apply only to residential property and include the following:

-outside painting
-repairing or replacing siding, roofs, porches, steps, sidewalks, and driveways.
-repainting, repairing or replacing existing masonry.
-replacement of awnings.
-adding or replacing gutters or downspouts.
-replacing storm windows or doors.
-insulation or weatherstripping
-replacing automatic hot water heater.
-complete rewiring
-replacing plumbing and light fixtures.
-new furnace, replacing one of the same type, or replacing oil or gas burner.
-plaster repairs, inside painting, or other redecorating
-new ceiling, wall or floor surfacing
-removing partitions to enlarge rooms.
-replacing [illegible] interior work

If you have made any of the repairs listed above, an increase in your assessment based on those improvements should not be made.

The easiest way for you to know if you have been assessed at too high a level is to compare your home's assessment with other homes in the neighborhood. Of course, because of inflation, increases will likely be received by nearly every homeowner, but out-of-the-ordinary increases are suspect and should be challenged.

Irrevocable decision on Olympic boycott, well, maybe



Nick Thimmesch

WASHINGTON — The President seems to be of the firm opinion that since Soviet forces didn't leave Afghanistan by his Feb. 20 deadline, it would be in the "national interest" for the [illegible] Olympic team to not compete [illegible] the Games in Moscow next [illegible]

[illegible] "seems" because Jimmy [illegible] to put it charitably, has a [illegible] personally going back on his word. This time, however, he has really [illegible] out on a limb and, in my view, [illegible] necessarily.

[illegible] are other ways to stick a finger [illegible] Soviet eye for their latest [illegible] of bad behavior, the [illegible] of Afghanistan. The respected [illegible] of the postwar U.S. policy to [illegible] the Soviet Union, George K[illegible] recently declared that a U.S. [illegible] of Cuba would be a more appropriate response after Afghanistan than an Olympic boycott. Kennan wasn't bothered that Ronald Reagan has made this suggestion, because Kennan knows that a military response [illegible] more meaningful to the Soviets [illegible] symbolic boycott. Kennan understands the Soviet mind.

The Carter Administration's boycott [illegible] is quite popular politically but amounts to awkward pressure on many allies. The governments of Canada, Britain, Japan, the People's Republic of China (naturally) and Saudi Arabia (naturally) have echoed Mr. Carter's high-pitched cry for boycott. But France, West Germany, Italy, Spain and scores of other U.S. friends, including Israel, haven't. They prefer to wait a while, before announcing a sham holy war.

Whatever the "nationaly security" considerations, the relentless pressure on the U.S. Olympic Committee (USOC) to keep our 560 athletes home amounts to federal interference with the private sector.

It is a heavy-handed effort. There are special Boycott-the-Olympics task forces in the White House and at the State Department. The Administration denies it would use power to hold up passports of athletes or stop any necessary commerce between the U.S. Olympic Committee and the Soviet Union. But the fact those questions have been raised is intimidating.

Old hands in government are hard put to find a precedent for the U.S. government to lean on private organizations in order to get them not to attend an international event. The United States didn't try very hard to stop Jane Fonda from traveling to Hanoi during the Vietnam war at a time when American soldiers were being killed by Hanoi's Communist forces.

Anyway, despite the pressure and fanfare, the U.S. Olympic Committee has not decided it will keep our athletes here during the Olympics. Nor has any Olympic Committee of those nations whose governments have announced they don't want their teams going.

The Carterites declare that the President's opposition is "unequivocal" and that the decision is "final and irrevocable." But U.S. Olympic officials have only agreed to go along with Carter "if the national interest is in jeopardy." The committee's House of Delegates meets on April 11 to formally accept or reject President Carter's urging. The USOC's administrative committee meets March 15 to draft its own recommendation to the House of Delegates. Afghanistan, at some future date, might not be so involved with U.S. [illegible]

The USOC also feels the situation is flexible until May 24 when the world's Olympic committees must accept or decline the Soviet Union's invitation from the Soviet Olympic Committee to compete in the summer games. By then, the Soviets might well have pulled out of Afghanistan, thus giving even our closest allies reason to let their Olympic committees know it is okay to head for Moscow. The Olympics don't belong to the Soviets. They belong to the world.

The European nations don't like the Soviet Union any more than we do, but since the bombs, missiles and bullets of World War III — nuclear or conventional — will rake their populations first, the Europeans are still interested in the quaint concept of detente. Similarly, Israel is hardly chummy with the Soviets these days, but Israel would like to see its athletes competing before a world audience, however repugnant the national setting. So Israel waits on the boycott decision, just as the overwhelming majority of nations in the world do.

After all, President Carter has already swallowed some of his most Hawkish statements about Iran. "Irrevocable" to him could mean "maybe."

We have just seen his grimly uttered call for a resumption of registration for the draft weakened by explanations that those young souls who trek to the post office to register won't be issued a draft card, and that criminal penalties for not going to the post office will be lessened. We've even got Administration officials saying now that there won't really be a draft. Now what kind of finger in the Soviet eye is that?

Carter shot another finger their way when he called for gas rationing, but his secretary of energy just said there would be no gas rationing. Ditto on finger power.

I enjoy being in the minority which argues that for the U.S. athletes not to compete in Moscow is a finger of another sort. Alas, the hard-boiled Soviets respond to real fingers, not gestures.

Sophie-s story

Anne Kelly

At 22, Stingo wondered what was to become of the Faulkner, the Wolfe, the Fitzgerald — the unwritten novel still laying dormant in his mind. An aspiring young writer from Virginia and fresh out of the Marine Corps, he found himself prematurely trapped in the stifling routine of manuscript reader at what was at that time, admittedly, a last resort publishing house. It was as if his creative life had been snuffed out before it had been allowed to burn.

In order to release that unprisoned, yet to be scribed novel, Stingo took leave of his unsatisfying career at McGraw Hill in search of a better way. Still deflated by his last exercise in poor judgement, a recommendation that McGraw-Hill decline publicaton of a book Kon Tiki that later rose to and remained among the ranks of the best sellers for what seemd an interminable number of weeks, Stingo concluded that his life was both unsatisfying and [illegible].

It was at this [illegible] of his life that he took up residence in a rooming house wherein he was to meet, and become involved with two upstairs tenants who would prove to be the [illegible] so far. It is here that Sophie's Choice by William Styron really begins, along with Stingo's new determination to begin his novel.

Nathan is dark and volatile. He is subject to strange and unreasonably erratic outbursts of temper directed primarily at his lover, Sophie, a [illegible]

It is Stingo's lot to stand by and watch the thermometer of their relationship rise and fall. As Stingo becomes increasingly drawn into a frustrating comradeship with the two of them, he is both magnatized by Nathan's personality and repulsed by his displays of temper. He is also fast becoming a victim of unrequitted love for Sophie. On each rebound, he is able to draw from her the fragmented narrative of her past life as a young Polish woman, who with her two small children had been herded off to Auschwitz along with the throngs of condemned Jews during the Nazi invasion of Poland.

Both Nathan and Sophie have stories to tell, but who can believe Nathan? Sophie's Choice is really Sophie's story — and a harrowing one at that. Only the comic relief afforded by William Styron's expert, if super-loquacious, story telling helps the reader through the piecemeal account of a very terrible experience. Sophie's story is not funny because Auschwitz is not funny. But interspersed among her revelations of horrors past are some episodes [illegible] make you laugh right out loud. All the while Stingo struggled to maintain a sense of balance and purpose in his own life he is simultaneously attempting to stabilize his role in a very unstable [illegible].

When tragic, idyllic Sophie has made her final choice and Nathan his, Stingo [illegible] the sad realities of life. However painful the experience of knowing Nathan and Sophie became, at least Stingo grew. Perhaps his novel or future novels would be richer for it. And I suppose, however painful the shadow of Auschwitz as it crosses our memories, we as readers can be grateful that William Styron presented them all and Sophie's story as well, as thought [illegible].

Good 'buddies' say goodbye

Ever since my mother died 16 years ago, I have been afraid that my father, John Percey Clock, was leading a rather lonely life at his home on [illegible]

It's not that there wasn't enough to do around the house. The lot was large with plenty of lawn to cut and a big garden to tend on the bluff above Deer Creek.

Furthermore, Dad was a veteran of World War I and had been active in veterans affairs most of his life. Then, too, both he and my mother had become involved in the Southfield Senior Citizens [illegible].

But chores and public functions can scarcely replace the warmth of a family relationship, can they?

[illegible] the fact that after my mother died, Dad had started attending services again at the old red brick edifice at the corner of Grand River Avenue and McGraw known as Scovel Memorial Presbyterian Church.

It was the church he had joined in 1907 when he was 11 years old. It was where he and my mother met as members of the Christian Endeavor. And it was where my two sisters and I were baptized.

In short, it was home.

Of course, I like to worry, so I worried about him making the 15-mile trip into Detroit's seamy inner city every Sunday morning. Then suddenly he was making the trip more than once a week. He wrote about attending mid-week prayer meetings and sessions of the church board. Before long they made him a deacon.

At the same time Dad was renewing acquaintance with all of the old members of the parish — most of them first and second generation Scots — who formed the backbone of the church. They were the folks who had refused to abandon their homes in old Detroit, [illegible]

Most of them lived alone in tiny bungalows, aging apartment buildings and weathered flats throughout the decaying neighborhoods around the church.

Among them was Janice Willette, who became Dad's special friend; and [illegible] There also was Margaret Reynolds, who had moved 'way out to an apartment in Redford but still attended Scovel Church.

Although Dad was a mid-point octogenarian, he kept his car and his driver's license and for years he served as chauffeur for his little clique of senior citizens, driving them to church and taking them shopping or to the doctor's office.

Friday afternoon it was my sad duty to fill in for Dad by transporting his old "buddies" — as they call themselves — from the inner city out to Northville to attend his funeral. One by one they wedged themselves into the Chevy wagon and we headed for the westerly suburbs.

On Fenkell we passed the site of the former Happy Hour Bar — a Scots retreat where I had spent many happy hours myself as a young man. Inadvertently I began to hum "I Belong to Glasgow" — and before I knew it Ida Hill in the back seat picked up the melody. By the time the song ended, the ice was broken and stories about Dad began to flow in torrents.

They talked of the intimate little supper parties they used to have with my father, and I could almost see the candlelight reflected in the oaken woodwork of their old homes.

I learned of the holiday dinners and get-togethers he attended and of the fun and laughter and the good times they all had.

Dad a lonely old man? I couldn't have been farther from the truth. It made saying goodbye a lot easier.

Meet Charlevoix

By Peg Ohle

Jill Washburn is Service Team Chairman of the Charlevoix Girl Scouts, who are beginning their annual Cookie Sale this week. In this interview the Courier talks with Mrs. Washburn about local Girl Scout troops and some of their activities.

Q. When does the Cookie Sale start?
A. March 5th, and it continues through the 16th. The cookies will be delivered between April 21st and 23rd.
Q. Are you going to have those good chocolate mint cookies again?
A. Yes, and peanut butter, fudge cremes, the sandwich type, granola, and the regular shortbread kind - seven different varieties in all.
Q. How many cookies do the girls usually sell?
A. Last year, they sold 244 cases, which amounts to 4,880 boxes. This year we hope to sell more.
Q. How much money does this mean the Scouts receive?
A. The cookies sell for $1.50 a box. Of this amount, 38.6 percent goes to the cookie manufacturer, 43.8 percent goes to the general Girl Scout program, 11.3 percent goes to the troop, 3.3 percent goes toward certificates for girls who sell 50 boxes or more, and three percent goes toward the cost of selling the cookies.
Q. So last year the girls in Charlevoix received 11.3 percent of $1.50 a box, or 17 cents a box for each box of cookies sold?
A. That's right, and at 17 cents a box, the total was $928.20 for the 4,880 boxes.
Q. What are the certificates the girls get for selling 50 boxes?
A. They are awarded by the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council and are worth $5 in credit toward the cost of camp or some other Girl Scout activity. Of course, all the Girl Scouts benefit from the 43.8 percent of cookie sales that goes to the general Girl Scout program.
Q. Do you have other fund-raising activities?
A. No, all our funds come from Cookie Sales and from the United Fund.
Q. What do the girls do with the money they raise selling cookies?
A. Most of the troops do something big at the end of the year -- go camping, roller skating, swimming, have a pizza party -- that sort of thing.
Q. How many troops are there in Charlevoix now?
A. We have five troops, three Brownie troops and two Junior Girl Scout troops. There are 67 girls from first grade through sixth grade.
Q. Who are the troop leaders?
A. Vera Rimbold has the fifth and sixth grade troop, Jan Wiser has the fourth grade troop, Diana Edwards has the third grade troop, Joyce Boydston has the second grade troop, and Joyce Boss has the first and second grade troop.
Q. What are some of the things the Girl Scouts are doing these days?
A. Sewing, cross-country skiing, making toys, studying first aid, studying nutrition, constructing bird feeders, learning how to disco, taking trips like the one on the Boyne City Railroad, picnicking, among other things. And, of course, participating in Council-wide events.
Q. You still have a camp, don't you?
A. Yes, every summer we have a one-week day camp. This year it will be held at the Charlevoix campsite the first week after school is out. The camp is located near the Belvedere Golf Course and is owned by the Crooked Tree Council.
Q. How many adults assist with all these activities?
A. We have seven Registered Adults, [illegible] mentioned above, Roberta Corp, and myself. We're also lucky in having Julie Beer in town. She's Field Director for the North Association and Camping Administrator for the Crooked Tree Council.
Q. Do you plan on expanding your activities?
A. Next year we hope to have a Cadets group -- girls sixth through eighth grades. Right now we have an active fifth and sixth grade troop and we think they will want to continue.
Q. Do you have daughters in Girl Scouts?
A. Yes, I have three. Kris and Kathy are 11 and Kallie is eight.
Q. How did you become interested in Girl Scouts?
A. I was a Girl Scout and my mother was a leader in Harbor Springs, so when my girls became old enough to join, I guess I just fell into it naturally.
Q. How long have you lived in Charlevoix?
A. Thirteen years. My husband, Sam, works at the Post Office.
Q. What are your hobbies?
A. I like cross-country skiing. I've been helping with the league at the Elementary School. In the summer I teach swimming to three and four year olds at the beach.
Q. What organizations do you belong to?
A. I'm active in the Methodist Church.

Thirty-four students at St. Mary's (grades 1-6) participated in the MS Read-A-Thon. Acting as "mystery sleuths," the students volunteered to read books for a four week period to help solve the "mystery" of multiple sclerosis. Students secured pledges for each book read. All told, students at St. Mary's read 314 books, accumulating $587.67. A check in that amount will be sent to the local MS chapter in Lansing. Harry Renko coordinated the MS Read-A-Thon. He awarded patches and certificates to all participants. Several received frisbees and stuffed animals. Two students -- Amy Hayes and Becky Rautio -- received watches for raising more than $75 and reading more than 12 books. Amy read 24 books and collected $117.28 and Becky read 22 books and raised $78.10. Amy, a fifth grader, is the daughter of Joe and Jackie Hayes, Becky, a first grader, is the daughter of Mike and Linda Rautio.

Detroit College of Law Dean John S. Abbott, a summer resident of Charlevoix, was awarded an LL.D (Honorary Doctor of Law Degree) for his 25 years of service to the law school. Dean Abbott accepted the degree at the recent commencement exercise for the 1980 winter class. During his tenure at DCL, Dean Abbott has served as a member of the faculty, as associate dean (1970-72) and as dean since 1972. He currently resides in Franklin Village.

Parenting lectures planned at St. Mary's

This is the "Year of the Family" in Catholic churches throughout the world. In keeping with this theme, special lectures relating to various phases of parenting will be presented at St. Mary's School hall from 7 to 8:30 one evening each week during the Lenten service.

The first lecture in the series is scheduled for Wednesday March 5. The subject will be "Family Communication and Parenting." William Morford, youth director for the Diocese of Gaylord, Office of Christian Education, will present the lecture, an experimental approach to improving communication skills between parents and children. He also will touch on methods of building stronger relationships within the family; an examination of parental attitudes and behavior and their effect on the child's sense of well being.

On March 10, the topic will be "Parenting the Teenager;" March 17, "Spirituality and Family Life" and March 28 "The Meaning and Struggle of Christian Marriage."

World Day of Prayer service set for Friday

The World Day of Prayer, sponsored by Church Women United, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Christ Episcopal Church.

Women in 166 countries will be meeting on Friday to pray and meditate on "Responsible Freedom," a topic chosen by Christian women in Thailand. Women of Charlevoix will unite to observe this special day of worship and prayer.

The Rev. Roger Ames, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, will present thoughts on the theme for the service and benediction. Speakers and musicians from several churches will be taking part.

All women in the Charlevoix area are welcomed to attend.

A World Day of Prayer service will be held at the Missionary Church in East Jordan at 7 p.m. Friday.

The theme of the service is "Overcoming The World."

There will be speakers, music and a special time of prayer. The public is invited.

The Missionary Church is on the corner of M-66 and Rogers Road. Rev. Dale A. Turner is the pastor.

Picnic planned

The 17th annual Charlevoix-Antrim County picnic will be held at noon on Wednesday, March 12 at the Count Phillippe Park on the west shore of Old Tampa Bay, two miles north of Safety Harbor, Fla.

All former residents of the two county area or those spending the winter in Florida are invited to attend.

Real Estate Is A People

Meet Kjell Johansson

Kjell Johansson, a convention co-ordinator, recreation director and sales and marketing manager combines his expertise in all these fields for his position as Ski and Shore's Rental Manager for the Weathervane Terrace Motel. Kjell (pronounced Shell) has been a resident in the United States for the past ten years. He is a native of Gothenburg, Sweden and being a man for four seasons chose to live in northern Michigan because of its geographic similarity to Sweden. Kjell holds a Bachelor's degree from Missouri State and was awarded a Master's degree in Organization Behavior and Recreational Administration from George Williams College in Illinois. Kjell worked as Recreation Director at Sugarloaf for four years, Rental manager at Timberlee, Convention Co-ordinator for Homestead in Glen Arbor and was Sales and Marketing director at Schuss Mountain before joining the Ski and Shore Charlevoix staff. In addition to his vast experience in resort and recreation management, Kjell is a fully certified Alpine and Nordic ski instructor. He is the Technical Vice President for the Nordic Program in the Ski Instructors Association for the midwest. "I like the unspoiled nature and people in this area," explains Kjell, who lives here with his wife Margarita and two sons, Magnus and Patrik.

Being a fully licensed real estate sales person, Kjell's immediate goal is to expand the Weathervane Terrace by adding more units and conference rooms. "I believe that the rental management program at the Terrace is a good concept. Owners know that their units are in a control situation. They create a cash flow by renting their condominiums. The cost of up grading is spread among all owners and they are able to use their units whenever they wish," explains Kjell. "For those who wish to rent the rooms we offer HBO, kitchenettes, individualized rooms (some with fireplaces) and the most prestigious atmosphere in Charlevoix."

Earl Young's fireplace in the lobby of the Weathervane Terrace will be admired by many as Kjell continues to bring new groups and conventions to the motel. Kjell compliments the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce for being aggressive and foresighted about the recreational advantages Charlevoix owns and bringing people to this market. "It reminds me of the successful Scandinavian recreation programs," says Kjell, "and I should know about that!"

Volleyball team repeats as district champs

The Michigan High School Athletic Association girls volleyball state tournament got underway Saturday at 64 district sites with Charlevoix winning the Class C district at Interlochen.

The Rayders beat the host school in the finals to claim the title for the second straight year.

"The team played very well," Coach Mary Gengle said afterwards. "Carolyn Loper (spiking) and Mel Kerridge (serving) were outstanding in the Interlochen game."

Charlevoix qualified for the district by taming Traverse City St. Francis 16-14, 11-15 and 15-12 in a pre-district contest Wednesday night.

The Rayders started play Saturday with a relatively easy 15-2 and 15-11 triumph over Elk Rapids. Charlevoix then knocked off Boyne City 15-6 and 15-10 to reach the final. Boyne City had eliminated East Jordan earlier in the day.

Charlevoix had to come from behind to beat Interlochen in the championship game. Interlochen took the first match 10-15, but the Rayders bounced back to win the next two matches 15-13 and 15-11.

Charlevoix will now advance to the Class C regional at Clare on Saturday.

In addition to Loper and Kerridge, Margot Smith, Teresa Noirot, Brenda Buchanan, Marie Buday and Debbie Resch also were instrumental in the team's success.

Town House wins basketball title

Chalk up another championship for the Town House

The defending champs made it look easy last week whipping Village Inn Pizza, 73-52, on Monday and, 64-40, on Tuesday to sweep the best two out of three series and wrap up the city recreation basketball title.

Steve Dunkelburg spearheaded the Town House attack in the championship series, scoring 46 points

Monday

Dunkelburg had 31 points in Monday's triumph as Town House broke open a tight game in the second quarter. The score was tied 17-17 after the first quarter. Town House then moved out in front, 35-38 at half and 58-39 after three quarters. Rick Leslie scored 12 points and Dan McKenzie and Brian Molitor added 10 each for Town House. Jerry Skippergosh tallied 16 points, Randy Holicheck 13 and Vince Left 12 for Village Inn Pizza

Tuesday

Dunkelburg pumped in 15 points Tuesday night. Town House led all the way, 16-11 after the first quarter, 33-21 at half, and 45-29 after three quarters. Leslie and McKenzie added 14 and 10 points, respectively, to the Town House attack. Skippergosh was the lone Village Inn Pizza player to hit double figures. He tallied 22 points

Wojan eliminated

Ken Wojan's quest for a medal at the Class C state wrestling championships at Watervliet Saturday ended after three matches

Wojan won his first match, but was then defeated twice and eliminated from competition. The Charlevoix junior, wrestling in the heavyweight division, finished the season [illegible]

Charlevoix Coach Greg Bryan said the competition at Watervliet was "tough" with only one regional champion from Grant placing in the state championships. Wojan won the heavyweight division at the Grant regional

The state Class C heavyweight title was won by Greg Stoel of Hamilton. Jim Hamm of Byron Center, who Wojan defeated at Grant, took fifth place.

'March Madness' starts Tuesday for Rayders

"March Madness" starts this week with over 700 schools in Michigan vying for state basketball championships in four classes.

Charlevoix and East Jordan will get the Class C district at East Jordan underway Tuesday night. The Rayders and Red Devils will tangle at 7:30 p.m. The winner will meet Boyne City at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday

Charlevoix and East Jordan have met twice this season with both squads winning at home.

East Jordan will enter the game with a 17-3 record. The Red Devils won the Ski Valley Conference by one game over perennial power Harbor Springs. Duane Carpenter will be the player to watch. Carpenter is East Jordan's top point producer and rebounder.

Charlevoix will enter the contest with a 9-10 record. Since beating East Jordan, 69-60, on Feb. 12, the Rayders have lost three of their last four games. Charlevoix placed sixth in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

On Friday night, the Rayders stumbled at Boyne City, 56-[illegible].

"We were 5 of 7 at the free throw line, they were 15 of 17," Coach Dave Moyer said. "That was the game right there."

Charlevoix had four more field goals than the Ramblers, but the Rayders were guilty of 15 fouls to Boyne City's 8. Charlevoix also turned the ball over 24 times and had trouble on the boards.

"They were getting two and three shots every time down the floor," Moyer said. "We're not boxing out."

Charlevoix connected on 24 of 54 shots from the field for 44 percent while Boyne City was 20 of 68 for 29 percent.

Scott Morgan paced the Rayder scoring with 16 points. Gary Deary added 10. For Boyne City, Jim Plachta had 13 points and Scott Hausler 10.

In junior varsity action, Boyne City surprised Charlevoix, 66-61. The Ramblers led all the way. The Rayders were within five points going into the final quarter before Boyne City pulled away. Ross Carey led Charlevoix with 13 points and Jeff Greene chipped in with 10.

Final Michigan-Huron Shores Conference Standings

Belfy retires from DNR

Chester E. Belfy, who worked 30 years with the Law Enforcement Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has retired.

During 10 of those years, Belfy was skipper of the department's floating laboratory - The Steelhead.

Belfy's 'tour of duty' with the DNR began Oct. 1, 1948, after he had served one year in the U.S. Navy during World War II and had been employed aboard the motorship, Mary Margaret, operated between the mainland Beaver Island by the Beaver Island Transit Co. His first job was as a patrol boat officer operating out of Charlevoix, a position he held until July, 1970.

The Steelhead was only two years old when he became skipper in 1970. Built at Escanaba and commissioned in April, 1968, the 63 foot vessel was constructed as a floating laboratory to facilitate fishery surveys on Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron. With the Steelhead it has been possible to establish monitoring stations in each general ecological zone of the lakes for systematic collection and analysis of information on the abundance and biological characteristics of the fish stocks and their habitat. Chemical and biological laboratory facilities in the deckhouse allow sheltered work space while the vessel is at work.

The vessel is designed with berthing and eating facilities for five persons, including the crew and biologists who travel aboard the ship.

"The people of the State of Michigan are great people to work for. I'd recommend the job to anyone. I have no complaints" Belfy said.

His father, the late Edwin E. Belfy, retired in 1957 after 28 years with the same Law Enforcement Division of the DNR.

Belfy was born on Beaver Island and lived on Garden Island and in Escanaba before coming to Charlevoix in 1938.

Belfy said he had no definite plans for retirement although he might do a little traveling if he can get his wife, Elaine, to leave their home at Clipperview.

He has three children who are married and living [illegible].

Ron Gates and Tom Carter

Carter takes over at Texaco station

Tom Carter takes pride in being a "service oriented person."

In fact, "complete auto service" is the motto behind Carter's Texaco service station on US-31 South.

"I don't care if a person wants $2 or $30 worth of gas, I'm going to give them the service they are paying for," Carter said.

Complete service consists of washing all the windows and checking the oil, transmission fluid, brake fluid and the air pressure in the tires, among other things.

"I'm not doing this to impress people," the 38 year-old bachelor said. "I feel this is part of the job

"If customers allow me the time, that's what they'll get."

So far, customers have been "shocked" by the service, Carter said.

Carter's Texaco station opened about four weeks ago. A grand opening is planned for Saturday, March 8.

Carter hopes to have gasohol available by Saturday to compliment his high octane Texaco gas (89.5 octane in regular and 87 octane in low lead). In addition to selling Texaco products, Carter sells "other top quality products."

Texaco will service "all makes and models." Ron Gates, who is a Michigan certified master mechanic, and Carter, who is a Michigan certified mechanic, handle the repairs. The service station does not do body work, however.

"Ron is an efficient mechanic and I'm just pleased to have him with me," Carter said. "He's part of our friendly service oreinted staff."

Carter spent 20 years in the U.S. Navy and is a Vietnam veteran. He moved to Charlevoix six months ago.

Texaco is open six days a week (Monday-Saturday) from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m. Tentative plans for the summer, Carter said, is to open the station seven days a week from 6 a.m. until midnight.

Scouts honored

Two patrols of Boy Scout Troop 11 won third place ribbons in the annual Northern District Klondike Derby held Saturday at Mancelona, according to Scoutmaster Louis [illegible]

The derby, one of the activities sponsored by the Scenic Trails Council, attracted 250 scouts from communities throughout the district.

Members of the Owl patrol are Dan Buday, patrol leader, Jim Smith, Scott Weliver, Richie Thayer and Bob Norman.

Members of the Frontiersman Patrol are Jim Landon, patrol leader, Richard Wurst, Gerry Chase, and Jeff [illegible]

Census workers needed

Census takers are needed in the Charlevoix area, according to Sue Crampton, district manager of the area's [illegible].

The Traverse City office will conduct the census in the counties of Alcona, Alpena, Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Iosco, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Missaukee, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle and Roscommon. Applications for temporary employment are now being accepted at the office.

Ms. Crampton said that positions to be filled include clerk, crew leader, and enumerator (census taker). Rates of pay range from $3.50 to $4.50 per hour. The term of employment will be from 4 to 10 weeks. The peak hiring period will be March and April.

All applicants must pass a written test and must be able to communicate effectively with the public. Enumerators must be physically fit for the job.

The Traverse City office is located at 1100 Woodmere. The telephone number is 941-9632.

Bay Shore Steel plans grand opening

A three day grand opening celebration will be held this week at Bay Shore Steel on US-31

The grand opening is planned for Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. The public is invited to attend and tour the new facility Prizes will be awarded hourly and visitors will have a chance to register for the grand prize - a 10 speed Huffy bicycle - to be given away March 15. Coffee and doughnuts will also be available.

Bay Shore Steel moved into its new faciltiy one year ago Originally, the company was located on old US-31. In addition to steel, the company has also established a hardware. Besides nails, screws, bolts and nuts, the hardware carries name brand tools (Stanley, Black n' Decker), paint, plus plumbing and electrical supplies.

"I think this (hardware) is needed in Bay Shore," said Manager Frank Shaler "This is a growing area

"And besides that we have contractors who - when they buy steel - need other supplies. So we are offering them one stop shopping. And each week we are adding to our line of products"

Shaler is quick to point out that when stopping at Bay Shore Steel you "don't have to put a quarter in a parking meter, either.

"We have lots of convenient parking and we're right on the highway."

Shaler, a resident of Boyne City, has been employed at Bay Shore Steel two months. He previoulsy worked for a hardware and was in the construction business for six years

Bay Shore Steel is owned by Ted Wojan.

Area growers visit Ohio plant

Area growers accompanied Na-Churs Plant Food Company's representatives on a recent visit to Na-Churs' headquarters in Marion, Ohio. This was one of many groups to participate in Na-Churs new Customer Orientation Program, which provides customers an opportunity to tour the Marion, Ohio, facility and learn about the company and its products.

While visiting Na-Churs Plant Food Company, the guests were given a slide presentation showing the history and growth of the company over the past 33 years. The day's agenda included a tour of the soil testing laboratory, the manufacturing facilities, and the quality control laboratory. In addition, the guests met with key management personnel from Administration, Marketing, Agronomy, Product Research and Development, Manufacturing, and Finance for an in-depth look at the Na-Churs Liquid Fertilizer business.

Na-Churs Plant Food Company is the oldest and largest marketer and manufacturer of high quality, complete liquid fertilizer.

HAYES TOWNSHIP CLERK

311 put on probation in 1979

By Peg Ohle

One Charlevoix County woman was put on probation last year for littering, and another woman received the same sentence for using an illegal radar detector.

These are just two examples of probation cases handled by Jennifer L. Brindel, chief probation officer of the 90th Judicial District Court as revealed in her annual report.

However, these obviously minor probation cases had plenty of tough company on the probation officer's docket.

Fifty-nine persons were put on probation for driving while under the influence of liquor; 23 for impaired driving; 30 for simple larceny, 21 for malicious destruction of property; 18 for possession of marijuana, 15 for larceny under $100; 15 for assault and battery; and 11 for being disorderly persons, among a total of 311.

The 90th Judicial District Court, covering Charlevoix and Emmet counties, is headed by Judge David W. Fershee. When he sentences an individual to a probation term, that person comes under the supervision of the probation officer. Probation may be accompanied by other sentences such as a jail term or fine, and in the cases of the more serious crimes, usually is.

While on probation, some offenders are referred to community agencies for assistance. Last year, the largest number of these attended the alcohol highway safety classes at the Counseling Place. This program gives the first offender an opportunity to plead to the lesser charge of impaired driving instead of driving while under the influence of liquor if he completes the classes.

Last year, also, offenders were referred to Alcoholics Anonymous, the Brighton Mental Health Clinic, Cheboygan Area Counseling Center, Chip Counseling Center, Halfway Home, Native American Recovery Center, Petoskey Area Counseling Center, Traverse City Adult Mental Health, and the Women's Resource Center.

Others were sentenced to participate in the Work Program to assist such organizations as Big Brothers-Big Sisters, the county jail, the Humane Society, the county fairgrounds, and the Halfway Home.

Another duty of the probation officer is making pre-sentence investigations when requested by the Judge. The investigations include background information on the offender, a police report, and any information about prior criminal convictions. It is accompanied by a recommendation for sentencing, which the judge takes into consideration in making his determinations.

As a result of 272 pre-sentence investigations conducted by the probation officer in the 90th Judicial District, 122 were assessed fines and costs and 67 were sent to jail for periods ranging from two days to one year. These were in addition to those placed on probation and those receiving deferred or delayed sentences.

Still another duty of the probation officer is collecting court appointed attorney fees and restitution to injured parties. Mrs. Brindel reports that in 1979, her department collected attorney fees in the amount of $1,972 in Charlevoix County and $3,072 in Emmet County. Restitution to injured parties in the amount of $4,306 was collected in Charlevoix County and $4,994 in Emmet County.

BEST C.A.F.E.

Ford has the best Corporate Average Fuel Economy of any major U.S. car maker. C.A.F.E. is the government's measure of auto companies' progress in gas mileage each year. It is an average using the EPA rating system and projected 1980 total model year car sales mix as submitted to the U.S. government in December 1979.

Only Ford among the major U.S. companies ranks first on this basis.

Remember, C.A.F.E. is an average, so consult EPA ratings for individual car's mileage.

*1980 EPA ratings for comparison. Your mileage may differ depending on speed, distance and weather. Actual highway mileage will probably be lower.

HURRY!

Take delivery between Feb. 11, 1980 and March 22, 1980, and receive a check directly from Ford Motor Company, or apply an equal amount to your down payment. Offer good at Ford Dealers only on new 1979 and 1980 Thunderbirds and Fairmonts, including dealer-owned demonstrators.

Reward offered

A reward of up to $4,300 has been placed on the heads of those responsible for the wanton killing of 11 elk in the Pigeon River Country.

To earn the reward, citizens with information on the elk killings should immediately contact the Department of Natural Resources Gaylord District law chief Pat Pyers at 517-732-3541.

Raised by the Safari International Club's Michigan members and local business men and sportsmen, the reward is the largest ever offered to convict a Michigan game law violator. It will be paid to citizens who provide conservation officers with information that brings a conviction in the elk killing case.

The elk were killed in late January and early February. Eight were shot from the road, at close range, and left. No meat was taken. The killer, or killers, did not even walk up to the elk after they shot them, DNR lawmen said after checking for tracks in the snow. One was a trophy eight-point bull. Several were calves.

Conservation officers need information from someone who has first-hand knowledge of the killings, or who knows someone who has. This means someone who saw the animals shot, or knows where the meat is from the three that were butchered, Pyers said.

Obituaries

MARTHA AVERY

Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph E. (Martha C.) Avery, 74, who died Feb. 27 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Friday at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery at Muskegon.

Mrs. Avery, the former Martha C. DeMars was born at Brunswick, Michigan, Sept. 20, 1905. She was married to Mr Avery at Brunswick July 27, 1925. They resided in Muskegon until moving to Waterford in 1949. They moved to Charlevoix in 1969 to make their home. Mr. Avery preceded her in death in February 1975. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and its Altar Society and the Charlevoix Senior Citizens group.

She is survived by two sons, Valois A. of Charlevoix and Oliver J. of Belleville; a daughter, Mrs. Loretta Francis of Ortonville; 14 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; a brother, Lawrence DeMars of Brunswick and four sisters, Mrs. Kenneth (Lucile) Nelson of SanMateo, Calif., Mrs. Roy (Clara) Long, Mrs. Alton (Dorothy) Forward and Mrs. Roy (Louise) Skinner, all of Muskegon

The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday evening

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

BEATRICE BERGERON

Miss Beatrice L. Bergeron, 84, a resident of Charlevoix since 1965, was dead on arrival at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Feb. 26

Born in Chicago Feb. 22, 1895, Miss Bergeron always resided there. She was a hostess at Conrad Hilton Hotel until retiring and moving to Charlevoix. She was a member of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital

She is survived by four nieces, Mrs. Georgia Picard of Charlevoix, Mrs. Lucile Green of Oak Park, Ill., Mrs Elizabeth O'Leary of Riverside, Conn., and Mrs. Betty [illegible] of Glenview, Ill.

Arrangements were in charge of the Winchester Funeral Home.

HILDA MILLER

Mrs. John (Hilda) Miller, 82, of Eastport, died Thursday at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient since September.

Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery at Eastport.

Born in Tourington, England, Sept. 5, 1897, the former Hilda Hearn came to the United States in 1916. She was married to Mr. Miller. They made their home in Detroit. Early in the 1940s they purchased a home on Torch Lake where they spent the summer months until 1965 when it became their permanent home. Mr. Miller preceded her in death in 1974. She was a member of the Upper Torch Lake Association and had been active in community affairs.

She has no immediate survivors.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ALBERT HAZEL

Funeral services for Albert J. Hazel, 68, who died unexpectedly early Monday shortly after being admitted to the Charlevoix Area Hospital, will be held at the Hanlin Funeral Home in Millington. Interment will be in Watertown cemetery at Millington.

There will be a visitation at the Winchester Funeral Home here from 7 until 9 p.m. Tuesday. The Rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m

Born at Brimley, Feb. 10, 1912, Mr. Hazel was married to the former Annabelle Elsmore at Flint, Feb. 24, 1936. He was employed at General Motors Parts Division in Flint until his retirement in 1970. At that time they came to Charlevoix to make their home in Hayes township. He was a member of St. Mary's Church, the Father Pierre Council No. 7172, Knights of Columbus, and the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Richard of North Lake and two brothers, Frank of Dona Ana, N.M., and Lawrence of Flint.

JOAN PETITT

Funeral services for a former local businesswoman, Mrs. Ray (Joan) Petitt, 37, were held Saturday at the Messinger Mortuary Chapel in Scottsdale, Ariz. The Rev. Damon V Vaughn of the Coronado Baptist Church officiated. Interment was in the Paradise Valley Cemetery at Scottsdale.

Mrs. Petitt died Feb. 21 at St. Luke's Hospital in Scottsdale following a long illness.

The former Joan Black was born in Tampa, Fla., March 28, 1942. She was married to Mr. Petitt and came to Charlevoix. Both were cosmotologists and in the early 1960's operated a beauty salon in the Oleson complex. In 1965 they moved to Petoskey where they operated the Modern Beauty shop until June 1979 when they moved to Scottsdale. There they operated the Hair Image beauty salon.

Mrs. Pettit is survived by her husband; two sons, Jeffrey and David, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Black of Charlevoix; two brothers, Donald Black of Petoskey and Eugene Martin of Savannah, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. William (Debbie) Bellinger of Charlevoix, Mrs. Guy (Claudia) Lewinski of Alanson and Tina Black of Scottsdale.

JOHN P. CLOCK

Funeral services for John P. Clock, 84, father of John R. (Bob) Clock, were held Saturday at the Ross B. Northrop Funeral Home in Northville.

Mr. Clock, a frequent visitor here, died unexpectedly Feb. 27 at his home in Southfield.

He was born in Detroit Jan. 13, 1896, and was a member of the American Expeditionary Forces in Russia (Polar Bears) during World War I.

He was married to the former Agnes Winter in Detroit in 1923. She preceded him in death in 1964.

Mr. Clock retired as an auditor for Ford Motor Company in 1962 after 43 years with the company

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Ellen Jean) Gross of Plymouth; a son, J. Robert of Charlevoix; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Anniversaries

Mr. & Mrs. Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Phillips will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, March 8.

The Phillips' reside on Six Mile Lake.

The former Sarah Petrie, Mrs. Phillips was born in East Jordan. She met her husband in Detroit and they were married in Clawson. Mr. Phillips worked for General Motors and was manager of a service station in Detroit. They retired and moved to the Charlevoix area three years ago.

The Phillips' have five daughters: Mrs. Charles (Sue) Davis of Northridge, Ca.; Mrs. Eldred (Sally) Gegenheimer of Hadley; Mrs. Gordon (Alice) Gooding of Burbank, Ca.; Mrs. Richard (Mary Jane) Harding of Troy; and Mrs. Dale (Toni) Weeden of Dryden. They also have 19 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

An open house is planned for June 7 in Royal Oak.

Bands perform

The Charlevoix Middle School bands, participating in the District II Band and Orchestra Festival at Harbor Springs Saturday, received II ratings for their performances their director, Michael Filkins, said.

The eighth grade band was awarded a II and two III's in concert and a II in sight reading which added up to a III.

The younger band, making its first festival appearance, received straight III's including three in concert and one in sight reading.

Filkins said that the bands played well.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

One of life's most compelling temptations consists of trying to "get away with" something, particularly when we see those around us apparently doing it, from cutting classes in school to being less than honest in our dealings with others, financial or otherwise. However, sooner or later life will catch up with you, for you will either ruin your reputation, destroy your health or get badly hurt, depending on the nature of your transgressions. you will learn in Church that we must all pay our debt to that big Accounting Department in the sky, but that we may then make a fresh start. You will find that it pays to live by the rules, for there is no better feeling than the peace of mind you will enjoy as a result of it.

Sue Killam joins Health Dept. staff

Susan Killam, R.N., is the newest staff member of District Health Department No. 3. She is a nurse practitioner and will be working with women in the area of family planning. Ms. Killam is a recent graduate of the OB-GYN Nurse Practitioner Program of the Planned Parenthood Association of Wisconsin. The new family planning services will be funded mainly by federal and state monies.

In addition to her work as an OB-GYN nurse-practitioner, Ms. Killam is also a family nurse practitioner. She completed her studies in that area at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio in 1975. She has three years experience as a family nurse practitioner in the Manistee area.

Ms. Killam commented about her new position of supplying family planning services through the Health Department by saying, "Woman's reproductive health is an interesting area due to the dynamics and complexity of the issues involved."

Originally from Canada, Ms. Killam has been a resident of Michigan for 10 years. She became a registered nurse after graduating from the Royal Victoria Hospital School of Nursing in Montreal, Quebec. Her other interests include traveling, racquetball, reading, needlework, skiing and sailing.

Ms. Killam is conducting family planning clinics at the Petoskey branch office of District Health Department No. 3 on Thursdays. Family planning clinics are also held at the East Jordan branch office of the District Health Department on every other Wednesday. The next East Jordan clinic will be held on March 12.

MATTHEW J. DOAN of Charlevoix has been appointed a cadet in the Lake Superior State College criminal justice program.

He is the son of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Doan

The cadet program, part of a complete degree curriculum, "explains Professor James Blashill of the LSSC criminal justice faculty, "gives students an opportunity to observe or participate in activities with an agency in the field

A typical four year criminal justice student will spend at least 180 hours working with a variety of agencies, such as: local municipal police and county sheriff departments, Michigan State Police, Lake Superior State College Campus Security, Kinross Correctional Facility and local probation and parole agencies

In addition, several agencies in Canada have also accepted students as interns

Doan, a junior criminal justice major, is a 1977 graduate of Charlevoix High School

Another vote on water tower?

Voters in the City of Charlevoix Tuesday rejected a proposed bond issue that would have allowed the city to borrow [illegible] for construction of a new water tower and issue general obligation bonds.

The issue was defeated 223-165. Only 11 percent of the registered voters in the city particpated.

"We had a real light turnout," City Manager Jim Brinker admitted. "In fact, I am more disappointed with the turnout than I am with the outcome."

Nevertheless, Brinker said the outcome was "not a true picture of what the people want."

"I think we should try again," he said.

Brinker is proposing the issue be put on the ballot in August or November. The Charlevoix City Council was expected to discuss the election results Monday night, but failed to do so.

City officials had proposed to construct a 300,000 gallon water tower on the golf course, replacing the 70 year-old 100,000 gallon tower on Park Avenue.

The issue passed in the 1st Ward 61-[illegible], but was defeated in the 2nd Ward [illegible] and in the 3rd Ward 77-44.

The voters also rejected an amendment to the City Charter that would have made the city clerk an appointed rather than elected official

The amendment was defeated [illegible]

Voters in the 1st Ward approved the amendment [illegible] while voters in the 2nd Ward turned it down [illegible] as did voters in the 3rd Ward [illegible]

An amendment to the City Charter that would have permitted the city council to set the salary for the clerk instead of the compensation committee was defeated [illegible]

The amendment was approved in the 1st Ward [illegible]. Voters in the 2nd Ward opposed it [illegible] as did voters in the 3rd Ward [illegible].

According to state law, the city cannot place the clerk's issue back on the ballot for two years.

Going... Going...

Despite objections from local officials, it appears the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew will be moved from Charlevoix to Duluth, Minn.

"The last word I heard was that the (Coast Guard) district office in Cleveland had made up its mind to move it (Sundew)," City Manager Jim Brinker said Monday night. "So now it's up to the (Coast Guard) officials in Washington."

Since the loss of the Blackthorn, which collided with a freighter in Tampa Bay, Coast Guard officials have been thinking about reassigning a couple vessels. The most talked about shift would send the Mesquite from Duluth to Galveston, Texas (to service the Gulf of Mexico) and the Sundew from Charlevoix, where it has been stationed since 1958, to Duluth. The Sundew is considered a natural for Duluth because of its ice breaking capabilities. Buoy tending duties out of Charlevoix would be shared by the Acacia of Grand Haven (to Fox Island and the Bramble out of Port Huron (the [illegible]).

It is possible that the Sundew and its 55 man crew would be replaced by a smaller vessel similiar to the one in St Ignace, which has a 17 man crew

The thought of the 180 foot Sundew leaving Charlevoix has caused quite a stir. The Charlevoix City Council has passed a resolution asking officials to keep the Sundew here. In the resolution, council noted that the Sundew has been in Charlevoix for over 20 years, that it attracts many tourists, that its crew members have performed many civic services, and that its departure would be an "economic loss to the business community." Brinker has sent letters to Coast Guard headquarters in Washington, to Sen. Don Riegle and Sen. Carl Levin and to Rep. Bob Davis, trying to persuade officials to keep the Sundew in Charlevoix. Superintendent of Schools Gordon VanWieren and First State Bank President Lou Hollow have also mailed telegrams to officials in an effort to save the Sundew

Losing the Sundew would have a great impact on the economic environment of the city," Brinker said

According to Lt. Commander Warren Miller, the Sundew's monthly payroll is $43,160. A good share of that money is spent in Charlevoix - on housing, materials, services and even food for the commissary.

The Sundew services 103 buoys from Michigan City, Ind. to Port Inlet to Cheboygan. It also rescues icebound vessels. Last week it was summoned to Grand Traverse Bay to free a 400 foot tanker carrying almost 50,000 barrels of gasoline and fuel oil

Coast Guard officials are expected to make a decision soon

Board of Review rules

Property will not lose value because of radioactive routes

By Tom Dammann

A petition to devalue property because it borders a state highway and is close to a railroad which are both designated radioactive materials shipping routes and therefore dangerous was denied Monday by the Marion Township Board of Review

The petitioner and property owner, Christa-Maria, based her request on a recent decision by the Texas State Supreme Court. The Court "awarded a Texas landowner $105,000 in compensation for property devaluation because an electric utility had built a spur adjacent to the landowner's property for the purpose of transporting radioactive wastes from a nuclear facility." Christa-Maria told the board.

She quoted directly from a book, "Accidents will Happen" written by William T. Reynolds, Environmental Action Foundation (Harper Row)

"The Texas Supreme Court upheld the landowner's contention that the possibility of an accident did exist," Christa-Maria read from the book. "This would present an added risk to potential buyers of the property, resulting in a devaluation of about $300 per acre."

Christa-Maria then pointed out that her home is located several hundred feet back from Michigan State Highway 66, less than a mile outside Charlevoix City Limits and is a quarter of a mile east of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad's mainline north to Petoskey.

Moreover, she added, her home is some four miles southeast of Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant that has used these routes for the shipment of radioactive materials at various times.

The board listened to her statement with interest and then turned down her request. Board Chairman Ronald W Rybicki stated that he thought her reasons were "political" and that no other residents along M 66 had ever expressed similar fear that their property would lose value because the highway is used occasionally for the transport of radioactive materials

Christa Maria said she will appeal to the State Tax Tribunal in Lansing

She is one of the leaders of the Charlevoix Area Concerned Citizens, a group which has filed an intervention with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to deny Consumers Power Company's petition to increase the size of Big Rock's nuclear fuel waste pool

Full hearings on the intervention will be held by the NRC later this summer or early fall in Petoskey

Residents offer suggestions on city's rec facilities

John Hess stood next to the slide projector. A switch in one hand to advance the slides. A pen in the other to jot down notes.

Before starting his presentation, Hess surveyed his audience.

"This is not a public hearing," he quickly pointed out. "This is a workshop.

"I'll start by telling you that I am a member of the Recreation Commission and that I have been hired by the city to write a comprehensive recreational plan...We have you here tonight to find out what kinds of things you want in that plan...We would like to take your ideas, tie them together and implement them...Personally, I'm conservative...I don't think we need to spend a lot of money to improve our recreational facilities...I don't believe in chasing after grants...I think the whole idea is to do-it-yourself...If we do get grants that's icing on the cake."

With that, Hess turned on the projector and the workshop got underway.

What would you like to see done with Charlevoix's recreational land?

That question was kicked around for 2½ hours Monday night by members of the Recreation Commission, City Council and the general public

Parcel by parcel, the city's recreational land was scrutinized and reviewed. Suggestions ranged from cleaning a beach to buying additional property.

All of the suggestions will be studied by the Recreation Commission - Hess, Tom Felter, Dave Novotny and Conrad Kloester - before a master plan is written

Hess said he hopes to complete the plan this spring

Following are some suggestions offered Monday night - starting with recreational facilities on the south side of the city

Ball Diamonds - Several improvements were recommended at the large softball diamond. Namely 1) moving the fence back 2) putting up a new fence 3) installing a warning track 4) grading the field 5) sodding parts of the field and 6) purchasing a new scoreboard.

Ferry Avenue Beach - Because of the pier, there is no "flushing action" along the beach and the water is stagnant. To improve the situation it was suggested a culvert be installed under the pier to allow for a "flow through." It was also suggested the city purchase the Robert Schleman property adjacent to the park, use city property across the street for parking and cut out a volleyball court and fill it with sand to reduce injuries.

Skating Rink - The high school site is considered an "ideal" location for the rink, but there is concern about a conflict between hockey players and figure skaters. It was suggested the city consider having a second rink at Mt McSauba. One would be designated for figure skaters. The other for hockey players. It was also mentioned that perhaps Charlevoix should offer hockey once again - as a recreational program.

East Park - "It's a nice, small park," said Hess. "I think it's pretty, well kept and should be left alone." Hess added that while the trout pond is an attraction for the kids it is a distraction for band members performing on the Park Stage. Hess suggested a covering be placed over the pond during concerts. Hess also noted that the city has filed for grant money to improve the marina facilities. It was suggested that the city try to acquire the Wharfside and Parkside in future years.

Water Tower - If a new water tower is ever constructed, it has been suggested that the city utilize its property on Park Avenue (where the present tower is) as a park - complete with a walkway and viewing stand at the top of the hill overlooking the Pine River Channel. It was also suggested the city use the land for parking.

Michigan Beach - Major repair work is expected to start this summer at Michigan Beach to control erosion. It was suggested the city use the "upper bluff" for a fit trail for joggers and that the circle drive and cooking facilities be eliminated.

Golf Course - It has been proposed that one or two "shelters" be installed on the north end of the course to protect the golfers during a storm. It was also mentioned that a "couple" traps be opened to make the course more competitive

Depot Beach - To increase use of Depot Beach it was suggested that more parking be established, that the beach be maintained, that a pier be constructed and that "play things" for young children be considered

Mt. McSauba - The big question is should the city go ahead and purchase a snow machine for Mt. McSauba? Mike Bonnello said it would extend the ski season by six weeks and improve the ski conditions. But some residents say the city is trying "to make a mountain out of a mole hill" and that it is not worth sinking more money into. The Recreation Commission has asked for a report on what must be done at Mt. McSauba and how much it will cost. It was also noted that an erosion problem exists along the Lake Michigan shoreline and on the ski hill. Hess suggested a sledding hill be designed, too.

Tennis Courts - It was suggested that improvements be made to the parking area to eliminate buildup of water and that benches be placed alongside the courts for spectators.

District tournament Tuesday for Charlevoix speech team

The annual district tournament for high school speech teams participating in individual events as a part of the Forensic Program will be held at Petoskey at 1 p.m. Tuesday, March 18.

Charlevoix High School will be one of the area teams participating in the tournament after placing well in invitational tournaments held at Standish Sterling and Gaylord recently. First and second place winners at district level will qualify for regional competition according to Mrs. Connie Ford, speech instructor

Last week Charlevoix placed third behind Frankenmuth and Grand Blanc at Standish Sterling.

Placing in the finals of the event were: John Grooters who placed first in the storytelling category after winning perfect scores in all his rounds from judges in the meet; Sheri Cook, 2nd, serious; Dori Olach, Keith Lehman, Paul Stangis, Mariko Regier and Mike Martin, 4th, multiple reading; Carla Sizemore, 4th, radio; Bob Best, 2nd, radio; Gary Carson, 3rd, 9-10 humorous; Kathy Pidek, 2nd, storytelling

Placing in the semi-finals were: Janine Browe and Patti Cook, 11th, and David Olach and Jim Boggs, 12th, dramatic duo; Kristy Mathews, 8th, open oratory; Martha Staley, 11th, 9-10 oratory; David Milligan, 7th, 9-10 humorous.

Other students participating were Richard Hodgson and Jim Gleason who missed the semi-finals by one percentage point behind teammates Olach and Boggs, dramatic duo; Mary Egler, Cindy Egler and Nanci Miller, storytelling; Shari Barnes, Beth Ford, Chris Peterson, Krista Allard, Colleen Wilhelm, Sue Greenway and Hope Malpeli, serious; Ron Archey, informative; Wendi and Jack Carlson, open humorous; Kelly Mathews, 9-10 oratory.

Carolyn Loper, Tami Noirot and Pat Camerelli will join the team for district competition.

Earlier, Charlevoix had placed second behind Saginaw Eisenhower and ahead of Gaylord in the Gaylord Invitational Individual Events.

Placing in the finals were Carla Sizemore who received special recognition for receiving a perfect score from all judges for a solid I in radio; John Grooters, 2nd, storytelling; Kristy Mathews, 2nd, open oratory; Shari Barns, 4th, serious; Kelly Mathews, 3rd, and Martha Staley, 4th, 9-10 oratory; Wendi Wright, 6th, and Jack Carlson, 7th, open humorous; Gary Carson, 4th, and David Milligan, 5th, 9-10 humorous.

Placing in the semi-finals were Olach and Boggs, 7th and Beth Ford and Angie Speiles, 8th, dramatic duo; Mary Egler, 7th, Kathy Pidek, 8th, Cindy Egler, 12th and Bob Best, 13th, storytelling; Sheri Cook, 6th, and Tammy Helms, 7th, serious.

Others who participated were Paul Stangis, 9-10 humorous; Dennis Batdorff, extremporaneous speaking; Janine Browe and Patti Cook, Hodgson and Gleason, dramatic duos; Keith Lehman, storytelling; Colleen Wilhelm, Dori Olach, Chris Peterson, Sue Greenway, Krista Allard, serious.

Mrs. Ford explained that speech activities are divided into three major categories, drama, debate and individual events in which students are presently involved. There are 12 categories, two designated to freshman and sophomore only. They are also divided into interpretive and public address events. Each student may select the categories of his choice but only two students may participate in any of the categories at the district level.

Those who qualify are determined by performances in invitational tournaments and, if necessary, an inter-squad run-off, Mrs. Ford explained further.

The team's goal is to return to state Class C-D title, which the team held in 1978-79, to Charlevoix.

Davis looking for senior intern

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A senior citizen from Northern Michigan will have the opportunity to learn firsthand how the federal government and the Congress operate on a daily basis.

Congressman Bob Davis is asking every senior citizen center in his district to nominate one person to serve as a senior intern on his staff from May 5-16. One of the nominees will then be selected at random to participate in the "Claude Pepper Senior Citizen Congressional Intern" program.

"I am looking for a senior who will take what he or she has gained back to Northern Michigan and share with the other seniors in the area," Davis said. "I know there are many, many qualified senior citizens in Northern Michigan, so I have asked every center to submit one name, and we'll just have to draw one name out of a hat."

Davis suggested the senior centers select an individual who is actively involved in senior projects and activities in the community. He also asked that the nominees be in good health, since a busy schedule is planned and the seniors will be required to do a lot of walking while in Washington. The only other requirements, Davis said, were that the individual has to be a resident of the 11th District and over 60 years of age.

The intern program, first begun in 1973, has brought more than 500 senior citizens to Washington from all parts of the country. More than 170 House and Senate offices are participating in this year's program.

All interested seniors should contact their nearest senior citizen center.

At a recent sales meeting in Nassau Bahamas, Joseph B. Beaudon was presented man of the year award for outstanding sales achievement for 1979 by Doug Lamb, president of Parts Associate, Inc.

Charlevoix to host softball tournament

Charlevoix will host the Women's Class B fast-pitch softball state championship Labor Day weekend.

In addition, Petoskey will host the Women's Class A state finals in August and the Men's Class C state finals Labor Day weekend.

Dave Sporny & Quintet featured at church concert

A new concept in church concerts will be initiated at the Charlevoix Congregational Church Sunday, March 16, with a "Soup and Sandwich" concert featuring Dave Sporny and the Northwestern Brass Quintet.

Soup and sandwiches will be served in the Fellowship Hall immediately following the church service at noon and the concert will commence at 12:45 p.m.

Ellen Addington, choir director at the church, told the Courier that the philosophy behind a concert at this hour is that it is more convenient for listeners than returning to the church at a later hour

Members of the Northwestern Brass Quintet are all accomplished musicians, according to Ms. Addington, who furnished thumb-nail biographies of the group

Dave Sporny, formerly with the Stan Kenton organization, is the leader of the Dave Sporny Big Band, a very popular group in demand all over the state. He is an instructor at Interlochen Arts Academy, where he teaches trombone and conducts the Studio Orchestra. Dave is also a member of the Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra.

Bill Coffindaffer, who plays horn with the Quintet, is also an instructor at Interlochen and recently returned to the United States after performing in Belgium. He, too, is a member of the Dave Sporny Big Band and the Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra

Gail Reyner was principal trombone with the Central Michigan University Orchestra and a member of the select Symphonic Wind Ensemble. However, she will be playing tuba with the quintet. She is a member of the Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra and serves as choir director at the Zion Lutheran Church in Petoskey. She is presently low brass instructor at the Bay View Conservatory of Music and also director of music in the Alanson-Littlefield School System.

Loa Russell, trumpet, was a member of the Central Michigan Wind Ensemble and Symphony Orchestra. Currently, she is completing work for her bachelor's degree at CMU and student-teaching in the Petoskey School System

Steve Eggleton, also trumpet, is band director in the Ellsworth Community School System. He was principal trumpet for two seasons with the Saginaw Symphony Orchestra and presently performs with the Midland and Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestras as well as the Dave Sporny band.

Elizabeth Humphrey was a fellowship student at Juilliard School of Music in New York City in both voice and piano. She was soprano artist in residence at the Bay View Assembly for six years. She toured extensively in recital on Community Concerts Series, and appeared as soprano soloist with the Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago, and Detroit Symphonies. She is presently organist at the Charlevoix Congregational Church.

The public is invited to attend the concert, for which there will be no admittance fee. However, a free will offering will be taken to help defray expenses.

Dr. Marjorie Matthews, superintendent of the Grand Traverse District for the United Methodist Church, was in Charlevoix Sunday to talk about her recent trip to Egypt. Dr. Matthews, shown here with Egyptian clothing, is mentioned as a leading prospect to become the first woman elected a bishop in the United Methodist Church.

Marriage - A taxing proposal

Bob Davis

The way our federal tax structure is presently set up, a husband and wife who both work generally pay more tax - as much as 130 percent or more - than they would if they were single.

Today approximately 57 percent of American married women work, but under our tax policy, their first dollar of income is taxed at the same rate - a higher rate - as the last dollar earned by their husbands. Because of our graduated income tax system, the more money you earn, the greater percentage you pay in income tax.

Around 30 different pieces of legislation dealing with the marriage tax issue have been introduced in the 96th Congress. There has been broad co-sponsorship, with nearly 200 Members adding their names to some of the bills. Because of this broad support, and as the result of pressure from many Congressmen, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee has finally agreed to hold hearings on the subject in early April. This is a good sign, and I am hopeful something can be passed before the year is over.

The second income in a family is no longer a luxury, but an economic necessity. One recent projection indicates that the female labor force participation will continue to grow through 1990 by about one million per year, nearly all of whom will be married women with minor children. Because of this discriminatory tax policy some couples are actually encouraged to divorce or live together unmarried just to avoid the tax.

There's something seriously wrong with a government policy that encourages that sort of thing.

Persons who wish to submit written testimony to the committee should send five (5) copies of the statement to the Committee on Ways and Means, U.S. House of Representatives, 1102 Longworth HOB, Washington, D.C. 20515 no later than April 3.

BALANCED BUDGET LONG OVERDUE

It looks like the federal budget may be balanced for fiscal year 1981.

The government has been overspending its budget every year for more than a decade, and the practice has been getting us into deeper and deeper economic trouble. It took an inflation rate rapidly approaching 20 percent to get the President to agree to balance the budget.

There seems to be broad support in Congress now to pass a balanced 1981 budget, and the Chairman of the House Budget Committee has also agreed with the idea. Agencies and programs are going to suffer budget costs and everyone will feel the punch. Defense spending is the only area that won't be cut, and in light of the current world situation and the lack of attention to our defense needs in the last few years, an increase in military spending is certainly justifiable.

A balanced federal budget is certainly not an immediate cure-all for our economic troubles. We may not see any immediate decline in the annual inflation rate. But, balancing the federal budget is a very necessary small first step.

Nine young ladies, daughters and nieces of members of Kappa Sigma and Xi Epsilon Gamma Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, recently joined the international sorority in a short candlelight ceremony held in the First State Bank Community Room. As part of the initiation ceremony, the girls received a silver necklace with rosebud and Greek letter pendant and a long-stemmed yellow rose. The girls, pictured above, are left to right: Tracey LeCureux, Stacey LeCureux, Abby Uhrick, Holly Edger, Jennifer Frabis, Christy Coolman, Heather Keller, Kimberly Keller, and Maria Tallberg.

Good old solid gold

Anne Kelly

Second only to watching the ball drop in Time Square on New Year's Eve was the two-part (but both parts were the same) special - "Solid Gold '79." The program was a psychodelic salute to the top 50 single hits of the year. Some of these were performed by the guest artists as recorded but slices of all were spun and danced to by a handful of boneless backround dancers. Who said prime time T.V. can't be X-rated.

Remember Glen Campbell? His rendition of "Rhinestone Cowboy" [illegible], perhaps more evidently than in most other occupations, the Peter Principle is alive and well. As a co-host, Dionne Warwick - who can belt out a song with the best of them - could have done better than Glen Campbell. Thank heavens for some brief comic relief when Steve Allen recited the lyrics to "Hot Stuff" as a dramatic reading. I thought I was the only one who had trouble matching song titles with scanty vocalized selections as T.V. album specials are being pushed, but sure enough the WOWO skit was reassuring to the contrary. (Just one more day of Slim Whitman will do me in...)

But this is perhaps too sarcastic a review. The hits today are the muzak of tomorrow. Amii Stewart [illegible] was fantastic, Blondie almost opened her mouth while singing "Heart of Glass," The Village People looked great in their get ups - and how does [illegible] wash her hair around all those little beads? It would be anti-climactic to end with Rod Stewart as the program dared to the other night, (the last shall be first and the first, last...), but what more can be said?

You have to have a sense of humor in the world of rock n' roll where the gimmick is the legal tender. As the price of gold sky rockets in the world market so too does it in the music business. And sometimes the price is as high as our integrity.

Did anyone watch "The Wizard of Oz"?

Bob Clock

Economics to decide '80 election

The closer we get to the election, the more obvious it becomes that the outcome probably will - and rightfully should - revlove more on economic issues than on the convolutions of international politics.

Greybeards swoon when they read of mortgages selling for 15 and 16 percent, with 20 percent down. How many times in the past few weeks have you heard a member of the older generation comment: "I'm glad I'm not in the market for a house today."

Or consider wholesale and retail inflation rates running between 18 and 19 percent on an annual basis. That's what the nation experienced in January and February, and there is no indication at this point that a nose-dive is in the immediate offing.

Other years in the spring we could look forward to a lessening in farm prices as the year rolled on. But not in 1980. Food prices actually have been bucking the inflation tide all winter; and if they do anything this spring and summer, the movement will be in an upward direction.

Or take interest rates. The prime is almost 18 percent today, and the experts see no major barrier between 18 and 20. This means a fellow who borrows money to run his business must turn a profit upwards of 18 percent — guaranteed — or he won't stay in business for long.

Can you imagine trying to do business under such conditions?

So who is the best man to put at the helm during the current financial crisis?

It certainly isn't Jimmy Carter. For the past several years now I have been [illegible] to have to slap lids on prices, wages and profits to bring inflation under control, but he refuses to listen. Controls worked for Richard Nixon in 1971 and there's no reason they wouldn't work for Carter today.

The president is huddling with his economic advisors this week in an effort to come up with a new anti-inflation program, but his track record to date is mighty poor.

Teddy Kennedy? He has most of the right anwers, but that bridge at Chappaquiddick surely will prove his undoing. Americans apparently aren't ready to forgive and forget.

Among the Republicans, John Anderson would probably be my first choice — if he hadn't come up with that gosh-awful scheme to impose a 50-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline and use the new revenue to beef up the Social Security system.

In the first place, why should the federal government put the bite on gasoline users to subsidize benefits for the disabled and elderly? This is a burden which should be borne equally by all Americans.

Secondly, the Social Security system is still as sound as the rock of Gibraltar (See Sylvia Porter, Petoskey News-Review, March 11, 1980) and does not need additional financing.

Anderson's gasoline tax — on top of the burdensome prices already charged for fuel — would only serve to further injure those working men and women of America who must use private transportation to reach their places of employment. A gasoline rationing system which would guarantee workers sufficient fuel to get to their jobs would be far more equitable.

But until Anderson backs down on his gasoline tax, it is nice to know that Gerald Ford is still waiting in the wings. Perhaps Jerry isn't flashy or brilliant, but the nation could make good use today of his plodding dedication and his ability to surround himself with able and intelligent public servants.

543 Charlevoix residents served by Northwest Michigan Human services agency

Letters

Editor:

Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency was operating the Energy Crisis Assistance Program for a 10 county area. The northern sector serviced out of the Petoskey branch office included Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

This program was implemented on Dec. 17, 1979 and ran through Feb. 19, 1980. At this time, all of the funds allocated for these counties had been spent. The program was finished more quickly than expected, probably due to high energy costs this winter in combination with inflation in general.

Some final statistics that the northern service sector may find interesting are as follows:

ACTUAL MONEY SPENT

Charlevoix:	$72,274.00
Antrim:	63,938.00
Emmet:	66,714.00
Total:	202,926.00

NUMBER OF FAMILIES SERVICED

Charlevoix:	243
Antrim:	220
Emmet	221
Total:	684

NUMBER OF PEOPLE SERVICED

Charlevoix	543
Antrim:	497
Emmet:	635
Total	1675

The total number of senior citizens (age 60 and over) serviced was 449. This means that out of all the people we serviced in the three county area, 26.8 percent were seniors.

We feel that this program was very successful and helped many families who would have had a very difficult or, in many cases, impossible time meeting their energy costs this winter. Also, we want to thank all of the media for their coverage of our program, the utility companies and fuel vendors of their excellent cooperation both in working so well with us and for referring their customers to this program, and finally all of the special service agencies for their cooperation and helpfulness in several capacities such as referring eligible clients, verifying needed information and implementation of this program. This excellent cooperation was very much appreciated and was a major reason the program was so successful.

Once again, we wish to thank everyone who contributed to the success of the Energy Crisis Assistance Program.

Sincerely,
Northwest Michigan

Humans 'most susceptible' to effects of radiation

Dear Citizens:

Of all the creatures on Earth, human beings have been found to be one of the most susceptible to the carcinogenic effects of radiation. A cockroach can receive more radiation and survive, than a human. A dose of 600 rem to the whole body will end in death. (A rem is a unit for measuring radiation) A dose of 300-350 rem to the whole body will be deadly in most cases. A dose of 300 rem or more to the whole body will be fatal in most cases. A whole body dose relates to when the entire body receives the dosage. But what are some of the effects of radiation on specific organs and tissue? Well, I'll tell you.

Female organs: a single dose to the ovaries of 125-150 rem may result in the ceasing of menstruation in 50 percent of the women. 170 rem dose can result in sterility for 1-3 yrs., and a dose of 500 rem will result in permanent sterility in most women. Keep in mind that a female (me) is born with all the ova she (I) will ever produce. Exposures of her (my) ovaries will effect all of her (my) eggs which are to be fertilized, leading to either defective offspring or hereditary effects on future generations.

Male sex organs: A dose of 50 rem or less may lead to inhibition of sperm production. 250 rem dose may produce sterility for 1-2 yrs. 500-rem will result in permanent sterility. Again, keep in mind that sperm may have defective genes that appear in offspring and future generations.

Blood, blood related organs: No more than 25 rems whole body dose will cause the lymphocytes, a variety of white blood cells, to drop by 50 percent and will take a week before the number returns to normal. Higher doses, or repeated or prolonged exposure will lead to a steep drop in blood cell count, resulting in a slow recovery. Destruction or disturbance of red or white blood cells will injure the bodies' ability to protect itself from infection and disease, promote clotting, and repair damaged tissue (cuts, bruises).

Skin: Exposure of the skin to 300-400 rem can cause temporary or permanent loss of hair, graying of hair, destruction of sweat glands, loss of the skins' suppleness and glossy texture.

Bones and teeth: 150 rem dose to a child's body has caused retardation of growth. Heavier doses have resulted in limb shortening. Local irradiation of the jaws has slowed teeth growth, infections of the teeth, loss of teeth, and destruction of the jawbone. Bones are very susceptible to radiation, especially strontium-90, absorbed as a result of drinking fall-out tainted milk or eating radioactive contaminated food.

Brain: 100 rem in the middle of the brain has resulted in continuous ringing in the ears, hyperactivity, apathy. Inducement of x-rays for scalp conditions have produced blindness, paraplegia, epilepsy, twitches, and ulcerations.

Lung: 2,000-3,000 rem (radiation dose received from treatment of breast cancer) has produced swelling and scarring of lung tissue, and possible tumors. Breathing of radioactive material, such as radon (gas in uranium mines) and radium (dust from uranium mines) has produced lung cancer. Some cases took as long as 17 years to appear. These statistics are from the National Academy of Sciences, National Research Council Report of the Advisory Committee on the Biological Effects of Ionizing Radiations. Dr. N.P. Knowton stated in his report on radiation that no more than 0.2 rem per week of gamma radiation was sufficient to cause alterations in the white and red blood cells.

Geneticists are convinced that there is no threshold for radiation-induced mutations - that is, there is no dose so low that it produces no mutations at all. Each dose, however small, that reaches a cell before conceptions, and birth carries the risk to future generations. In other words, it takes only one radioactive atom, one cell, and one gene to start the cancer or mutation cycle.

Dr. W.C. Huepe of the National Cancer Institute did a study on environmental cancers. His concluding sentence is worth quoting: "The sum total of the numerous observations on occupational, medicinal, and environmental radiation cancers cited indicates that civilized and industrial mankind has entered an artificial carcinogenic environment, in which exposure to ionizing radiation of various types and numerous sources will play an increasingly important role in the production of cancers."

In my previous letter, I stated that a second diesel generator will be operational within 24 hours after a loss-of-coolant accident." Not the emergency diesel generator, (which, by the way, has failed to start 9 out of 10 times it was tested)

When Big Rock asked for a life time exemption for the Emergency Core Cooling System, one of the requirements from the N.R.C. (Nuclear Regulatory Commission) was to maintain cooling of the reactor core in the event of loss of off-site power and on-site power, and the failure of the diesel generator. Big Rock believes they can maintain cooling of the core by having a back-up emergency diesel generator operational within 24 hrs. after a loss-of-coolant accident.

Before Big Rock went back on-line in spring of 1977 they were supposed to modify the Fire Protection System. In the past 2½ years, Big Rock has been asking for extension after extension from this requirement. As of Feb. 1980, modification of the Fire Protection System has not been fulfilled as required by the N.R.C.

Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. (U.L.) founded in 1894 was formed to establish maintain, and operate labs for the investigation of materials, devices, products, equipment, constructions, methods and systems with respect to hazards affecting life and property. Many household appliances receive the third-party review by U.L.

The N.R.C. has no requirement for independent third-party evaluation, and product proof testing of safety related electrical equipment that controls and protects a nuclear power plant.

If the manufacturer of a commercial appliance wants to redesign or change his product, U.L. must review the proposed change to determine if the product presents a hazard. Again, the N.R.C. regulations do not require a third-party review to safeguard the public from the effects of improper product changes.

Big Rock is not a safe plant. And when it is shut down, I will be the first person to demand that employees out there have safe, reliable, non-nuclear jobs.

I stand by my position and statements.

Meet Charlevoix

By Peg Ohle

Marlene Cazzatt is extension home economist for Charlevoix, Antrim, and Kalkaska counties. This week the Courier talks with her about some things that families can do to stretch their dollars.

Q. Are you receiving many requests for help in making ends meet these days?

A. There's no question about it. We are giving more money management programs and people are requesting more pamphlets and booklets on budgeting and other subjects pertaining to money.

Q. Do you have any special means of helping people?

A. Yes. One of them is the computerized budgeting program. People can fill out forms showing how much money they have to spend and what their needs are. We put it all into a computer and the answer comes back showing the areas they can improve upon. The computer is an interesting tool.

Q. But what can you tell people about how to save money on such necessities as food and clothing?

A. Well, we recommend more home gardening and canning and freezing. Recently we wrote about an older couple who had picked apples and blackberries for applesauce and jam. Those who are lucky enough to have maple trees can make syrup, too. It is also important to watch for food sales, and using food coupons helps.

Q. What about clothing?

A. People are beginning to re-cycle clothing -- buying second hand and even re-making. A woman who runs a second hand shop in Bellaire told me that woolen clothes are especially in demand because of the high price of woolen fabrics. I can remember that my first suit as a young girl was made from a second hand suit.

Q. I can remember those re-makes, too, and at today's prices they can certainly be a way of saving clothing money. Are all age groups going this route?

A. We are told that they are. Patrons at the shop in Bellaire range from young families seeking ways to stretch their clothing budgets to senior citizens looking for bargains to help them make do on a fixed income.

Q. What else are people doing to save money?

Q. Using wood for energy, and bartering. These two kind of go together because many people who have woodlots are trading wood for other goods and services. Trading baby-sitting for services such as transportation is very common. In some places, they are forming food cooperatives. The Extension Service has information on food cooperatives and can put people in touch with someone who knows [illegible].

Q. What about the high cost of gasoline?

A. In Antrim County, at least, more and more people are using the Dial-A-Ride for trips to town or to work. Some people have even put their automobile up on blocks for the winter.

Q. And the high cost of housing?

A. That's a real problem. I understand that the least expensive type of housing is probably a pre-fab in which the owner does the interior work himself. Of course, remodeling an older home is usually a good deal, too, if the owner can do the work himself, but it takes more time to tear it apart and put it back together again.

Q. What can be done about the high cost of health care?

A. As far as the Extension Service is concerned, the main thing we can do is offer information on nutrition. In fact, that is what we do most of -- furnish information on an endless number of subjects. We have a lot of resources. We have the best organized educational system of any public agency. We go back 60 years, with the University and all its campus specialists to draw from.

Q. How do you disseminate this information?

A. We have hundreds of booklets and pamphlets. Most of them are free and others cost only a small amount. All a person has to do is call us or write us a note requesting information on a certain subject -- on energy-saving ideas for the home, for instance.

Q. Didn't the Extension Service start out as a club-oriented organization?

A. Yes, and we still have some clubs. But in this day of the mass media -- television, radio, newspapers -- we spend more time using them to concentrate on educational programs. And, of course, we present programs on a large number of subjects. You see, the Extension Service tries to offer help before problems arise.

Q. How are you funded?

A. By the United States Department of Agriculture, which funnels the money to the State, and the State to Michigan State University. The County pays for our office space, transportation of employees, supplies, and secretaries.

Q. Where are your Charlevoix County headquarters?

A. In Boyne City, at 319 N. Lake Street. Our phone number is 582-6232. Anyone needing information on any subject may contact us there. We would like to suggest, too, that everyone using the service let their County Commissioners and State Legislators know how much they appreciate it. I'm serving three counties now because our funds were cut, so I can't spend as much time in each county as I would like to.

Rabach to be feted at party on March 22

Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach, who is retiring at the end of this month, will be the guest of honor at a party on Saturday evening, March 22, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

Tickets for the occasion, which will include cocktails and dinner, may be obtained from either Jane Brannon or Helen Phillips in the County Building.

Rabach is completing 11 years in the clerk's position, and before that, served 14 years as supervisor of Charlevoix Township.

St. Pat's dinner Sunday at St. Mary's

St. Mary's will sponsor a St. Patrick's dinner on Sunday from 11:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The traditional Irish dish, corned beef and cabbage, will be served as well as baked ham with cherry sauce and mashed potatoes. There will also be a salad bar featuring a wide choice of salads, homemade breads and desserts and a choice of beverage.

Ticket are $3 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens, $1.50 for children under 12, and $12 for a family ticket. There is no charge for children under five years of age.

Mrs. Pat Donnelly is general chairman of the event.

On the day of the dinner, Mrs. Bernie DeVries will be dining room hostess; Fritz Allard will be in charge of the kitchen; Mrs. Josephine Bind, coffee; Mrs. Edward P. Hansen and Mrs. Chester Otmanowski, salads; Mrs. Donald Hortsman and Mrs. Evelyn Simon, breads and desserts; Mrs. Michael Miller and Mrs. Nelson Fletcher, take-outs; the Michael Bartz family, clean-up.

Prior to the dinner Mrs. Gabriel Campbell and Mrs. Donnelly will be soliciting food for the dinner; Mrs. Tim Elenbaas, Mrs. Larry Campbell and Mrs. Donnelly will set up and decorate the dining room.

Dr. Leonard Suidara

Dr. Leonard Suidara new island physician

By Fran Martin

St. James – Dr. Leonard J. Suidara, D.O., has become Beaver Island's resident physician and surgeon, effective Jan. 1, 1980

Dr. Suidara comes to the island with 35 years of practice in southeastern Michigan, including 33 years in Berkley and two years in Highland Park.

Dr. Suidara, who is Board-certified in Family Medicine and Board-eligible in Pathological Surgery, said he accepted the position here "as a retreat from his practice" in southern Michigan. "As long as I remained in the area, my patients of many years kept coming back. I had retired but they wouldn't allow me to give up my practice as long as I was in the area" Dr. Suidara said. He went on to say that when Dr Joseph Christie retired last fall and left the island, he became interested in the opening. He and his family had vacationed on the island in past years so he knew what it was like. He then applied for and was accepted for the state-subsidized practice.

Dr. Suidara is a native of Detroit. He was graduated from Wayne State University as a Registered Pharmacist. He then received his medical training at the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery in Iowa before returning to Berkley to establish the practice which he continued for 35 years.

Since Dr. Suidara and his wife, Alexandrene, came to the island in December, he said he has been busier than he'd like to be. Though he has not had many serious cases, there have been many cases of viral infections which have kept him close to his office at the Medical Center in Downtown St. James.

He said they like life on the island though they do miss seeing their six children, Dr. Jerome E., an Obstetrician and Gynecologist who practices at Cheboygan; Leonard A. of Troy; twins Timothy A. of Detroit and Thomas B. of Cadillac, James A. and Mary Beth, both of whom train horses at Win-a-gin Farms outside Detroit.

Dr. Christie, who retired last fall after 11½ years on the island, is now at Port Charlotte, Fla.

Charlevoix Garden Club keeps city looking beautiful

Most dyed-in-the-wool gardeners have been poring over their seed catalogs for several weeks now, and some have already placed their orders.

Among the most avid gardeners in the area are members of the Charlevoix Garden Club, so with all these thoughts in mind, the Courier decided it was time to have a talk with the president of the Garden Club.

Nancy Wood is at the helm this year, the third time she has served the group as president over a period of several years, and she is as enthusiastic as an newcomer to a board of directors.

"The Charlevoix Garden Club was originally a women's club for gardeners. The women would bring their children to the meetings, and while the children played, they would sip tea and talk about their gardens," Mrs. Wood explained.

"Now, while most members have their own special gardens and they work hard in them, we also have another interest. We take care of the public gardens in Charlevoix."

And in addition to the three public gardens, the Garden Club plants and maintains the flower boxes at the Post Office and maintains the greenery in the lobbies of the Public Library and the Elementary School. Also, last year, the Club selected and planted the flowers for the hanging baskets on the lamp posts in downtown Charlevoix.

The public gardens all serve to beautify Charlevoix but are of different types. The flower beds on Mercer Boulevard are called the "Charlevoix Memorial Gardens" and are dedicated to persons with a special love for flowers and shrubs and trees. Memorial donations are accepted to buy plantings for this garden, and it is hoped that some time soon a plaque listing the names of those memorialized can be added.

The triangular garden at the intersection of Michigan Avenue and Petoskey Street serves as a colorful welcome to downtown Charlevoix. Last December, members of the Garden Club put in a new layer of top soil and planted new tulips and daffodils in this plot. After they are through blooming, annuals will be added for color all summer.

The Father Charlevoix Gardens at the west end of Dixon Avenue overlooking Lake Michigan won a Sears Roebuck Foundation award for the Garden Club. Planted with trees and flowers, the area also is provided with a bench for relaxation.

For the last four years, on Arbor Day, the Garden Club has planted a tree on the grounds of the Charlevoix High School and will continue the program this year.

The Club has also furnished plants to the Ironton Trainable School for students to plant and care for.

At Christmas time, members of the Garden Club make favors and decorate the food trays for patients at the Charlevoix Hospital. In still another community service, the Club sends teachers to the Higgins Lake Conservation School.

Money for public garden care and other activities of the Garden Club is raised by the sale of "gifts for the garden",

Grayling regional drawing attention

The Class C basketball regional at Grayling is receiving lots of ink this week from the state's news media.

Almost all of the attention is being focused on Tuesday night's battle between Reed City and Traverse City St. Francis. Reed City (23-0) is ranked No. 1 in the state while St Francis (21-2) is ranked No. 7. The only two schools to beat St. Francis are Harbor Springs and Manistee. The winner is considered to have a good chance of unseating Three Oaks River Valley as the Class C state champ.

Reed City has a tall team. The Coyotes will start Bruce Jones (6'5), Todd Brower (6'8) and Chuck Holmquist (6'4) on the frontline. Jones is netting 18 points a game and Brower is scoring at a 13.5 clip. Jones canned 30 points in Reed City's 103-73 triumph over Mason County Central in the district final. Barry Wilson and Steve Ellison start at the guards. Wilson is averaging 14 points a game.

St. Francis has a balanced scoring attack centered around starters Shawn Truelove, Rex Rudolph, Tim Truelove, John Swaney and Tim Wise. All scored at least nine points in Friday's district conquest of Mancelona.

Two schools who would like to steal the attention away from Reed City and St Francis are Charlevoix (12-10) and Roscommon (17-6). The Rayders and Bucks will collide at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the winner to play the Reed City-St. Francis survivor Friday night.

Roscommon won its own district tournament, edging Houghton Lake, 54-52, and Lincoln Alcona, 69-60, before thumping Tawas Area, 60-45, in the finals. Tawas Area was the team that eliminated Charlevoix in the regionals a year ago.

Roscommon is an experienced team, starting five seniors. Jeff Burns (6'3) and Scott Townsend (6'2) will operate at the forwards, Pat Esckilsen (6'4) is the center, and Todd Fenton and Troy Lindley start in the backcourt. Esckilsen is Roscommon's top player, averaging over 20 points and 15 rebounds a game. Burns and Townsend both average 12 points a game.

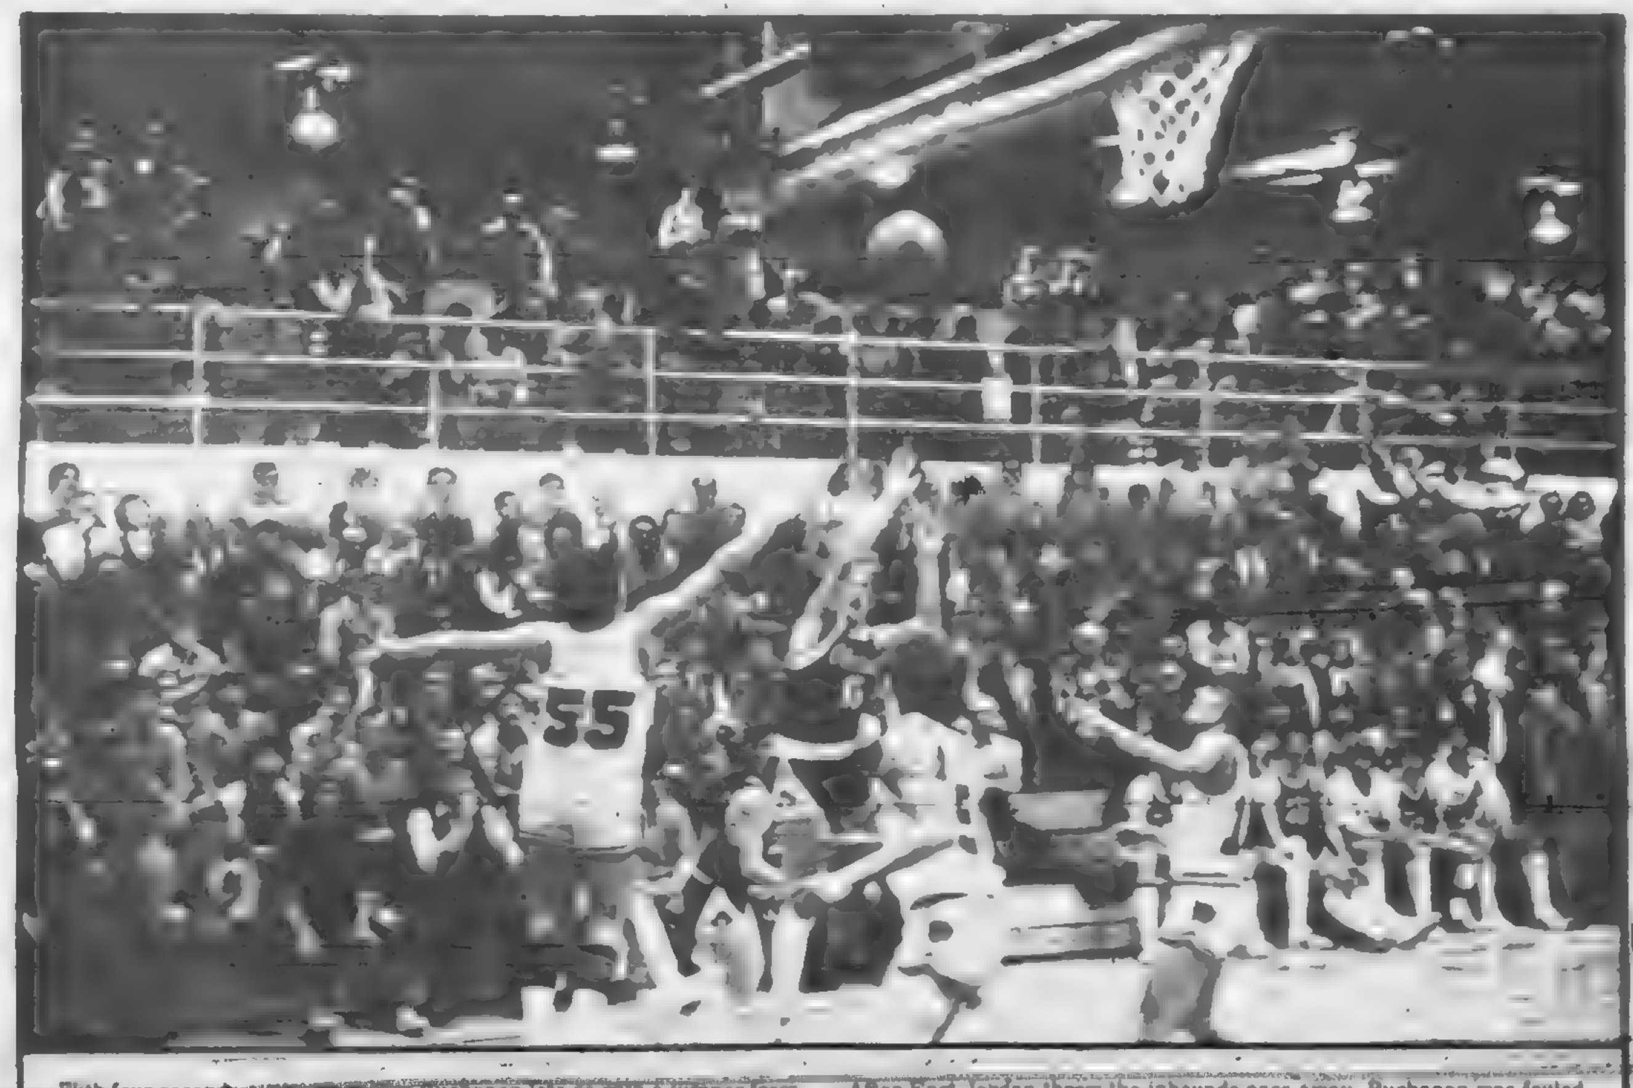
The Rayders had a balanced scoring attack in district play at East Jordan. Buchanan averaged nearly 16 points a game, Morgan 12, Otmanowski 9 and Gary Drury 7.

The two schools have played a common opponent - Grayling. Roscommon split a two game series with the Vikings while the Rayders lost twice to their league foe.

All regional games will start at 7:30 p.m.

The winner of the Grayling regional will advance to quarterfinal play at Gaylord. The opposition will be supplied by the regional winner at Marquette. Unbeaten Manistique is the favorite at Marquette.

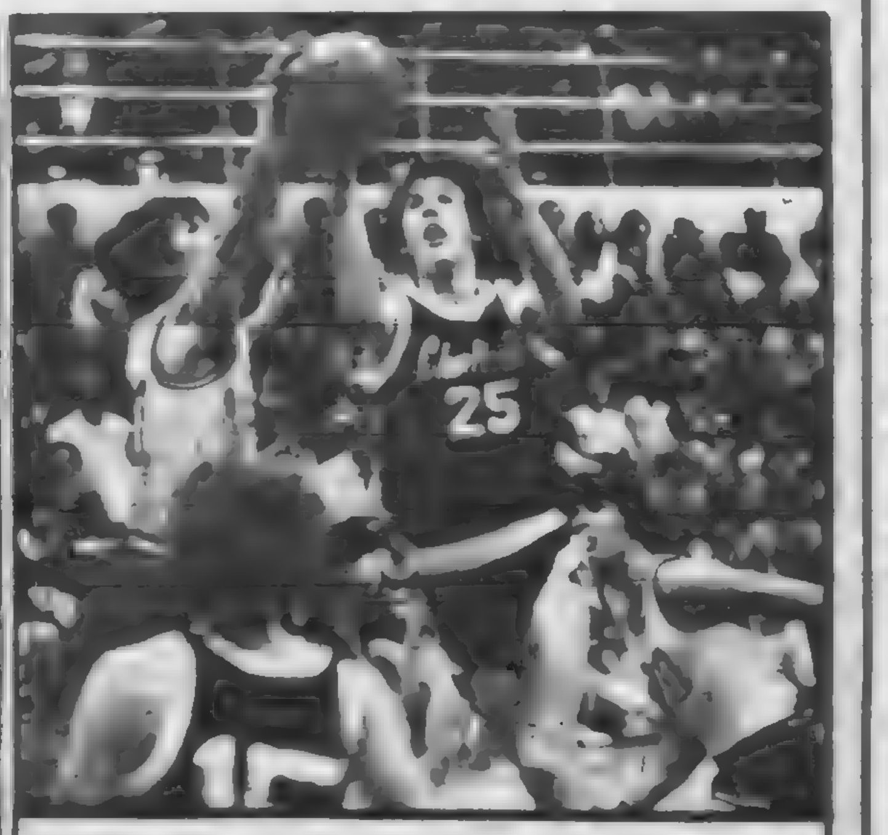
Sports



With four seconds on the clock Jim Buchanan lets go with a jumper from the right of the key. The shot was good giving the Rayders a, 64-62, lead.

After East Jordan threw the inbounds pass away, Buchanan was fouled and made one of two free throws to seal the victory.

Scott Morgan is hoisted up to the basket by teammates following Saturday's district championship. Morgan scored 10 points.



Paul Hoffman finds an opening and heads for the basket. Hoffman scored two points in a substitute's role

Whew!!!

Rayders edge Onaway, 55-54

Charlevoix rallied from a three point deficit in the fourth quarter Saturday night and then staved off a gritty Onaway squad to win the East Jordan Class C district basketball title, 55-54.

The win capped an "exhausting" week for Coach Dave Moyer's squad. The Rayders had narrowly defeated East Jordan, 65-62, in overtime on Tuesday and Boyne City, 50-46, on Thursday to reach the district finals.

Despite a 7-12 record, Onaway gave Charlevoix all it could handle. In fact, the outcome was not decided until three seconds remained on the clock when sophomore guard Jim Buchanan hit a free throw to increase the Rayders lead to three points, 55-52.

Onaway, playing with more heart than talent, had Charlevoix on the ropes. The Cardinals extended a 28-27 halftime lead to 34-27 early in the third quarter. But the knockout punch never came. Instead, Charlevoix fought back. With Ken Otmanowski leading the charge, Charlevoix knotted the score, 39-39, by the quarter's end.

The momentum swayed back and forth in the fourth quarter. Onaway regained the lead, 44-41. Charlevoix answered by reeling off eight straight points to take a five point advantage, 49-44. After the Cardinals scored a basket to cut the margin to three, Buchanan connected on three free throws to give Charlevoix its biggest lead of the night, 52-46.

Onaway hung tough, though. The Cardinals reduced the deficit to two points, 54-52, with just 48 seconds to go. After breaking a full court press, the Rayders went to a delay game. As [illegible] Scott Morgan [illegible] the basket. By the time Morgan got the ball and went up for the shot, the Onaway defense had recovered. The shot was blocked. Onaway retrieved the loose ball and quickly called time out with 28 seconds left. Whatever strategy Coach Mike Ahrens devised went for naught as Buchanan swiped the ball away from an Onaway player before the Cardinals could get off a shot. Buchanan was fouled almost immediately. He converted one of two free throws to give Charlevoix a three point and the game. Onaway scored a meaningless basket at the buzzer.

It was Charlevoix's second straight district championship. And Moyer was obviously elated.

"We had good scoring balance, but I thought the key was how we held our composure. We've had an exhausting week. The kids looked tired. Yet, they held together and worked hard at both ends of the floor."

The victory sends Charlevoix to the Class C regional at Grayling. The Rayders will meet Roscommon at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Rayders had four players in double figures - Otmanowski finished with 12, Buchanan and Gary Drury scored 11 each and Morgan added 10. For Onaway, Guy Stevenson tallied 17 points, Rick McDonald 16 and Mike Decker 15. Charlevoix connected on 20 of 46 shots for 43 percent while Onaway was 25 of 46 for 54 percent. The Rayders had an edge at the foul line, hitting 15 of 24 while the Cardinals were 4 of 8.

Although Saturday's contest was close, the Rayders had an even closer call on Tuesday against East Jordan.

In fact, it took last second heroics by Buchanan to give the Rayders a win in overtime. With the score tied, 62-62, and just four seconds remaining Buchanan connected on a jumper from the right of the key to give the Rayders a two point edge. The Red Devils threw away the inbounds pass and then promptly fouled Buchanan in a last gasp effort to get the ball back. But Buchanan hit the first free toss to seal the victory. East Jordan's Duane Carpenter had put the game in overtime by scoring a basket with just two seconds left in regulation time.

Buchanan led the Rayder attack with 20 points and Morgan added 13. Jerry Fuller and Carpenter paced East Jordan with 23 and 20 points, respectively.

The script was similar against Boyne City - except Charlevoix won it without an overtime. The game was tied, 38-38, going into the fourth quarter. Once again, Buchanan got the go ahead basket. His 16 points led Charlevoix. Morgan contributed 12. Larry Jarema had 10 points for Boyne City.

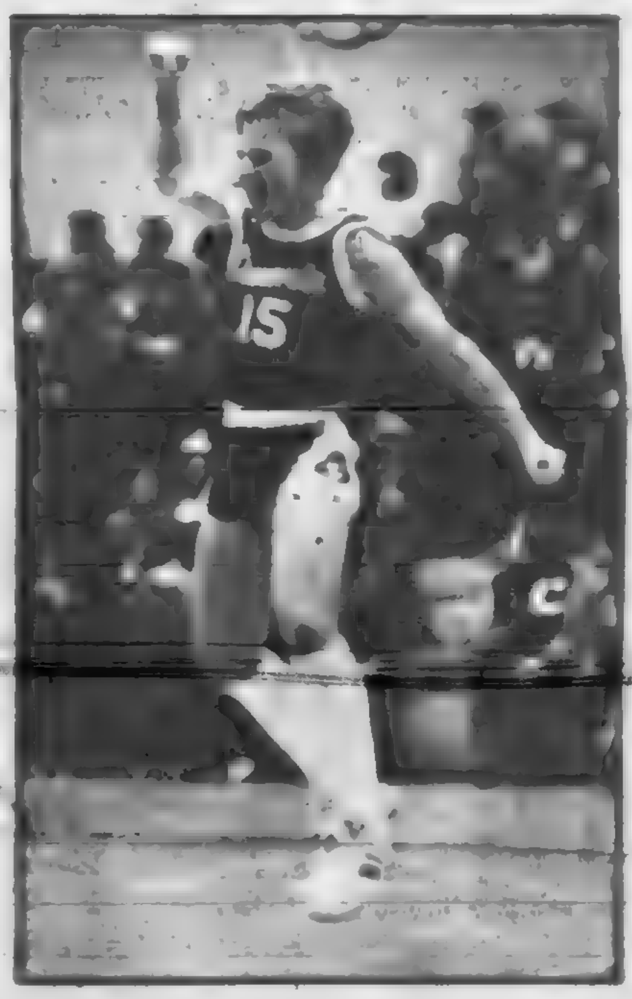
Members of the 1979-80 Class C district championship team include: (Front row, left to right) Paul Hoffman, Jeff Drury, Jim Stowe, Ken Otmanowski, Scott Morgan and Scott Kelly. (Back row, left to right) Jeff Peters, manager Dave Boal, Mike Loper, Mark Beaudoin, Jim Buchanan, Mike Schmidt, Ross Carey, Dave Buday, Coach Dave Moyer and Gary Drury.



Gary Drury (left) scored on an underhanded scoop shot against Onaway to put Charlevoix in the lead, 45-44. The Rayders held on - thanks to the free throw shooting and defensive play of Jim Buchanan (right) who jumps with joy as the buzzer sounds.

Scott Morgan (left) and Ken Otmanowski (right) both tallied in double figures Saturday night as Charlevoix captured its second straight district title. Morgan and Otmanowski are the veterans of an otherwise fuzzy-cheeked squad. The Rayders dressed eight sophomores for district play.

Gymnasts, dancers display skills

By Anne Kelly

On Thursday evening, parents of students enrolled in the Charlevoix School of Gymnastics were afforded the opportunity of seeing what the gymnastics and dance programs have to offer their children first hand.

An open house was held along with a brief demonstration by selected students of the school's most progressive gymnastics and dance. The program was designed to foster a better understanding of the objectives of proper teaching and spotting techniques in gymnastics and the benefits derived from both the discipline of ballet and the creative, less technical movements of modern dance.

The Charlevoix School of Gymnastics has been in independent operation at their present location in the old Assembly of God Church on E. Upright a little over a year. Since then several young gymnasts have advanced to what Jim Mitchell, instructor of gymnastics, would consider competition level. Selected students showed several advanced skills facilitated by various teaching and spotting techniques.

Ann Sullivan, director of the dance department, instructs students in ballet, modern dance and dance exercise. Ballet, though not as spectacular as other forms of dance, requires the fine tuning of the participant. It must be begun carefully and direct itself to achieving a certain feeling for or quality of movement. Modern dance, on the other hand, deals in the elements of dance, choreography and composition. Dancers become aware of direction, speed, quality, texture, rhythm and timing. Of course, beginners start out slowly, limbering up and stretching out in both gymastics and dance before they progress to the level parents observed at the demonstrations.

Parent Boosters have organized into a 'non-profit supportive organization known as the Gym B.A.G. (Boosters Association for Gymnastics) in order to raise student's funds for Wolverine Gymnastic Camp tuition and to generally create enthusiasm for the sport in the community.

Rayders ousted at Clare

Howard City won the girls Class C regional volleyball tournament at Clare Saturday.

The Vikings upended Charlevoix 15-4 and 15-13 in first round play and then slipped past Tawas Area in the championship round. Tawas Area had defeated Merrill 4-15, 15-13 and 15-11 in first round action.

Charlevoix had advanced to regional competition following a district championship at Interlochen. The Rayders, who finished second in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, will lose six players to graduation - Marie Buday, Carolyn Loper, Debbie Resch, Kim Mitchell, Lynn Trost and Tami [illegible]

Sign-up time near

It's Little League sign-up time

All boys who wish to participate in the Little League baseball program are asked to sign up at the lobby at the high school gymnasium between 5 and 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

This applies to all boys whether they have been a part of the program before or not, a spokesman said

When signing up, a youngster must be accompanied by a parent. At the same time fees of $5 per boy or $7 for a family must be paid. The fee includes a hat and uniform for each boy

Try-outs will be held later in the month. Practice sessions will begin as soon as weather permits. The season will open later in the spring.

The Little League Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Charles Wilmot has announced plans for a luncheon at the American Legion post home Thursday, May 1. Proceeds from the event will be used to support the program.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR E.Q.?
(Economics Quotient)
CAN YOU ANSWER BASIC ECONOMIC QUESTIONS LIKE THESE?
True False
(1.) One out of five American workers belongs to a labor union
(2.) Producers of goods outnumber producers of services in our economy
(3.) U.S. coal reserves are the world's largest
(4.) Inflation reduces the standard of living of people on relatively fixed incomes
If you found these questions tough, your Economics Quotient, your E.Q., could probably stand some improvement.
A special booklet has been prepared to help you learn more about what makes our American Economic System tick. It's fact-filled, easy reading and free. It's also an easy way to raise your E.Q.

SINGLE CONTRACT

A sealed proposal is requested for all work necessary to construct a sanitary sewer extension in the City of Charlevoix according to plans and specifications prepared by RANGER ENGINEERING COMPANY, 211 Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

PROJECT:

The project consists of the installation of approximately 950 lineal feet of 10-inch and 350 lineal feet of 8-inch sanitary sewer pipe, manholes, and appurtenances. The 10-inch sewer pipe is designed to be connected to the existing 12-inch sanitary sewer at the corner of Stover Road and May Street, in the City of Charlevoix, and run Easterly along Stover Road. Proposals will be received until 8:00 P.M., local time, on Monday, April 7, 1980 at the Charlevoix City Hall, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud. Proposals received after the appointed time will be returned unopened.

CONTRACT DOCUMENTS

Contract documents will be available on or about March 14, 1980 at the office of the City Manager, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720. Telephone (616) 547-2510.

BID SECURITY

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified check, bank draft, or bid bond in an amount of not less than 10% of the total proposal amount. The successful bidder will be required to furnish Performance, Labor, and Material Bonds, each in the amount of the contract.

RIGHTS RESERVED BY OWNER

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularities, reject any or all proposals or accept any proposal that, in the opinion of the Owner, will serve their best interest.

WITHDRAWAL OF BIDS

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of 30 days after the opening of bids.

The public is invited to attend.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

According to a Bible text you've read, a mere two fishes and five loaves of bread were all that Jesus had on hand for food, in spite of which He fed the multitude. We learn in Church that with the proper prayers, the Lord will demonstrate how much He cares, when with His goodness He will intercede in answer to our every earthly need. So trust in God, should some demand arise, exceeding your available supplies, for then, as people long ago have found, there'll always be enough to go around.

Obituaries

JULE GUILD

Funeral services for Jule R. Guild, 77, who died Saturday at Little Traverse Hospital where he had been a patient for less than two days, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Raymond Giffin of the First Congregational Church will officiate. Interment will be in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Guild had been hospitalized at the Charlevoix Area Hospital for more than three weeks before being transferred to Little Traverse Hospital Friday.

Born in Moberly, Mo., July 12, 1902, Mr. Guild came to the Detroit area as a young man and to Charlevoix in the 1920's. In 1928, he was married to the former Lillian Guild in Detroit. They always resided here. She preceded him in death in 1957. He was a mechanic by trade and for many years was employed at the Charlevoix Oil Company. He retired about 1965. On May 20, 1958, he was married to the former Mrs. Helen M. Cook at Charlevoix. He attended the First Congregational Church.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Jerry (Donna) Paul of Charlevoix and Mrs. June Guild Ross of Lansing; a son, Glenn D. Cook of Camarillo, Calif.; 10 grandchildren; a brother, William, of Scottsdale, Ariz., and a sister, Mrs. Ted (Myrtle) Kibbe of Zephyrhills, Fla.

The family suggests memorials to the Cardiac Care Unit of the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Envelopes will be available at the Winchester Funeral Home.

HELEN GOODWIN

Funeral services for a former Boyne City resident, Mrs. Helen Louise Goodwin, 67, who died Monday at her home in Mason, will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Mason at 4 p.m. Wednesday. Interment will be in Maplelawn Cemetery at Boyne City.

Born at Boyne City Oct. 12, 1912, the former Helen Louise Vought was a graduate of the University of Michigan and received her nursing degree from Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids. She had lived in Mason since 1962. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

She was coordinator of the Health Education project at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing from December 1977 until July 1979. The Helen L. Goodwin Health Education Resource Center at St. Lawrence Hospital has been named in recognition to her contribution to the H.E.P. program and to her years of involvement in improving the health care in the community. A hospice program being developed by the Greater Lansing Visiting Nurses Services shall also bear her name.

She is survived by a daughter, Betty J. Goodwin of Hawaii; three sons, Terrance C. of Brutus, Michael D. of Pinckney and Timothy J. of Grand Rapids; nine grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Christensen of Boyne City and Mrs. Nan Marie Crummer of Rockford, Ill.

The family suggests memorials to the Greater Lansing Visiting Nurses Services or the Helen L. Goodwin Memorial Fund of the First Presbyterian Church in Mason.

The Bell-Dunn Chapel of the Gorseline-Runciman Funeral Home of Mason was in charge of arrangements.

The 4-H Penney Party was held Monday night in Petoskey with approximately 300 people in attendance. The show featured fashions from JCPenney and local 4-H'ers. In addition, fashions of the 80s and fashions of the past (donated by the Little Traverse Historical Society) were modeled. (Above) Wil Moyer, father of Charlevoix teacher Dave Moyer, models western togs while (below) Kristen and Terry Aschenback model a centennial outfit and a World War I doughboy uniform.

many of them homemade, as well as Christmas wreaths, original stationery, and other products of members' talents.

The Charlevoix Garden Club was organized in 1930 and became part of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan in 1948. Presently, members meet the second Tuesday of each month, usually at the home of a member. In addition to Mrs. Wood, officers are Kate Brady and Karen Jey, first vice-presidents; Jean Giffin and Connie Raymer, second vice-presidents; Carol Dietcher and Keith Morris, recording secretaries, Portia Crawford, corresponding secretary; and Bonnie Hicks, treasurer.

All of them, along with other members of the Club, are eagerly awaiting planting time, which Mrs. Wood says is "usually about the second week in May." Oh, well, that's only two months away!

WILLIE AND JAQUELINE VANDERPERREN of Brussels, Belgium are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Georgi, Sr. The Vanderperrens were neighbors of the Georgis in Brussels, where they lived for 10 years while Mr. Georgi served as a special assistant for NATO affairs. The Georgi's daughter, Evan, also came from Pittsburgh to visit with the Vanderperrens.

Members of the Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene are justly proud of their Teen Bible Quiz Team whom they describe as coming "within one question of pulling off a bigger upset than the American Olympic Hockey Team."

Due to the flu, instead of the usual five-member team, only two regular quizzers and one alternate were able to compete at the Invitational Bible Quiz Tournament at Ludington last week, but the team finished in second place, quizzing on the Book of Acts, in a nine-team field.

The local team battled a strong Clare team, whom they had not beaten even when healthy this year, to a 2-2 tie in the triple elimination event and then lost to Clare on the final question of the final round after JIM KNIGHT had "quizzed out" with a perfect score.

Knight finished in third place among individuals with a 98.7 percent average and BRYAN STEELMAN was ninth.

The team will represent northern Michigan in the State Championship Quiz in Grand Rapids on April 5

Junior center SUE ELZINGA of Lake Superior State College has been named to the 1979-80 all-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference women's basketball team.

Elzinga, a graduate of Ellsworth High School, was a second team selection (picked by the league coaches). She was LSSC's leading scorer this season with 365 points (14 point average). She also led the team in rebounds with 253. LSSC finished with an [illegible] record.

Elzinga has informed LSSC cage officials that she will not be returning to school next year due to a planned marriage. In her three years at LSSC, Elzinga poured in 736 points, which leaves her in second place in all-time women scoring at LSSC.

Supernaw: 'Sundew is leaving'

Mayor Sam Supernaw said he has been informed by Rep. Bob Davis that the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew is "leaving" Charlevoix

Supernaw said that the 180 foot Sundew would be replaced by a 140 foot vessel on a "temporary" basis. In 18 months, he said, the Coast Guard plans to reassign a 180 foot vessel to Charlevoix. Supernaw said "hopefully" that vessel would be - once again - the Sundew.

The Coast Guard's apparent decision to reassign a 180 foot vessel here in 18 months is a coup, of sorts, for Davis, who campaigned to keep the Sundew in Charlevoix. Davis sent a letter to Admiral John B. Hayes, Commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard, when he learned that the Sundew might be deployed elsewhere.

"I realize the obligations you have to use available resources as efficiently as possible and that you contemplate replacing the Sundew with one of your new 140-tugs," said Davis, a member of the Committee on Marchant Marine and Fisheries. "But such changes do not appear temporary in nature and suggest deficiencies that I must cope with now and address during furthering budgetary processes - in our mutual interests."

"Deficiencies" that Davis cited, follow.

Decrease in response time with respect to aids-to-navigation problems in the Charlevoix area

Decrease in search-and-rescue capability in a heavily travelled, large ship, and heavy weather area.

Difference in sea keeping and touring (bollard pull) capability of the Sundew and its contemplated replacement.

Loss of service to the port regime from which the tug replacement is deployed.

Disruption of crew and family circumstances at a time when the Coast Guard has allegedly been beset with moral and retention problems.

Community economic impact

Davis suggested the Coast Guard replace the Blackthorn, which collided with an oil tanker in Tampa Bay in late January, with a renovated buoy tender of the Sundew's class from the reserve fleet at the Curtis Bay Yard

Where the Sundew is headed is still a mystery. The U.S. Coast Guard is reassigning a couple of its 180 foot buoy tenders to make up for the loss of the Blackthorn. It has been mentioned that the Coast Guard is contemplating moving the Mesquite from Duluth, Minn. to Galveston, Texas and then moving the Sundew to Duluth. Davis has heard that the Sundew might be moved to Mobile, Alabama

Warren Miller, Lt. Commander of the Sundew, told the Courier that a decision on where the Sundew is headed should be forthcoming in the next few days

A trophy that has been used since the first cribbage tournament in 1930 changed hands for the 50th time Friday night as it was passed from David Reinhart (second from left) representing the Masons to Bruce Bergmann who accepted in behalf of the Odd Fellows, the 1980 champions. With them are three men who have been playing the tournament for 40 years or more, Sims Baker, A.D. 'Hap' Cunningham and William Bergmann. For story see page 2.

Bids on Middle School renovation opened

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night opened bids for the 1980 renovation at the Charlevoix Middle School.

Five bids were received for the project, which will include plumbing and electrical work. The bids are to be tabulated by the architects, Manson Jackson and Kane and the successful bidder announced at the April 7 meeting. William Kane of Lansing was present for the opening of the bids

Base bids were as follows: Wares & Sons, Traverse City, $125,473; Tezak & Company of Traverse City, $128,230, Petrie Construction of East Jordan, $130,400; Seals & Roberts of Boyne City, $142,143; Tom Shaw, Inc., of Cheboygan, $182,262.

Kane said that he would consult with the various contractors before any bid was approved. He said one of the things he was most interested in was what company would be doing the construction work associated with the project for Ware & Sons, which is basically a mechanical and plumbing firm.

The project is being financed by a 1 mill levy approved by voters five years ago. This year's work will conclude the renovation program at the school, [illegible]

The work will begin in mid-June and be completed in time for the opening of school in September

Bids for two school buses were also opened and awarded. Buses are bid in two sections, chassis and bodies. Three bids ranging from $23,982 to $26,100 were received for the chassis with Fochtman Buick-Chevrolet being the successful bidder at $23,982 for two chassis.

The Hoekstra Company, which has the Superior bodies, was the low bidder with a bid of $19,924 for two bodies. The top among the five bids in this category was $21,[illegible]

Delivery on the buses is expected to be no later than October, according to Vincent Olach, business manager

The school calendar for the 1980-81 school year was approved by the board. According to the calendar, the first day of school for the teachers will be Sept. 2; first day for students, Sept. 3; District-wide in-service day, Sept. 24, Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 27-28, last day pre-Christmas, Dec. 19; return post-Christmas, Jan. 5; Teacher work day at end of semester for high and middle school teachers, Jan. 23; Spring break 1981, March 30-April 3; Good Friday (½ day), April 17; Memorial Day, May 25; last day of school (half day for students; full day for teachers), June 9

In discussing the calendar it was explained that the calendar had to coincide with other schools in the area Charlevoix, for instance, sends students to Petoskey for classes and other students have a dual enrollment at North Central Michigan College.

Gail Wimer of the Char-Em Intermediate School District presented a curriculum resource report in which she told of the Professional Development Advisory Council, which now has a 29 member consortium of which she is a member. This group has made a survey of in-service training desired by the teachers. However, until now funds have not been available to implement any of the programs. Recently the legislature made a grant available to Char-Em resulting in $2,200 coming to the Charlevoix school for staff development. Mrs. Wiemer told of the various programs the Intermediate School District has sponsored with its funds. Mrs. Sandra Fassett represents the Charlevoix schools and is making a survey of teachers for suggestions for programs for the entire staff

Mrs. Wiemer also discussed the Michigan Adoption Program, which offers state funded educational programs that local school districts can adopt. Title IV-C funds are available for teacher training, materials, consultation and follow-up. She said that 20 programs are now available and as more are developed they will be offered. Ralph Raymer, K-5 principal, is the local representative for the project. His teachers have shown an interest in participating in a reading program and in problem solving instruction

The board had already been made aware of this and, in a later action, gave its approval for local teachers to participate in these two segments of the IV-C available.

The annual election resolution was also approved. June 9 was set as the date for the election. The deadline for registering for the election is May 12.

The next meeting of the board was set for April 7

Millage reduced

City taxpayers will pay one less mill in the 1980-81 fiscal year

In approving a $3,314,446 budget Monday night, the Charlevoix City Council agreed to reduce operational millage from 11 to 10½ mills and debt retirement millage from 2 to 1½ mills.

To allow for the ½ mill reduction in operations, council agreed to reduce curb and sidewalk improvements, put a city-owned house on State Street up for sale, and to postpone putting money aside to buy a new police car

Charlevoix Township is also proposing a reduction in its millage rate. The township board will ask for one mill for operations in the next township election, which will be in May or August. Presently, township residents pay two mills.

Township officials hope to maintain present services with the reduction.

Organizers predict 200 will march to Big Rock on May 4

Shirley Johns, a member of Northern Voices Alied (NOVA), said approximately 200 people will participate May 4 in an anti-nuclear power protest march from Michigan Beach to Big Rock Point.

The march is expected to start at 10 a.m.

Ms. Johns appeared before the Charlevoix City Council Monday night asking for permits to assemble at a city park and march along city streets. Council recommended that Ms. Johns work with City Manager Jim Brinker in securing the permits

If granted the permits, the group will assemble at East Park and then move to Michigan Beach to start the rally. Ms. Johns said the group plans to march from Michigan Beach to US-31 to Big Rock Point. She said no trespassing on Consumers Power property is anticipated. Over a year ago, 14 protestors were arrested for trespassing and fined $105 in the 90th District Court. The 14 protestors are appealing their case to the Michigan Court of Appeals.

NOVA plans to conduct three civil disobedience training sessions prior to the march. The last session will be held on May 3 at East Park.

"I think the public has been hearing only one side of the story," a spokesman for the group said. "This (march) is the only means available to us in letting the public know the other side of the story."

Fire guts house on Island

St. James - For an hour or so Wednesday night, it appeared residents in this village had a real disaster on their hands.

A fire had engulfed a house on Main Street and a brisk southeast wind was fanning the sparks all over the neighborhood.

Taking precautions, Beaver Island resident Barb Beckers called the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department to alert them of the possible danger. The Sheriff's Department contacted Earl Muma, emergency services director

Muma went to work, lining up equipment (hoses and pumps) and fire fighters (Charlevoix Township volunteer firemen) to go to the Island, if needed. Since it would take the Sundew six hours to reach the Island, Muma requested a helicopter from the Coast Guard Air Station at Traverse City. The request was granted and the helicopter was in the air headed for Charlevoix when a resident on the Island called to say the Island's two tanker-trucks had the fire under control.

The one-and-one half story house, owned by Carl Harmon of Chicago, burned to the ground. A neighboring residence, owned by Hugh Cole, was scorched. And the King Strang Museum, the only Mormon building remaining in downtown St. James, suffered porch damage.

Michael Crawford, employed by the Charlevoix School District as caretaker of the Beaver Island Lighthouse, was renting the Harmon house. Crawford was eating dinner at a restaurant across the street when the fire broke out.

After extinguishing the fire, Islanders kept a watch at the site all night long to make sure it did not rekindle.

The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Council appoints 2 to commission

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night reappointed Clem Olach and Bill Bellows to the Charlevoix Planning Commission. Olach and Bellows will serve three year terms.

In addition, council extended the contract of Jim Ance, dockmaster, for one year. Ance will be given a 12 percent wage increase, bringing his weekly salary to $210.

Council tabled action on a proposed two year contract extension for Dwight Boss, recreation director. Council would like Boss, who teaches in Ellsworth, to drop his coaching assignments at the school and concentrate on the city recreation program. Council is thinking about increasing the director's pay from [illegible]

Irwin introduces bill to create new judgeship

The 33rd Judicial Circuit might become a two county, one judge circuit

On Thursday, Sen. Mitch Irwin introduced a bill in the Senate that would put Cheboygan County in a circuit all its own.

At present, Cheboygan is part of a four county circuit with Alpena, Presque Isle and Montmorency counties. Starting Jan. 1, 1981 Cheboygan is expected to join Charlevoix and Emmet counties in the 33rd Judicial Circuit. To accomodate the addition of Cheboygan County, a second judgeship has been granted in the 33rd Judicial Circuit.

Two candidates have filed for that judgeship - 90th District Court Judge David Fershee and Cheboygan attorney Harold Johnson, Jr

If Irwin's bill gets support, Cheboygan County would move from the 33rd to the 53rd Judicial Circuit And, henceforth, the 33rd Judicial Circuit would be back to one judeship

The Cheboygan County Board of Commissioners is in favor of a one county, one judge circuit (53rd). And so are the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and the Emmet County Board of Commissioners, who claim it will be cheaper to operate a two county, 33rd Judicial Circuit, with one judge

The bill will be sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee. It needs Senate and House approval and Gov. William Milliken's signature before it can take affect.

Cribbage winners

Odd Fellows get a taste of victory

For the 28th time in 50 years, members of Round Lake Lodge No. 293, I.O.O.F. and those who played on their cribbage team, were guests of the losing team, Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A.M. following the 50th annual cribbage [redacted].

A dinner was held at the American Legion post home with 36 of the 50 cribbage players who participated in the tournament during a 10-week period present.

At the program which followed, Gerald Johnson was honored as high point man for the Masons with a total of 9,221 points and John LaRue for the Odd Fellows with 9,334 points. Joe Stutzman was low Mason with 8,832 points and Gordon Rower for the Odd Fellows with 8,789 points. Johnson and LaRue will head their respective teams as captains in 1981.

William Bergmann and Sims Baker were recognized as the two men who had played in the tournament the greatest number of years. Both started in 1938.

Thirteen men had 9,000 or more points for the season. They were David Reinhart and Bruce Bergmann who placed second behind Johnson and LaRue as top scorer; M.F. Herriman, William Bergmann, Charles E. Bergmann, Glenn Pemberton, Albert "Buster" Russell, Robert Zeitler, Robert Heise, Arlo Crites, Robert O. Bergmann and Edward Swanson. Thirteen members of the Bergmann family participated in the tournament.

The two fraternal organizations broke tradition by inviting Fran Martin, who has reported tournament results for a major part of its 50 year history, as guest speaker. She spoke briefly on the history of the tournament and what it has meant in terms of tradition and fellowship.

Ronald Geer, tournament secretary, served as master of ceremonies and gave a brief history of the Masonic order and its local chapter. Sims Baker gave a history of the I.O.O.F. in the U.S. and in Charlevoix.

The Rev. Austin Regier gave the invocation and [redacted].

ABOUT PRICE

What's your house worth? What's the best possible price you can get for it on the current market?

Is it the price you wish you could get? If a property is priced way above actual market value it's likely to languish unsold. It's true value drops. People begin to wonder, why hasn't it sold? What's wrong with it?

Is it the price your neighbor sold for? Not [redacted] identical to yours and maintained identically too. [redacted] is just a little different each month the market varies a bit. Many factors have to be taken into account before a price is set.

What's your house worth? There's no easy answer. And setting an asking price is no job for an amateur. It takes the expertise of a professional to consider the market, the property, current comparables, even the mortgage situation, and come up with the right figure. Norwood develops industrial district

Nearly 200 acres of agricultural zoned land has been rezoned to industrial by the Norwood Township Board.

The property, which borders US-31, is in the southeast corner of the township. About 150 of the 200 acres is owned by Manthei Development, which uses the property for gravel extraction. The Charlevoix County Road Commission owns property in the area, too.

"The land is not suitable for agriculture," said Doris Pearl, a member of the board. "It's really the only site we have for industry in Norwood Township. It's close to Charlevoix and it's close to a main artery."

The board approved establishment of the industrial district - the first in Norwood Township - last week.

According to an ammendment to the zoning ordinance, the industrial zone "is intended to accomodate the industrial needs of the entire community in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect any adjoining properties.

"The industrial zone is to provide areas for the establishment of uses necessary for the development of a sound and diversified economic base and to encourage the development of these uses in a manner which will be compatible with the overall area in which located; while prohibiting such uses which would interfere with the development of industrial uses, or which would adversely affect the surrounding area."

The township board will have the ultimate authority as to what is allowed in the industrial district. Site plan approval will be necessary for all development.

Health Dept. No. 3 gets some $ relief

District Health Department No. 3 last week received some help in alleviating its financial crunch when the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners voted to appropriate an additional $4,948 toward the Department's 1980 operating [redacted].

However, the money is to be paid out only if "all counties maintain equity in the District Health Department No. 3".

This apparently means that Emmet County will have to bring its appropriation up to a figure comparable with that of Charlevoix County.

Both Charlevoix and Emmet Counties appropriated less money than requested by the Health Department for 1980 operations. This situation, along with the fact that the Department's Workmen's Compensation Insurance has doubled in cost because of re-classification of some employees, has brought about the possibility of the Health Department having to cut its services.

The additional appropriation of $4,948 by Charlevoix County brings the County's appropriation for the Health Department's 1980 budget to over $95,000.

Helping others help themselves, CHIP philosophy

'There is conflict in all marriages'

"There is conflict in all marriages," Oren Schroeder began, during a conversation about Charlevoix's CHIP Counseling Center's work in marriage counseling.

"The goal of marriage counseling is not to solve conflicts, but to help people learn how they can solve present and future conflicts themselves.

"We are, in a way, providing them with the ability to be their own counselors," Schroeder, CHIP director continued.

Schroeder and CHIP therapist Terry Smith, discussed marriage counseling and the kinds of problems people bring to CHIP:

"Usually there is a combination of two or three issues of conflict when someone calls for help," Smith said.

"One conflict seems to stimulate another," he added.

Money, sex, alcoholism, work, beliefs, values and health issues are among the problems people bring out when they come to CHIP for help.

When there isn't a willingness or ability to resolve conflict, divorce is more likely, the counselors explained.

"Counseling is a way of examining your conflicts. Counseling says it is okay to bring problems out into the open and not sweep them under the rug," Smith said.

"Counseling can provide a new or different way of seeing problems," Schroeder continued.

The counselors described marriage as a subjective relationship and counseling as an objective relationship. A marriage counselor is an objective third person with whom people may work on their problems.

Schroeder emphasized that marriage counseling must not be viewed as something similar to going to a medical doctor.

"We do not listen to symptoms, diagnose a problem and prescribe something to cure everything.

"In counseling we are colleagues who share in the responsibility for success," the CHIP director explained.

When someone calls CHIP seeking help with marital problems, a first appointment is made for husband and wife together, if possible. While both usually agree to see a counselor, one partner is frequently more anxious than the other for the counseling, Smith and Schroeder revealed.

"Someone is feeling unhappy, depressed and not knowing what to do when they call us for help," Smith said.

At a second session husband and wife are seen separately, so their counselor may know each person as an individual.

At the third session a couple sees their counselor together again, so each may examine how they view the marriage. At that visit the counselor, too, shares his assessment of the problems, so there can be mutual agreement.

"By the fourth session we hope we have an agreement about the problems. And then we must decide if the relationship with the counselor is a good one," Schroder said.

"We take some time to educate people as to what a counseling relationship is all about, emphasizing that we are not going to solve problems, but rather work together as partners, trying to gain a better understanding about what is happening in the marriage."

The length of counseling has ranged from one or two visits to two years, Smith said, but by the fourth visit each person should have a clear idea of the major conflicts and begin to see what has to be done to solve them.

"It's gratifying to see the transformation of couples during counseling," Schroeder said. "They go from tension and hostility, so thick you could cut it, to relaxing, joking and comforting each other."

Asked what they think underlies today's marital problems, Smith and Schroeder observed that there appears to be less commitment in marriages.

"Marriages are easier to move in and out of today. Divorce is not frowned upon as much as it used to be. People aren't viewing marriage as a life-long commitment as they used to," Schroeder said.

"However while people may say, intellectually, this is not forever and ever, we see that emotionally there really is a commitment, so people are very torn up by divorce. It is a contradiction," Smith observed.

The lack of commitment in marriages is the result of many factors, the counselors think. They mentioned the mobility, the "me" culture, and a fear of intimacy.

"There is a tendency to see another person in terms of what they can do for us. But love is not just what the other can do for us.

"The most fruitful loving is a mutuality that permits a person to take risks, to be themselves and to develop as an individual," Schroeder said.

The willingness to be intimate, to be open and trusting, in a [redacted] success.

"It is not the absence of conflict that makes a healthy marriage," Smith said. "It's the risk people will take to approach and deal with conflicts. That requires honesty, openness, straightforwardness, a transparency."

V.F.W. Auxiliary to meet Thursday

The Auxiliary of Charlevoix V.F.W. post No. 1153 will meet at the post home Thursday for a social meeting according to president, Mrs. Clarence Goldstick.

Members will continue to work on items for the VA hospital. Anyone wishing to work on the items at home may contact Mrs. Goldstick or Mrs. Kenneth Staley for materials and/or patterns. Anyone with material or yarn may also call these two members. Eight tote bags for wheelchairs and four pairs of knitted bed socks have been completed.

Caught in the shuffle

Little did we realize the consequences when the U.S. Coast Guard buoy tender Blackthorn collided with an oil tanker in Tampa Bay in late January

How many of us actually thought that because of that wreck we would lose the Sundew and its 55 man crew?

Apparently, that is what is going to happen. The U.S. Coast Guard is expected to announce - perhaps in the next few days - that a couple of its 180 foot buoy tenders will be reassigned. The Mesquite, stationed in Duluth, Minn., is expected to be sent to Galveston, Texas to service the Gulf of Mexico while the Sundew is expected to be sent from Charlevoix to Duluth

The loss of the Sundew will obviously have a detrimental impact on Charlevoix's economy. The Sundew's monthly payroll exceeds $40,000. A lot of that money is spent right here. Furthermore, the crew has been very service oriented in this community. Oftentimes, that service goes unnoticed. Still, it is very much appreciated. Just ask the people in town who organize the Bloodmobile visits. Or Earl Muma, the county's emergency services director, who was looking for a few good men last week when a fire threatened the village of St. James. Several volunteered to help out. In addition, The Coast Guard Wives Club has been very active. The club has made several financial contributions to local organizations.

It will be difficult to replace the Sundew - not only on the big lake but in town. A smaller vessel - similiar to the one in St. Ignace - is expected to replace the Sundew. But, according to Mayor Sam Supernaw, just for 18 months. Then, the Coast Guard plans to reassign a 180 foot vessel here. Wouldn't it be something if it was the Sundew!

Q/A: Property tax

This is the first in a series of articles on the general property tax law and its reference to the ever increasing assessments of property, taxes and true cash values. It seems to be a procedure few people are completely familiar with and their concern is their tax statement telling them how many dollars they have to dig down in their pockets and find each year. Hopefully, this series — [illegible] by a trained local professional — will prove beneficial in helping people understand the taxing procedure, how it all happens, and who's really to blame - if you are looking to blame someone

Let us start at the very beginning

The authority of government to tax arises out of the Constitution which was established and approved by the citizens of Michigan. The provisions of the constitution are extended by the statutes which are enacted by the legislature, (and the legislatures are voted by the people) and are administrated by the executive agencies

The 1963 Constitution of Michigan, (Article IX, Section 3) says, "The legislature shall provide for the uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and tangible personal property not exempt by law. The legislature shall provide for the determination of true cash value of such property; the proportion of true cash value at which such property shall be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after Jan. 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent, and for a system of equalization of assessments."

This is the beginning of it all. The Constitution of Michigan voted in by the people. The Constitution stated that property shall be assessed uniformly so that everyone is treated the same. The Constitution stated that the Legislature shall provide for the determination of true cash value of such property and the Constitution set the limit at 50 percent. The legislature in Public Act 409 of 1965 passed legislation which set the assessment of property at 50 percent. "Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, except as hereinafter provided, property shall be assessed at 50 percent of its true cash value in accordance with Article 9, Section 3 of the Constitution". This act was ordered to take immediate effect, and was approved Nov. 3, 1965

The people voted in their representatives and their representatives following the requirements of the Constitution voted in a law that said property shall be assessed at 50 percent of its true cash value

Based on the foregoing information it certainly appears that the people are the ones who decided that property would be assessed at 50 percent of its true cash value

Now comes the argument, who's to say what true cash value is? How is it arrived at? What does it have to do with my taxes?

Again your representative in Lansing defined the words "true cash value", and briefly the definition reads "[illegible] cash value", whenever used in this act, shall be held to mean the usual selling price at the place where the property to which the term is applied shall be at the time of assessment, being the price which could be obtained therefor at a private sale, and not a forced one ..." This is commonly known as a good arms length sale. The first reaction of most people is - but I don't want to sell my property, or if the property hasn't sold there isn't any evidence to determine true cash value. Well, lets refer back to the Constitution which stated that "such property shall be uniformly assessed". There then has to be a method of arriving at fair and equitable true cash values of property to comply with the requirements of our Constitution. All the people must be treated uniform and this means if one has sold their property and another one hasn't, and if their property is comparable, your constitution requires they be treated the same. Remember the Constitution stated the legislature would prove a system of equalization of assessments

Next week this column will delve into what is an assessment of property. How does the assessment of my property affect my taxes? Why do assessments increase every year? Who determines what my taxes will be?

Charlevoix Area Hospital received a check for $1,000 from Hoskins Manufacturing Company of Charlevoix for its building and renovation project. The check is the first of five which Hoskins pledged to the hospital's fund raising campaign, for a total of $5,000. Presenting the check to Louis Hollow, representing the hospital Board of Directors is Mrs. Barbara Skeel, plant manager. Don White and Janet Potter, representing Hoskins employees and John Lachman, general manager look on. Lachman commented, "We feel it is our responsibility to support this important institution which directly benefits our community and employees. We all look to Charlevoix Area Hospital."

Coverage of school events insufficient

Letters

Editor

I am writing to comment about the lack of coverage of school news. Since the 1979-80 school year began your paper has insufficiently covered school events. Your primary interest seems to be sports and all other activities have been ignored

For example, some of the speech teams in the area have competed in state competitions which were not covered by your paper.

Also, there were no pictures of the play "Fiddler on the Roof" that was recently performed by the Charlevoix speech team. It was done on three separate occassions and none of them were photographed

Another major event that recently took place in Charlevoix was 1980 Winter Homecoming. Your paper neglected to send a photographer to take pictures of the entire court and gather sufficient information on them. [illegible] Fall Homecoming [illegible] a two page spread of the whole court and the queen with an artical that covered the event. Not to mention that they received front page coverage the week after the event took place.

I feel all the school events should have equal and sufficient coverage. I took a survey of 100 students and found that they supported my opinion. I would appreciate a reason for this lack of coverage.

A Neglected Student

Editor's Note: It is true that sporting events probably receive more coverage than other school events. We admit our coverage of "other activities" could be better. However, we do not think we have ignored the "other activities." We have had articles on the speech team and the play "Fiddler on the Roof." And we did have a picture of the 1980 Winter Homecoming Queen and King, that was displayed at the top of page three. As you mentioned, we did not photograph "Fiddler on the Roof" and we did not cover as in-depth the Winter Homecoming as we did the Fall Homecoming. We are in the process of adding to our staff, and we plan in the near future to correct any inconsistencies, especially in school activities.

The Carter plan for nuclear waste disposal: More delays

Nick Thimmesch

WASHINGTON — If this republic ever comes apart, it might be because we rushed in when we shouldn't have, and we dawdled when we could have moved. I am afraid that President Jimmy Carter took the latter course with is recently announced nuclear waste disposal policy

The disposal of nuclear waste is a solvable technical problem. But the President, apparently in order to satisfy all interested parties in an election year, proposed that 15 years be spent to develop the ultimate safe program.

Such caution, even moderation, sounds fine if, say, you are trying to bring the Arabs and Israelis together. But in the case of using technology, determining the best siting, and providing secure transit and storage of nuclear waste — well, Carter is proposing needless delay.

Under Carter's plan, the first site for full-scale depository won't even be chosen until 1985, and it will be 10 years after that before it goes into operation. We'll be looking for Buck Rogers to come winging in from outer space by [illegible]

Carter's plan amounts to going back to the drawing board, utilizing existing but unused facilities, to take nuclear waste in the next few years, and hoping that the environmentalists, anti-nuke folk and people in the nuclear industry won't go away too mad.

Nuclear waste is a problem. For 35 years, the federal government — which has jurisdiction over nuclear energy — has procrastinated about putting an effective disposal program into action. The federal government, which uses nuclear materials largely for military purposes, has stored most of it above ground in tanks, a few of which have leaked.

Electric power plants — fueled by uranium rods — have stored their wastes in shielded pools on their premises — the pools looking more suited to swimming than storage. Anyway, the 70 operating nuclear plants in the United States are running out of this temporary storage for their spent fuel rods.

Everybody involved in nuclear stood around for years saying, in effect, well, someday, we'll have to do something about it. In October, 1976, with Election day upon him, President Gerald Ford took the first giant step, by announcing a waste disposal plan which called for site selection by 1979 and the first waste to be stored permanently by 1985

But Carter, who in his heart of hearts knows that nuclear power is needed for the United States to have enough electricity for the rest of this century, now gives the anti-nuke crowd additional means to become self-fulfilling prophets. The anti-nukes claim that nuclear plants won't always be able to produce the lowest priced electricity — as they do now — because of construction cost overruns (often caused by delays imposed by the anti-nukes), and because of acute problems in transporting and permanently storing the waste

Experts in the Department of Energy had generally agreed with commercial nuclear engineers in backing the plan to build a waste isolation pilot project (WIPP) at Carlsbad, N.M. But Carter scrapped the plan, even though many millions have already been spent on it.

"We should have gone ahead with it," says George Hardigg, a Westinghouse executive, expert in nuclear waste. "We should have utilized military experience in dealing with waste, just as we once utilized their experience in developing jet engines and computers.

"There is plenty of technology available now to deal with waste. The Swedes developed a system which we could easily adopt. It involves suspending the waste in borosilicate glass, the same kind used in kitchen baking dishes, placing it in welded containers made of titanium, surrounding them with a thick layer of lead, the kind still solid on rooftops of European cathedrals 1,000 years old, and wrapping all that in bentonite clay.

"All of that can be buried in seismologically sound sites, monitored by the latest instrumentation, and protected by a security system. Knowing what I know about nuclear materials, I wouldn't have any fears about this system, and neither do any scientists who understand this field."

Instead, the President has appointed a State Planning Council with 14 members of various states, none of which will willingly take nuclear waste, to advise the federal government on the problem. with all the nuclear scare stories floating, the resultant political pressure is bound to cause even more delays in solving the problem. "Selection of waste disposal sites," says Hardigg, "should be made purely on a technical basis, not political."

There is some protest of the Carter "delay" plan in Congress, but in an election year it is unlikely there will be much courage shown on this question. So while the United States dallies, many other industrialized nations are close to implementing plans to build long-term nuclear waste repositories. The amount of physical space needed is tiny. One nuclear plant produces only 720 cubic feet of such waste a year. The entire commercial waste of the United States could be safely stored in 200 acres — the size of a nine-hole golf course

In recent years, foreign countries have deeply penetrated the U.S. market with their automobiles, transistors and electronic products. Now these same countries are forging ahead with nuclear-fueled electric power plants. What do we do? Go back to the drawing boards, and appoint committees

Carter's tax would hurt little guy

If President Carter had set out on purpose to stoke the inflationary fires that are consuming America, his first step would have been imposition of an oil imports tax which — directly or indirectly — will boost the price of virtually every commodity sold within the borders of the United States.

Yet this is precisely what the president suggested in his address to the nation Friday afternoon — a speech billed, ironically, as Carter's master strategy to win the war against inflation.

If Congress goes along with the oil imports tax, which is totally unlikely in this election year, it will boost the price of gasoline by 10 cents a gallon by spring. It also will raise by a similar percentage the price of every commodity which either requires petroleum products in its manufacture or which arrives at your local retail store by truck.

It is difficult to think of a single item of commerce that wouldn't be affected by the proposed tax — unless you buy cucumbers from the fellow next door.

Keep in mind that Carter's proposed tax on oil imports would be in addition to regular weekly price increases for gasoline and fuel oil which have made a shambles of household budgets across the country for the past year.

The proposed tax, of course, is an attempt to stem the flow of imported oil into the United States — a noble objective if there ever was one. For too long the nation has been dangerously dependent on a raft of unstable Middle Eastern principalities and potentates for its oil supplies.

Yet how much more equitable it would have been if Carter had proposed a gasoline allocation plan — rationing, if you like — which would have guaranteed Americans sufficient gasoline to get to and from work at prices they can afford, plus a supplemental allocation at possibly higher prices for discretionary travel and leisure activities.

I can even envision a federal subsidy — not a tax — on the commuter allowance, just to keep America on the job.

Carter's proposed tax, like so many taxes, hurts the little fellow more than the business tycoon, since a greater proportion of the little fellow's take-home pay must, of necessity, we used for travel. In many ways, the threatened levy is akin to Michigan's immoral sales tax on food and drugs which the people had the good sense to abolish a few years ago.

Mr. Gotrocks won't feel the extra $2 to $3 a week he pays for gasoline; but [illegible]

And the same goes for spin-off price increases in every area of the economy

Meet Charlevoix

By Peg Ohle

Charles Duerr is retired from the regular work-a-day world but he has developed two hobbies into business ventures that keep him busy on a daily schedule. This week he tells the Courier what he's up to.

Q. We noticed that you have registered the assumed business name DUR-ACROSTICS. What is that?

A. I'm publishing a book of Acrostic puzzles. Little Traverse Printing Company in Petoskey is printing it and it'll be off the presses about the middle of April. We hope it will be the first of a series.

Q. We're not as familiar with Acrostics as we are with crossword puzzles. How long have they been in existence?

A. I would say about 20 years. I first became interested in Acrostics through the Saturday Review. There was a Mrs. Kingsley who was puzzle editor of the Saturday Review. She put out several Acrostic books a year through Simon & Schuster. Now Thomas Middleton edits the Simon & Schuster books — they're up to number 82. Anyway, I was bitten by the bug and began to wonder if it wouldn't be as much fun to put the puzzles together as it is to work them. After I retired and had time, I started to construct them.

Q. How do you go about putting an Acrostic together?

A. Well, of course, it's based on a quotation. I try to select a suitable quotation, something interesting by itself — perhaps some complete thought, an interesting action, a sideline. The quotation has to have all the letters of the author's name in it, and you can't use any figures such as dates.

Q. How do you sort out all those letters?

A. It's a process of taking letters and moving them around into words. I have small tiles with letters on them and I also have scrabble letters. I work on a double desk top with a smooth surface so it's easy to slide the letters around.

Q. How long does it take to devise an Acrostic puzzle?

A. It's difficult to tell. Sometimes you can get hung up on one word for a couple of days

Q. What source materials do you use?

A. Dictionaries, word books, Bartlett's Quotations, encyclopedia, thesauri, that sort of thing. I try to mix up the words I put in, use geographical words, athletic words, songs, all kinds of words. Most of the people solving the puzzles are experts in certain fields and they can get an early start on the solution if they run across only one word they recognize right away.

Q. Are all Acrostic puzzles about the same in degree of difficulty?

A. No, there is some difference. Those that Dell puts out are easier than those, say, in the Saturday Review

Q. How are you going to market your Acrostics book?

A. We're starting out with small ads in some magazines. We'll sell the book by mail — $3.75 postpaid. There are 25 puzzles in the book.

Q. Good luck on the Acrostics. Now tell us about your other venture

A. I have a little-newspaper feature titled simply "Amos" which is being syndicated through the Panax newspaper chain. Among the papers using it at the present time are the MacComb Daily, the Allen Parker, the Ecorse Enterprise, the Lincoln Parker, the Southgate Sentinel, the Melvindale Messenger, and the Taylor Tribune.

Q. What kind of feature is it?

A. It's topical verse, generally humorous and usually just four lines.

Q. May we have some samples?

A.

I fear, when I look
At the follies of men
That God'll give up
And start over again.

Why this head-count every decade?
Let this stupid census cease—
Why can't they take for granted
That we average one apiece?

Q. Great. Why is the feature called "Amos"?

A. One of our daughters has renamed everyone in the family. She calls me "Amos" so I'm trying to be like the prophet Amos and utter wise sayings

Q. How many features do you write each week?

A. I send a selection of three to the Washington office of Panax each week.

Q. When did you start writing them?

A. I started accumulating material a couple of years ago. I made the connection with Panax last summer and they started printing them in December

Q. Had you ever done any writing before starting "Amos"?

A. Oh, yes, during my business career I had many occasions to write articles — news stories, and ads. This is a way of having fun and capitalizing on a talent.

Q. What was your business?

A. I was a field representative in northern Michigan for United Way of Michigan.

Q. How long have you lived in Charlevoix?

A. Since 1946. We came up here from Grand Rapids. Only my wife, Marg, and I are left in Charlevoix. Our two daughters and two sons all live downstate.

Reed City keeps rolling, Rayders ousted by Bucks

Grayling - Reed City proved deserving of its No. 1 ranking in the Class C basketball polls by whipping Traverse City St. Francis, 68-57, and Roscommon, 89-65, to win the Class C regionals.

The Coyotes, 25-0, will battle unbeaten Manistique in quarterfinal action Wednesday night at Gaylord.

Big Todd Brower, 6-6, led Reed City to the regional championship scoring 24 points in Tuesday's triumph over St. Francis and 21 in Friday's conquest of Roscommon.

Roscommon had reached the regional finals by defeating Charlevoix 83-69 Wednesday night.

Pat Esckilsen, the Bucks 6-4 center, scored 30 points as Roscommon broke open a tight game in the second half. Leading by just five points 38-33 at half the Bucks outscored Charlevoix 16-8 early in the third quarter to build up a commanding 54-41 lead. The Rayders cut the deficit to seven 54-47 but Roscommon scored the next seven points to take a 64-47 advantage into the final quarter.

Esckilsen dominated the game in the second half as Charlevoix's two centers - Ken Otmanowski and Paul Hoffman - got in early foul trouble. Esckilsen scored several baskets late in the game when the Bucks repeatedly broke the Rayder press.

In addition to foul trouble, Charlevoix was also plagued by turnovers. The Rayders committed 21 miscues.

Sophomore Gary Drury was a shining star in defeat for the Rayders. Drury scored 22 points and assisted on several other baskets. Senior Scott Morgan closed out a fine career with 14 points. Otmanowski - also a senior - finished with 7 points before fouling out.

For Coach Dave Moyer the future looks bright. A host of lettermen return next year including juniors Jeff Drury and Paul Hoffman and sophomores Gary Drury, Jim Buchanan, Scott Kiey, Mike Loper and Mark Beaudoin.

Despite having five sophomores on the varsity during the season, the Rayder junior varsity compiled a 16-3 record, tops in the Michigan-Huron Shores. Ross Janes, Dave Buday and Mike Schmidt - the three top scorers on the team - were brought up to the varsity for tournament action. The Rayder freshman squad also fashioned a fine record, losing just once in 11 outings.

State finals to be televised

Public television station WCMU, Mt. Pleasant, will broadcast the Michigan high school basketball finals on Saturday, March 22.

The Central Michigan University station will originate the broadcasts live from Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

Eight teams will play on March 22 beginning with Class B competition at 11 a.m. Class A will follow at 2:30 p.m., Class D at 7 p.m. and Class C at 8:30 p.m.

Play by play and color commentators for the games will be Ed Phelps, sports director WJRT-TV 12, Flint; Gary Addesky, sports announcer WXYZ-TV 7, Detroit; John Fossen, sports director WEYI-TV 25, Saginaw; and Erik Furseth, sports announcer WJIM-TV 6, Lansing. WCMU-WCML-TV Sports Director Rick Shudiske will produce the telecast.

The broadcast of the Michigan High School Athletic Association basketball finals is possible through a $13,[illegible] grant from the Farm Bureau Insurance Group, Lansing.

Youths plan two day famine

Before you go to bed tonight, some 12,000 human beings around the world will have died of starvation or diseases related to malnutrition, says Rev. Walter Hastings of the Community Church of God.

While such staggering figures of misery and suffering give people a feeling of hopelessness, a group of Charlevoix youth have decided to do something about it.

Some 20 youth of the Alpha Teens of the Community Church of God in Charlevoix are going to begin a Planned Famine on March 21 and 22. Margaret Juilleret explained that the 30 hour fast will have a two-fold purpose.

"We plan for the youth participating in the program to stay together during the fast so that while we share the experience of feeling hungry, we can also learn why hunger exists in the world, and what we can do about it," she said. Mrs. Juilleret explained that many factors contribute to hunger — lifestyles, population, the energy crisis and others included. "We'll learn about them through audiovisuals and other program materials, and discuss how we can be part of the long-range solution."

The Planned Famine hunger program also has a very practical side, Mrs. Juilleret pointed out. Each youth will contribute [illegible] of their own money — $2 for each meal missed — to participate in the program. They'll also ask Famine Supporters to contribute $6 donations. The Famine Supporters will also be asked to read a fact sheet on hunger so they, too, might become involved. "The money we raise may help feed many families, or even an entire village, for a month or longer."

The funds will be channeled through World Vision International to help the hungry people. The interdenominational Christian humanitarian agency is presently supporting a number of hunger-related relief and development programs in two dozen Latin American, Asian and African countries.

Individuals interested in learning more about the Planned Famine program, or in helping the Charlevoix youth meet their goal, can call Mrs. Juilleret at [illegible].

War not the answer, commander says

"This is enough. This is the time to say we want no more of war" Andrew Templeton of Hamtramck, American Legion Department Commander for the state of Michigan, told members of the Lower 11th District of the American Legion and its Auxiliary at a recent meeting held in Petoskey.

He urged that members write to their legislators asking that this country not become involved in another war.

District Commander Jerry Evans of Ellsworth and Department Commander Templeton called attention to the fact that the month of March marks the 61st anniversary of the organization of the American Legion and the 60th anniversary of its Auxiliary. It was organized in 1919 by veterans of World War I who felt the need of an agency to assist veterans, their families, their widows and children. It was meant as a temporary organization. However, it has continued through the years until it boasts 16,000 posts and auxiliaries throughout the U.S., Canada and Mexico and is considered the largest veterans service organization.

Other state and district officials who were present were Menso Champman of Blanchard, 4th Zone Commander; Gene Dahlgard, Department Sergeant of Arms; Mack Dinsmore of Midland, Department Chairman on Americanism; Jack Winteringham, Department chairman of Internal Affairs and John Halden, 4th District Commander.

Mrs. Maurice Taylor of Ellsworth, district chairperson of Communications and Service, offered suggestions for supporting one's political party and getting out the vote in forthcoming elections; Mrs. George Lochner of Charlevoix, district legislative chairperson, reported on American Legion aid to distressed countries. She also stressed the need of membership to carry out the service offered by the American Legion. Mrs. Stafford urged members to be active in their community by aiding friends, beautifying their homes and the community and aiding unfortunate persons in the community.

Attending the meeting were Josephine Bindi, District Chaplain; Harry Pearsall, Department Poppy Chairman, and Mrs. Pearsall; Louis McKenzie, District Committeeman, and Mrs. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Lochner; Paul Stephan, Commander of the Leslie T. Shapton Post; Mrs. William Farkas, president of its Auxiliary; Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, historian; Mrs. Lester Smith, treasurer; Ronald Geer, Service Officer, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wood.

The next Lower 11th District meeting will be held at Alpena June 8. Department and District officers will be elected at that time.

Law will encourage adults to be active in foster care program

Foster parents who are sued for negligence in the care of their foster children will have their court and attorney fees paid by the state if they are found not guilty, under a bill signed into law Wednesday by Governor William G. Milliken.

State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon), sponsor of the measure, said he hopes the new law encourages more adults to become involved in the state's foster care program.

"I am very pleased that this bill has become law because I am convinced that persons who were afraid of the liabilities involved in the past might reconsider now.

"The threat of a lawsuit and legal expenses have always been factors in discouraging families from becoming foster parents," Ostling said. "Now, with new protection, I believe more couples will be willing to take on the responsibility of caring for foster children."

Ostling noted that there were only a handful of lawsuits brought against foster parents over the years. He added that there was never an incident in Michigan in which a foster parent was found guilty of negligence in the injury of a foster child, or in a case involving damages or injuries caused by a child.

In spite of the past record, foster parents have been forced to incur the costs of their legal counsel in order to defend themselves in court, Ostling said. In a couple of cases, he said, the legal fees were a few thousand dollars.

Big Brothers/Sisters announce new matches

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Charlevoix County, Inc. hosted 78 people to an afternoon of roller skating and fun at the Pied Piper of Hamlin in Walloon Lake. Sandwiches, cookies and beverages were served afterwards.

The outing also honored new matches that were the results of the foster efforts for new members. New members included Janet Medford and Ronda Brannon, Debbie McGee and Glenda Brannon, Phylis Hardy and Kim Harvey, Carol Eaves and Jennifer Pelost, Corinne Koontz and Patti Clark, [illegible].

New Big Brother matches are Gordon Van Wieren and Shannon Howes, Warren Miller and Jason Wiser, Elwood Hardy and Paul Zinck, Ken Figard and Mark McGeorge, Ken Schnebel and Jon Miller, Mike Pearsall and Tim Miller.

The Boyne City area is still in dire need of Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

Carey - Russell

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carey of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Amy Louise, to Gerald Lee Russell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Russell of Charlevoix.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Midland High School and will be a May 1980 graduate of Central Michigan University.

Her fiance is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and Northern Michigan University School of Banking. He is presently employed at the Charlevoix County State Bank.

An Aug. 16 wedding is planned at the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix.

Rowland - Avery

Mr. and Mrs. George Rowland of Norfolk, Va. announce the engagement of their daughter, Danielle Marie, to Thomas Steven Avery. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Valois A. Avery of Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be is employed at Interscapes, Inc., of Norfolk. She is a 1977 graduate of Floyd E. Kellam High School in Virginia Beach and is presently attending Tidewater Community College in Chesapeake, Va.

Her fiance is a 1975 graduate of Charlevoix High School. He is with the U.S. Navy and is serving on the U.S.S. Sumter in New York.

The couple will be married on March 22 at the Naval Amphibious Base Chapel-Little Creek, Norfolk.

Auxiliary

The auxiliary has received a donation of $100 from the Coast Guard Wives Club to be used at the VA hospital at Saginaw.

Mrs. Staley, Cancer Chairman, urges everyone to check for the seven signs of cancer and to have Pap smears taken regularly.

Plans were also made for the monthly family potluck for VFW and Auxiliary members to be held at the post home at 5 p.m. Saturday, March 29. Twenty-five members attended the last potluck at which Joseph Seidel spoke on Civil Defense safety and the need to plan a shelter in the event of a need. Several members who have been in Europe testified to the fact that Europeans plan such shelters.

Robinson - Kane

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balch Jr. of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Michelle Ranae Robinson, to Michael William Kane of Charlevoix. He is the son of Mrs. Dorothy VanLeo and the late William A. Kane.

The bride-to-be is employed as a clerk at Ben Franklin's in Charlevoix. She is a 1979 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Her fiance is a registered pharmacist at Eastland Drug in Traverse City. He is a 1974 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a 1979 graduate of Ferris State College.

The couple plan a May 16 wedding, and afterwards plan to move to Cheboygan.

CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY

It appears that with an occasional respite, the so called worldwide energy crisis will be with us for a long time, with its effects on our lifestyle and our economy, and the continuing battles about how to solve the problem without causing others. What everyone from our lawmakers and government officials on down would do well to remember is that all power originally came from God and that we would have no earthly possessions without His [illegible] endowed us with the intelligence and power to produce them, and that we can best solve our problems of energy or anything else by a continued reliance on His wisdom and guidance. Go to your Church and learn about the divine origin of the inexhaustible source of power.

CHARLES RICH of the DNR reports that a few lake trout continue to be taken from Lake Charlevoix near Boyne City.

Rich says that fishing pressure at this time of year is light since the northern pike and walleye seasons closed Feb. 29.

JOEL SCHNACKENBERG, a junior at Charlevoix High School, has been named as one of the top 100 high school mathematics students in Michigan.

The 100 students, representing 63 high schools, were honored recently at the 23rd annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition banquet at Central Michigan University.

Joel is the son of Richard and Leola Schnackenberg.

More than 23,000 Michigan high school students participated in statewide math competitions this year. The 100 students honored represent the top one half of one percent of that group.

College scholarships totaling more than $12,000 were awarded to the top 50 students. The program and scholarships are supported in part through contributions from the Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., the Kuhlman Corporation, and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

The first place Burroughs Scholar was Paul Hsieh, 17, a senior at Kalamazoo Central High School. He received a $1,000 scholarship.

REV. STANLEY WILSON, career missionary to the Philippines, will talk on the "complexities and challenges" of that country on Tuesday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene on US-31 North and Waller Road.

Rev. and Mrs. Wilson, who have served in the Philippines since 1958, are home on furlough and will be traveling over the United States and Canada holding services.

Rev. Wilson attended Olivet Nazarene College and received his A.B. from Bethany Nazarene College. He has also received his M.A. from the University of Michigan. Prior to his appointment for missionary service Rev. Wilson served as a pastor, teacher and elementary school administrator in Michigan.

A potluck supper will precede the service at 6:15 p.m.

THERESA M. HAMLIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamlin of Charlevoix, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Airman Hamlin is an administrative specialist at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La.

The airman is a 1978 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

CRAIG ASKINS, an Albion College sophomore, is studying in Philadelphia as an intern in the Philadelphia Urban Coalition through the Philadelphia Urban Semester Program this semester.

Askins is a 1978 graduate of Boyne City High School. A philosophy major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Askins.

The internship, sponsored by the college's Gerald R. Ford Institute for Public Service, of which Askins is a member, offers a student the opportunity to see a practical application of the political theories learned in the classroom and includes a system of student reporting and evaluation.

The Ford Institute at Albion was established in 1977 to help prepare students for a career in public service.

TERRI HUFFORD of Charlevoix was among 70 graduates Thursday at the Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, Kalamazoo.

The principle address entitled "The Total You: Instrument of the Future," was given by Dr. Thelma Urbick, associate professor, Department of Counseling and Personnel, Western Michigan University.

Head count starts Tuesday

CENSUS '80 APRIL 1

According to the 1970 census, 16,541 people lived in Charlevoix County. That figure is expected to increase by better than 25 percent when the Census Bureau conducts its 1980 census, which officially starts Tuesday.

Current population estimates indicate that Charlevoix County now has in the neighborhood of 21,300 residents.

By the time the last American is counted sometime during the summer, the Bureau of the Census will have reached an estimated 222 million U.S. residents and 86 million housing units, and gathered more than three billion answers.

The 222 million residents, a nine percent population increase since 1970, include some people who do not speak English, people with various political opinions, the rich and the destitute, the educated and the illiterate, members of all the earth's races. The census will also assess their housing – single-family homes, houseboats, condominiums, shacks, "abandoned" buildings, migrant worker camps, jails, school dormitories, at sea and overseas. The census is expected to count 25 percent more housing units in 1980 than in 1970.

At the same time, never in the history of the census, which has been taken every 10 years since 1790, have census findings played as important a role in American life as they do today. Besides the Constitutional mandate to provide a basis for reapportioning seats in the House of Representatives, the census measures how well the nation is doing, from the block level to the entire country. Its findings are used in the private and public sectors to decide how billions of dollars will be spent annually.

The 1980 census tabulations will yield a comprehensive statistical picture of the nation, and of every state, county, and community. This data about social and economic characteristics will be used time and again in all strata of society, though the Census Bureau merely provides the data, and never applies it.

Questionnaires for the 1980 Census of Population and Housing will be distributed by the Postal Service beginning March 28 to all households in this area.

The forms should be filled out and kept in a safe place, ready for census takers to pick up when they start their rounds on March 31. The forms contain seven questions about each person in the household and 13 questions about the house. Most questions are answered by filling in the proper tiny circle with a common lead pencil, making a black dot which can be "read" by Census Bureau machines. The instruction guide, which comes with the questionnaire, should be studied before answering the questions.

The census taker will check the questionnaire to see that all questions that apply to each person and to the house have been answered, and will give any assistance needed in filling out incomplete questionnaires.

At some households the census taker will seek answers to additional questions about each person and about the house that are being asked of a sample of the nation's population. In places of more than 2500 population one household in six will be in the sample. In the less populated areas it will be one household in every two.

District manager Sue Crampton emphasized the confidentiality of all information given in the census. No individual or household can be identified in the published statistical reports of the census. By federal law census information cannot be given to any other government agency, local officials, tax collectors, police, school officials, health or welfare officials, not to anyone.

Not all citizens are completely enthralled about filling out the census questionnaire.

Judge David Fershee of the 90th District Court believes the Census Bureau has "gone too far." Fershee says the bureau should limit the scope of the census. He considers several of the questions an invasion of privacy.

Fershee has sent letters to President Carter and to a lawmaker in Vermont, who is trying to get the federal government to re-examine the census.

Another man who is concerned about the census is Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey.

Tanton is a member of the Federation for American Immigration Reform (FAIR). The organization has filed suit in federal court in an attempt to change part of the census. FAIR is concerned about illegal aliens and the potential impact they could have on the census.

"We have always wondered how many illegal aliens there are in this country," Tanton said. "Studies have been done and the estimates range from 4 to 12 million."

Tanton said FAIR was "pleased" when they learned that the census would count the number of illegal aliens "because at least it would give us an official number." However, the organization's tune changed when they found out that the Census Bureau planned to include the illegal aliens in the population base that will be used to reapportion seats in the House of Representatives, divide revenue sharing monies, etc.

Tanton said if the Census Bureau is allowed to count illegal aliens in the population base to reapportion seats in the House of Representatives, California could pick up an additional 13 seats - since it is believed that most illegal aliens live there. Several states would then lose a seat or two, Tanton said. Pennsylvania could lose up to four seats, he added.

The case is still pending and if FAIR's argument gains support and is recognized by the court, the possibility exists that the census would need to be taken over, Tanton said.

The Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be distributing red, white and blue leaflets - explaining the 1980 census and its importance to the federal government - in the City of Charlevoix this week.

The leaflets to be distributed feature an American flag design on the cover. Inside, they include an explanation of how the census will be taken mostly by mail, a description of the confidentiality made to each citizen, and a listing of some of the benefits the community may receive as a result of the statistical information compiled.

Local census takers, who will visit each and every household in Charlevoix County during the 1980 Census of Population and Housing, will be trained March 28-29, District Manager Sue Crampton, has announced.

Crew leaders will conduct the training. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of a systematic, thorough canvass of the assigned enumeration area to insure a complete count. Classroom training will cover the proper manner of asking questions, use of the census questionnaire, census definitions, and map reading.

Sundew headed for Duluth

Charlevoix is expected to get a 140 foot Coast Guard ice breaker similar to the Bristol Bay, pictured here.

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew will be reassigned to Duluth, Minn. this summer.

That's the word from Congressman Bob Davis. In a letter to Charlevoix Mayor Sam Supernaw, Davis said he met with Coast Guard officials in Washington and was informed that the Sundew "is going to be moved to Duluth."

"It is planned to move the Sundew as soon as the summer season opens," Davis said. "She will be replaced with a 140 foot ice breaker."

The reassignment of the Sundew, stationed in Charlevoix for over 20 years, is deemed necessary by Coast Guard officials because the sinking of the Blackthorn off the coast of Tampa, Florida earlier this year left the Gulf of Mexico short of cutters. The Mesquite, presently stationed in Duluth, will be reassigned to Galveston, Texas.

It is expected that the 140 foot ice breaker, Neah, will be assigned to Charlevoix to replace the 180 foot Sundew. The Neah carries a crew of 17, which is far less than the Sundew's crew of 50, a fact that concerns city officials because of its possible economic ramifications.

"Although I share your opposition to having her moved, I have been assured by Coast Guard officials that the move is a temporary one," Davis said. "Within an 18 month period of time another 180 vessel will be back in Charlevoix, possibly even the Sundew."

Davis said he was "sorry" he was unable "to stop this move" but noted that "the rotation and placement of vessels by the Coast Guard is not an activity subject to Congressional oversight or review."

"Let me assure you, however, of my grave concern in this matter," Davis added. "I realize the influence that the Sundew has on the City of Charlevoix and I will continue to monitor very closely the actions of the Coast Guard in an effort to lessen the impact of this move on the community."

Jane Brannon appointed clerk

Jane Brannon, who has served as a deputy clerk for seven years, has been named clerk of Charlevoix County. The announcement was made Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Brannon succeeds Clarence Rabach, who resigned after 11 years as county clerk. Her appointment will run until Jan. 1, 1981, when the person elected county clerk in the November general election will take office. Mrs. Brannon intends to be a candidate at that time.

The appointment was made by Circuit Judge Martin B. Breighner "at the request of, and with the full support of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners". There were six candidates for the position, three of whom were interviewed.

Mrs. Brannon was born in Petoskey and graduated from St. Francis High School. She holds a certificate in advanced governmental accounting from Michigan State University and has studied management and organization at North Central Michigan College.

Prior to going to work for Charlevoix County, Mrs. Brannon served three years as a deputy city clerk in Petoskey. She lives in Hayes Township with her husband, Gary, and lists her interests as "gardening, horseback riding, and crafts".

School bell stolen from yard

A 200-pound solid bronze bell that hung in the bell tower of the former Marion Center rural school for several years was stolen sometime Saturday night from the yard of the present owner, Anton Mutz.

The school was purchased by Mutz and converted into a residence. The bell was removed from the tower in 1959, bolted on a frame and placed on concrete blocks on the lawn of the Mutz home, located one mile south of the Charlevoix city limits on the Ellsworth road.

Mutz said the bell, which is 24 inches in diameter, was cast in England in the 1800's. It bears the year it was cast and the name of the city in England in an imprint on the bell.

He added that many people, through the years, have shown an interest in the bell and have asked to purchase it. He said, however, that he treasured it and is "heartbroken" at its loss.

Anyone having any knowledge of its disappearance is asked to call Mutz.

Michigan Bell offers $2.50 credit for each telephone that is returned

Michigan Bell has developed a new system which will sa, northern area telephone customers money when they move

E.W. (Mike) Reid, Michigan Bell's northern community relations manager, said five phone "drop boxes" have been installed in Petoskey, Pellston, Harbor Springs, Boyne City and Charlevoix. Customers who leave telephones in one of these boxes will receive a $2.50 credit on their phone bills for each set [illegible].

"When customers move, they now have the option of removing their phones for credit rather than leaving them behind for a phone company employee to pick up," Reid said.

"Customers who are changing residences should report their move to the local business office. A representative then can tell them the correct way to disconnect their phones and the location of the nearest drop box."

All the customers have to do then, Reid said, is attach their name and address to the bottom of each set before dropping it off.

Besides benefitting customers who are changing residences, Michigan Bell hopes other people who have "idle" Bell-owned phones lying around for any reason will take advantage of the drop boxes as well

Reid noted that phones aren't always returned to Michigan Bell when a customer changes service. He said the telephone company has lost more than 1,000 phones in the northern area since the beginning of the year

"It's enough of a problem that we want to make a special effort to acquire these phones," Reid said. "So until May 30, we also will give a $2.50 credit for any phone a customer returns."

He emphasized that customers need not worry about back-billing on the sets

"We just want the phones back — no questions asked."

The five drop boxes are located at.

Selling Your House by [illegible]

WHAT'S INCLUDED?

You're putting your home up for sale. You're selling four walls and a roof in a particular location, along with the land that surrounds it.

But much more is generally involved. Kitchen cabinets and built in appliances are usually included in the price. Other appliances may be too. Carpeting, draperies, lighting fixtures, even furniture, may or may not be part of the package.

Nothing can be taken for granted; everything is negotiable. Within that framework a listing can be enhanced or hindered by the inclusion of features within the house. Will it improve the chances of sale if carpeting and draperies are thrown in? That wonderful chandelier in the dining room: does the prospect like it enough to pay a little extra for it? If you're including a refrigerator and the prospect already has one, will he try to cut the price to cover this?

You need help. We'll tell you what items are usually included in this market area. We'll help you negotiate with a buyer. And we'll make sure it's all down in black and white. When you're [illegible] YOUR home on the market, call the professionals at Charlevoix Properties.

As business manager

B.I. Boat Company picks Kammermann

J. Eric Kammermann of Harbor Springs, a veteran of eight years in the U.S. Coast Guard, has been named business manager of the Beaver Island Boat Company, Edward Ladd of St. James, president of the company, has announced

He will assume the position April 1 succeeding Lawrence McDonough who had served as business manager since April 1, 1973. McDonough will continue to work with Kammermann for the first two months of the season in an advisory capacity, Ladd [illegible]

A native of Fairbury, Ill., where he was graduated from high school, Kammermann enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard on July 1, 1971. He was stationed at Frankfort, aboard the U.S.C.G. Cutter Sumac stationed at Keokuk, Iowa, and at the Rock of Ages light station near Isle Royale in Lake Superior while in the service. Since his discharge from the service in April 1978 he has resided at Harbor Springs. He held the rank of Boatswain's Mate, first class, at the time of his discharge

Kammermann, 26, is married and has one child. He plans to move to Charlevoix.

McDonough, who is retiring as business manager, will continue to reside here with his wife, the former Winifred LaFreniere. He has been an employee of the Beaver Island Boat Co. since 1954, first as a deck hand and since 1955 when he obtained his captain's operator's license, as skipper of ferries serving the island until 1973 when he became business manager. At various times he has filled in as skipper of the ferries since becoming business [illegible]

Two CHS musicians get 1st division rating

Two Charlevoix High School musicians, Mary Plagge and David Staublin, received first division ratings in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival competition at Newberry Saturday their director, Michael Filkins, has announced.

Mary's top rating came for her flute solo. David received a first division rating for his trombone solo and a second division for his second entry, a piano solo.

Three others qualified for competition in the state festival at the district level but chose not to enter, Filkins said.

U-M architecture students Elyse B. Bankler (left) and Amy Lesser (right) view the model of their proposed urban Detroit dealership with a representative of General Motors. Their proposal was a six-story-high ramp-like structure featuring enclosed auto storage and showroom space. Their design was an attempt to solve the problem of limited space in an urban setting. Part of the building is suspended from cables, permitting showroom space on the lower level to be partition-free.

Designing auto dealerships for the 1980's, U-M project

Ann Arbor - Greater energy efficiency, equal emphasis on service and sales, and more effective use of the site for marketing are among concepts for "Automobile Dealerships of the 1980's" developed by 19 University of Michigan architecture students.

Funded by General Motors, the U-M design program produced separate projects for dealerships in Michigan, Minnesota, Arizona and Florida, which took into account climate, energy considerations and other factors in those areas. The project included models of the futuristic dealerships, that were displayed last week at the new Service Development Center of the General Motors Technical Center in Warren.

Among the students who participated in the program - organized by Professors Jonathan King and Kent Hubbell - was Amy Lesser of Charlevoix.

Some ideas developed by the students in the program included:

•The organization of service facilities around eight-car turntables, which would serve to centralize service equipment, increase service efficiency, and reduce service space.

•The use of solar energy for heating and cooling and the use of fiberglass teflon fabric shelters for automobile exhibit areas for an Arizona dealership.

•Cascading exterior auto exhibit areas designed "to utilize the whole site effectively for marketing display"

Other ideas included Arizona projects featuring an underground complex of structures designed to minimize energy consumption and a giant tent structure to shelter the dealership and also conserve energy

A plan organized around natural ventilation in Miami, Fla., featured the historic "art decó" style characteristic of the Miami area. And an urban plan for Detroit featured a great spiral ramp for auto storage and display

The dealership designs will be used as exhibits and in published reports to serve as a "stimulus to the design of buildings better able to serve the sales and service needs of auto dealers and their customers in this decade," according to Prof. King, director of the U-M's Architectural Research Laboratory and a faculty design advisor to the project.

A major portion of the project, headed by U-M architecture student Larry Navin, "involved research on dealership goals and needs and included visits to a number of dealers and discussion sessions with dealers and their service managers. The architectural program generated by these discussions and visits

13 in Lift-a-thon

Six Charlevoix High School students and seven volunteers from the community lifted the equivalent of three automobiles in the first annual Lift-a-thon held recently to raise funds to help build and maintain the weight training program at the school

Each person competed in three categories: the military press, the bench press and the dead lift

The lifters obtained sponsors who contributed funds on a per pound basis. Kurt Puffpaff and Jim Duree were the chief fund-raisers.

The lifters were able to lift a total of 9,133 pounds or the equivalent of two Ford LTD's and a Volkswagen Rabbit.

Competing in the lift-a-thon were Gregg Whitley, Puffpaff, Mark Morgan, Bill Ranger, Jim Crinnion and Joel Schnackenberg, all students at the Charlevoix High School and volunteers, Steve Hoffman, John Miller, Duree, Frank Noa, Bob Eisenberg, Steve Kehrer, and Plas Presnell

The top lifters were Hoffman/915 pounds; Duree/890 and Schnackenberg/755 pounds.

Q/A - Assessments

This is the second in a series of articles on the general property tax law and its reference to the ever increasing assessments of property, taxes and true cash values.

Today we will talk about the word "assessment". Webster's Dictionary defines assessment "an amount or value assessed". It also goes on to state that assess means "to make an official valuation of (property) for the purpose of taxation. In the State of Michigan an assessing officer must be certified by the State Assessors Board and the State Assessors Board was established under the provisions of Act 203, P.A. 1969. Prior to this provision the duly elected supervisor of a township was the assessing officer and the cities hired someone to do their assessing function. It was the intent of the Legislature, in enacting legislation providing for the State Assessors Board, to establish qualifications for the office of assessor. The purpose of qualified assessors was to have fair and equitable assessing performed at the local level. The law has been enacted that an assessing officer must follow. The general property tax law states "that all property, real and personal, within the jurisdiction of this state, not expressly exempted, shall be subject to taxation. The law further states "an assessment of all the property in the state, liable to taxation shall be made annually in the several townships, villages and cities."

The assessor is charged with making an annual assessment of property and "the taxable status of persons and real and personal property shall be determined as of each December 31st, which shall be deemed the tax day. No assessing officer shall be restricted to any particular period in the preparation of the assessment roll but may survey, examine or review properties at any time prior to or after the tax day."

The assessing officer must complete the assessment roll by the first Monday in March, ready for review by the local Board of Review. One of the requirements of the assessing officer based on enacted legislation effective December, 1976 was that "the assessing officer shall give to each owner or person or persons listed on the tax roll of the property a notice by first class mail of an increase in the assessment for the year. The notice shall specify each parcel of property, the assessed valuation for the year and the previous year, the net change in assessment, and the time and place of the meeting of the Board of Review. The notice shall be addressed to the owner of record and mailed not less than 10 days before the meeting of the Board of Review. The law also goes on to say "the failure of the property owner to receive notice shall not invalidate an assessment roll or an assessment on property."

To put this in a capsule, we understand property shall be assessed annually and the assessment shall be considered as the property stood December 31st of each year. The assessment shall be at 50 percent of true cash value and it shall be placed on the assessment roll by the 1st Monday in March ready for review by the Board of Review.

Recently people received notices of increase in their assessment. In talking with some of the people, the notice was confusing to them because not only did it list the 1979 assessment, the newly established 1980 assessment and the difference to show the total increase and decrease, but it also listed the 1979 SEV and the 1980 SEV and the difference. Why do I have two valuations and what does each one represent? What is the meaning of the equalization factors that are stated on the notice of assessment change? What is SEV? Which figure are my taxes based on? And the questions went on and on. Hopefully, all this will be explained in due course, but let's see what happens when the asssessing officer completes his assessment roll and turns it over the the Board of Review by the Tuesday after the Monday he is required to have the roll completed. The assessment that the assessor placed on your property is up for review by the Board of Review. Do you wonder what their purpose is? What are their qualifications? What can they do about your assessment?

The Legislature set down a lot of rules for Boards of Review, too. In a township the Board of Review is comprised of three taxpaying electors of the township who shall be owners of land in the township, and they are appointed by the township board. The terms of all members shall terminate at noon on January 1 of each odd numbered year. Each member of the Board of Review shall qualify by taking the constitutional oath of office. Boards of Review in cities are set up by city charters, and a few still come under the 4th class city's act. The dates that the Boards of Review meet are set by law or charter. Some Boards of Review have received letters from people chastising them for not holding the meetings in the summer months when they can more readily attend the meeting. The Boards of Review have to adjourn by the 1st Monday in April.

The law provides the Board of Review so that the people can appear before them and protest their new assessment. (If you are a non-resident you may protest by letter, a telephone call does not suffice). These boards are not the ones who originally established the new assessment and they now are the ones will make the final decision on what the assessment will be for this year. But the boards also have certain laws that they shall comply with. Under the general property tax law it states "If any supervisor or other assessing officer of any township or city shall willfully assess any property at more or less than what he believes to be its true cash value, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof he shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 1 year, or by fine not exceeding $300, at the discretion of the court. If any board whose duty it is to review the assessment of an assessing officer shall willfully assess property at more or less than its true cash value, the members voting in favor of such action shall severally be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 6 months, or fine not exceeding $300, at the discretion of the court." So far, you can readily understand that the assessing officer and boards of review are to establish what they believe to be 50 percent of true cash value of your property, for your assessment, and in an area where property values are increasing every year, your assessments keep increasing year after year. I don't mean to keep quoting the law to bore you; but to help you understand the assessment of property is a serious business and should not be taken lightly by the assessor nor the Boards of Review nor the property owner.

When a property owner protests his assessment he or she is put in the position of proving what the true cash value of the property is. The courts have ruled "the burden of proof is on the petitioner". If, the Board of Review feels your assessment is fair and uniform, you still have the right of appeal to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. (That is another discussion by itself). But once the Board of Review has set the assessment, either by letting the assessors assessment stand or by their change based on evidence presented, the assessment stands. The only way it can be changed after the Board of Review adjourns is by appeal to the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

I talked with some Board of Review members and it seems that right next to the assessor being unpopular, the Board of Review follows a close second. The members say it is a difficult job sitting there and having to deny people their petition of protest when you know it places a hardship on some of them. That also is another subject we will touch on in the future.

But now the Board of Review is over and your assessment is finalized, then why does it sometimes get multiplied higher when the tax bill comes out? Where does the SEV come from on the notice of assessment change and the tax bill? what is SEV? Next week we'll try to find out the answer to these questions.

Analyzing the new economic program

Bob Davis

The Administration has announced yet another major program to aid our deepening economic crisis. Although I'm not totally convinced that this program will resolve our inflationary and general economic problems. I will support parts of the plan.

It's too bad we had to wait until the prime interest rate hit 19 percent and the inflation rate soared to 20 percent before our government leaders admitted we had to balance the federal budget. Balancing the 1981 federal budget isn't going to be a magical cure for our economic problems. It will merely be an important first step toward restoring order. It is most important that we keep the budget balanced in the years to come.

It has been this chronic overspending that speeded us toward an economic crisis. When fiscal year 1979 ended last September 30, the National Debt was $833.8 billion, or $3,823.71 for every man, woman and child in the country. Under the President's 'austere' 1981 budget, the debt will reach $939.4 billion taking your share to $4,307.98. We must cut down this staggering debt.

I am confident that we will have a balanced budget for 1981, and I'm pleased about that. A balanced budget is something I've been calling for since before I came to Congress. Although it won't have a great impact on the economy right away. I think it's important because it shows the government is willing to tighten its own [illegible]

I have some concerns about the programs that will probably be cut back. Some of the programs that will undoubtedly suffer are the various job programs, and that will hurt in an area like ours. However, none of the cuts will be easy to make, and I intend to scrutinize them carefully.

Not being an economist, it's hard for me to analyze exactly what a lot of the moves will do for the economy. The idea of credit controls sounds like something that might do some good, but after looking at the issue, I'm not so sure. Banks and major retailers were already voluntarily reducing credit simply because they weren't making the necessary profits. I'd much rather see industry act without a government mandate.

Another point that should be made is that the large increases in prices during the last two months haven't occurred in general merchandise or clothing, and that's the type of goods people charge on a credit card. Also, consumer installment debt makes up a very small part of our overall debt.

The proposed 10-cent gasoline tax is totally inappropriate, and by far the worst portion of the program. American drivers have already cut down gasoline consumption by 10 percent. The cost probably has played a role in reducing consumption, but adding to the cost through a tax is not necessarily going to save any more gas. And it will discriminate against rural drivers.

When you don't live in a city, and don't have alternative means of transportation, there's only so much driving you can cut out. It is difficult to carpool in rural areas, because there are simply not enough people going the same direction from the same starting point at the same time. We don't have subways and buses like the cities. We have already cut out most if not all, of our unnecessary driving and adding another 10 cents per gallon to the cost of gasoline would be completely out of line.

I hope the government is finally willing to take some serious steps toward solving our deep economic troubles. We all have to make a definite commitment to do our part. The federal government must lead the way by proving to the American public that our leaders are serious about restraining spending.

Two GOP bills near signing

Steve Andrews

Two important Republican-sponsored bills have been approved by both houses and sent to Governor Milliken, who is expected to sign them into law soon.

One bill would expand the definition of a "child born out of wedlock" and could save the state as much as $500,000 a year; the other streamlines procedures for legislative recounts.

Both bills are good bills, designed to make government less costly and more efficient.

Let's look at each bill more closely.

The first piece of legislation discussed amends the paternity act to include the definition of a child whose mother was married at the time of the birth, but whose father, in the determination of the circuit court, was not the mother's husband.

Before 1977, a child born to a married woman was automatically and legally presumed to be the offspring of the woman's husband, despite compelling evidence to the contrary. Michigan courts simply refused to consider any claim by the husband that he could not be the father of his wife's child.

However, the Michigan Supreme Court overturned that long-standing tradition, and courts may now admit the husband's testimony disputing paternity. If there is clear and convincing evidence, the husband can be released from paternal and child support responsibilities.

The Supreme Court decision created a gap in the law because the mother of the child, prior to passage of the bill, had no legal recourse to force the biological father of the child to support his child. Many of these children were supported on public welfare instead, at a cost ranging between $240,000 and $500,000 a year.

The Department of Social Services estimated that each year there could be 400 to 500 cases in which children are entitled to ADC payments because they are ineligible for child support from their biological father.

The new law will change that. The state can potentially save up to $500,000 a year when biological fathers are forced to pay support for their children.

The legislation relating to recounts requires the State Board of Canvassers to conduct the recounts to assure swift, non-partisan resolution of election results that are challenged.

This bill will streamline the present procedure. Prior to this bill's passage, a special House or Senate Committee was appointed to conduct recounts when the persons who lost a close legislative race requested it.

The process was lengthy, often taking two and a half months before the committee issued its report and the new member was finally seated. There was always an element of partisanship involved because Republican and Democrat legislators were there side-by-side counting votes.

Under the new procedure, the State Board of Canvassers can begin to recount shortly after the election is certified. The recount can be completed in two or three weeks rather than two and a half months.

Who ever heard of Women's Lib in the 19th Century? Just ask Bess Steed Garner. Bess is the remarkable lady of authoress Elizabeth Forsythe Hailey's creation who is in fact A Woman of Independent Means. Inspired by the life of her grandmother, Ms. Hailey has presented us with a fictional collection of letters written by the main character to various people with whom she comes into contact.

When we first meet Bess, she is approximately nine years old and it is the turn of the century. Already she is determined to grab the world by its tail. And so, she proceeds to do so though it means a bit of manipulating, conniving and pulling a few tails of those around her over the years – all in the name of love. When we say good-bye to her, it is 1968 and Bess is nearly 80 and still kicking. What transpires in those 80 years is the unfolding saga of one life, that of an extremely industrious, wealthy, forceful, witty, ever-loving, often lovable, and perhaps even more dominating woman.

Never a lady of few words, Bess writes that despite the other possible shortcomings of personality she might suffer (though she would be hard pressed to think of any), she certainly would never have left anything unsaid. Nor few places in the world untravelled. In Bess' opinion, the two distinctions among human beings should not be male and female, but better, those who travel and those who don't. We follow her, sometimes escorted by her husband, sometimes by her children, but always by an entourage of acquaintances and admirers – from Europe to Hawaii, from South America to the Arctic Circle.

Choosing to bequeath her wealth of culture as well as finance upon her heirs during her own lifetime, Bess bestowed her gifts freely with little thought of what she expected in return. Perhaps it was not until later life that she realized that gratuities do not necessarily reap return on their investment of their own accord. One Bess overlooked is the fact that love is not bought, and that to be outspoken is not the best way to endear yourself to your off-spring. Thus she finds herself alienated in the end by the family she has nurtured with an iron spoon and will.

Through Bess, however, is revived the lost art of letter writing. Her epistles brought mind the letters of my own grandmother. I hadn't thought about them in years, but at one time of my away-at-college-life, they were some of the most eagerly awaited treasures to drop behind the little glass mailbox door. Grandma like Bess had a way of transforming the commonplace happenings of everyday life into an adventure in reading. And optimism is revived. Reading about such a determined lady inspired me to dig into spring cleaning with renewed vigor and to look forward to planning another trip. It also inspired me to get back to letter writing, a pasttime I once enjoyed nearly as much as Grandma and Bess before the days of "reaching out to touch someone" via the telephone. There is so much to be said for communication on paper.

Bess Steed Garner, the "woman of independent means" of this touching novel, leaves one more inspiration in the wake of the condensation of her long and fruitful life. She once wrote that she would like the epitaph on her tombstone to read: "TO BE CONTINUED..." I guess that would be a legacy to consider – living a life so full and ambitious that in fact you wished it would never end.

Look out Florida!

SO SORRY. Congress won't have the last word about President Carter's 10-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, as I believed last week.

Our well-meaning legislators gave the president the power last year to impose such a tax when it appeared the nation might be up against a critical gasoline shortage.

So what does Carter do? He waits until the United States is literally awash in gasoline. (Reserves last week hit an all-time record.) Then he imposes the tax — not to conserve gasoline but to "fight inflation."

No one has explained yet how you fight inflation with more inflation, but that's not important. What is important is that the new 10-cent-a-gallon tax will be imposed May 15. So fill up your tank [illegible]

I [illegible] if there'll be room in the Sunshine State for all of the Charlevoixans who headed south last Friday for the "spring break?"

For many, the trip will be "one last fling" before the new gasoline tax is imposed.

Some of the travelers left their gas-guzzling recreation vehicles at home and are making the trip [illegible] by air or conventional automobile.

One Charlevoix family packed tents and plans to stay at campgrounds from Tampa to Key West.

In any event, Florida is surely experiencing a record invasion of "snow birds" this season.

"A BLACK and white animal out in the woods,/ Say, ain't that little cat pretty?/ I bent right over to pick him up,/ But it wasn't that kind of a kitty."

Those old words to "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" — a record I used to play on the Victrola when I was kid — kept running through my cerebellum last week as our common enemy the skunk began to emerge from his winter digs.

Several already have been killed by automobiles on U.S. 31 between Charlevoix and Petoskey, which must have been pretty discouraging not only to the critters themselves but also to the drivers who hit them. How long does "eau de skunk" linger on an automobile chassis?

Modern day skunks, sorry to say, are not strictly woodland animals. They enjoy the food to be found around human habitations and sometimes will move right into crawl spaces under homes if they can find an opening. Sunday night, one well-fed specimen was spotted taking a leisurely stroll down Dixon Avenue in Charlevoix.

Although the skunk has made contributions over the years to the fur and perfume industries, the animal has few redeeming qualities and is known to be a carrier of rabies.

So better keep fido on a leash these warm spring nights. And warn your toddlers that little black and white animals aren't always pretty kitties.

A rabid skunk is more likely to attack than run.

WARMER WEATHER also has brought out a number of other wild creatures from their winter hideouts. I was surprised to see a plump hen pheasant waddling across Mt. McSauba Road the other morning — the third pheasant I have seen since moving to Northern Michigan 13 years ago.

A few minutes later, I encountered a hump in the middle of Charlevoix Avenue inside Petoskey city limits which turned out to be a woodchuck. He scurried to the safety of the road shoulder before becoming another casualty.

Deer, of course, have been out all winter, thanks to our scanty snowfall and frequent thaws. Fawns should be plentiful this spring.

Meet Charlevoix

When strange faces were few and far between

Remembering the Charlevoix of old

By Peg Ohle

Ruth Crain Russell has lived in the Charlevoix area since early girlhood. She has a collection of pictures of old Charlevoix scenes and people and artifacts that fill about a dozen volumes. Just for fun, the Courier talks with her about some of them.

Q. This picture looks seasonal. Where was it taken?

A. Those are fishing shanties on Round Lake in 1927. There used to be a lot of ice fishing on Round Lake.

Q. Who's this man leading a bear around on a leash?

A. That was George Washington Smith. He was skipper of the Minnie S., which carried passengers to downtown Charlevoix from the Chicago Club, the Inn, and the Belvedere Club. The black bear was his pet. The picture was taken in front of the Argo Mill, which used to be where the Weathervane is now.

Q. What are these little folders with students' names in them?

A. They're souvenirs of the classes. Teachers used to give them to their students each year. These are both from the Nowland School in Marion Township. One is for the year 1909, when Magdalena Mitchell was the teacher, and the other is for 1912, when Mary M. Dunlop was the teacher. It's fun to read the list of students: In 1909, there were Oliver Browning; Orlin Cunningham; Julia and Eva Cork; Nella Imel; Lloyd [illegible]; Joseph and Mabel Mitchell; Edith, Clara, Benjiman, and Franklin Nowland; Myrtle Winkler, and John Wildie. In 1912, there were Clara and Frank Nowland; Myrtle Winkler; Mabel Mitchell; Bessie and Jennie Tvaroha; Cora, Nellie and [illegible] Brown; Orlin and Alvin Cunningham; Albert and Russell Shaw; John Wildie; and Joseph Pletka.

Q. There must be 200 people in this picture, watching some poor man on skis who has apparently taken a fall. What was the occasion?

A. That was a skiing exhibition at Mt. McSauba about 1926. I guess all the people came out to see what skiing was all about.

Q. Who is this distinguished looking gentleman in the formal portrait?

A. That's Archibald Buttars, one of the early settlers of Charlevoix. The picture was taken in 1885 in Lansing.

Q. What's this little booklet?

A. It's a carriage and wagon mail order catalog. Notice it's dated 1893.

Q. But the size of it. It's only about two and a half by three and a half inches big but it lists over 50 different vehicles, all described and priced. – Here's a "Two-Spring Phaeton" described as "A favorite with the very best class of patrons. Sarven patent or wood hub wheels. Top, leather quarter or full leather; cloth or leather cushions." And the price is only $76.

Q. What's this fancy looking vehicle parked in front of Round Lake?

A. That's a picture of Adam Pfister and his popcorn wagon. The picture belongs to my aunt, Nita Newman. A lot of the oldtimers around town will remember the popcorn man.

Q. This is the best picture postcard I've ever seen of the old Pere Marquette Depot. And this one of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank with the bright red open roadster in front goes back quite a ways. I guess we'd like to have most of these to run in our "Charlevoix Yesterday" column. May we?

A. Certainly. Besides the three that belong to Nita Newman, most of the others came from my husband's aunt, Nellie Meach. She used to run Nell's Cafe downtown. The Meaches and the Buttars and the Parmelees were all relatedc.

Q. Where did you live when you were growing up?

A. On the Marion Center Road. My father worked on Elmer Ingalls' farm. My husband, Miles – they call him "Rusty" – lived in town. He worked for the Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co., Swanson Construction, Marathe, then ran the Zephyr Station and finally the Gulf Station. He's retired now.

Q. Where did you work?

A. I did housework for the Earl Babst family at the Chicago Club, for the Louis Morrow family at the Belvedere Club, and for the Harvey Ratner family at Pine Point. After we bought the filling station, I did the phone and book work.

Q. How many children did you have?

A. Five. Three of them are living. Kenneth is a mechanic at the Charlevoix Oil Co., Alvin lives in Charlevoix, too, and our daughter, Maxine McKerracher, lives in Fort Wayne. We also raised our grandson, Wayne Russell.

Q. What are the biggest changes you have seen in Charlevoix since your early days here?

A. For one thing, all the new people. You used to be able to walk down the street and know everybody. Now most of them are strangers. The other thing is the factories. They brought year round employment. Years ago, there were only summer jobs. People worked in the summer and what money they made had to last all year.

Q. We see that you have a scrapbook full of pictures cut from the Courier's "Charlevoix Yesterday" feature. In fact, it looks more complete than the Courier file. Anyway, we'll be glad to have these albums and we'll run them from time to time.

Artrain making tracks to B.C.

Northern Michigan - get ready!

The Michigan ArtTrain will be making tracks to a dozen communities state-wide from April through June - including Boyne City June 12-16.

The "museum on wheels" was designed to bring the fine arts and a better understanding of them to the people - but, it's a far cry from a traditional museum. A [illegible] 415 feet long, the train includes three gallery cars, a generator car, studio car with "art in progress", and a turn of the century caboose bringing up the rear.

On Artrain '80, you can get acquainted with the works of such masters as Picasso, Matisse and Chagall. Browse a photo documentation of major Michigan public sculptures, including Nevelson and Calder pieces, and a post-World War II exhibit gathered from Michigan museums and private collections.

One of Artrain's most popular features is the studio car. It's equipped with work areas, potters wheel, kiln and more to accomodate resident artists who travel with the train, demonstrating and chatting with visitors about their work. Local artists are also invited to participate. Artists in residence may range from potters and painters to taxidermists and violin makers. Local committees have devoted a considerable number of hours getting ready for the train's arrival. At most stop's, art fairs and other special activities have been planned in conjunction with Artrain.

In addition to Boyne City, the Artrain will be in Mackinaw City July 25-29.

Dr. Armstrong's career subject of society meeting

The Charlevoix Historical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, April 1, at 8 p.m. in the Harsha House at 103 State Street.

This is the first meeting of the society in its new headquarters. Members and friends will be able to observe progress of initial museum development, consisting of a room for housing archives and a display room. President Bill Price will discuss plans for utilizing these rooms [illegible].

For the program, Mrs. Edward Shanahan will talk about her father, Dr. Robert Armonstrong, who served the Charlevoix area as a general practicioner from the time of his graduation from the first medical class at the University of Michigan in 1894 until his death in 1940. Dr. Armstrong is well remembered as a family physician who attended the birth of many present middle-aged and elderly residents of Charlevoix. Anecdotes will be forthcoming.

Interestingly, the Armstrongs were members of the original Charlevoix Historical Society, and probably attended meetings of the society in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harsha, which in 1979 was deeded to the present society through a bequest of their granddaughter, Anne M. Harsha, a life member of the society.

Award winner

Terry Salmonson is convinced that some of the finest photographers in the State of Michigan are right in our backyard.

If results from the 39th annual Professional Photographers of Michigan convention are any indication, Salmonson's assessment is pretty accurate. Six photographers from the Little Traverse Bay area won awards at the convention, held March 15-18 at the Kalamazoo Hilton.

The six who copped awards were Salmonson, Luciano, Jerry Martinchek, Ron Valentine, Bruce Gathman and Larry Wojick.

"The quality of photography in this area is far above average," Salmonson said. "Everyone of us got an award. It's a credit to the photographers and to the area."

Salmonson submitted four photographs - the maximum allowed - to be judged by his peers. He received one red ribbon (Award of Honor) and two yellow ribbons (Award of Merit). His red ribbon was for a picture of the Charlevoix marina (below). His portrait shot of Charles and Patricia Gage (right) and his industrial photograph of the East Jordan Iron Works (front page) earned him yellow ribbons.

Over 450 prints were submitted to the judges, Salmonson said, and less than half received ribbons.

Salmonson's portrait of Charles and Patricia Gage received perhaps the most comment. One of the five judges said it deserved a blue ribbon (Award of Excellence), while another judge said it did not deserve a ribbon at all. The portrait was then re-examined by the judges.

The judges awarded each print a certain number of points. The points were then added up and divided for an average. To win a blue ribbon, a print must have scored between 80-100; a red ribbon was 75-80 and a yellow ribbon was 72-74. Salmonson's portrait and industrial prints averaged out at 74, just one point shy of a red ribbon.

In addition to the judging of prints, the photographers attended several seminars to listen to leading professionals in their field.

Charlevoix athletes receive recognition

Ken Otmanowski of Charlevoix has been named to the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference most valuable player basketball team.

The number of picks were awarded according to the final standings with the first place squad (Gaylord) landing the most berths. Each team selects its own players for the honor squad.

In addition to Otmanowski, other members of the honor team include: Clark Hewitt and Scott Hayes, Petoskey; Larry Jarema, Boyne City; Steve Glasser, Jeff Scott and Joe Andrews, Gaylord; John Juntilla, Bill Roach and Rocky Tobin, Grayling; Larry Peters and Jeff St. Louis, St. Ignace; Jeff Shampine, Cheboygan, and Kevin Sellke, Rogers City.

Scott Morgan of Charlevoix made honorable mention.

Mel Kerridge, Carolyn Loper and Debbie Resch of Charlevoix have been named to the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference most valuable player volleyball team.

The number of picks were awarded according to the final standing with the first place team landing the most berths. Each team selects its own players for the honor squad.

In addition to Kerridge, Loper and Resch, also making the honor squad were: Lisa Pater and Diane Zmikly, Petoskey; Becky Aumesbury and Kim Wandrie, Boyne City; Sheila Parkinson, Gaylord; Olwyn Provo, Cheboygan; Roberta Urlaub, Rogers City; Glenda Premble, LuAnn Altman and Ranay Litzner, St. Ignace; Lisa Radebaugh, Grayling.

Marie Buday of Charlevoix made honorable mention.

Hope Malpelli of Charlevoix has made the Detroit News third team girls all-state ski team.

Charlevoix woman on team

Detroit ski club wins 'Challenge'

The Skinik Ski Club of Detroit - featuring former Charlevoix skier Kathy Etienne - won the midwest division of the Grand Marnier Ski Club Challenge at Boyne Mountain this month.

After placing fourth in the eliminations when 28 ski clubs from the midwest competed in head-to-head dual racing, the Skinik B team came back to win the "Challenge" over the G M Ski Club of Union Lake and Skinik A team.

Each member of the winning team - three men and three women - received ski equipment and will be flown to Aspen, Colorado to compete in the national championship next week.

Ms. Etienne (far left) raced for the Charlevoix High School ski team in 1968. She is now an R.N. in the Lansing area, working as a rehabilitation consultant. Ms. Etienne competes regularly at Boyne Mountain in USSA sanctioned races. Other members of the team (left to right) include Jack Cook, Harriet Rhodes, Mike Lozen, Sue Chamberlain and Tom Morrish.

18 CHS forensic students qualify for regional

Eighteen Charlevoix High School forensics students qualified for regional competition in eight categories in the district individual events tournament held at Petoskey last week, their coach, Mrs. Connie Ford, [illegible].

The regional tournament will be held at Central Michigan University April 19.

Eleven other students placed third in five events and will be alternates to the first two positions should something prevent them from competing, Mrs. Ford said.

Placing first with perfect scores were John Grooters in story telling; Kristy Mathews in open oratory and Jack Carlson, Paul Stangis, Cindy Engler, Pat Camilleri, Carolyn Loper, Tami Noirot and Jim Gleason in a multiple entitled "Death". This is the second time Grooters has received a perfect score in competition.

Others receiving first place ratings were Shari Barnes in serious interpretation; Bob Best in radio and Martha Staley in 9-10 oratory.

Placing second were Kathy Pidek in Open Humorous; Carla Sizemore, radio; Kelly Mathews, 9-10 oratory; Sheri Cook, serious interpretation and Patti Cook and Jim Boggs in a dramatic duo using a cutting from "My Fair Lady".

Placing third in the competition were David Milligan, 9-10 humorous; Wendi Wright, open humorous; Colleen Wilhelm, informative; Dennis Batdorff, open oratory; Richard Hodgson, Beth Ford, Tammy Helms, Dori Olach, Keith Lehman, Chris Peterson and Michael R. Martin in a multiple entitled "The Serpent".

Other members of the team and their categories follow: Janine Browe and David Olach in a dramatic duo from "Camelot"; Sue Greenway, impromptu speaking; Mary Egler, story telling; Ron Archey, informative; Gary Carson in 9-10 humorous. Mrs. Ford said that though they were not among the top three most were in the finals.

She added that for the first time since the re-institution of forensics in 1968, the program has more students competing than is allowed at the district level. Based on the number of tournaments and years on the team the following travel with the team and serve as timekeepers (which each team must furnish): Hope Malpeli, Angela Spieles, Kristen Allard, Nanci Miller and Mariko Reigler.

June Cross (left) and Nancy Murray (right), representing the Charlevoix Women's Club, present City Manager Jim Brinker with a check for $250 that will enable the city to purchase an electric blood pressure monitor with digital readouts of diastolic/systolic pressure and pulse rates for the city ambulance.

CHIP to open office in Boyne City

CHIP Counseling Center of Charlevoix has announced the opening of an office in Boyne City at the Boyne Valley Medical Clinic.

Beginning Thursday, April 3, CHIP Therapist Terry Smith will see people seeking counseling services at Dr. Richard Mansfield's Boyne Valley Medical Clinic. Office hours for CHIP will be held every following Thursday in Boyne City.

CHIP Center first opened its doors in Charlevoix in 19[illegible] offering individual, family and group counseling to people seeking help with personal and family problems.

In announcing the beginning of the direct service to Boyne City, CHIP Director Oren Schroeder said, "Our philosophy has always been to serve all of Charlevoix County and we have been seeing many people from East Jordan, Boyne City, and Boyne Falls. This use of CHIP has shown us that we need to make our service more available to other parts of the county."

CHIP Counseling Center is a not-for-profit private organization which offers services of professional therapists to the people of Charlevoix and neighboring counties.

An important aspect of the CHIP Counseling Center's philosophy is to make professional counseling services available to all who seek help. Therefore, fees charged for counseling are based on income, on a sliding scale from $3 to $40 per hour, after the initial appointment for which a fee of $10 is charged.

CHIP is governed by a Corporation and Board of Directors the members of which are volunteer citizens from throughout Charlevoix County. Corporation members from the Boyne City area are Father Dennis Stillwell, Sheriff George Lasater, Attorney Robert Kievorhn and businesswoman Gayle Toffolo. Current President of the Board of Directors is Marian Kohn of Charlevoix.

Dr. Richard Mansfield, who invited the CHIP Center to use the Boyne Valley Medical Clinic offices said, "As a busy general practitioner I have seen the need for a qualified therapist. Many people are seeking the kind of positive assistance CHIP Center offers."

The opening of Thursday office hours for CHIP in Boyne City will also save people the long drive to Charlevoix.

Persons wishing to make appointments to see CHIP Therapist Terry Smith during his Thursday office hours at the Boyne Valley Medical Clinic should call the Charlevoix office of CHIP Counseling Center at 547-6551, for appointments.

Dr. Richard Mansfield and Terry Smith

Alvine "Hap" Cunningham, representing Charlevoix's Odd Fellow Lodge No. 293, presented a $300 check to Louis Hollow of the Board of Directors of Charlevoix Area Hospital, as the Odd Fellow Lodge's pledge to the hospital's continuing fund drive for their Renovation and Expansion Project. Cunningham said the national fraternal organization supports a variety of worthwhile community projects and they were glad to assist the Charlevoix Area Hospital in its plans to expand out patient services and build a new wing. Construction will be in full swing this spring.

Cheboygan County step closer to having its own Circuit Court

Cheboygan County is one step closer to having its own Circuit Court as a result of action taken last week in the Legislature by state Representative Steve Andrews (R-Wolverine).

The 53rd Circuit Court, consisting solely of Cheboygan County, would be created through an amendment offered by Andrews to a bill before the House Judiciary Committee.

Andrews, a member of the committee, said the bill passed unanimously and will be taken up by the full House in several weeks.

Noting that other legislation has been proposed to create the new court, Andrews said, "My major concern was that if we tried to use separate bills, the legislative process would move too slowly to accomplish our intent." Both Andrews and state Senator Mitch Irwin have introduced separate legislation to set up the court.

"While still not a certainty, this is a major step towards the creation of the separate Circuit Court," Andrews said. "The local units of government in the county have all endorsed the concept and I will continue to work to see that it becomes a reality."

At present, Cheboygan County is ticketed to join Charlevoix and Emmet counties in the 33rd Circuit Court on Jan. 1, 1981.

Luncheon planned

Plans for a salad/casserole luncheon at the American Legion Post Home April 24 were made at a recent meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held at the post home

It was also announced that the poppies made by veterans to be used during the annual Poppy Days May 15, 16 and 17 had arrived. Funds derived from the sale are used only for veterans

A communication from the Crooked Tree Art Council informed the group that the Artrain would be in Boyne City June 12-19

The members approved their cash donations for the year with contributions to VA hospitals in Grand Rapids and Battle Creek, the Legion Villa at Battle Creek where a veteran or a veteran and his wife may retire to and live and to Camp Happy Hollow, a day camp for handicapped children of veterans and auxiliary members, which is supported solely by donations from these service groups

The group also voted to raise Auxiliary dues to $7.00 this year, an increase of $2.00

A gift of handkerchiefs to be sent to the gift shop at a VA hospital in time for Mother's Day was acknowledged.

Eight members of the Auxiliary attended the recent Lower 11th District Meeting at Petoskey. They were Mrs. William Farkas, Mrs. Lester Smith, Mrs. Josephine Bindi, Mrs. George Lochner, Mrs. Raymond Wood, Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, Mrs. Harry Pearsall and Mrs. Louis McKenzie. The next meeting is to be held in Alpena June 8

Reports were given on the sick and shut-ins. Nineteen cards were signed and mailed to members and shut-ins

Mrs. Lillian Hull, Mrs. Edna Miller and Mrs. Katie Curtis will host the April 10 meeting of the auxiliary. Mrs. Elinor Speigl served refreshments at the close of the meeting

The recent corned beef and cabbage dinner and dance for Legion and Auxiliary members was very successful

Hemingway marriage license uncovered

A bit of Charlevoix County history is being sorted out and prepared for microfilming by two CETA employees of the county clerk's office.

For over a month now, Mickey Olmstead and Margot Kane have been going through boxes and boxes of marriage licenses dating back to 1887 and arranging them in numerical order. The licenses have been stored in cartons in a vault in the basement of the County Building, but through the years the cartons have split and become useless as storage facilities.

When the sorting process is completed, each license will be put on 16 mm. film for future reference. The licenses now being sorted represent the years from 1887 through 1924, although not every year is included, according to former Clerk Clarence Rabach. Since 1924, the licenses have been kept in permanently bound record books.

Miss Olmstead spent some time downstate last week studying the indexing system in the State Archives, which will be followed in indexing the information on the marriage licenses after they are microfilmed.

One license that came to light has created some special interest – that of Ernest Hemingway. He was married, the first of four times, Sept. 3, 1921 to Hadley Richardson in Horton Bay.

Tootsie Roll fund drive to aid mentally retarded

The fifth annual fund drive to assist the mentally retarded locally and in Michigan will be conducted by Father Pierre Charlevoix Council of the Knights of Columbus on March 28, 29 and 30 Dr. Harry Custer, council Grand Knight, announced.

Last year statewide the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic men's fraternal society, collected over $500,000 in the three day weekend drive. Locally $729.11 was collected and donated to the Bergmann Center and Charlevoix House.

Under the program, which is carried out in most of the 202 K.C. councils in Michigan, people are asked to donate money to the mentally retarded and are given a Tootsie Roll candy in appreciation of the gift

Eighty percent of the net income from the donations is retained by the local council for distribution to area groups and agencies. The rest is forwarded to the State Council of the Knights of Columbus to meet expenses and make donations in behalf of all the 65,000 Knights in Michigan.

A principal beneficiary of State Council funds is the State Association for the Mentally Retarded Citizens. Other gifts also given to organizations assisting the mentally retarded.

State Deputy William J. Walsh of Albion, the highest ranking K of C official in Michigan, said there are over 265,000 mentally retarded citizens in Michigan. He said contributions from the public in the three day March drive will go toward lessening the handicaps of the metally retarded through training and professional services.

"The donations to local organizations in the first four years of the program by Knights of Columbus councils in behalf of their contributors proved to be a gratifying experience for our members who are asked to practice Christian charity as a principle of their membership in the Knights of Columbus," Walsh said. "We are looking forward to even greater participation this year

Citizens will be able to recognize the Knights and their helpers during the drive because they will be dressed in colorful hats, carrying canisters resembling a Tootsie Roll candy and wearing yellow aprons emblazoned with "K of C Help the Mentally Retarded."

Clement Olach is the fund drive chairman in Charlevoix. [illegible]

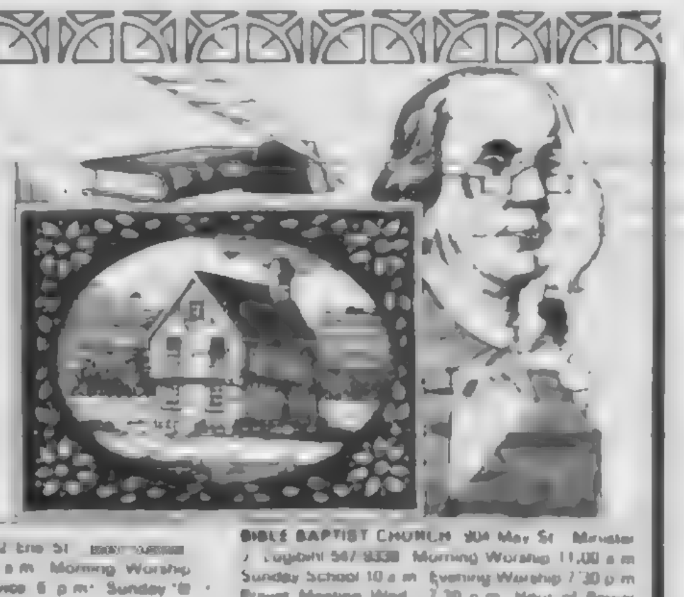
CHARLEVOIX CHURCH DIRECTORY



Even if Benjamin Franklin had never become involved with the formation of a government, he still would have found his place among the great men and women of history [illegible] simplicity and great clarity with which he summarized his formula for healthy and successful living. He was a consistent advocate of thrift, temperance, diligence and sensible hours. He knew that earthly life is made up of just so many units of time, and he urged us not to waste any of it. Moreover, he was a firm believer in God's guidance, needed just as much to help us acquire these good living habits as it was for the founding of a successful form of government: and you need only attend your Church to learn how very sound Franklin's advice was for all of us

Charlevoix contributes to CMU public TV

The Central Michigan University television station received 67 pledges from Charlevoix during Festival '80, the station's yearly fund raising drive.

According to Diane Bliss, director of public relations for CMU public broadcasting, the 16 day drive netted pledges of $146,330. The goal was $[illegible]. Bliss said pledges were received from every city, town and village served by CMU television. The money will be used to purchase programming for WCML-TV 6, Alpena, and WCMU-TV 14, Mt. Pleasant. Programs are purchased through the Public Broadcasting Service in a cooperative arrangement with other public televison stations.

Subscribers to the business and individual honor rolls pledged over one-half of the amount raised. Pledges of $300 or more were phoned in from 50 businesses in the viewing area to earn them a place on the honor roll. A total of 283 individuals contributed $200 or more for their place on the honor roll.

Throughout the 16 day drive, more than 300 volunteers took phone pledges.

"Nine challenge grants were especially helpful in our fund raising," Bliss said. Businesses who gave challenge grants included the Medusa Cement Company of Charlevoix.

"Although we did not reach our goal through on-air pledges, we are hopeful that direct mail and write-in contributions will carry us over the top," Bliss said.

guided all the students in their design efforts," said the professor

King said the findings showed that GM dealers were concerned primarily with three design factors: the cost of energy in the future; the possibilities for solar and other natural means of heating and cooling; upgrading the image and quality of the repair and service component of the dealership; and an effort to more creatively use the site of the dealership.

State Rep. STEVE ANDREWS has become one of the first members of the Michigan Legislature to endorse a proposed constitutional amendment to limit terms of office for elected state officials.

The proposal, announced Wednesday by Michigan Taxpayers United leader Richard Headlee, would limit House members to three two-year terms and state senators to two four-year terms. The governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state would be limited to one six-year term rather than the present system, which allows for an unlimited number of four-year terms.

The group has begun a petition drive to place the proposal on November's statewide ballot. If approved by voters, lawmakers would not be granted state pensions for their terms of service.

As absurd as it may sound to some people, I feel that one of the greatest things I can do for my state, my friends, my family and my constituents is to legislate myself out of a job," Andrews said.

Andrews, who represents the eastern part of Charlevoix County, charged that both state and federal government has grown to be "a monster run by special interest groups and bureaucrats" and that far too many lawmakers are professional politicians whose sole purpose is to remain in office."

Politicians must weigh every move they make and word they utter for fear that their actions might antagonize some senior member of the Legislature, or special interest group whose support they feel is necessary for their re-election," Andrews said.

He also criticized legislators who remain in office to simply take advantage of the state's lucrative retirement program.

"When representatives and senators run only so that they can get in enough time to cash in on the pension system, it's time to take a long look at the entire process," Andrews said.

Andrews also conceded that the plan might put some hard working, effective officials out of office prematurely, but said, "I realize that many good people might be swept out of office, and I obviously feel that I could be one of them, but I will gladly leave being satisfied that some of the dead wood is going with me."

The competitive Bush Fellowship is awarded to only 20 Minnesotans each year, and pays the full cost of the program. Sponsored by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, the two week program (March 23-April 5) is the most intensive and selective management program in public broadcasting.

NMAAA to conduct public forum April 14

The Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging is inviting senior citizens and other concerned individuals and organizations to participate in a public forum Monday, April 14 at the East Jordan Senior Center.

The forum will start at 1:30 p.m. - immediately after lunch.

Discussion will center on the recently completed service citizen survey of unmet needs and priorities to be addressed in the multi-year plan.

Those who wish to have lunch at the Senior Center are asked to call the local Commission on Aging or the East Jordan Service Center.

Tab deadline March 31

In a move to ease the rush to purchase 1980 license plate tabs by the March 31st deadline, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin ordered all branch offices to remain open between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday, March 29.

According to Austin, sales of 1980 plate tabs, now totaling just over four million, are lagging nearly half a million behind last year with an estimated two million tabs yet to be sold.

All vehicle owners must purchase plate tabs by March 31st if they intend to operate their vehicles on public highways, or face a possible fine, Austin said.

Unstable economy affects townships

Five of the seven townships in the Charlevoix area conducted their annual meetings and approved 1980-81 budgets Saturday.

Two others, Charlevoix and Marion Townships, have changed their fiscal year to June 30 and will hold their annual meeting at that time.

Few long range plans were made at the meetings. Township clerks said the economic climate is so unstable that the residents of the respective townships were reluctant to make anything but plans for work that must be done. Roads, in the past, have been a major item in township budgets but, as one clerk said, by the time the contract was approved the price would have increased so much we couldn't afford it. As a result, only maintenance of existing roads is planned.

In Hayes Township where 17 people attended the meeting, a proposed budget of $175,408 was adopted. This is approximately $10,000 over the 1979-80 budget, according to Clerk Sandra [illegible].

Of the total, $82,208 has been earmarked for construction of a new township hall to built adjacent to the present structure. A builder was present to discuss the various types of buildings and explained at length a pole-type structure with a metal frame. However, no firm plans were made at this time.

A total of $25,000 was set aside for roads. The township will join with the contiguous township of Bay to do some work on [illegible] near the south end of the Pincherry Road. Hayes Township's share of the project will be $10,000.

Another $16,000 was set aside for fire protection. The township has a contract with the City of Charlevoix; $5,000 for ambulance service, also with Charlevoix; $8,000 for the assessing function and $12,500 for salaries.

Revenue Sharing funds in the amount of $6,581 will be used for road work, fire protection, ambulance service and salaries.

Other revenue will come from one mill allocated by the county ($37,522), one percent tax collection ($10,069), 1978 delinquent tax ($1,627) and operating tax, ($25,855).

Taxes, the proposed new township hall and punch card voting were also discussed at length. Mrs. Somerville gave a demonstration of punch card voting.

Eleven residents of Eveline Township attended the annual meeting at which a proposed budget of $110,983 was approved.

A total of $25,000 was set aside for roads. However, no bids have been accepted at this time. In 1979, $15,618 was spent on four small road projects, Eric Beishlag, township clerk, said.

Other monies were earmarked for assessing, $7,000; fire protection (to three departments, Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix), $12,000, ambulance service, also to the three cities, $4,000; elections, $1,300 and salaries, [illegible].

The township also has $24,000 in a sewer fund. The township, it was explained, is divided into five districts. Each will be asked through a questionnaire, regarding the expenditure of the sinking fund.

Revenue will come from the following sources: monies on hand, $15,851, one mill allocated, $22,314; State Revenue Sharing, $20,000; collection fees, $8,280, penalties and interest, $4,000, Federal Revenue Sharing, $6,011; delinquent taxes, $3,000 and the remainder from [illegible] other sources.

The 11 residents of the Norwood Township meeting voted to ask the voters of the township to approve a one mill tax levy in the forthcoming election for road construction. "We receive so little from other sources that we just do not have enough for any sizable road project without voted millage" Mrs. Nancy Ritsema, township clerk, said.

The planning committee was asked to establish a mining resource district for the 300 acres of land located in the township; establish plans to save existing agricultural lands in their present state and to urge the county to adopt a numbering system for the rural areas of the county.

Plans for the township park were also discussed. The park is 14.5 acres in size and boasts 1700 feet of Lake Michigan shoreline. The township has obtained a federal grant for $7,800 to be used for the park. It has been determined that it will remain a natural use park with little work to disturb its present state. John Campbell of Site Planning in Charlevoix has been engaged to draw up the preliminary plans and to survey the park.

A proposed budget of $36,000 was approved. Funds to underwrite the budget will include $10,800 from State Revenue Sharing; Federal Revenue Sharing, $2,200; $10,000 from collection fees and other sources plus $6,000 on hand.

Other than earmarking funds for fire protection, ambulance, salaries and other current expenditures no major expenditures are planned.

St. James Township on the north end of Beaver Island approved a proposed budget of $30,800 with anticipated expenditures of [illegible].

Vivian Visscher, township clerk, said that because of the economic situation and the lack of any large amount of money, the board made plans for only current expenditures. She listed $3,000 for chloride for the streets during the summer, sweeping of the streets and street lights, [illegible]; maintenance of the camp site and ball park, $1,150; maintenance of public restrooms, [illegible]; rental of a launching site, $75; Medical Center, $2,000 and fire department budget, [illegible].

Federal Revenue Sharing funds are set aside for planning and zoning, Ms. Visscher said, adding that $3,000 must be returned to the general fund from which it was borrowed to build public restrooms. If there are remaining funds, they will be assigned to fire department fund for equipment and improvements.

The township last year levied voted millage in the amount of 11.876 mills the landfill, airport operation, streets and roads, the township's share for the fire department plus whatever amount it will take to meet airport bond obligations.

Peaine Township, with 15 residents present, approved a proposed budget of $20,000. Revenue from one mill allocated by the county, state and federal revenue sharing funds and four mills voted for operation will underwrite the budget according to Joseph Martin, township clerk.

Appropriations budgeted include $4,000 for public improvements including the fire department; $6,000 for chloride for approximately 12 miles of roads, $1,000 for the two elections plus salaries.

Peaine Township levies 11.5 mills voted millage - including four for operation, two for airport maintenance, two for roads, two for landfill and 1.5 airport bond obligations.

Martin said efforts would be made to obtain another one mill for fire department equipment. However, no formal vote was taken to put the issue on the ballot.

Magic

The 2nd annual "Magic Show" was held Saturday at Charlevoix High School. According to organizers, it was "a big hit." Nearly 450 people turned out for the show, which featured Mantyla the Magician. The show was sponsored by the Charlevoix Area Jaycees. Several area businesses purchased tickets for the event and then gave them out to youngsters.

Grant money available

Downtown study appears doomed

Unless the Charlevoix City Council has a change of heart it appears the city will forego the chance to apply for grant money to study Charlevoix's downtown district and its relation to Round Lake.

The deadline to apply for funding through the Coastal Management Program - is Friday.

A proposal for funding has already been drafted for the city by Carol Sullivan of Downtowns USA in Ann Arbor. However, it apparently arrived too late (last month) because council has said it has not had enough time to study the proposal. At last week's workshop it was suggested the proposal be dropped altogether.

In the proposal, which outlines the nature of the study, Ms. Sullivan pointed out that "The growth in yachting as a recreational pastime has kindled a renewed interest in the Round Lake waterfront; many properties that were formerly marine commercial are being redeveloped as condominiums to meet the demand for quality seasonal housing... There is an emerging awareness of the opportunity to better utilize and capitalize on the waterfront location of downtown as well. While Charlevoix's downtown is a healthy one, with many small quality shops, the rapid growth rate in the region is resulting in the proliferation of mall-type developments outside the urban center... Charlevoix hopes to strengthen the identity and function of its downtown through a focus on the adjacent waterfront... Because of their proximity, the business district and the waterfront have an opportunity to jointly enhance their environment and function, strengthening the image and tourism potential of Charlevoix. That same proximity, though, poses some difficulty in meeting the service needs of both retail and recreational functions. By planning and designing the retail and recreational functions jointly, Charlevoix can resolve the conflicts (congestion on US-31, parking and pedestrian linkage between the waterfront and the central business district), bring new vitality to both retail and recreational aspects, and maximize the potential of the existing natural and built resources. The Coastal Management Program offers an opportunity for planning and design of Charlevoix's downtown and waterfront in unison, assuring that the needs of both will be met while safeguarding and enhancing downtown's vitality as a retail district and the recreational value of Round Lake."

Ms. Sullivan said Charlevoix's chances are "very good" of obtaining grant money - if council would like to pursue it.

"The Coastal Management Program is designed for communities like Charlevoix," she said. "It is geared to fund projects that would increase public access to and better utilization of the waterfront."

In addition to increasing access to and use of the waterfront, Ms. Sullivan said the study could design strategy to:

Encourage complimentary uses in adjoining commercial structures, as well as encouraging adaptive reuse and fuller utilization (upper stories, rear entries) of historic commercial buildings adjacent to and overlooking Round Lake.

Increase the active use potential of the small centrally located public park for both casual-passive use and special events.

Improve pedestrian linkage and functional relationships between waterfront recreation and retail areas.

Mitigate the impact of the automobile, especially directly adjacent the waterfront park, without restricting auto access to and through Charlevoix via US-31.

Farmers market proposed

A local organization is proposing to start a farmers market in downtown Charlevoix this summer.

The Kappa Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority has approached the Charlevoix City Council about setting up a farmers market in the central business district one day a week during the three month summer season.

According to Nancy Burnside, the sorority would like to keep the market "limited" to about a half dozen "reliable" farmers, who would sell fresh vegetables, fruits, eggs and flowers. The sorority would also like to set up a booth of its own to sell frozen meats and seafood.

Ms. Burnside said the sorority would like to locate the market downtown in order to attract boaters and shoppers.

"It will have a better chance to succeed if it's downtown," she said.

Ms. Burnside suggested two possible sites for the market - in East Park adjacent to her clothing store and in the city parking lot at the base of Clinton Street.

She added that the day the market would be held and the hours it would be open are still "flexible." She told council she prefers Saturday mornings. Council suggested it be held during the week to avoid congestion, particularly since the city is short on parking spaces in the downtown district.

Ms. Burnside added that any profits from the venture would be "put back into Charlevoix."

Council will pursue the issue further at one of its April meetings.

Numbering system to start in Norwood

Rural Charlevoix County is finally going to get its house-numbering system.

The Emergency Operations Department has hired two men under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) to take the first steps in setting up the numbering system. They will survey all roads in the county to locate any that are not properly marked by road signs, and to note any duplications in road names.

When all the roads are correctly identified, work will begin on assigning numbers to each residence.

According to Emergency Operations Director Earl Mumu, the numbering system work will begin in Norwood Township.

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

SELECT, DON'T SETTLE

In New York City there's a large men's wear store whose slogan is "Select, don't settle." They emphasize that their selection of suits, sportswear, shoes and haberdashery is so vast that customers may pick and choose instead of settling for a poor choice out of limited options.

That company has learned an important lesson about marketing: people buy by comparison.

The same is true about marketing houses. People want to choose among several possibilities.

The role of the real estate professional is to present a number of homes to the prospects — enough to satisfy their curiosity but not so many as to confuse — and then [illegible] right. Most buyers need this guidance.

If a prospect visits your home and then compares it with others he sees, will he remember its features?

Charlevoix Properties utilizes the professional techniques to make sure your home receives the attention it [illegible] potential purchasers are exposed to all of its merits. Let Charlevoix Properties show you how we can sell your home quicker and get the highest dollar with less inconvenience to you.

EJ to host industrial arts awards program

Thousands of junior and senior high school students enrolled in industrial arts classes are in the process of planning, designing, and building projects to enter in the 1980 Michigan Industrial Educational Awards Program.

This statewide competition will be held in two phases - regionals and finals. Regional competitions serve as elimination fairs, with first and second place winners in each catagory eligible for the state finals.

East Jordan High School will be the site of a regional on Thursday, April 3, with students from a 17 county area (nothern end of Michigan's lower peninsula) participating. The projects will be judged and then the exhibits will be open to public viewing from 4-9 p.m.

Students in 7th-12th grades taking industrial arts, trade and technical classes are eligible for awards in each class entered. Some of the projects qualifying for the competition include archetectural drawings and models, electrical devices, graphic arts, machine shop work, mechanical drawings, patternmaking and molding, plastics carving and fabrication, woodwork furniture and turnings, and wrought medal work.

The fair is designed to encourage and recognize craftsmanship in the field of industrial education.

HAPPY RETIREMENT CLARENCE
MONDAY - WASH
TUESDAY - IRON
WEDNESDAY - MEND
SUNDAY RES

Approximately 100 friends of former County Clerk Clarence Rabach gathered at the V.F.W. Hall last week to wish him well in retirement. Attorney Harvey Varnum served as master of ceremonies and presented Rabach with many gifts which Mrs. Rabach had selected for their usefulness in the former clerk's retirement — a feather duster, an apron, kneepads, a cookbook, window cleaning equipment. He also received a fishing rod, reel, and line to use on Sunday, his only "day of rest" according to a banner hung over the main table. Maundy Thursday to be observed

The First Congregational Church of Charlevoix will observe Maundy Thursday with a traditional Service of Tenebrae and Communion at 7:30 p.m. around tables in fellowship hall.

This is a service of penitence, which includes scripture reading, special music, a meditation, the sharing of communion, and the complete extinction of electric and candle light to commemorate the darkness of Jesus' passion.

The church will participate in the Community Good Friday Service at the Community Reformed Church from 12:15 to 1:45 p.m. Ministers will present their thoughts as if they were various personalities who were involved in Jesus' death.

On Easter morning, there will be an early informal service at 7:30 a.m. in fellowship hall, followed by breakfast. Reservations are requested for the breakfast. Sunday School will be held at 9:45 a.m. and the festive Easter worship will be at 11 a.m.

The public is invited to all of these events.

Good Friday service planned

Community Reformed Church will have a special Good Friday worship service from 12:15-1:45 p.m.

The service, sponsored by the Ministerial Association, will be entitled "The I's of Good Friday."

Worshipers will hear various persons connected with the first Good Friday tell what they saw and heard, what the death of Jesus Christ meant to them. The different characters, presented by Charlevoix ministers speaking in the first person singular, are Peter, Pilate, Barabbas, Mary, the Roman Centurion, Joseph of Arimathea, Judas and you.

There will also be special Good Friday music and congregational singing.

At Michigan Bank-North

Home improvement loans available

Michigan Bank-North has announced its participation with the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) in making low interest home improvement loans available to low and moderate income families.

In Petoskey, the bank has a commitment of $50,000 in loans under MSHDA's Home Improvement Program (HIP). The institution joins the other 23 Michigan National Corporation Banks around the state in taking part in this program. The corporation's total commitment is $5.5 million.

HIP provides financial assistance through low interest loans designed to help families upgrade homes 20 years old or older, and newer homes to correct damages caused by a natural disaster, serious defects found hazardous to health and safety, energy efficiency, or to make properties accessible to handicappers.

Qualified homeowners may borrow up to $15,000 with a maximum of 15 years to repay for repairs to single family properties. Owners of multi-family homes with two to four units may qualify for improvement loans up to $7,500 per unit with a maximum of $30,000. The lender's policy may vary as to the amount and terms of loan.

Interest rates on the loans are scaled to family income and may range as low as one percent for a family with an adjusted annual income under $6,000 to eight percent for families with incomes between $14,000 and $15,999.

Gibbons returns to Charlevoix law practice

Michael A. Gibbons has returned to his general practice of law in Charlevoix. Gibbons left Charlevoix last summer to join a business venture in Florida.

E. Dan Stevens and his associate, David B. Scholfield, who took over Gibbons' legal practice when he left Charlevoix, are now located in Atlanta, where they are continuing the practice of law.

Gibbons is a 1956 graduate of Charlevoix High School, a two-year veteran of the United States Army, a 1962 graduate of Aquinas College, and earned his Juris Doctorate from Wayne State University.

Prior to opening his general practice in Charlevoix, Gibbons was Chief Administrative Prosecuting Attorney in Lansing, and, from 1970 to 1974, the Administrative Law Judge for the Michigan State Department of Commerce. More recently he has served as Assistant Prosecuting Attorney for Charlevoix County and is the former Charlevoix City attorney.

Gibbons and his wife, the former Marilyn Neff, and their children are living on Walloon Lake. They say they are glad to be home in northern Michigan.

Donna Gibson joins Commission on Aging

Donna Gibson has joined the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging as a special services coordinator.

The former Donna Korth grew up in Charlevoix and is a graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Employed under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), Mrs. Gibson has several responsibilities:

Making arrangements for the Senior Identification Cards which make it possible for senior citizens to purchase items from certain merchants at reduced prices.

The Vial-of-Life program, a program through which senior citizens are encouraged to keep a record of personal information which would be helpful in case of emergency.

Organizing a county-wide volunteer system to assist with the needs of senior citizens.

Organizing and maintaining a file of companies and individuals providing services needed by senior citizens.

Publishing a monthly news letter.

Organizing a thrift shop.

Offices of the Charlevoix Commission on Aging are located in the Sheriff's Department building at 1000 Grant St., Charlevoix. Anyone desiring information about any Commission on Aging service is urged to call 547-6282.

Heater blamed in B.I. fire; Norwood home gutted by blaze

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department said an overheated oil burner apparently was the cause of a fire last month that destroyed a house on Beaver Island.

The one-and-one half story house, owned by Carl Harmon of Chicago, burned to the ground on Wednesday, March 12. Michael Crawford, who was renting the house, was at a restaurant across the street when the fire broke out.

Meanwhile, fire destroyed the Norwood Township home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer "Buzz" Englehart last week.

The fire started Thursday afternoon, and after it appeared that firemen had it extinguished, the fire started up again early Friday morning - destroying what was left of the house.

It is believed the fire started in a second floor bedroom of the five bedroom frame house. The cause has not been determined.

The Engleharts were spending the night at the Craig Wilson residence - across the road - when Friday morning's fire was spotted. The Engleharts managed to collect some household furnishings and clothing before the house was gutted. All the children's clothing was lost, however.

Daughters Lily and Michelle, 12, both wear size 12 slim pants and size 12 tops. Lily wears a size 8 shoe and Michelle a size 7. Daughter Jody, 7, wears size 8 chubby pants and size 8 tops. She wears size 1 shoes.

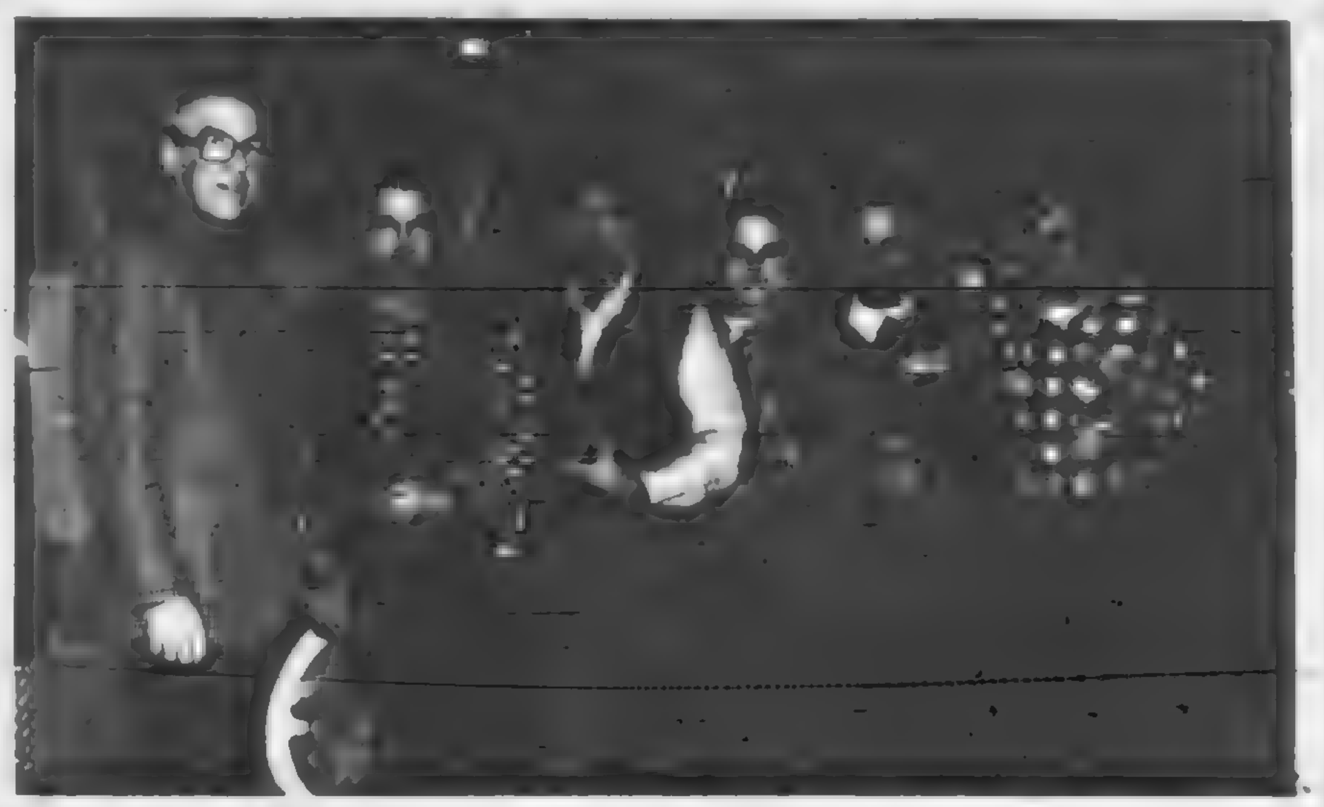
The Medusa Challenger officially opened the 1980 shipping season in northwest Michigan by arriving in Charlevoix Wednesday. The cement carrier encountered heavy drift ice off South Point on its way into port. It was promptly loaded and left Charlevoix on Thursday with 95 tons of cement. Destination was Manitowoc, Wisconsin. Jack Bradley of Charlevoix is the ship's skipper while Francis (Bud) Left is first mate.



Jerry Paul (second from left) has been appointed chief of the Charlevoix Township Fire Department. Paul succeeds James Keller (third from left). Keller will be the assistant chief. Also appointed to office were Greg Bryan, secretary; Curt Thompson, lieutenant; Jack Stebe, captain. The Charlevoix Township Fire Department, organized in 1974, has a volunteer force of 22 officers and firemen. No salary or expenses are paid. Each man has received a minimum of 66 hours of training by a certified state instructor. Gerald Staublin (left) Medusa Cement Company production superintendent, presented Motorola Pagers to the officers following the election. The pagers - donated by Medusa - cost $1,600. As township funds permit, additional paging units will be purchased. The pagers will expedite fire and emergency response time.

20 gather at Big Rock

About 20 area residents gathered at the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant Friday evening to commemorate the first anniversary of the mishap at Three Mile Island.

The small crowd met at the entrance gate to the plant. They carried signs that read "Respect life, close Big Rock" "Send nuke waste to Consumers Powerful in Jackson" and "Stop newkiller power, retire Big Rock." In a short service, they huddled together to pray, sing and voice their concerns about nuclear power and Big Rock Point.

"We must keep our cool...we must keep working to close down Big Rock," said one woman. "This kind of pollution is killing us."

The service lasted about 30 minutes.

Emergency Operations Plan to be discussed

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners have been advised by letter from their chairman, Clyde Cunningham, that they are "required" to attend a very important meeting in the Emergency Operations Center, 1000 Grant St., Charlevoix, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, April 2.

The meeting is being called, according to Cunningham, for several purposes:

To discuss the Emergency Operations Plan and the Board's responsibility in its implementation.

To discuss the County's Emergency Operations Center and the procedures to be followed in case of emergency.

To make preparations for the emergency preparedness exercises to be held at a date specified by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, probably between June 1 and 10.

To take advanage of the last chance to update and revise plans that will be implemented in case of a disaster emergency before the National Regulatory Commission receives the plans and they are put in final form for printing.

Study

Improve access to and supply of parking to serve the downtown district and harbor, without negatively impacting waterfront recreation or commercial economic development potential.

Ms. Sullivan said the study would cost about $10,000. Grant money would cover $8,000 of the expense with the city picking up the difference. If the city did apply, and did receive funding, council would then select a consultant to conduct the study.

According to Ms. Sullivan, the study would concentrate on strategy "to better utilize the harbor by making East Park more usable, by making the waterfront and business district more accessible to each other and more functionally interrelated, optimizing public access, recreation opportunity, and economic development."

Q/A Property taxes

This is the third in a series of articles on the general property tax law and its reference to the ever increasing assessments of property, taxes and true cash values.

In the last article we discussed assessments and it was revealed that an assessment as set by the assessor and finalized by the board of review stands, unless appealed to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. Now lets discover what County Equalized Value (CEV) is and where does it come from?

The Charlevoix County equalization Department, is required by law, to make studies of property values in the county every year. The State Tax Commission has mandated that the commissioners have a study of every classification of property in every unit of government, every year. (Remember assessments are set annually.)

It is presumed that an assessor is assessing his properties uniformly and when the county samples a class of property and finds the samples to be at a certain level of assessment to true cash value, then all the properties in that class are presumed to be at that level of assessment.

Classification of properties are agriculture, commercial, industrial, residential, timber-cutover and developmental, as well as personal property. These classifications will play a significant role in the assessment of properties and the taxation of same in 1981 We will touch on this later. The classifications are defined by the legislature and an assessor must classify property based on these definitions. The Equalization Department is mandated to study each class of property, in each unit and this must be done annually. The data is gathered by sampling property. For an example, if the Equalization Department samples 10 percent of the properties in the agriculture class and finds the assessments (made by the assessor) to be at a level of assessment (this is referred to as the assessing ratio which is suppose to be at 50 percent of true cash value) then it is presumed by law that all the properties in that class are at that level. (You must remember that the assessor and Board of Review were responsible for equalization between properties within a given unit of government such as a city or township). The Equalization Department gathers all the data available and projects it into meaningful information for the county commissioners to make their decisions for county equalization. The Equalization Department must follow the guideline, policy and procedures which are set down by the State tax Commission as must the assessors. There are acceptable technics that the state recognizes that must be followed, not only by the assessors, Equalization Departments as well as the State Tax Commission.

If the assessor is putting the assessments on the roll at 50 percent of true cash value as the law requires, the county commissioners recognize this and do not recommend any additional value to be added to the total unit. This means the assessment and the County Equalized Value of your property is the same. However, if the county commissioners review all the data available and determine that an assessor is not assessing his unit at 50 percent of true cash value, they also are required by law, to add to the unit to bring it up to 50 percent of true cash value. They shall add a total amount to the unit. When a total amount is added to the unit, it creates a factor and at this point this is a County Equalized factor to bring the assessments up to County Equalized Value (CEV). However, this is seldom seen, as State Equalized Value is the value ad valorem taxes are based on, but it is possible to have a County Equalized Value and a State Equalized Value.

Once the county commissioners have equalized all the units in the county, and that is their function at county equalization, to insure that the total of all units represent 50 percent of true cash value...then the state has it's turn to establish the value of total county. But lets digress for a moment on county equalization. The law requires that all taxes be uniform within a jurisdiction such as a county, school district, township, intermediate school district, college, city, authority, etc. In order to create this uniformity when there are 15 townships and 3 cities in Charlevoix County and taxing jurisdictions cross township and city lines, there must be a system to create uniformity so that all taxpayers pay their fair share. Lets say one assessor in a township is assessing property at a ratio of 40.00 of true cash value (which means the assessments would be 25 percent below the required 50 percent level and would get factored by 1.25) and then the city assessor was assessing their property at a ratio of 50.00 (which means assessments would be at 50 percent as required and would get a factor of 1.00) and yet another township assessor is assessing that township property at a level of 29.94 of true cash value which means the assessments would be 67 percent below the required 50 percent of true cash value and would get factored with a factor of 1.67 to reach the required level. To put it simply the assessments would have to be multiplied by 1.67 to bring them up to the required 50 percent of true cash value. To continue

All of these 3 units of government are in the same school district. Would you like to live in the city and pay your proper share, if the townships could use the assessors figures to base their taxes on? I hardly think so, as you would be paying the lion's share. This is the reason for county equalization. To keep the total of all the units of government at the same level. Now the county cannot touch individual assessments for county equalization. The commissioners can only add to or deduct from a total unit of government. Stated as simply as possible, equalized valuation is a method devised to provide equality in the assessment of property for tax purposes for taxing or bonding in different taxing units.

Now that we understand what county equalization is – we wonder, where does state equalization enter the picture and how is this accomplished? Why is my assessment multiplied by a SEV factor to bring it up to State Equalized Values? Next week we will delve into this area of concern.

Charlevoix saddened by loss of Judge John J. Connolly

Bob Clock

CHARLEVOIX WAS saddened Friday night when word spread of the death of Judge John J. Connolly while shopping downtown — a scant block from the city hall, the courthouse and the hotel where he spent so much of his life.

Judge Connolly served as Charlevoix's justice of the peace for many years, working out of offices on the second floor of the city hall. I often caught him poring over his law books, just to make sure he was on firm ground when the next lawbreaker came before him.

Judge Connolly could be a tough judge — but he also was conversant with the frailties of the human spirit and was proportionately humane in his judgments.

Probably more important, Judge Connally could read his customers like a book.

"Here's a woman who has charged her husband with assault," he'd say when I stopped at his office to pick up my weekly installment of court news for the Charlevoix Courier. "But don't write it up yet, because I'm sure she is going to change her mind and drop the charge after he has spent a night in the slammer."

He was usually right.

When one of his clients demanded a jury trial, Judge Connolly would recess the case for a few minutes, scurry down to Bridge Stree and collar a sufficient number of jurors to hear the case.

This was before the days of court reorganization when judges were left considerable discretion on how they ran their courts.

Judge Connolly later served as a magistrate when the 90th District Court was organized, but somehow he didn't seem happy with his more formal role in the American system of jurisprudence. So he retired in 1975 to run the Charlevoix Hotel on Antrim Street where he [illegible].

He was a familiar figure on Bridge Street and will be missed by his cronies.

I HAVE BEEN doing a slow burn for the past generation over stores which staple your purchases into paper bags at the check-out counter — just to make sure you don't sneak back through the store and fill up your sacks with other goodies.

I don't know whether the practice has ever prevented a dedicated shop-lifter from doing his dirty work, but I do know it has raised plenty of hackles — including my own.

Lately I notice check-out girls are stapling your receipt to the bag when they seal it shut, which somehow seems to lend a gloss of respectability to the maneuver, although I don't know why. The clear implication that you are a [illegible].

There may be areas of the world where such a precaution is necessary, [illegible].

But it seems like a waste of staples and check-out time in Northern Michigan.

AM I THE ONLY one in the country who feels there is something basically wrong with an economic system that puts vast segments of the workforce through the economic wringer every few years in the name of Recession?

With all of the smart people we have in Washington, you'd think we would be able to come up with a system that would take a few of the humps and hollows out of earning a living

The construction and automobile industries are catching in the neck right now because rampaging inflation and soaring interest rates have put their products beyond our reach. But your particular segment on the workforce could be next.

Think about it.

Coast Guard personnel left in suspense

Letters

Editor:

I read the article about the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, published in your March 26th issue of the Charlevoix Courier and was quite surprised to find out that you people seem to know a lot more in advance about its transfer to Duluth than the Captain or even the Coast Guard Officials themselves.

The Coast Guards who are now on the Sundew have been trying to find out for weeks whether this transfer is really going to come about. Some of them have families, including wives that hold jobs in the area, and others even own homes.

I feel that your article has done more harm than good at this point, and I do not believe that it should have been printed without first interviewing the captain of the ship, to find out what the situation really is.

I understand that both Mayor Sam Supernaw and Congressman Bob Davis want to come out as heroes in this whole affair by making the public think that they are trying to save the enormous amount of dollars that would leave this town along with the Sundew. However, they seem to have no concern for the people who have been contributing to the economy of the area.

As it stands now, the Coast Guard people still don't know whether the transfer will happen (they are not going to be convinced by the media before they hear the final word from their officials). So they are left in suspense - Should they put their houses up for sale? What schools are their children going to be attending next year? And several other questions that cannot be answered. Employers are asking other questions of employees who would transfer with their husbands - When is the Sundew leaving? (They want to know when they are going to have to find replacements.) Not to mention those wives who have tried to find employment in the last month but have been turned down, not because of lack of skill, but because of stupid, harmful rumors.

There is one question I would like to ask - What are you going to tell the public should the transfer not take place? Oh, I know - "Sam Supernaw and Bob Davis save Sundew from leaving Charlevoix." Who are you trying to kid???

Low-level radiation dangerous

Editor:

Low-level radiation is unquestionably dangerous. The highly respected scientist Karl Z. Morgan, of the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, is a 33 year veteran of the Atomic Energy Commission. He reviewed Dr. Thomas Mancuso, M.D.'s study of cancer deaths among atomic workers at the Hanford, Washington nuclear complex. "Not only does he corraborate Mancuso's findings of significantly higher cancer rates at exposure levels now regarded as acceptable, but he points out that any radiation exposure, no matter how slight, can be fatal, especially to more vulnerable members of the population." From Time Bomb; A Nuclear Reader from The Progressive; The Progressive Foundation, Madison, Wisconsin, [illegible]. I know of no screening by Consumer's Power Company to check for susceptibility or family history of cancer. Clearly, in study after study, no safe level of radiation has been found, even when the added levels of radiation are less than natural background radiation.

John D. Selby, Consumers Power Company President, honored the Big Rock employees with a safety award Wednesday, Feb. 20. The safety award ignored the slow-developing effects of low-level radiation: cancer, respiratory diseases, and genetic mutation of children born to those exposed.

I quote John Selby at the award ceremony, condensing a little from the paper of the next day. I trust that I am not taking him out of context. "Selby told Big Rock employees Wednesday that NRC directives may be too expensive to warrant the continued operation of the 18-year-old plant...'You can be safe. And do as you own desires tell you. Don't be afraid to speak up'...Selby said regulation is 'a real problem' and one that could be solved in a few years if the regulators would just 'get out of the way. We need more of an uprising, that would help,' he said. 'This drive toward absolute safety has to be modified...Poverty can kill too.'

Imagine! Mr. Selby is asking his own workers to push for less effective safety standards or face unemployment! He is asking the victims to help cut their own throat!

Labor unions have been fighting for generations for safe working conditions. I thought until now that the workers were winning. What good is a job if not safe? John Selby in his own words indicated that the plant is not as safe as it could be.

The article in the paper mentioned that "the plant has operated over 17 years with many of the same staff members." All this time the men have been exposed to the dangers of low-level radiation. These men have dedicated many years of their lives to Consumers Power under adverse conditions. Now the company owes them something. It owes these men assured employment that is known and proven to be safe.

But these men face a difficult choice; unemployment, especially in an area like Charlevoix, with few other job opportunities or assured work. If the plant is closed, however, and if the job can be made safe, the 100 or so Burns Security guards probably need not worry, for the site must be guarded for years.

Decommissioning, or cleaning up of the closed plant site will initially create more jobs for a period of several years. After that, the employees have a right to work for Consumers Power Company in a non-nuclear field. Moreover, Consumers has a deep moral obligation to employ these men.

The Concerned Citizens for the Charlevoix Area [illegible] are not interested in destroying anyone's job. We have repeated this in public, at our meetings (open to anyone), and in private conversations. Last month, we met with Charlevoix Comptroller Robert Muma about using federal funds from Revenue Sharing or the CETA program to study alternative employment for workers affected by Big Rock's closing. This will be considered by the City Council.

We care about worker safety! We are concerned about the inadequate containment shield that does not meet current NRC safety standards. The Three Mile Island accident was not dramatically more destructive precisely because the operators worked for a week in the control room to tame the reactor. But were the type of radioactivity generated in the Big Rock Reactor, which could happen, the control room would have to be abandoned, and a runaway reactor would be left to its own devices. The only way to try to protect the community under such conditions would be for some of the men to become martyrs, for they would surely be exposed to fatal doses of radiation. The NRC has recognized this fact, and is currently reviewing it, but what of the meantime?

We, the Concerned Citizens for the Charlevoix Area, care about Safety and Jobs! One wonders what Consumers Power President John Selby finds more important than the utmost safety of his workers. I hope this letter makes the workers think. They should listen to John Selby's advice: "You can be safe. And do as your own desires tell you." The operators are required by federal law to shut-down the reactor if they consider it unsafe.

Sincerely,
John O'Neill II

Remember the 5¢ tokens?

Editor:

In the March 19th issue of the Courier in the article captioned "Charlevoix Yesterday" you indicated a local historian was looking for three old pictures. Although I don't have any of the pictures, I may have something else of value.

I grew up in the house at 403 E. Dixon, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. taylor. As a young boy I developed an interest in collecting coins. While playing in that house I found a 5¢ token between the floor boards. The coin was good for 5¢ in exchange at W.C. Taylor's restaurant. In addition I found a 5¢ token for the Hotel Elston. Both these coins I've kept in my collection ever since. I really don't know if anyone else in Charlevoix has one or not but I would be curious to know.

Sincerely,
Jerry Fochtman

Sheriff's Dept. says thanks

Editor:

This letter is in reference to the fine spirit of cooperation and assistance offered our department after the natural death of one of our officers.

I would personally like to thank the following agencies for making it possible for all of the officers of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department to attend the funeral of fellow officer Lyle Anthony

While the Sheriff's Department officers were attending the funeral the Michigan State Police covered all complaints for the county.

The Charlevoix Police Department allowed one of their officers to work in the communications room and security with members of the Sheriff's auxiliary so assigned officers could attend the funeral.

The members of the Sheriff's office appreciate this total cooperation and assistance.

Most sincerely,
George Thomas Lasater,
Sheriff

Meet Charlevoix

Possibility exists

Will rail line be abandoned?

Jim Lutz is freight agent for the Chessie System in Antrim, Charlevoix, and Emmet counties. This week the Courier talks with him about his job and the possible abandonment of Chesapeake and Ohio Railway service through Charlevoix.

Q. Last week the Courier carried an advertisement indicating that the local branch of the C & O might be subject to abandonment within three years. Do you know anything about this?

A. No, but the Company has discontinued operation in various parts of the country

Q. What freight stations do you handle?

A. Central Lake, Bellaire, Ellsworth, Charlevoix, Bay Shore, Lamson (that's the siding at Penn-Dixie), Petoskey and Bay View. I'm what they call a Traveling Agent.

Q. Where is the freight station in Charlevoix?

A. In the old railroad station where the Yacht Club has its headquarters. We're open from 8 to 5.

Q. What kinds of shipments do you handle for your customers?

A. We handle only carload shipments. We order the freight cars for them.

Q. Who are your customers?

A. People like Penn-Dixie. They're our largest outbound customer. Also the Sherman Canning Co. out of Ellsworth.

Q. Who receives carload shipments then?

A. Well, there's Petoskey Cities Service Co. We ship LP gas to them. And the East Jordan Iron Works. They get shipments of coke delivered to Ellsworth. Kit Carson and Wickes get lumber, too. That's some of them.

Q. How often do the trains run?

A. Three times a week – Monday, Wednesday, and Friday – from Traverse City to Petoskey and return. There are usually 10 to 15 cars on each train.

Q. What about the railroad bridge. We've heard that it's in bad repair?

A. A lot of the pilings and other protection have been wiped out by the big gravel and coal boats. If they're hit much more, there could be real trouble.

Q. What can local people do to keep the C & O operating in this area?

A. There will have to be public hearings before the line can be abandoned. People should attend these hearings and speak up With the shortage of gasoline and the high price of that we have, one of these days people will realize that railroads are the most fuel efficient type of transportation. We should be especially sure that they don't start taking up tracks, because if they do, there won't be any more railroad. People should be looking ahead 25 or even 50 years to think about their needs.

Q. How does it happen that railroads are economically feasible in Canada and Europe and Japan?

A. They're subsidized. Of course, they're subsidizing the Amtrack trains in this country now.

Q. Is the C & O the only freight line running in this part of Michigan now?

A. No, the Michigan Northern is using the old Penn Central tracks and running to Mackinaw City. They're being subsidized by the state right now.

Q. What about passenger service. You know there used to be a lot of passenger trains coming through Charlevoix every day?

A. I really don't think passenger service will ever be profitable again. The American people don't want it.

Q. What will happen to your job if the freight line in this area is abandoned?

A. Well, I have 30 years' seniority with the railroad and I can bump anyone with fewer years and take his job somewhere else

Q. When did you come to Charlevoix?

A. We came up here from Plymouth in 1970. I was there for 15 years and worked other places all over the state, including Grand Rapids. I grew up in Bessemer in the Upper Peninsula so northern Michigan is more my element.

Q. Have you collected any old railroad mementoes?

A. Not really. I have an old telegraph key and sounder that everybody is interested in.

Q. What are your interests outside your job?

A. Mostly gardening. I don't do much else except work around the house.

Q. Do you have a family?

A. My wife, Ginny, and I have two daughters. Peggy is married and lives in Minneapolis and Cathy is a junior in high school.

APRIL BIRTHSTONE

April Birthstone is the Diamond. One legend around this stone involves Alexander the Great. According to Aristotle, no one but Alexander ever reached the place where the diamond is produced. This is a great valley in India. Sight cannot penetrate its depths and serpents are found there, the like of which has never been seen. Even to gaze upon them causes death. However when the serpents die this power leaves them. Now Alexander ordered an iron mirror brought to the place of the serpents and when they looked at their own image it caused their death. Alexander then wanted the diamond removed from the valley but no man dared to descend into the valley. So counsel of the wise man was sought, and they told him to throw a piece of flesh into the valley. This he did, the diamonds became attached to the flesh, and the birds seized the flesh and bore it out of the valley. Then Alexander ordered his people to pursue the birds and to pick up [redacted]

Summer Collections from the Little Traverse Bay Area Opening Now......................................

By Trish Wright

From preppy to pouf, the line of demarcation between day and evening wear will be clearly defined during the eighties. The need for carefree, simpler day clothes is evidenced by the daily challenges we must cope with in a socially and economically more difficult world. Evening wear will reflect the desire for glamor and romance. Fantasy dressing provides a relief from daily pressures. Described below are the traditional day look and the haute couture evening look of American fashion. The choice is yours. One style, length or shape is out but look to your needs by day and fantasy by night for your individualized fashion statement.

Put Some Prep In Your Life!

The ivy league look seen on college campuses has graduated to non-collegiate atmospheres Northern Michigan, often accused of being a year behind contemporary fashion, has sported this look long before it's current popularity. Because of Northern Michigan's recreational advantages (swimming, sailing and skiing) the preppy look has been adopted by many because of its versatility and practicality. Some of the essentials a 4.0 preppy has in her fashion curriculum: straight leg jeans, wide wale cords, plaid flannel shirts, blazers and a loden jacket, khaki trousers, oxford cloth button down shirts, anything MONOGRAMMED, cotton turtlenecks, crew neck sweaters, shirtdresses, top siders and knee socks.

New Subjects: Grosgrain neckties, watchbands and head bands, leather ballet type slippers, ribbon webbed-belts, lace trimmed cotton collars and patchwork madras wrap skirts

The new Preppy schedules her wardrobe to include new pastel colors and the crisp clean lines that have made this subject a well-bred look.

Flare And Flounce!

For those who wish a little more fantasy; American fashion previews the delightful baring of more skin by playful skirts and dresses. Madras sundresses to white on white layers of demure lace sashed with bright ribbon will be on the program. The Swing dress and suit makes its debut on summer's stage. Full skirted, halter topped or short sleeved; this is a flirtatious way of flouncing your feminity. The length is shorter than last year's hemline and fabric is everything from organdy to cotton seersucker. These sassy, swing designs show no evidence of man tailored details, so feel free in frills or shape up in summer stripes. Bold layers of color to finely etched lines skim the knee. Fantasy dressing is set to a score of easy structuring; pull on tubes or dresses that are smocked and ruffled. As a final note, Ballet slippers and sexy sandals will stroll down summer's runway.

The Heady Touch!

The Easter bonnet is back on parade this spring only in a sleeker more modern version. Wide brimmed straws trimmed by grosgrain and fedoras with button flap crowns compliment summer's hair

Preppy hair styles are blunt shoulder length cuts, swept up behind the ears and fastened by tortoise shell clips. The more fanciful hair cascades in curls or is close and permed. Lengths are longer perms are softer and colors are suntouched. Golden blonds and reddish browns shade and highlight the face

THE FASHIONABLE 50s ARE BACK FOR SUMMER '80

by Tony Dunaske

Summer '80 in men's fashion will emphasize comfort in fit and fabrics and colorations that reflect the mood of the season.

The resurrection of the fashions of the '50s seems to be a response to the need for sensible clothing that will not soon be dated. Such things as button-down collars, V-neck sweaters and straight leg trousers epitomize good taste, comfort and enduring fashionability. Originally dubbed the "preppy" or Ivy League look, the conservative tone of these fashions is indicative of the conservative mood of the country. Navy blazers and khakis, "repp" stripe ties and penny loafers will be important items in summer wardrobes.

Fabrics for summer '80 will stress two aspects—comfort and surface interest. Natural fibers will receive great emphasis this summer. Cotton dominates but look for linens, flax, silks, and wools to show up in many weights and fabric blends. Surface interest will be achieved by blending these fabrics without refining the naturalness out of them. The nubby slubs of silks and linens will be evident and the coarse textures of flax will show up as summer tweeds.

About the only real change in colorations for summer '80 will be seen in the spread of "brights" into all areas of clothing. Brilliant blues and greens and hot reds and yellows will be found in some unlikely places in men's clothing. Cotton Madras will reflect these bright colors in shirts, slacks, ties and sport coats. Traditional tans, greys, and light blues will be back and strong as ever, especially in suitings. Tasteful pinstripes and subtley executed plaids provide some pattern interest here.

Summer '80 will not only revive the look of the '50s but the attitude of that decade as well. Undoubtedly it's fashion's way of mirroring the mood of the market. For those who lived in that decade this summer will provide a nostalgic rebirth of what probably seemed to be a simpler time. For those who haven't it might show how good taste and sensible fashion in clothing was and can be an outgrowth of a more down to earth and realistic life style.

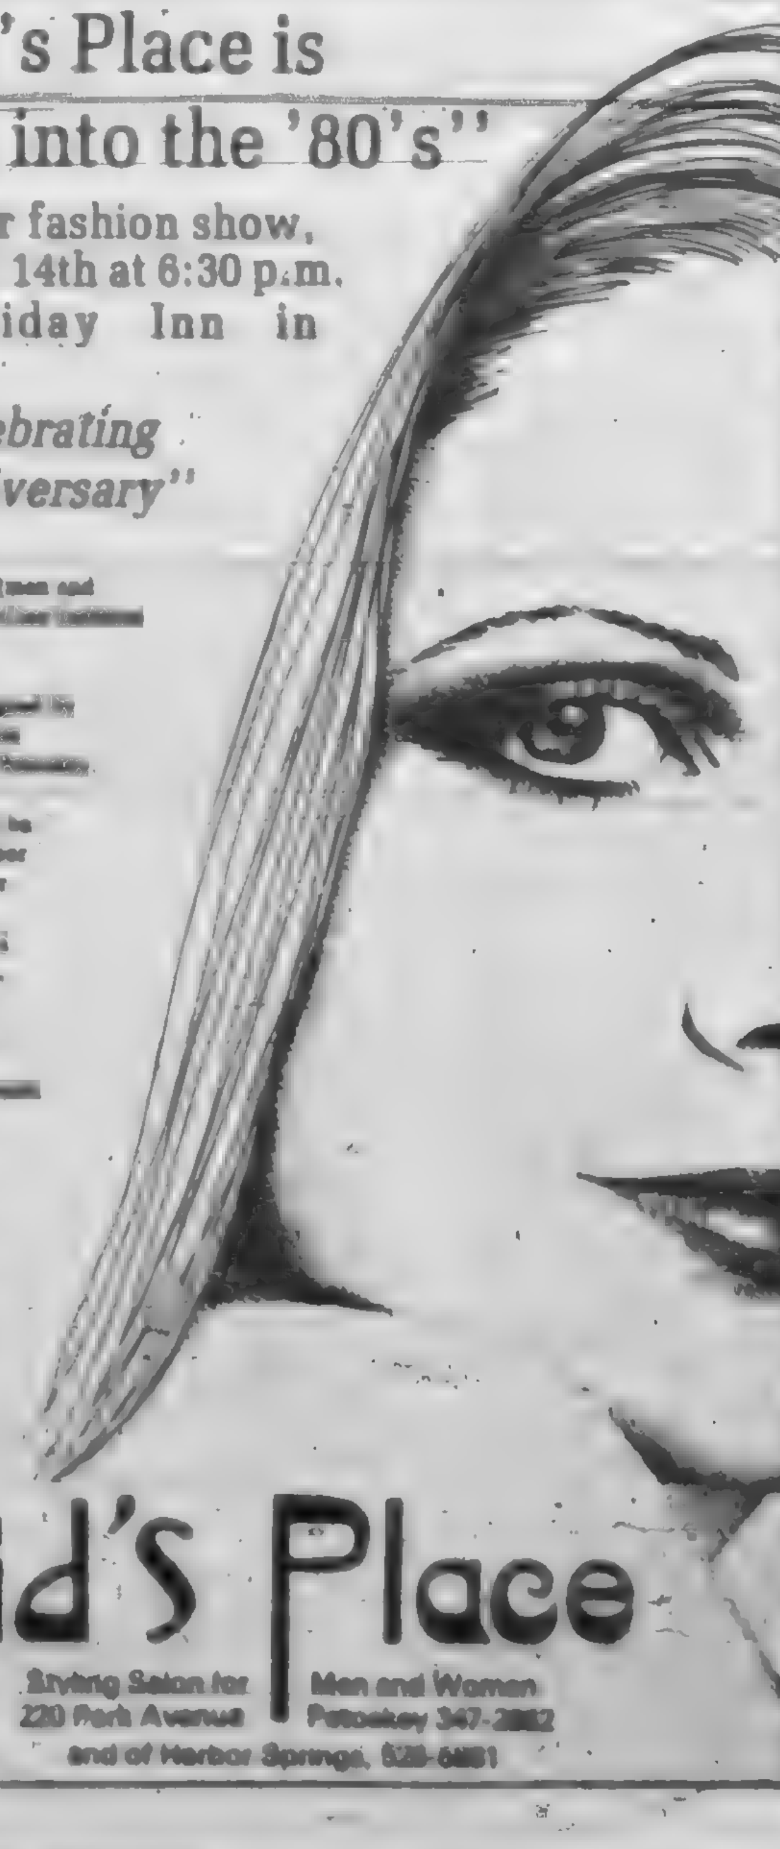
HEADING INTO THE 80'S



Charlevoix On Film

It's maple syrup season

It's a spring ritual in Charlevoix.

The Kiwanis Club and maple syrup, that is.

For it was in 1958 when the Kiwanians decided that they could make money manufacturing maple syrup. And how right they were.

"We net about $3,000 a year from this project," said Ed Shanahan, who tapped his first maple tree when he was in grade school. "It is very successful for us."

Shanahan was one of the instigators of the maple syrup project.

"We started with a minimal amount of equipment," he said. "As an example, we had to use five quart oil cans on the trees to collect the sap in.

The sap was processed in a small, dirt floor shanty in downtown Charlevoix.

"Two men could put it up and take it down in a half hour," Shanahan said.

The Kiwanis Club has come a long way with its project since then. In 1962 a "sugar house" was built and $6,000 was invested in equipment. Shanahan, who supervises the operation, calls the "sugar house" a "little maple syrup factory."

Also, over 1,200 buckets are used to collect the sap in. Most maple trees carry two buckets. The amount of sap collected depends on the weather. Sap usually flows when the nights are cold and the days are warm. Sap can be collected from any type of maple tree, according to Shanahan. Last year, the club manufactured 200 gallons of syrup (It generally takes 30 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup although the sweetness of the sap is also a factor).

When the sap is collected it is taken to the "sugar house" and boiled at 218¼ degrees. This produces "legal" syrup weighing 11 pounds to the gallon (three pounds of water and eight pounds of sugar). Throughout the boiling process, the syrup is constantly skimmed to remove foam and sedimentation. From the boiling pans it is strained through a nylon felt fabric into milk cans for storage until it is canned. Before canning, it is heated and strained again.

The syrup is sold throughout the area in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallon tins as well as three-quarter pint cans.

Proceeds raised from the sale are put into the club's Youth Foundation.

Ed Shanahan (above) keeps his eye on the sap while it boils at the "sugar house." When the sap has been converted to legal syrup (three pounds of water and eight pounds of sugar) Shanahan pours it into a milk can (left). The sap is collected from maple trees (below). Two buckets per tree catch the sap as it flows. Kiwanians empty the buckets into a tub and take the sap to the "sugar house" (right) where it is emptied.

More than 700 commercial producers in our state, and about 2,000 hobbyists, produce more than 85,000 gallons of maple syrup each year, fifth highest production in the nation. Value for the crop in 1979 was estimated at $1,279,000, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan's previous sun-filled summer and snowless winter may have given the maple syrup industry in our state a boost after three years of light production. Extreme weather changes must occur for maple sap to run heavily in early spring. Maximum sap-flow can be expected when temperatures dip to 0 degrees at night, then warm to 40 degrees or more during the day, as happened in mid-February.

Maple trees grow for about 30 years before they can be safely tapped, when the diameter is about ten inches. Each tap placed in spring will yield about 10 gallons of sap, which makes about one quart of syrup when boiled down. Maple sap usually contains from one to four percent sugar.

Many maple syrup producers are turning from [illegible] to [illegible] evaporating equipment to gather sap, instead of the traditional metal or plastic buckets. Manufacturing costs have been rising in recent years and this method helps to cut down on labor costs. Fuel oil, which is normally used to run evaporators, has increased enough in price to cause many producers to return to wood-burning operations.

Only boiled-down sap weighing at least 11 pounds per gallon may be labeled maple syrup in Michigan. Syrups may be legally sold as mixtures of maple and other syrups, but state law requires these to be labeled showing the percentages. They must be labeled either imitation maple or maple-flavored syrup.

Obituaries

[illegible]

Funeral services for a former resident, Mrs. Carl (Edna) Cross, 58, who died unexpectedly March 23 at her rural Breckenridge home, were held at the Whiting Funeral Home in Breckenridge on Wednesday. Burial was in a Breckenridge cemetery.

The former Edna A. Richardson was born in Charlevoix. She was married to Albert Witke. They resided in Midland. He preceded her in death. Later she was married to Mr. Cross. They resided in Breckenridge.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Louis (Musa) Bourieau, Mrs. Sims (Helen) Baker and Miss Delora Richardson, all of Charlevoix.

[illegible]

Reno W. Hamilton, 82, a former resident of Charlevoix and Boyne City, died Friday at a St. Charles, Mo., hospital.

The body was returned to Charlevoix for burial in Brookside cemetery.

Visitation was at the Winchester Funeral Home Sunday evening.

Mr. Hamilton was born in Charlevoix July 4, 1897, and for many years was employed at the Hamilton Boat Yard. During World War II he was employed at an industrial plant in Detroit and later at the Detroit Yacht Club where he skippered privately-owned yachts. Following his retirement he returned here to make his home. Later he lived in Boyne City and, for the past four months, had lived at St. Charles, Mo. His wife, Mary, died in 1936. Later he was married to the former Marjorie Wright Stewart.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie, of East Jordan; two sons, Jerome of O'Fallon, Mo., and Gerald of Peoria, Ill.; one grand-child; a sister, Mrs. Clara Kane of Florida and a brother, Ralph of Charlevoix.

JOHN CONNALLY

Funeral services for John J. Connally, Sr., 74, retired District Court Magistrate, were held at St. Mary's Church at 10 a.m. Tuesday. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mr. Connally was dead on arrival at the Charlevoix Area Hospital early Friday evenings.

Born in Menlo Park, Calif., March 28, 1906, Mr. Connally moved to Butte, Mont., with his parents as an infant. He was graduated from Mount St. Charles College in Helena, Mont. Before moving east to Washington, D.C. He was married to the former Florence Belt at Frederick, Md., in 1934. They resided in Washington where he managed a hotel until 1946 when they moved to Charlevoix and purchased the Charlevoix Hotel. He served as Justice of the Peace from 1950 until 1968. With the change in the court system in the state he became District Court Magistrate, a position he filled from 1969 until he retired in 1975. He was a member of St. Mary's Church.

He is survived by his wife; one son, John, Jr., of Flint; one grandchild; a brother, Matthew of Washington, D.C., and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Porter and Mrs. Mary Bertero, both of Santa Maria, Calif.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The Nishnawbe News, a North American Indian newspaper which circulates in the Upper Great Lakes area of the United States and Canada, has been awarded a $2,000 grant from a cultural foundation in Great Britian.

According to PATRICIA DYER, a senior at Northern Michigan University from Charlevoix, and treasurer of the Organization of North American Indian Students of NMU (ONAIS), the grant has been made by The Onaway Trust of Shadwell, Leeds, West Yorkshire, England.

ONAIS is publisher of The Nishnawbe News, an autonomous newspaper located on the NMU campus, and staffed by American Indian students. "The Onaway Trust assists native peoples, particularly North American Indians, to restore and preserve their cultural heritage," Dyer said.

The newspaper was established by ONAIS in 1971 and is supported by donations from readers, subscriptions from libraries, schools and various other governmental organizations, and a basic annual allocation from NMU

At middle school

TC firm gets bid for renovation project

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night awarded Tezak Construction of Traverse City, one of five bidders on the renovation of the middle school, the contract for the plumbing and mechanical work plus a limited amount of electrical work

The company's base bid was $128,230. The Wares and Son bid was $125,473. However, the architects, Manson Jackson and Kane, found that the company had not included the cost of enlarging the first floor toilet for use as a physically handicapped facility in its bid. This added $2,801 to the base bid. This amount plus the company's base bid plus that for emergency lighting, Master time with program, sound system, and theatrical lighting-plug strip brought the overall bid to $149,874.

The Tezak base bid was for $128,230. This plus the alternates mentioned above brings the overall bid to $149,687.

Haggard Plumbing and Heating of Charlevoix was the subcontractor for the plumbing and mechanical work on the Tezak bid.

The Tezak Company also has the contract for the renovation and expansion contract at the Charlevoix Area Hospital which is scheduled to begin shortly.

Tenure was given to two members of the faculty who have completed a satisfactory period of probation and are eligible for tenure in accordance with the laws of Michigan. They are James Glynn, who teaches physical education at the high school and Tori Alger Fisher who teaches at the middle school.

Probationary contracts were offered to Diane Boss and Cara Hochhalter, teachers at the K-5 school, Brian Certa, industrial arts teacher and Michael Filkins, music teacher, both at the high school and middle school.

Thomas McDowell, who is in charge of the program for the academically talented for the Char-Em Intermediate School District, spoke briefly on the program advising how it is financed from federal monies which come down through the state to Intermediate School Districts. He said that as soon as funds become available he would be writing a grant for funds to expand the program in the Charlevoix Schools.

McDowell said the identification procedures had been reorganized and were nearing completion; that the eighth grade would soon be incorporated into the program and that the program, at the high school level, should be completely implemented by the 1981-82 school year though it will be started during the 1980-81 school year

There are presently 18 K-5 students in the program and 11 or 12 at the middle school level.

He said a parents group has been organized and will hold its next meeting on April 28 at the K-5 school

Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Alpena are the only schools in the area who have this program functioning in their schools at the present time.

Michael Filkins presented a report on the music program which he directs at the middle school and the high school. He said organized musical groups had made 35 public appearances this year at concerts, sporting events, honors bands, festivals and community-related events.

He also announced plans for the summer programs including the six weeks teaching program to be held from June 17-July 31 and a band camp at Blue Lake Music Camp in late August in preparation for the first football game on Sept. 5.

He also outlined his general objectives for the program which includes introducing students to as many types of music as possible by playing and exposure; music instruction including skills for performance, mental and motor skills with general emphasis on quality performance and how to attain quality and perfection.

He concluded by saying that since the community does so much for the music program he aims to produce music programs that return something to the community for its support.

Filkins touched briefly on the proposed purchase of uniforms for the Charlevoix High School Symphony Band. He said the selections committee was meeting Wednesday to study what style uniform should be purchased.

Jan Biddick who is in charge of the Alcohol Abuse program for the District Health Department told of her work with the Alcohol Education program in the schools. She said she and Kris Schaperkotter had trained 31 high school students for presentation of the program in the K-5 school. The presentations are made by teams of high school students who have programs geared for children at the various grade levels. With the use of large cards carrying information, the teams then tells of alcohol, the greatest drug problem in the nation. To demonstrate, John Grooters and Kurt Williams made a brief presentation regarding myths about alcoholism, the program they had presented to fourth grade students. Both students said they were well received, related well with the younger students and found them very interested in what they had to offer.

Ms. Biddick said that brochures were available about the program. She said that if the board was interested, it could be continued in the middle school.

During the regular meeting, the board adjourned briefly into executive session to meet with their attorney, Ewald. Upon returning to the meeting, it was announced that they had voted, on their attorney's advice to reject the claim on an earlier contract with Manson Jackson & Kane, Lansing-based architectural firm.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 21.

Michigan Week festival planned

By Peg Ohle

An action packed four-day Memorial Day weekend is being planned in Charlevoix.

Beginning on Friday, May 23, and continuing through Monday, May 26 (Memorial Day), several things will be happening that were never dreamed of before.

First and foremost will be the visit of the 552 foot S.S. Medusa Challenger to Round Lake Harbor. Although the Challenger makes a regular run to the Medusa Cement Co. plant at South Point, this will be the first time it has visited downtown Charlevoix.

And the Challenger will not be there just to look at. It will be open on Memorial Day for tours, with proceeds going to the school band fund for purchase of new uniforms.

The thought of bringing the Challenger to town was first brought up in January when Dale Boss was named chairman of Michigan Week for Charlevoix County.

"I asked Medusa if they could bring the Challenger into Round Lake for a community tour and Memorial Day service or band concert aboard ship," Boss said. "Medusa, in their usual positive community spirited manner, agreed to do it, despite the cost and the mooring problems."

The Challenger will be the largest ship in history to enter Round Lake. It will take up mooring space from the U.S.C.G.C. Sundew dock southward past Clinton Street. While the Challenger is here, the Sundew will operate out of the Coast Guard Station and the Beaver Islander will operate from the Finn Lumber Company dock.

According to Boss, after the Challenger tour was arranged to benefit the band fund, other plans started to mushroom, keyed on the "challenge" theme. What resulted was the "Charlevoix Challenge", a festival featuring more than 20 fund-raising activities.

Dr. Merle Plagge, president of the Charlevoix Band Boosters Association, dubbed the activities "fun-raising, not fund-raising, because every Charlevoix Challenge event will be enjoyed by spectators and participants alike."

Although the band fund was designated the initial beneficiary of Charlevoix Challenge weekend activities, several other local youth organizations will benefit too through entry fees to be charged for the various events, Plagge said.

Dave Fowler, band association program director, further pinpointed how the Charlevoix Challenge will work.

"Charlevoix is challenging every individual, team, city, organization (you name it) to compete with us in any game, event, contest, known to man. Of course, the entry fees, minus prize money or trophies, go to the Charlevoix Band Fund, Bergmann Center, or other youth-related activity."

Fowler has indicated that they are just beginning to schedule events, but those already set up show the diversity of activities. Take, for instance

Tennis Tournament; Two days, Sunday and Monday, 40 and over Doubles Event. Contact Gunnar Lundteigen, 306 Burns St., 547-6482.

Horse Show: Starting at 9 a.m. Saturday. Sponsored by the Oddfellows and Wranglers. Contact Bruce Bergmann, Route No. 3, Box 416A, 547-[illegible]

Fish Contest – Hook and Line: Four days. $50 prize for longest fish. $50 prize for heaviest total catch. Contact Bruce Bergmann, as above.

Square Dance: Saturday night, starting at 8 p.m. in Middle School gym, featuring the National Grange Champion Band, the local group of "Jasper and the Tagalongs". Caller George Smith.

Marathon Run: Monday, sponsored by the Bahnhof Ski Shop. Contact Tom Kneeland, 547-4044.

Barbershop Chorus: Sunday night starting at 7 p.m. in the East Park Band Shell.

Barbershop Quartet Open Competition: Time, day, and place to be announced. The local "Pine River Four" challenges any quartet. The "Ski & Shore Lots" are the first quartet to accept the challenge. Contact Monda [illegible]

High School Band Competition: Challenges being issued. Contact Mike Filkins, 547-2882

Slo-Pitch Tournament: Looking for 12 teams. Contact Ike Boss, 547-4272.

Penny Find: Details to be announced.

Tug-of-War Competition: Challenges being issued by Jaycees. Contact Dan Alder, 547-9971.

Battle of the Bands: Details to be announced.

Golf Tournament: Details to be announced. Contact Joe Etienne, 547-2461

Ski & Shore Monopoly Invitational. Contact Richard Lobenherz, 547-9905.

Water Ball Fight: Monday, 3 p.m. in East Park between two Charlevoix Township teams.

Fowler is looking for more challenging ideas and asks that anyone wanting to issue a challenge call him at home (547-9314) or at his office (547-[illegible]

In the meantime, shipwatchers might like to consider some statistics on the Medusa Challenger as recalled by Jerry Staublin, assistant manager of Medusa's Charlevoix plant

"With a length of 552 feet and 56 foot beam, the S. S. Medusa Challenger's Skinner Engine and Steam Boilers power over a million tons of cement during voyages annually between Charlevoix, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, and Cleveland. One full load alone would provide sufficient cement to build five miles of Interstate Highway or make 6,700,000 concrete blocks.

"The Challenger Captain, John Bradley, has lived in Charlevoix for many years with his wife, Mary, and family. He along with the 26 man crew, take great pride in its modern automated engine controls and clean, comfortable living standards. A 14.3 foot propeller weighing 13,000 pounds moves the ship swiftly from Charlevoix to the various terminal destinations where the Challenger automatically unloads 1,500 tons per hour. Its total displacement is 17,720 tons."

Planners disapprove tri-county waste plan

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission Thursday recommended the county write its own solid waste management plan.

The commission was responding to overtures from Emmet County officials who suggested that Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties work together in writing a solid waste management plan. The three counties, as well as other counties in the state, must submit a plan for disposing of their solid waste to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) by the summer of 1982. The plan must be in compliance with the new solid waste act (Act 641), which has been the subject of public hearings for several months

The planning commission is opposed to a three county joint effort primarily because Emmet and Cheboygan counties could outvote Charlevoix on a solid waste plan. It would take a two-thirds vote of all municipalities in the three counties to approve a plan

That concerns Charlevoix County officials because 1) Emmet County is building a transfer station to truck its waste out of the county 2) Cheboygan County is considering a transfer station, too, and 3) the DNR says Charlevoix County has the best soil (clay) in northwest Michigan for a landfill to bury waste

In fact, Charlevoix County has the only licensed landfill in the three county area, according to Planner John Hess.

"We added it up and we just don't have the numbers," Hess said. "They could send it (waste) down here against our will."

Another potential problem, according to planning commissioner Larry Levengood, would be dividing up a 13 member committee (required) to oversee the drafting of a solid waste plan. Levengood said it would be "politically difficult."

Levengood said one advantage of joint planning would be that the counties could save money by planning together, which is what Emmet County Board of Commissioner Pauline Mengebier pointed out to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners two months ago

Overall, Levengood said there is "no strong benefit for Charlevoix County" to join forces with Emmet and Cheboygan counties. At least not now "I think we should leave the door open if there are changes," he said

The planning commission recommendation is expected to be reviewed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Tuesday night.

$1,500 goal for May 31 bike-a-thon

Weather permitting, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Charlevoix Area Jaycees will be sponsoring a "Cyclin' for CF Bike-a-thon" on Saturday, May 31 to help raise money for CF research

This will be the second "Cyclin' for CF Bike-a-thon" held in Charlevoix. Last year 38 riders participated with the Jaycees collecting about $700. This year the Jaycees are hoping for at least 75 riders and $1,500.

According to Dan Miller of the Charlevoix Area Jaycees, riders will have an incentive this year

"For anyone who collects $25 to $49 in pledges they will get a "Making Tracks for Cystic Fibrosis" T-shirt," Miller said. "For anyone collecting $50 to $99 they will get a backpack. And for anyone who collects $100 or more will get both the T-shirt and backpack."

Miller said pledge cards are available at all the schools, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and Ben Franklin. Riders will be asked to obtain pledges for each mile traveled.

The course will be the same as last year, starting at the elementary school parking lot, preceding north on Division Street, west on Mercer Boulevard, south on Mt. McSauba Road and back north on Division Street. The loop is three miles in distance and, Miller says, a rider may bike the loop as "many times as possible"

The "Cyclin' for CF Bike-a-thon" will start at 9 30 a.m. with a lunch break at noon. Riders are encouraged to bring a sack lunch and something to drink.

If it rains that day, the bike-a-thon will be rescheduled for Saturday, June 7.

Society meets at Harsha House

The Charlevoix Historical Society held its first meeting of 1980 on April 1 at its new headquarters in the Harsha House at 103 State Street.

With the acquisition of the Harsha House through a bequest by Anne M. Harsha, the Historical Society has its own meeting place for the first time in its long history. However, this was not the first time that the society had met there.

A booklet of programs and meetings of the society for the years 1917-1918 indicates that on March 15, 1918, 62 years ago, members gathered for a meeting at 103 State Street when it was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harsha. In those days, all meetings were held in the homes of members.

At last week's meeting, over 50 members and friends were given a preview of museum development in the Harsha House, including an archives room and a display room. They will be open again during Michigan Week in May and during other community events this summer

The program at the meeting was provided by Mrs. Edward Shanahan, a life member of the society, who told about her father, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, who was a beloved physician in the Charlevoix area from 1894 until his death in 1940. Many anecdotes were recited, illuminating the life of a doctor and his family during the early years of Charlevoix

Coincidentally, the 1917-1918 booklet of programs and meetings also indicates that the society met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong on Jan. 18, 1918.

Selling Your House by Gene Steele

ON-THE-JOB-TRAINING

In a number of industries new employees come in for on the job training. It's assumed that the apprentice will come up against problems and will be able to go to his "tutor" for help

Generally the on the job trainee doesn't pull his own weight for a long time. His employer accepts this on the assumption that, once trained, the worker will give good service

In real estate, there's the homeowner who wants to sell his own house. He's inexperienced in this work and he has no one to train him to do it. In the course of trying to sell, it's understandable that he will come up against problems. But he has no "tutor" to help him

When this "trainee" makes mistakes, there's no one to bail him out. And when a home's worth many thousands of dollars, the mistakes can be big ones

Would you want your biggest investment handled by an inexperienced on the job trainee? List with the professionals

Charlevoix Properties has 4 full time professionals to help you in all your real estate needs; appraising, relocation, investment are specialties in which we can be of help. Call us today

Kindergarten 'Round-Up' set

Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, have been set as the dates of the annual Kindergarten Round-up in the Charlevoix School District, Ralph W. Raymer, Charlevoix Elementary School principal, has announced.

The Charlevoix Board of Education recommends that children entering kindergarten be five years old by Sept. 1.

Parents of children whose last name begins with any letter from "A" through "M" are asked to register their children on Wednesday, April 16, between the hours of 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. at the elementary school on Division Avenue

Children whose last name begins with any letter from "N" through "Z" will register on Thursday, April 17, from 9 - 11 a.m. and 1 - 3 p.m.

Parents are requested to bring to school only the child who is being registered and the child's birth certificate and health record.

Mrs. Geraldine Brady, the school nurse, will be present to confer with each parent and begin the child's school health record, Raymer said. She will also explain the requirements of the State of Michigan relating to school health records

Vision and hearing screening will also be done at the time of registration on April 16 and 17

On April 16, Mrs. Kathryn Smith's present kindergarten classes will not be in school. On the following day, April 17, Mrs. Barbara Berlage's kindergarten classes will not be in school.

Raymer advises any military family whose future in Charlevoix is in limbo at this time to register children who will be eligible for kindergarten in September. In the event of a transfer, the records could then be forwarded to their future station.

State youth band here Saturday

The Michigan Youth Band/Wind Ensemble will be in concert Saturday at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The band will be under the direction of Carl St. Clair, Associate Director of Bands and Assistant Professor of Conducting at the University of Michigan, who earlier this year held a clinic here for the Charlevoix Symphony Band.

The Michigan Youth Band, founded in 1973 in an effort to provide broad and stimulating musical experiences for musically gifted youth, is sponsored by the University of Michigan School of Music and Extension in cooperation with the University Bands.

The band is composed of approximately 65 students from 40 different schools across lower Michigan. Some students travel as much as 150 miles each weekend for three hours of rehearsals. Membership in the band is gained only through audition

Saturday's concert is one of five during the band's spring tour, which will be climaxed by a final performance at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor Sunday evening. Other concerts have been scheduled for the Midwestern Conference at the University of Michigan, Tecumseh High School and the Interlochen Arts Academy, the latter on April 11

Members of the band will be housed with members of the Charlevoix High School band members during their stay in Charlevoix. Housing has been arranged by the Charlevoix Band Boosters headed by Dr. Merle Plagge.

Artists North to meet, weaving the topic

The Petoskey Area Fiber Guild will host the April 15 meeting of Artists North. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. at Charlevoix High School.

Three professional weavers will present the program - a brief history of weaving by Pat Grabriel of Bay Shore, a loom demonstration by Mike Fulkerson of Boyne City, and slides of loom work by Nancy Koucky of East Jordan.

The public is invited to attend.

GEMWISE
JEWELRY FASHIONS FACTS [illegible]

SPRING CLEANING YOUR JEWELRY

You wouldn't think of wearing soiled clothing or scuffed shoes to the office or on an evening out, but do you ever pay attention to your jewelry?

Jewelry picks up soap film and grease very easily, and transparent gemstones are especially susceptible. This seriously detracts from their beauty. Here are some suggestions to follow to keep your jewelry looking its best

1. Have all your jewelry professionally cleaned once a year. You should be patronizing a gemologically trained jeweler who has the proper knowledge and equipment to thoroughly clean your jewelry. A gemologically trained jeweler knows all about the structure of gems and metals and can properly handle [illegible] gems.

2. While your jeweler is cleaning your pieces, ask him or her to check mountings for wear and clasps for security. This will protect you against losing gemstones or an entire piece

3. In between professional cleanings, follow these care instructions

TRANSPARENT GEMS (diamonds, rubies, etc.) AND CORAL, IVORY AND JADE -- Wash with jewelry cleaner or mild detergent and a soft brush, rinse and pat dry with a lint free towel.

PEARLS AND OPALS - Wipe with a chamois after each wearing to remove body oil and acids. Never use heat on opals.

TURQUOISE -- Wipe off periodically. Keep away from soap or grease, which may cause discoloration.

If you have a piece of jewelry you don't know how to care for, please stop by and see me, and I'll prescribe something for you

Bids on Stover Road sewer extension opened

"You can tell the construction business is slow," cracked one observer as contractors streamed into the Charlevoix City Hall Monday night.

The object of their attention was the opening of bids for installation of a sewer along Stover Road.

In all, 12 bids were received by the Charlevoix City Council prior to Monday night's meeting. The bids ranged from near $27,500 to $50,000. Three bidders - Manthei Development, W.A. Porter and a firm from McBain - were in the $27,500 range

The city is proposing to extend the sewer along Stover Road from the United Tool Craft property to May Street, a distance of approximately 950 feet. In addition, a 180 foot strip from United Tool Craft north is included in the proposed project to pick up another property owner

Council turned the bids over to City Manager Jim Brinker for review before a decision is rendered.

In other action, council

●Approved a variance for the French Quarters, 101½ Antrim Street, allowing the "arcade" to do business in the Central Business District. The city zoning ordinance does not mention an "arcade" under uses allowed in the CBD.

●Denied a variance for Woodland Oil to allow for a retail gas station on the company's industrial site on US-31 North. Owner Russ Milligan told council he planned to construct an office building-wharehouse with a self-service gas outlet at the bulk plant. Milligan cited a need for another gas station on the city's north side. However, the Charlevoix Planning Commission recommended it be denied because it is an industrial site, allowing a variance for commercial use would set a precedent, and no hardship was demonstrated. "We went according to the ordinance," said Clem Olach, "and the ordinance says you do not allow commercial on an industrial site." Earl Muma, who abstained on the vote because he owns two gas stations in town, said gas prices at the self-service station would be "cut rate" and would "put others out of business."

●Approved a 60 day temporary parking variance for Silver Cue, 1202 Bridge Street. Silver Cue is required to have 96 off-street parking spaces. Silver Cue shares a parking lot with another business and has 14 parking spaces, which is adequate, according to the owner.

●Appointed Ralph Hamilton to a five year term on the Charlevoix Housing Commission.

●Offered Recreation Director Ike Boss a new two year contract at $7,000 per year

●Tabled a request by the Weathervane Inn to allow for a deck on the lower level of the restaurant along the Pine River Channel

●Agreed to rent dock space at the city marina to area marine dealers for a boat show on May 17-18

●Agreed to let an anti-nuclear power group use East Park on May 4 from 8-9 a.m. to conduct a service prior to the group's march to Big Rock. The march will start at the city golf course

●Accepted a donation from the Charlevoix Women's Club to purchase a blood pressure cuff

●Agreed to spend up to $5,000 to convert a fuel oil tanker into a fire tanker

●Passed amendments to make senior citizens (who are 65 years and older, who have a household income of $10,000 or less, and who reside in their Charlevoix house at least six months out of the year) exempt from a $1 monthly water charge and $2 monthly sewer and electric fees

●Approved a mutual fire aid agreement

●Designated May 5-9 as Spring Clean-Up Week

Four file for board

Four residents of the Charlevoix School District have filed nominating petitions as candidates for the two vacancies on the Charlevoix Board of Education.

The candidates are Kenneth Boss, who is seeking re-election to the board, Dennis Kusina, Larry Lemerand and Steven G. Smith.

The second vacancy is that of the term of Clement J. Wagner who was named to fill the vacancy resulting from the resignation of James Haggard who left the school district

The annual school election is scheduld for June 9.

Music program April 17

The Charlevoix Elementary School will present its annual musical program, featuring all but the kindergarten students, at the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 17

The program is entitled "Broadway" and will feature songs, dances and skits from Broadway shows, the director, Mrs. Marina LaBlance, said.

A dress rehearsal will be presented at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 16.

Willis re-elected

The Charlevoix Slowpitch Association met Saturday to elect officers and make its plans for the forthcoming season which will open May 19.

Jim Willis was re-elected president; Gordon Block, vice president, and Bill Joy, secretary-treasurer

Plans call for a 10-team league with two more teams needed to complete the league. Anyone wishing to organize a team or any player interested in joining a team is asked to call Dave Novotny at 547-9879 anytime after 6 p.m.

Deadline for joining the league is May 1. The 1980 season will open May 19.

Plans also call for games with the Charlevoix Township Slowpitch League.

The next meeting will be held at the City Hall, Saturday, May [illegible].

Waldvogel prevails

Waldvogel Insurance of Petoskey won the 1st Ellsworth Invitational Basketball Tournament over the weekend at the Ellsworth High School gym.

Waldvogel, who went undefeated through tournament play, defeated runnerup Townhouse of Charlevoix, 104-86, in the championship game played Saturday night. Leading scorers for Waldvogel were Kevin Griffen, Denny Gunderson, Mark Long, and Mark Clare with 20, 18, 16, and 14 points respectively. Bud Klooster had 23 points and Steve Smith had 13 points for [illegible]

The six independent teams participating in the double elimination tournament were Glenn Electric-Gaylord, Kingsley Stags-Kingsley, Village Inn Pizza-Charlevoix, Country Kitchen-Ellsworth, Townhouse-Charlevoix, and Waldvogel-Petoskey. All proceeds from the tournaments went to the Ellsworth basketball [illegible].

East Jordan hosted regional competition in the state Industrial Arts Fair Thursday. Several Charlevoix students competed. This lamp by Randy Morris, an 11th grader at East Jordan, won a first place ribbon. For more see page 6.

Cub Scouts raise $

The Charlevoix Pack II Cub Scout Troops raised nearly $500 in a "fund-raiser" last month.

Several Charlevoix area residents won prizes in the contest, which featured gifts from Bridge Street Hardware, Aartvark Studio, Ben Franklin, Cinema III, The Clothing Company, Crown Drugs, Gaskin's, Grey Gable Inn, Pizza Hut, Staley's Hardware, Village Inn Pizza and Edward's I.G.A

The Cub Scouts also distributed census information to residents on the city's south side recently

Montessori House accepting applications

The Charlevoix Montessori Children's House is now accepting enrollment applications for the 1980-81 school year that will start in September

Presently, 22 children attend (capacity) the private school, located in the lower level of the First Congregational Church. Directress Katie Donovan encourages parents to start their children at an early age, preferrably 2½ to 3½. She added that the Charlevoix Montessori Children's House may be expanding, offering more opportunities for parents to enroll their children in the school

The Montessori system of education is described as "both a philosophy of child growth and a rationale for guiding such growth. It is based on the child's developmental needs for freedom within limits, and a carefully prepared environment which guarantees exposure to materials and experiences through which to develop intelligence as well as physical and psychological abilities"

To obtain information and applications for enrollment contact the Charlevoix Montessori Children's House by writing Post Office Box 252 or by calling 547-2471

Society meets at Harsha House

The Charlevoix Historical Society held its first meeting of 1980 on April 1 at its new headquarters in the Harsha House at 100 State Street.

With the acquisition of the Harsha House through a bequest by Anne M. Harsha, the Historical Society has its own meeting place for the first time in its long history. However, this was not the first time that the society had met there.

A booklet of programs and meetings of the society for the years 1917-1918 indicates that on March 15, 1918, 62 years ago, members gathered for a meeting at 100 State Street when it was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harsha. In those days, all meetings were held in the homes of members.

At last week's meeting, over 30 members and friends were given a preview of museum development in the Harsha House, including an archives room and a display room. They will be open again during Michigan Week in May and during other community events this summer.

The program at the meeting was provided by Mrs. Edward Shanahan, a life member of the society, who told about her father, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, who was a beloved physician in the Charlevoix area from 1894 until his death in 1930. Many anecdotes were recited, illuminating the life of a doctor and his family during the early years of Charlevoix.

Coincidentally, the 1917-1918 booklet of programs and meetings also indicates that the society met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong on Jan. 18, 1918.

Kindergarten 'Round-Up' set

Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, have been set as the dates of the annual Kindergarten Round-up in the Charlevoix School District, Ralph W. Raymer, Charlevoix Elementary School principal, has announced.

The Charlevoix Board of Education recommends that children entering kindergarten be five years old by Sept. 1.

Parents of children whose last name begins with any letter from "A" through "M" are asked to register their children on Wednesday, April 16, between the hours of 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. at the elementary school on Division Avenue.

Children whose last name begins with any letter from "N" through "Z" will register on Thursday, April 17, from 9 - 11 a.m. and 1 - 3 p.m.

Parents are requested to bring to school only the child who is being registered and the child's birth certificate and health record.

Mrs. Geraldine Brady, the school nurse, will be present to confer with each parent and begin the child's school health record, Raymer said. She will also explain the requirements of the State of Michigan relating to school health records.

Vision and hearing screening will also be done at the time of registration on April 16 and 17.

On April 16, Mrs. Kathryn Smith's present kindergarten classes will not be in school. On the following day, April 17, Mrs. Barbara Berlage's kindergarten classes will not be in school.

Raymer advises any military family whose future in Charlevoix is in limbo at this time to register children who will be eligible for kindergarten in September. In the event of a transfer, the records could then be forwarded to their future station.

State youth band here Saturday

The Michigan Youth Band/Wind Ensemble will be in concert Saturday at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The band will be under the direction of Carl St. Clair, Associate Director of Bands and Assistant Professor of Conducting at the University of Michigan, who earlier this year held a clinic here for the Charlevoix Symphony Band.

The Michigan Youth Band, founded in 1973 in an effort to provide broad and stimulating musical experiences for musically gifted youth, is sponsored by the University of Michigan School of Music and Extension in cooperation with the University Bands.

The band is composed of approximately 65 students from 40 different schools across lower Michigan. Some students travel as much as 150 miles each weekend for three hours of rehearsals. Membership in the band is gained only through audition.

Saturday's concert is one of five during the band's spring tour, which will be climaxed by a final performance at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor Sunday evening. Other concerts have been scheduled for the Midwestern Conference at the University of Michigan, Tecumseh High School and the Interlochen Arts Academy, the latter on April 11.

Members of the band will be housed with members of the Charlevoix High School band members during their stay in Charlevoix. Housing has been arranged by the Charlevoix Band Boosters headed by Dr. Merle Plagge.

Artists North to meet, weaving the topic

The Petoskey Area Fiber Guild will host the April 15 meeting of Artists North. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. at Charlevoix High School.

Three professional weavers will present the program - a brief history of weaving by Pat Grabriel of Bay Shore, a loom demonstration by Mike Fulkerson of Boyne City, and slides of loom work by Nancy Koucky of East Jordan.

The public is invited to attend.

GEMWISE
JEWELRY FROM REUSCH JEWELRY

SPRING CLEANING YOUR JEWELRY

You wouldn't think of wearing soiled clothing or scuffed shoes to the office or on an evening out, but do you ever pay attention to your jewelry?

Jewelry picks up soap film and grease very easily and transparent gemstones are especially susceptible. This seriously detracts from their beauty. Here are some suggestions to follow to keep your jewelry looking its best.

1. Have all your jewelry professionally cleaned once a year. You should be patronizing a gemologically-trained jeweler who has the proper knowledge and equipment to thoroughly clean your jewelry. A gemologically trained jeweler knows all about the structure of gems and metals and can properly handle [illegible]

2. While your jeweler is cleaning your pieces, ask him or her to check mountings for wear and clasps for security. This will protect you against losing gemstones or an entire piece.

3. In between professional cleanings, follow these care [illegible]

TRANSPARENT GEMS (diamonds, rubies, etc.) AND CORAL, IVORY AND JADE — Wash with jewelry cleaner or mild detergent and a soft brush, rinse and pat dry with a lint free towel.

PEARLS AND OPALS. - Wipe with a chamois after each wearing to remove body oil and acids. Never use heat on opals.

TURQUOISE — Wipe off periodically. Keep away from soap [illegible]

If you have a piece of jewelry you don't know how to care for, please stop by and see me, and I'll prescribe something for you.

Bids on Stover Road sewer extension opened

"You can tell the construction business is slow," cracked one observer as contractors streamed into the Charlevoix City Hall Monday night.

The object of their attention was the opening of bids for installation of a sewer along Stover Road.

In all, 12 bids were received by the Charlevoix City Council prior to Monday night's meeting. The bids ranged from near $27,500 to $50,000. Three bidders - Manthei Development, W.A. Porter and a firm from McBain - were in the $27,500 range.

Opinion

All is not gloom on resort front

Bob Clock

THERE IS considerable speculation up and down Bridge Street as to what kind of summer Charlevoix is going to have, with inflation holding at 18 percent, gasoline prices edging toward $1.50 a gallon and the White House trying to engineer a recession in order to get a grip on the run-away economy.

Surprisingly, all is not gloom and doom on the resort front. The Western Michigan Tourist Association is expecting a very fine summer as Michigan's out-of-state travelers decide to spend their vacations at home.

And Charlevoix is home turf to folks from Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids, when it comes right down to it.

Old timers, of course, are looking back to the days of the Depression — a national economic nightmare that went virtually unnoticed in Northern Michigan's resort communities. Even during those "worst of times," old family money continued to come north by the trunkload. Jobs were plentiful for Charlevoixans who catered to the needs of the resorters and commerce was brisk on Bridge Street.

Battalions of scullery maids stumbled over each other in the cavernous kitchens of the old summer homes, while young men kept the grounds immaculate or worked as chauffeurs or boat handlers.

Over the years as highways and automobiles improved, Charlevoix has depended more and more on casual overnight tourists who stop in town for a day or two en route to someplace else. However, with soaring gasoline prices, vacationers aren't going to be quite so willing to burn up the miles as they once were.

It shouldn't be quite so difficult this year to hold our visitors once they get here. But even then, it might be wise for motel operators to consider incentives to keep their guests from moving on, such as a night on-the-house, for every so many nights paid lodging.

Last summer, some Upper Peninsula resort operators threw in a tank of gas if a family agreed to extend its visit.
